"The success with which the Brantford Red Bird Bicycles are meeting in Australia is phenomenal. No other machine which ever came into the market has been taken up so enthusiastically by the public, and no other wheel has had such a succession of marvellously brilliant wins. One would have thought that the securing of a double win and two competition records at Goulburn and then the St. Kilda wheel race at £50, and later the great Austral double, would have been about a fair share of the season's wins for one machine, but the Red Bird goes right on carving its victorious way, and now has added the scalp of Parsons in another great challenge match and two new Australian records to its brilliant list. The records are five and ten miles, and Bill Martin has put them down where they will be difficult to get at. On Saturday Martin rode a light Red Bird geared to 104. This is an enormous strain to which to subject a wheel, and that the little Red Bird came triumphantly through is a tribute to the splendid quality of the workmanship in the machines.

SWINE BREEDERS MEET.

Gratification Expressed at the Reduction of Rates for Pure-Bred Stock — Financial Statement Satisfactory.

Toronto, March 26.

The Dominion Swine Breeders' Association was in session yesterday afternoon at the Palmer House, Mr. J. E. Brethour of Burford presiding, and those present being George Green, Fairview, vice-president; T. W. Hodson, Guelph, secretary-treasurer; Prof. G. E. Day, Guelph; G. B. Hood, Guelph; Thomas Teasdale, Concord; R. Dorsey, Burnhamthorpe, R. H. Harding, Thorndale; William Jones, Mount Elgin; Joseph Featherstone, M. P., Streetsville; Andrew Elliott, Galt; W. B. Butler, Dereham Centre, and J. C. Snell, Snelgrove.

The report of the secretary-treasurer was the same as presented to the cattle and sheep breeders.

The reduction of rates that have been obtained on pure-bred stock is very material. The rates formerly were $130 to Winnipeg, to Regina $164, to Calgary $202. They are now, to Winnipeg $72, Regina $90 and Calgary $114.

The fiancial statement showed a balance on hand of $1365. The association received a $1200 grant from the Legislature, which made the total receipts $2753. At the Provincial Fat Stock Show last year $966 was given in prises. This year the amount will be increased by about $200.

Mr. G. S. Macdonald addressed the meeting on railway tariffs.

A new volume of swine records is being published, containing the pedigrees of 3543 Berkshires, 4403 Yorkshires, 467 Suffolks, 1405 Chester whites, 1892 Poland chinas, 979 Tamworths and 291 Duroc Jerseys. This is the seventh volume.

"Success is the reward of merit" not of assumption. Popular appreciation is what tells in the long run. For fifty years, people have been using Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and today it is the blood-purifier most in favor with the public. Ayer's Sarsaparilla cures.

The Transvaal President Suppresses Newspapers—Mr. Chamberlain Sends a Protest.

Cape Town, March 25.—The Cape Times says: The recent suppression of The Johannesburg Critic and the later suppression of The Johannesburg Star by the Transvaal Government, leaves 5000 persons without an organ to voice their opinion.

"They have no votes," the paper adds. "That means of expression is not open to them. Their public spokesmen have been banished, forced into silence and imprisoned. They have no courts to appeal to, and they have been disarmed. That is what is called a republic of the nineteenth century."

Chamberlain Sends a Protest.

London, March 25.—The Globe asserts that there is good authority for the statement that Joseph Chamberlain, Secretary of State for the Colonies, under the incentive of Parliamentary pressure, has sent to President Kruger a protest, couched in strong terms, against alleged violations of the London Convention by the Transvaal Government.

Used Eighteen Boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills—The Stone Dissolved and Removed—Knew of Others Cured.

Shelburne, March 23 (Special)—Mr. John Medill, known locally as well as far and near, as a physical giant and glorying in his strength, came to be a great sufferer, and tells of his cure as follows:

"I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills or anything else exactly as I find them. If a medicine cures me, and if I think it will cure others, why not say so?

"It is true I had been suffering for some time with Bladder trouble, and learning of a cure made in a similar case by Dodd's Kidney Pills, I commenced using them.

In all I have used eighteen boxes, and they have dissolved the stone and have entirely cured me of any sign of such difficulty. I do not hesitate to speak of Dodd's Kidney Pills in the highest terms of praise, for I know of many persons who have been cured by them."

Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. Germany Dissatisfied With the Way Things are Going and Threatens to Break the Concert.

Constantinople, March 26.—It is asserted here to-night on what is regarded as reliable authority that in consequence of the refusal of Lord Salisbury to join in a blockade of Greek ports, Germany has given notice to the powers of her intention to withdraw from the concert.

It is understood that Turkey has sent her squadron through the Dardanelles, on the advice of Germany.

The Ambassadors of the powers have had a meeting to consider a despatch from the foreign admirals in Cretan waters, stating that it is daily becoming more evident that a continuance of Turkish authority is impossible, and recommending that a European Governor-General be appointed, and that the Turkish troops be withdrawn.

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favour. "WITH A KISS."

Here's to the health of the fellow who wakes me each morn
With a kiss, with a kiss, with a kiss!
In a little white gown, or a jacket that's torn,
But still with a kiss, with a kiss!
Here's a health to the little one there at my bed,
For all of God's roses—the white or the red—
He is sweeter than angels have sung or have said,
With a kiss, with a kiss, with a kiss!

Here's to the health of the fellow who wakes me each morn
With a kiss, with a kiss, with a kiss!
And I have the world's anger and the world's scorn,
For his kiss, for his kiss, for his kiss:
And God keep him ever from grief and from moan,
Though I dwell in life's valley alone—still alone;
Let my own have the light, and the light keep my own,
With a kiss, with a kiss, with a kiss!

THE SLATER SHOE

Under false colours.

Some Mackay stitched shoes are made to imitate Goodyear Welts.

They have a "dummy welt" on the outer edge of the sole, and a false insole covering the stitches under the foot.

But no matter how skillful the deception to the eye, the effect upon the feet soon shows it up.

Any shoe stitched under the foot must form hard and callous spots on it, as soon as the leather wears away and the stitches form elevations under pressure.

Stitches under the foot did it.

The sole of the Goodyear Welted "Slater Shoe" is sewn to a strip of leather outside the shoe—not a stitch or peg being under the foot.

Each pair remains six days on the last to take the stretch out of the leather, moulding it to keep the niceties which constitute fit and comfort.

You'll know that it's genuine Goodyear Welt if stamped on the sole with the "Slater Shoe" name and price, $3, $4, or $5.

A tag on each pair tells the leather it is made of—the wear it will give.

THE DRINK QUESTION

Mr. Harcourt's Amendment Discussed in Legislature.

SOME IMPORTANT CHANGES MADE

Several Concessions to the Temperance Advocates—Review of License Legislation—A Notable Step in Advance—What Legislation Has Done for Temperance.

Toronto, March 25.—The salient feature of to-day's proceedings in the Legislature was Mr. Harcourt's telling speech in moving the second reading of the License Law Amendment bill. The measure has been very considerably altered since its introduction, many concessions having been made to the views of the prohibitionists. These were pointed out by the Provincial Treasurer, in the course of his address, the first portion of which consisted of a comprehensive review of the license and restrictive legislation of the Province since 1876, showing what great advances had already been accomplished, and that the Legislature was always ready to go just as fast and as far in the direction of encouraging temperance as public opinion would warrant. Owing to the factious course of the Opposition, Mr. Harcourt did not begin his speech until a comparatively late hour, so that any further debate was postponed.

The bills incorporting St. Luke's General Hospital, Ottawa, and conferring certain powers on the Village of Port Dalhousie were read a third time and passed.

MUNICIPAL AUDITING.

The House went into Committee on the Attorney-General's bill to make better provision for the keeping and auditing of municipal and school accounts. A discussion arose as to the desirability of providing that the accountants to be employed by the Auditor should be members of the Chartered Accountants' Association.

Mr. Howland wished that the selection should be confined to that body, but the Premier thought such a limitation would be impolitic and amended the Act so as to read that a "chartered or other expert accountant" should be appointed.

A provision was introduced that the Act should not apply to city corporations or school boards.

Mr. Kerns urged that each County Council ought to be authorized to appoint an auditor for the minor municipalities within county limits.

The Attorney-General saw difficulties in the way of the proposal, and said that the bill did not propose to interfere at all with municipal auditing, as the duties of the Provincial Auditor would be simply inspectorial. The committee reported progress.

The bills introduced by the Attorney-General were:

Respecting a Short Form of Certain Municipal Bylaws.

With reference to the Registration of Instruments in respect of Unpatented Lands, and the Valuation of Mining Lands, for the purpose of Assurance under the Land Titles Act.

COURT OF APPEAL.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of his bill respecting the Court of Appeal. Among other provisions, it enables the court to divide itself and hold two separate sittings to facilitate the despatch of business.

Mr. Howland took exception to the principle of the bill, on the ground that the decisions might sometimes be contradictory. He thought the proper policy was rather to strengthen the lower courts than to provide further appeal facilities.

Mr. Garrow approved the bill, as by constituting the court of five judges in place of four it prevented a tie. After Messrs. Whitney, Hobbs and St. John had spoken, the bill received a second reading.

STILL CARPING.

The House went into Committee of Supply and took up the agricultural estimate again.

Mr. Matheson opened fire on the Agricultural College, pointing out that there had been a continuous increase in salaries and expenses. This year the salaries of three lecturers had been raised $100 each. He also criticised the appointment of a bacteriologist at $350.

The Minister of Agriculture said he had no apology to make for the attention the college devoted to bateriology, which was a most important subject. The equipment of the Agricultural College was second to none on this continent, and he was determined to sustain its efficiency.

Mr. Whitney asked if there was any remedy for such a state of things as prevailed in connection with the Northern Exhibition at Walkerton, exhibitors at which were unable to obtain their prize money, to which Mr. Dryden replied that it was not under the control of the department.

Dr. Meachem remarked that the college seemed to be developing into a university, where other branches than those strictly agricultural were given undue prominence.

After a good deal of desultory criticism and questioning, Mr. St. John rose to the occasion in a set speech in which he enlarged upon the growing expense of the college. On the farm proper, he said, there was a deficit of $25,000. This Mr. Dryden strenuously denied. Mr. St. John went on to say that the farmers were not satisfied with this state of affairs, and they had a right to expect a better showing. Mr. Dryden retorted that Mr. St. John did not know what he was talking about, as he included in his figures for the farm proper many items which came dairy school. The college couldn't be expected to pay, any more than the School of under other heads, such as the Special Practical Science.

"Six o'clock," that is, official six o'clock, arrived unexpectedly at 5.20, and choked off Mr. Bush, who was just about to say something. The cause of the Speaker's previousness was the arrival of a large and influential deputation to urge more stringent license legislation upon the Government.

MORE FACTIOUS OPPOSITION.

There were an unusually large number of spectators in attendance in the evening in anticipation of the consideration of the revised and amended license bill.

After recess the House resumed the discussion of the estimates in committee.

Mr. Mutrie defended the management of the Agricultural College. No money spent on education, he said, yielded better results.

Messrs. Meacham, Langford, Matheson, Haggerty and Kidd followed in a very discursive vein, evidently talking against time. Others succeeded and the debate resolved itself into a series of dialogues between various Opposition members and Mr. Dryned, question after question being put upon the various details.

Mr. Howland was heard from in a more sustained speech, the principal point of which was a suggestion that those leaving the college should be required to make returns showing their residence and occupation. When he had subsided Mr. Magwood kept the ball rolling merrily for some time by reciting in deep, tragic tones the old story. Finally, on motion of the Attorney-General, the committee rose.

THE LICENSE BILL.

Hon. R. Harcourt, in moving the second reading of the bill to further improve the liquor license laws, alluded briefly to the discussion which the measure had excited. It had been an advantage to the Government to learn the views presented by deputations from every point of view. He pointed out that the bill in its present sure as at first introduced, was only one to be safely adopted was our own past experience. In the main the results of legislative attempts in Ontario to promote temperance sentiment had been most satisfactory. There had been a great change for the better in the drinking habits of the people during the last 20 or 30 years. Since 1876 there had been 12 statutes passed dealing with the question, each of which was an advance. This legislation was effective because it did not go too far to be sustained by public opinion. Had this legislation not been so upheld, lax enforcement would have resulted in evil moral influences. At no time had the House turned a deaf ear to petitions for the restriction of the traffic. In 1876 the present system of license commissioners was adopted. He enumerated the different measures passed since that time dealing with the question. In addition to these changes, temperance teaching had been made compulsory in Public Schools. In 1884 the number of convictions for drunkenness in Ontario was one in every 423 of the population. In 1894 the number was one in 667, or fewer by 59 per cent. This was a better showing than any other province in the Dominion. According to official statistics which he gave there were fewer arrests for drunkenness in the Ontario cities, proportionately to population, than in the cities of Maine under prohibition. Since 1874 we had reduced by one-half the number of licenses. There had also been a marked and steady reduction in commitments for drunkenness. Dealing with the provisions of the bill, he showed that the number of licenses would be reduced to the extent of about 150, which was surely a measurable advance. If local sentiment were in advance of this the municipal council was given power further to reduce the number, provision being made for notice by 100 municipal electors in cities and 50 in towns, of application to introduce a bylaw for that purpose. If few municipalities availed themselves of this power it only showed that public opinion was not ripe for any more drastic law. The fact that in 69 municipalities out of 105, the commissioners had reduced the number of licenses below the legal maximum, indicated that these much criticised officials were in advance of public sentiment. The bill was not the last word of this Legislature on prohibition. The plebiscite was yet to be voted on and still further reductions were to be looked for in the future. He drew attention to the provisions as to the hours of closing, 11 in towns and cities and at 10 in other municipalities, which was a great step in advance, especially when taken in connection with a newly introduced clause, by which the council could further shorten the hours. The condition precedent of notice, signed by 100 electors in cities and 50 in towns, was not an unreasonable one. In addition the License Commissioners had power to fix an earlier hour for closing than specified in the bill. The raising of the age limit to 21 years was perhaps the most important feature in the bill. It was made an illegal act to sell liquor in any club to a boy or girl under 21, and the young were also protected by a new provision forbidding persons of either sex under age from lingering or loitering about a barroom. It was also made impossible to grant a license for any place within 300 feet of a church or school. There was a provision that, after three convictions for violating the law within two years the license should be cancelled. Saloons having no hotel accommodation were abolished. Sales by druggists had been placed under further restrictions, the most important of which was requiring a medical certificate. Druggists disposing of liquor to be consumed with soda water, etc., were liable to a fine. The residential clause had been amended so that ten electors could ascertain from the commissioners whether a district was a residential district, and if so declared the commissioners were to act on the petition, 75 persons being a majority of the electors of any polling subdivision, and refuse to renew any licenses within such polling sub-division. The growth of moral reform sentiment was necessarily slow and it was idle to urge the adoption of measures more drastic than public opinion would sanction. The pulpit, the Public School and the press were rapidly educating the people, and legislation could only be effective so far as supported by the moral sentiment thus developed. The Provincial Treasurer concluded his brilliant and effective speech at 11 o'clock amid loud applause.

Mr. Marter moved the adjournment of the debate, which was carried.

Toronto Junction, Mar. 15 (Special)—Mr. H. Playter, is not a difficult man to find as everybody here knows that he is foreman at No. 1 Fire Hall. He was the picture of health when called upon by your correspondent and told his story thus:

"In April 1896 I suffered from a severe attack of sciatica, affecting my left hip and leg to the tip of the toes. I suspected it came from some form of kidney trouble, and as they had been recommended I procured a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

At the end of the fourth day I was entirely relieved, but desiring a permanent cure I continued to use that and another box and am now perfectly cured and as well as ever in my life. A brother of mine living at Pine Orchard has been cured by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Beauty is the power which captivates the strongest natures.

A woman's personal attractiveness is the weapon with which she conquers her world. Almost every woman believes that she possesses at least some one attractive feature and strives to make the most of that. But mere regularity of feature is not the most attractive form of beauty.

Mankind is more influenced by the bright glowing vitality of perfect health. A classic cast of countenance will not make a woman attractive and captivating, if she is pale, thin, weak and nervous, or has a pimply complexion or unwholesome breath.

These complaints are due to imperfect nutrition. The digestive and blood-making organs fail to extract the needed nourishment from the food, and the liver is too sluggish to cleanse the blood of bilious impurities. The entire constitution becomes weak and poisoned.

The only perfect antidote for this state of things is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It gives power to the digestive and nutritive organs to make an abundance of pure, rich, highly vitalized blood, which permeates the whole system with the sweetness of purity; the beauty of womanly vigor and animation.

It creates solid, healthy flesh and natural color; clears the complexion; dispels wrinkles; rounds out the form and imbues the whole physique with the irresistible natural magnetism of perfect health.

Miss Julia Ellis, of Faith, McLean Co., Ky., writes: "After suffering for a long while with a lingering disease, I was advised to try Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took seven bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Favorite Prescription' and found relief. Life is now no longer a burden to me. I weigh 120 pounds. A year ago I weighed 92 pounds. I shall praise Dr. Pierce's medicines wherever I go. I feel better than ever before. My health was very much impaired, and I feel that I owe a great deal to your wonderful medicines. I truly believe they saved my life. I thank you for the advice which you so kindly gave me while taking your medicines."

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. "WHAT ARE THEY DOING HERE?"

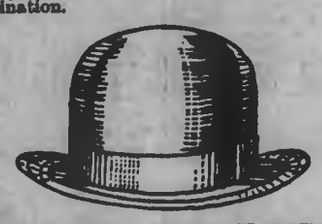
This is the question repeated hundreds of times every day by passers by.

THIS IS THE ANSWER!

Doing what we are always doing—getting the store into better shape, enlarging, improving, providing wider ways and easier stairs, fixing and furnishing whatever will add comfort and convenience for the many hundreds of our valued customers.

HALF THE BATTLE OF LIFE

is in knowing what to do. We always have something better on hand in our efforts to serve our patrons. Buying and selling ONLY FOR CASH is a new thing, but we know it is in our customer's interests. Hats at fully 20 per cent. lower prices than under the old credit and cash combination.



HAT STYLE AND QUALITY.

Having exclusive control of all the leading Hat fashioners' goods:—Christy's, Youman's, Stetson's, Lincoln Bennett's, etc.,—we are in a better position than most stores to give you the very latest and most approved opening styles, and the high standards of quality which these names suggest. It's the difference between the month old egg and the egg of to-day that gives the latter its value. It's the difference between the product of the ordinary dealer and the nobby natty shapes of our late Spring Style Hats that makes ours more desirable.

CHRISTIAN UNITY SERVICES CONCLUDED.

THE FINAL ADDRESS GIVEN BY REV. H. SYMONDS.

The Four Principles of the Lambeth Conference—Six Good Things That May be Looked for Within the Next Twenty or Thirty Years.

The course of lectures in St. Luke's school house on the subject of Christian Unity was brought to a successful termination last night when the Rector gave the last address. After the opening hymn and prayer, Mr. Symonds said that the course of lectures now brought to a close had illustrated the fact that there was a general and strong opinion that the present condition of Christendom was far from satisfactory. It seemed to him a hopeful thing that the speakers had spoken very briefly on the advantages of division, and at great length upon the disadvantages.

The first point dealt with was the attitude of the Church of England to this question. The Anglican communion had taken greater interest in it than any other body, and the Lambeth Conference of all the bishops of that communion (which includes the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America) had proposed four principles as articles of agreement upon the basis of which there could be intercommunion. Briefly stated, they were:

1. The acceptance of the Holy Scriptures as the rule of faith.
2. The Apostles and the Nicene Creeds.
3. The two Sacraments ordained by Christ.
4. The Historic Episcopate, locally adapted in the methods of its administration to the varying needs of the nations and peoples, etc.

Of these the first three are generally acceptable. The fourth was not. The speaker here referred to the Roman, Anglican and Greek, Presbyterian and Congregational systems of Church Government, and pointed out the reason why the Church of England so tenaciously adhered to the which meant that the episcopate can be historically carried back to the time of the Apostles and is the only form of church government which has existed uninterruptedly to the present day. At the same time the question was one still hotly debated and in his opinion even all the possible bearings of the New Testament had not yet been sufficiently discussed. He saw however no prospect at present either that the Church of England would relinquish the condition of episcopal ordination as a sine qua non of union, or on the other hand that it would be accepted by the other reformed churches.

It was sometimes supposed that the Church of England made no concessions, but under the guise of compromise, really asked the other churches to surrender to her. This was a great mistake. In order to make the matter clear he would suppose that the Presbyterians accepted all the Lambeth propositions. Then what would take place. First, all the ministers would accept the episcopal form of ordination, then they would themselves elect some of their number for their episcopal consecration, who would hereafter ordain the ministers in that branch of the church. But they would not be asked to accept any theory of the Episcopate. They might say, "we do not believe Episcopacy to be taught in the New Testament, we do not believe it to be necessary to the constitution of the church, we only accept it for the sake of peace, and fraternity and communion. Again the Anglican church neither asked the surrender of the Westminster confession, nor the adoption of the thirty-nine articles as

CONDITIONS OF COMMUNION.

She said nothing about the use of the prayer book, nor as to the forms of administration of the sacrament, or the wearing of vestments. These were certainly real and remarkable concessions, which bore witness to the sincerity of the proposals made. The Anglican church never for an instant dreams of asking surrender, nor does she by unity mean uniformity.

The next point which called for consideration was the attitude of the Church of England in regard to the acknowledgment of the ministerial status of ministers of other communions. Mr. Symonds reviewed the circumstances of the English people at the time when the famous preface to the ordinal (i. e. the form of ordination) was drawn up, which explained and justified its language. The question was, Did this rule imply that the Church of England denies the ministerial status of ministers of other communions? No judgment was passed against the orders of other ministers in either articles or prayer book. Procter, a standard authority on the prayer book, says: "The Church of England requires Episcopal ordination for the ministration of her offices; but it does not follow from this that in her judgment, the ordinances of other churches are invalid, because they have not bishops." But though not expressed may not such a condemnation be implied. What, in other words, was the mind of the men who were instrumental in the composition of the ordinal, about this matter. Archbishop Cranmer was throughout this period in friendly consultation and correspondence with the continental reformers who were Presbyterians. They gave him advice in the matter of the compilation of the prayer book, and, in the 39 articles the influence of the Augsburg Confession is marked, the article on "The Church" being taken almost verbatim therefrom. Further, Cranmer not only corresponded with the reformers of Germany, but he invited some of their most learned scholars to lecture in the universities of an invitation that was accepted by Bucer and Peter Martyr. Whilst then the ordinal decides strongly in favour of Episcopal ordination, it is impossible to suppose that it intended to declare the orders of those men invalid who, at the very time were being consulted and invited to give instruction in English divinity schools.

After a reference to the number of societies that existed for the promotion of unity, such as the House Reunion Society of England, the League of Catholic Unity, organized by four Presbyterians, four Congregationalists and four Protestant Episcopalians in New York, and the Brotherhood of Christian Unity, and a further reference to a conference of Protestant Episcopalians, Lutherans, Methodists, Presbyterians and Congregationalists in Philadelphia, some six things could be foreseen might reasonably be hoped for during the next twenty or thirty years.

(1) A steady growth of the conviction that our present divisions are not according to the mind of Christ.

(2) A steady increase in the membership and influence of those societies which are devoted to the promotion of unity.

(3) The more frequent holding of conferences in order to educate the people in the doctrines of Church Unity.

(4) The discovery of ways and means for the holding of united services of Christian people.

(5) The more perfect discrimination between things essential, and things non-essential, and the better realization of the motto, "In essentials unity, in non-essentials liberty, in all things charity."

(6) The formation of some kind of federative council, for the purpose of discussing missionary work in the foreign mission field.

After the singing of another hymn, the Rector made a few closing remarks. He said that he had good authority for believing that a great deal of interest had been excited in Peterborough by these gatherings. He had also heard of some who thought divisions a very good thing, as exciting the various churches to greater activity. That was an opinion which any one had a right to hold. But he had not yet heard of any one who said that after one examination of the Scriptures he found that our Lord Jesus Christ thought or taught that division was a good thing. That, on this and all other subjects, was the supreme question. What is the mind of Christ about it? Christians were not called to preach their own opinions, but the Gospel of Christ. Finally, he most warmly thanked the congregation of St. Luke's for their hearty support and the many members of other churches for their regular attendance.

TERRIBLE HUMOR

A Little Boy's Sufferings. Covered with Sores and Raw from Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

About eighteen months ago my baby boy (now three years old) broke out with horrible sores all over his body, which tortured him night and day. He would scratch to such an extent, that his face and such parts of his body that he could reach with his hands were almost raw from scratching

After being under treatment by doctors for three months the child got worse, and there seemed nothing that would relieve him.

He had wasted away to a mere skeleton, from want of sleep. A Mr. J. G. Ahern, of the Gate City Loan Co., who happened to call at our residence, was attracted by the fearful screams of the child, and asked if he might see him. He was brought in, and upon seeing him, Mr. Ahern said, that "while it was the worst case he had ever seen, he felt satisfied that it could be speedily cured by the use of the CUTICURA REMEDIES." I finally consented to try them, purchasing the CUTICURA SOAP, CUTICURA ointment, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, and used them according to directions. Before we had been using them three weeks, we noticed a decided change for the better, the itching began to subside and a healing process had set in. In seven weeks from the time we began with CUTICURA REMEDIES, my little one was completely cured, and without a sign of the trouble left. It is over a year since he has been cured; there has been no return of the trouble, and the little man is now fat and hearty, with a beautiful, clear skin.

Straw for Fuel.

A Barrie man advertises a new machine for compressing straw for fuel and building purposes, which he claims to have proved a great success. By this system eight pounds of compressed straw will bake an oven of bread, and the cost of compressing and preparing that straw does not exceed $1.50 per ton. Fifty tons pressure is put on every bundle. It is claimed that one ton of straw will last a month and give heat equal to coal or wood. For building purposes the compressed straw is submitted to a solution of cement, which gives each block the consistency of stone or brick, and is much cheaper.

THE BRAVE CRETANS

Faced the Fire of the Turks Without Sign of Flinching.

DETAILS OF THE FALL OF MALAXA

An Eye-Witness Tells of the Rallying of the Insurgents Even in the Face of Flying Shells From the Warships of the Powers.

New York, March 28.—Sidney Roberts Burleigh cables to The Journal from Canea, Crete, under Friday's date, the despatch having been delayed:

"I was an eye-witness of the assault and capture of the fort at Malaxa by the Cretans. The insurgents bravely faced the fire of the Turks, and showed no fear when bombarded by the foreign warships. I went through the Turkish line to Malaxa village Wednesday, and that night the Greek officers who are serving with the Cretans planted a battery of Krupp guns a little over a mile from the fort of Malaxa, which was occupied by the Turkish garrison. They began firing at 6 a.m. and at 3 p.m. I saw a white flag floating from the fort. The Turks from the warships in Suda Bay had, previous to the raising of the white flag, tried to relieve the fort, but were driven back by the Cretans.

When the white flag was raised a thousand Cretans swarmed about the walls of the fort. I went down from the hill, where I had been watching the combat, and reached the entrance of the fort. This position was packed with Cretans, shouting to be let in. On the threshold stood half a dozen Greek officers and volunteers, holding the door and trying to save the garrison from the mob, wild with the carnage of battle. The Turkish commander, Bimbashi, through the door, requested me to interfere. I advised Bimbashi to open the door, saying I would do the best I could to save him.

"Bomb after bomb from the Turkish gunboats passed with dreadful thunder over the Cretans around the fort. The crowd bent to the earth in hushed silence as the death-bearing missiles came by them. They were soon up again and rushed for the door of the fort. The door was opened and I entered with four officers. There were forty-five men still living in the fort. In spite of every effort to hold the door, the Cretans kept forcing their way in to take the rifles.

"Just then the whole European fleet at Suda opened fire on the Cretans crowded about Malaxa. The third shell knocked in one corner of the fort, the dust, stones and flames filling the air. Turkish officers clung to my arms and with difficulty I dragged them to the door. Just then an enormous shell burst open the door and the wall fell in. I escaped with the Turkish officers to the outside air and, yellow with dust and smoke, and with shells bursting in every direction, everyone took flight.

"The European bombardment lasted only 15 minutes and only four Cretan insurgents were killed and twenty wounded. The number of Turks killed is unknown, as they were buried under the debris of the fort. Thirty-nine Turkish prisoners were taken to Col. Vassos' camp.

"The Cretans fought recklessly and behaved humanely, considering the custom for ages of killing the vanquished. The Turkish garrison made a good defence at first, but got demoralized in the afternoon. There was in the fort plenty of ammunition, food and water. The Greek shells did no great damage, but frightened the garrison.

"After the frightful bombardment by the European ships, the Cretans feel desperate, and never will they accept the form of government proposed.

"An Ottoman transport has just landed troops and weapons here."

HELPING THE TURKS.

Moslems Rescued by the Powers Armed by the Turks and Sent to Fight.

Canea, Crete, March 27.—The details of the affair at Malaxa place the powers in a decidedly unfavorable light. Instead of sending a soldier with the notification of the admirals forbidding the Cretans from attacking the fort, a native was sent, who, when questioned, became entangled in contradictions. The document was written on a dirty sheet of paper, and the Cretans thought it might be a trick of the Turks to prevent them from taking Malaxa.

There is also a disagreement as to the neutral zone. The Cretans declare that Malaxa was outside the neutral zone proclaimed by the admirals. I have seen two witnesses who declare that many Moslems rescued by the Europeans from Candamus have been armed by the Turks here and sent out to fight the Christians. This is a breach of the agreement made by the Consuls with the insurgents.

Letters from the chiefs at Mirabello, in the east of the island, declare that the admirals sent messages to them saying that it was useless to resist any longer, that the rest of Crete accepted autonomy, and that Colonel Vassos was about to give in. This was either a misrepresentation or a gross mistake. The chiefs answered that the rest of the island might accept autonomy, but they would prefer extermination.

Another Bombardment.

There was another bombardment of Malaxa yesterday by the European fleet. An officer on board one of the men-of-war described it to me, as follows:

"The Turkish authorities said they would send three thousand men to occupy Malaxa. The bombardment was to clear the place for them. I was looking at the insurgents through a glass. They were sitting around in large groups, smoking, expecting nothing, and looking calmly down on Suda. The first shell fell among them, and when the smoke cleared away not one was to be seen. All must have been killed. No Turkish troops went toward Malaxa.

"The admirals assure the Cretans that they are friendly, yet deliberately drop shells among them. This is nothing less than war by Europe against the Cretans. That the blockade is purely against the Christians is proved by the fact that a Turkish transport has been landing arms, ammunition and cannon in Canea all day.

"I know that the insurgents intend to attack Perivolia and drive the Turkish troops off the heights. All about Canea the insurgents remain firm, and should the powers persist war will sweep the island from end to end."

Protecting the Water Supply.

Canea, March 28.—Three hundred international troops have been despatched to the village of Outsonnaria, where are located the springs which furnish this city with its water supply. They will guard the springs to prevent their capture by the insurgents, which, were they to obtain possession of the water supply, would practically have Canea at their mercy. Since the capture of Malaxa by the insurgents they have massed themselves on the heights above the town of Suda, and commenced an attack upon the Izzedin fort. To-day the Italian warships in Suda Bay, supporting the Turkish garrison, fired upon the Christians.

The Prince Has Started.

London, March 27.—A despatch from Athens says that Crown Prince Constantine finally started for the frontier of Thessaly last evening.

Likely to Cause More Trouble.

Athens, March 28.—A band of Armenians, Cretans and Greeks have boarded an Egyptian steamer at the Piraeus and forcibly released an Armenian prisoner who was being conveyed from Syria to Constantinople. The incident is likely to cause complications.

Warfare, Rapine and Pillage.

Canea, March 28.—The conditions which prevail throughout the island beggar description. Warfare, rapine and pillage are going on in every direction, and thus far the forces of the powers have been absolutely powerless to preserve order even in the coast towns. The Cretan Christians and the Greeks are firmly resolved to bring about the annexation of the island to Greece, while the Moslems appear to be equally determined to prevent such consummation.

The Turks declare that if the island is handed over to Greece they will massacre not only every foreigner, but even their own women and children, and then fight the Christians to the bitter end.

SEEM BENT ON WAR.

The Controllers of Events in Crete Show No Signs of Conciliation.

London, March 28.—The Telegraph will to-morrow publish a despatch from Suda stating that insurgents to-day fired upon a Russian torpedo boat, which replied to the fire. The despatch adds that it is feared that a war without quarter will shortly begin with the Cretan Christians pitted against the Turks and Europeans.

The despatch confirms the reports concerning the desperate feeling that exists in the island.

Fired on a Russian.

London, March 28.—The Times to-morrow will publish a despatch from Athens saying that those exercising the greatest influence on public opinion seem bent on war.

The despatch adds that communication has been established between the Greek officials and Col. Vassos in Crete by means of flash signals.

BLEW OUT THE GAS.

Achille Charest of St. Jean Baptiste Died That and Died Mgr. Langevin in Montreal.

Montreal, March 28.—(Special.)—On Saturday morning a man in the employ of Ture Auclair, St. Jean Baptiste, named Achille Charest, was found dead in his bed, having blown out the gas and gone to sleep.

Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface arrived in Montreal last night from Winnipeg, and was met at the Windsor Depot by Rev. Father Lecombe, the well-known missionary of the Northwest. It is His Grace's intention to meet Mgr. Mery Del Val, the Papal ablegate, here on his arrival from New York. His Grace stated that he was confident that the mission of the ablegate would be successful, and that all matters which he was instructed to investigate would be satisfactorily arranged.

A London Printer Killed.

Cuba, N.Y., March 27.—A printer named John Brown of London, Ont., was struck and killed Thursday afternoon by an Erie train while in the act of crossing the high viaduct east of this village. Brown had unsuccessfully applied for work at the two printing offices in this village, and at the time that he met his fate was in the act of leaving town. The age of the deceased was about 50 years. His identification was made possible by papers found in his possession.

William Green of Owosso, Mich., lost a house and lot on the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight, and yet says he would bet on Corbett if the two fought again.

Joseph Holt has been convicted at Chatham of shooting Patrick Harrington, alias Mannix, in the shoulder a short time ago. Sentence will be delivered to-day.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Sir Richard Will Resume the Budget Debate

WHICH MAY LAST SEVERAL DAYS

Various Opinions as to the Length of the Session — United States Fishermen Encroaching in British Columbia Waters—Troubles of Librarians —Personal and General.

Ottawa, March 28.—It was hoped by the Government that the debate on the address would close on Friday night, but owing to the misrepresentations indulged in by Mr. Foster, who followed the Premier, it was decided that his speech should not pass without refutation; therefore Sir Richard Cartwright will reply to the ex-Minister of Finance.

Just how long the debate on the address will continue it is not possible to say. It may finish to-morrow; then again it may last for several days.

Sir A. P. Caron will follow Sir Richard, and report has it that Mr. Dupont, representing the ultramontane view, will also speak to-morrow.

Members of Parliament are speculating as to the duration of Parliament. The report, to which allusion was made the other evening, as regards a possible adjournment from June until September, is discredited. Unquestionably, however, members on both sides are anxious to get to their homes before Dominion Day. Of course at so early a period in the session it is the merest speculation to attempt to predict what may happen, but, inasmuch as both Mr. Laurier and Sir Charles Tupper are anxious to get to England in June, this fact alone should aid the progress of public business. The Governor-General, also, it is said, would like to cross the Atlantic this year, and would not be averse to seeing Parliament wind up its work before his departure.

A. P. Low of the Geological Survey, who is to accompany Commander Wakeham on his trip to Hudson's Bay this spring, has left for Halifax, with the object of procuring suitable boats for making an exploratory survey along the shores of Hudson Straits.

There is a prospect of international complications arising out of the encroachment of American fishermen in Hecate Straits, which lie to the north of Queen Charlotte Island, B. C. Last fall the Dominion Government steamer Quadra was sent to these straits, where there is good halibut fishing, for the purpose of warning American fishing vessels away and preventing poaching. At the particular time the Quadra was at Bellacoola there were none of the American fishing vessels there, but notices of warning were left with missionaries to hand to captains of the vessels this spring, which was done. Now, it appears, the Americans have raised the contention that these straits are neutral waters, and unless a bold front is assumed upon it by our Government, there will be trouble thereabouts. Under the treaty for delimitation of the Alaska boundary, 20 miles square of territory was conceded by Canada to the United States, and, unless the Government acts vigilantly, further accessions of territorial jurisdiction will be secured by the States.

The report of the joint librarians of Parliament states that since last session they have procured journals of the Legislative Council of New Brunswick from 1786 to 1836 and of the Legislative Assembly from 1810 to 1816. The journals of the Legislature of British Columbia, not obtainable in print, are in process of being copied for the library. The librarians point out that the increase in the number of works required on account of a sudden or general demand is making inroads on space with embarrassing rapidity. Since last October several important works have been added to the Canadian section.

From present appearances the civil service of Canada has fallen on evil days. It is said that the bill to amend the Civil Service Act will make sweeping changes, even to the extent that no appointments hereafter will be of a permanent nature. The fact also that superannuation is to be abolished indicates that a position in the service hereafter will not be quite the soft snap which in the past it has generally been supposed to be.

A. W. Porte, S. R. Parsons, George Ritchie and others, of Toronto, are seeking incorporation as the Toronto Biscuit and Confectionery Co., with a capital of $100,000.

Hon. Peter White and J. D. Edgar are gazetted Privy Councillors.

This promises to be a big year for Ottawa in the building line, buildings being under way aggregating over a million dollars.

Lord and Lady Aberdeen will attend the convocation of Queen's University the last week in April.

Captain Sinclair, M.P., leaves Ottawa for England via New York April 9.

Mr. J. A. Ritchie, barrister, of Ottawa, has received official notice of his appointment as County Crown Attorney and Clerk of the peace for Carleton county.

THE SEAL CATCH IS SMALL.

Eleven Steamers Report Only 21,000 Seals —A Very Poor Record.

St. John's, Nfld., March 27.—News from the east coast sealing fleet was received to-day. Out of 16 steamers fishing in the North Atlantic, 11 have been heard from, whose combined catches are only 21,000 seals, less than a load for one steamer. This is the worst record for 100 years. There is little likelihood of the fishing being retrieved later from the total failure. Including three laden steamers fishing in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, only 75,000 seals are now reported, and it is not probable that this number will be doubled before the close of the season, whereas last year's total catch was 220,000, which was regarded as much below the average.

Fifty Springhill Miners Discharged.

Amherst, N.S., March 28.—Fifty men employed as coal cutters in the Springhill mines have received notice that their services will not be required at the end of 14 days. It is rumored that 50 more will be discharged in May. It is claimed there are more men employed than are needed.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Review says:—"Mr. Hardy has made a few changes in his License law in the hope of pacifying the aroused temperance sentiment." Dr. Potts, on Thursday, in closing the address of a deputation of the Methodist church, said "he thought Mr. Harcourt's scalp was safe with the bill in its amended shape, and if all the gentlemen of the deputation had seen it as he had see it since entering the building they would be pleased with what the government proposed to do. The bill in its present shape was a very marked improvement on the skeleton bill as it was first introduced."

THE Dominion trade returns, gazetted Saturday, do not, the Montreal Herald points out, indicate that state of suspended animation in Canadian trade circles which, according to the Conservative press, has resulted from uncertainty with regard to the tariff. February, while showing an incidental decrease of $27,000 in imports, shows also an increase of $17,000 in exports as compared with 1896. The total trade returns show a substantial increase as given for the current fiscal year. It has been unavoidable that pending changes should to some extent influence those branches of commerce more intimately connected with the import trade, but no such disturbance has ever taken place as has been portrayed by the Opposition press.

SIR CHARLES TUPPER condemns the proposal to make the Provincial voters' lists the lists for Dominion elections. Even his own followers do not credit Sir Charles with much more wisdom than the late Sir John Thompson, who spoke in parliament in reference to the Franchise Act and said:—"We have arrived, after the experience of eight or nine years, at the conclusion that it is not worth the effort to keep up the divergencies that exist between the two sets of franchises, the franchise as we have it now, and the franchise as it exists in the various provinces." Sir John said these words in open parliament and there was not a single Conservative in the House who spoke a word in opposition to his expression of opinion. No respectable Conservative has a good word to say of the expensive, unjust and unfair Franchise Act, but the moment a proposal is made to substitute a fair, workable act, then for the sake of opposition, regardless of the interests of the country, a vigourous, if factious, opposition is set up.

LICENSE LAW AMENDMENT.

The Changes Made From the Draft Bill First Introduced.

When Mr. Harcourt's License Law amendment bill was introduced it was expected that amendments would be made and the following is a summary of the changes that have been proposed in the draft or skeleton bill:

The changes are numerous and important, and may be briefly summarized thus: (1) In case of a reduction in the number of licenses in any municipality, the reduction is to take effect on the first of May of that year, and to continue until the bylaw is altered or repealed, the set period of three years mentioned in the original bill being now set aside. Such a bylaw can only be passed after notice has been given prior to November 15 of the preceding year of the notice to be signed by 100 municipal electors, and in towns of [illegible] (2) Liquor stores are allowed to [illegible] are not less than [illegible] pink. (3) [illegible] of shop licenses are allowed to sell packages of fifty cigars or five pounds of tobacco. (4) The restrictions on drug store liquor sales are made more stringent and are more clearly indicated. The demand for medical certificates and registration will apply to all compounds where liquors are mixed with other ingredients. The physician is not only to be "registered," but "legally qualified." Penalties are imposed for selling liquor to be consumed on the premises mixed with soda water, etc. (5) The regulations prohibiting the sale of liquor to persons of either sex under twenty-one years of age are made more stringent. Bona fide guests or lodgers, excepted by the original bill are not now so excepted, and in addition clubs are prohibited from selling or supplying liquor to minors, whether members or otherwise, or whether the charters of the clubs or associations gave them power to sell to members. Moreover, if minors, other than lodgers, are found frequenting taverns, the proprietor shall be subjected to a fine. (6) Hereafter no new licenses are to be granted for places within 300 feet of a church or educational institution. (7) The clause obliging municipalities to contribute to the expenses of enforcing local option laws is withdrawn altogether. (8) The machinery for securing the removal of a license from a residential district is altered in two important particulars; (a) a majority (instead of three-fifths) suffices for the requisite petition, and of (b) municipal electors, not, as before, electors for the Assembly under the manhood suffrage act. This petition may be presented as late as late as April 1, instead of March 15. (9) The municipality may by bylaw order that the licensed places close at an earlier or open at a later hour than now.

IN THE INTERESTS OF PRIME CHEESE.

At the Victoria County Cheese Board Meeting—The Making of Fodder Cheese Condemned.

The annual meeting of the Victoria County Cheese Board, was held in the council chamber, Lindsay, on Thursday, March 24th. Officers elected: President, Thomas Robertson, re-elected; 1st vice-president, John Cruess, re-elected; 2nd vice-president, Thos. Calvert; secretary, Eugene Shine; treasurer, F. Sanford, re-elected. Cheese buyers, Bird, Whitton and Madden were present in the interest of the Eastern Dairymen's Association, who strongly advised the board to secure the assistance of a cheese instructor for that board. After the matter had been thoroughly discussed a motion was made and seconded, that they engage an instructor for the year 1897, which was carried. The question of uniformity of size and colour was discussed, all buyers present recommending a uniform size in diameter and height, and which would weigh about 80 pounds. This size suited the English trade best at the present time, they also recommended, even colouring thoroughout the whole section, so that there would be no difference in the colour of the cheese between the different factories. The feeding of turnips to milch cows was also one of the live questions discussed.

Buyer Bird strongly condemned the feeding of any kind of turnips to milch cows.

Buyer Whitton, a practical cheesemaker and farmer, said that turnips were no good for milk, that they contained ninety per cent. of water, and he considered it a very expensive way of watering cattle. He fed mangolds, ensilage and bran. He also stated that not one cheesemaker in fifty could detect turnip flavour until the milk was heated, and then it was too late.

Buyer Madden stated that he had been forced to refuse a consignment of cheese purchased on the Peterborough Board, on account of turnip flavour. He refused it at one-half cent less per lb., and the cheese was afterwards sold for about five cents per lb. He considered "the cheesemaker a fool to take in milk if the cattle were fed on turnips."

It was decided that the first meeting of the Cheese Board would be held on Wednesday, June 2nd, the day following the Peterborough board.

TURNIPS MUST GO.

At the annual meeting of the Thamesford cheese factory patrons, one of the most live subjects discussed was that of feeding turnips to cows, the milk from which was being made into cheese.

There was a full meeting, and although a number of them had always been in the habit of feeding a few turnips to their milch cows in the fall, every man that expressed himself at all on the subject, declared that he believed better results would be obtained if no turnips were fed, and that they should therefore not be used. At the close of the discussion the following resolution was unanimously carried:

"We, as patrons of the Thamesford Cheese Factory pledge ourselves not to feed turnips to our cows while sending milk to the factory, and do authorise our directors to pass a bylaw prohibiting the feeding of turnips to cows from which the milk is used for cheesemaking."

The Editor of the "Dominion Dental Journal" and Dean of the Dental College, Montreal.

Dr. W. Geo. Beers writes: Dr. Iovers has been fortunate enough to produce a preparation ('Quickcure') which really has no rival in the Materia Medica of dentistry. I have investigated its merits, and find it, without exception, the most useful and convenient preparation for the purpose I have met with. We know very well, too, that chemists sell a lot of preparations which do more harm than good. From personal experience, and the unanimous verdict of Dr. Iovers' confreres in Quebec city and Montreal, we have no hesitation in recommending the preparation, not only as an invaluable addition to dental therapy, but as as family friend in emergencies, where one cannot at once reach the dentist."

HOW THEY MAY BE CURED.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Act Upon the Female Organs as well as upon the Kidneys — Many Women Suffer Needlessly.

Women suffer more than men. From the time a girl-child turns the corner into womanhood, she has more troubles than men ever dream of. We look upon women as weak and fragile, but considering what they endure they are stronger by far.

Women suffer many times more than they need to. Partly because they don't know what ails them at first; then because they are ashamed to tell a doctor; latterly because they hate to be a continual source of expense to their husbands.

"Female Weakness" are what we term the diseases peculiar to the female sex. They are so often confounded with female Kidney troubles, and Kidney troubles are often mistaken for other troubles. All those delicate organs are closely connected. What affects one affects the others.

What cures one, cures the others, too. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS which are a sovereign cure for all Kidney ills, act to regulate and control the female organs and to relieve their difficulties. This is worth while for every woman to remember.

Mrs. Lucy Crabbe, Chambers P. O., says:—"For years I was a sufferer from weakness peculiar to my sex, combined with kidney trouble from all of which I was completely cured by two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Elmena Ady, Walkerton, Ont., says:—"For a long time I have suffered from a complication of Kidney Trouble and Female Disease; and am glad to say have no pain or ache since using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS cure Kidney Disease and Female Weakness. Try them. They are on sale at all druggists. Price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

A Triumph Won

Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now I know that it has been met and defeated. I have used the pills steadily for some time, and am now in full enjoyment of health, and shall always be glad to testify to the merits of this triumphant medicine.

WHO'LL GIVE WAY?

Mr. Chamberlain Sneers at President Kruger.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE SHUT OUT

Matters are Looking Decidedly Serious as Regards the Transvaal—A Menacing Message Read by the Colonial Secretary Before South African Committee on Saturday.

London, March 27.—Everyone is asking to-day whether Mr. Chamberlain is bent on war in South Africa. He and the Imperial Government have certainly set themselves to coerce President Kruger. That cannot be doubted after yesterday's sitting of the South African Committee. Mr. Schreiner, ex-Attorney-General at the Cape and an Afrikander leader, justified President Kruger as best he could, and urged again and again a policy of "confidence and real friendship" towards the Transvaal, but Mr. Chamberlain simply overwhelmed him with a long, high-pitched tale of the Uitlanders' woes and the provocations of the Boer policy. He skilfully led Mr. Schreiner up to the admission of Mr. Cecil Rhodes' influence in South Africa, and then piled up the grievances against the Transvaal and each possible breach of the convention of 1884.

"Is there not also a crusade against the English language? Do you doubt that?" demanded Mr. Chamberlain.

Mr Schreiner did doubt. "Oh, do you?" scornfully replied Mr. Chamberlain, "Then listen to this." He then read from the proceedings of the Sanitary Board, in which orders are now read in Dutch, though a majority of the members are English or Irish. "Have we got to talk Dutch now?" asked an English member. "Ja," replied the Boer chairman of the Board, and when Mr. Chamberlain read out "Ja" with his best ironic effect the committee laughed heartily.

Then followed a dramatic bit of by-play. One of Mr. Chamberlain's many secretaries handed him a cablegram, "hot from the wires." It proved to be a violent protest from the president of the South African League against Mr. Schreiner's defence of President Kruger, and warned the Imperial Government against a continuance of their apparent apathy. Without a moment's reflection Mr. Chamberlain read out the menacing message with tremendous effect, leaving Mr. Schreiner little chance to explain that this League president is a mere fire-eater, who publicly declared after the raid: "Give me 2000 men and I'll walk over the Transvaal."

Finally Mr. Chamberlain startled the committee by blandly asking what ought to be done with Mr. Cecil Rhodes for his part in the raid. Mr. Schreiner hesitated, and then discreetly preferred not to give any advice, though he agreed that the charter had better not be cancelled. This is Mr. Chamberlain's new glass-house diplomacy with a vengeance. After it even Dr. Jameson's story, with the astounding boast, "If I had succeeded I should have been forgiven," fell flat.

The situation is exactly summed up by Frank Carruthers Gould in one of his inimitable cartoons, which represents President Kruger and Mr. Chamberlain as two fur-ruffled tom-cats on rival house tops, getting their backs up and preparing to spring at one another. "Wanted, some cold water," is Mr. Gould's comment. No one supposes that Mr. Chamberlain would push the case against President Kruger so far in public if it is to end there. Every Rhodesians will hardly refrain from taking his broad hints. Even Dr. Leyds' departure from Pretoria, which Mr. Schreiner regards as a hopeful sign, only transfers the stormy petrel to Europe, where, with German backstairs influence, he may do great mischief.

MR. FORD'S COMMENTS.

War in South Africa Cannot be Long Delayed, in His Opinion.

New York, March 28.—Mr. Isaac N. Ford cables from London to The Tribune:

The critical situation in the East in reality causes less solicitude in England than the South African situation. The Cretan question can be settled whenever the powers make up their minds on the precise means of conciliation, but in South Africa there is no evidence of any desire for peace. President Kruger, having presented an exorbitant bill of damages for the raid, is accused of a deliberate attempt to provoke England to war, and Mr. Chamberlain, by his amazing cross-examination of Mr. Schreiner, has apparently been anxious to make out a case for war. What seems like an irreconcilable conflict has opened. Whether Mr. Schreiner be right in supposing that President Kruger has never forgiven England for cutting off the Transvaal from an outing to the sea, or whether the millionaires are shrewd in their calculation that it is a matter of money, to be settled on a strictly cash basis, it is still evident that the race feeling is becoming embittered, and the most cautious observers are already convinced that war in South Africa cannot be deferred many years. The suppression of the English press in Johannesburg and the reactionary policy adopted against Uitlanders, are less significant than the evidence supplied by the negotiations with the Orange Free State, and the resumption of diplomatic relations with Europe, than that the Transvaal is trying to wriggle out of its treaty obligations. More important still is the line taken by Mr. Chamberlain in the South African Committee in subjecting a man of conciliatory temper like Mr. Schreiner to a cross-examination hostile in spirit and deadly in effect, while courteous in form. Mr. Chamberlain seems to have hardened his heart and stiffened his back, and is no longer the advocate of peace in South Africa. Mr. Schreiner was examined as if he had been a witness for the Dutch, and a determined effort was made to prove through him breaches of the treaty by the Transvaal, and its relentless opposition to reform measures. This exhibition was so remarkable that Dr. Jameson's testimony passed yesterday almost without observation. The change of tone on the part of Mr. Chamberlain indicates that the new High Commissioner, Sir Alfred Milne, will go out to the Cape with uncompromising instructions from the Colonial Office.

CHAMBERLAIN SEES DANGER.

Significant Words at a Farewell Dinner to the New Governor.

London, March 27.—A farewell dinner was given to-night at the Cafe Monaco to Sir Alfred Milner, the newly-appointed Governor of Cape Colony. Among the guests were Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour, Lord Rosebery, the Marquis of Lansdowne, Viscount Peel and Mr. J. Morley. Mr. Asquith, an old college friend of Sir Alfred, presided.

Mr. Chamberlain made an address, in the course of which he said that although the South African situation was not free from anxiety and even danger, he believed the problem was not insoluble. The common interests of the two races in South Africa were immeasurably greater than any differences between them. The British were always willing to concede to their Dutch fellow-subjects all the privileges of law they themselves enjoyed, and had shown, time and again, that they did not desire and did not intend to interfere with the freedom of neighboring states. Surely it might be hoped that the Transvaal would realize its duty and fulfil the obligations it had voluntarily assumed in the London Convention and extend the hand of fellowship to the foreigners who had so largely contributed to the prosperity of the republic.

The British nation was determined to uphold its rights under the Convention and its dominance in South Africa, if, as had been suggested, certain eminent men in South Africa, aspiring to an independent federation of states, in which Dutch influence would be dominant, were seeking the support of continental Europe rather than Great Britain. He viewed such a course as incompatible with British interests, even with the possession of Cape Colony, which was the most important strategic point of the Empire, and which was absolutely necessary to Great Britain as a great eastern power. Until such aspiration was frankly abandoned there could not be a final and satisfactory settlement of the question.

THE DEAF MADE TO HEAR.

Prof. Dussaud of Geneva University Has Extended the Phonograph Principle.

New York, March 28.—A London special says: It is announced from Geneva that Prof. Dussaud of the University there has invented an apparatus to enable the deaf to hear. The microphonograph, he has just issued, magnifies the human voice in the same way that a lens magnifies. It is simply a telephone connected electrically with a phonograph, but a far more sensitive phonograph than Edison's ordinary model. A battery of one cell to 60, according to the degree of deafness, is used. Of course, the apparatus is useless in the case of absolute deafness, but such as infirmity is far rarer than is suspected. Ninety-five per cent. of so-called stone deaf persons can be made to hear and understand by Dussaud's invention. You speak into the phonograph; you make it repeat the words which are transmitted by a sort of microphone and speaking tube into the deaf ear. Prof. Dussaud is preparing for the 1900 exhibition an apparatus which will enable 10,000 people who may all be deaf to follow a lecture.

SAVED FROM A WATERY GRAVE.

Sixteen of the Unfortunates Lost From the French Steamer St. Nazaire Picked Up at Sea.

Greenock, March 28.—The report that the steamer Yanariva, a British tramp steamer from Newport News for Glasgow, had picked up some of the survivors of the foundered French steamer St. Nazaire turns out to have been correct. The Yanariva arrived here to-day and at once reported that she had rescued 16 of those who had been on the ill-fated steamer and who had taken to a small boat just before the St. Nazaire went down off Cape Hatteras, during a heavy gale. The look-out on the Yanariva sighted a small boat some distance from her displaying a signal of distress. She bore down to the boat and soon had the survivors on board, where everything possible was done for their comfort.

The boat which the Yanariva had picked up had contained 29 persons, but when the steamer sighted it there were only 16 persons alive in it, the others having died from the effects of exposure and hunger.

The survivors were exhausted when they were rescued, and if the Yanariva had not seen their boat they would all have been dead in a short time. Their faces were wan and haggard, their eyes were bulging from their sockets, and their scant clothing hung about them in loose folds. All were in a condition of greatest exhaustion and were unable to stand when they reached the deck of the Yanariva. Two of the number had lost their reason from the terrible sufferings they had endured, and they had to be restrained by the men of the steamer.

Since the article appeared by Dr. Ievers in the last issue, a large number of testimonials from outside and impartial sources, have been sent to us as to the value of "Quickcure." Eminent physicians express the same opinion from practical experience in its use in boils and wounds. We have had practical proof of its value in a burn, and repeated experience in its efficacy in exposed pulps, and various pathological conditions of the gums and the mouth. Dr. Ievers, of Quebec city, has for over eleven years had such invariable success with his preparation, that he had little trouble to persuade many of his colleagues to experiment in the same direction, and the general consensus of professional opinion has been decidedly in its favour.

AT STITTSVILLE!

The Town's Leading Merchant Laid Up

Rheumatism in various forms is one of the most common diseases there is. It arises generally from impure blood and a broken down system. In the limbs it is painful; in most of the internal organs dangerous, and in the heart usually fatal.

The experience of Mr. S. Mann, the well known general merchant of Stittsville, is interesting:

"Last winter I was badly afflicted with rheumatism. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Pills. To my surprise, I got immediate relief, and before I had used one box my affliction was gone.

"I was also troubled with biliousness for years, and at intervals of three or four weeks would be laid up with a severe headache and sick stomach. Since using Chase's Pills I have not had an attack of either.

"I may add that Dr. Chase's Ointment for piles and skin diseases is just as effective as Dr. Chase's Pills for blood troubles. I have a clerk who suffered terribly from bleeding piles. He tried Chase's Ointment and in a few days was completely cured."

President Fife will give an address on "Respiration, and the organs used in respiration." All members are earnestly requested to be present. A Correction.

The Chief of Police called this morning to ask a correction in a statement of a charge against Mr. H. P. Kennedy of forestalling on the market. He explains that the charge was not one of offering to buy a load of pork, but of offering to buy four quarters of pork. The chief adds that if he had offered to buy hogs, the charge would not have been laid, though he thinks the by-law applies to buying hogs and, unless amended in this respect, it will be hereafter enforced.

Right in on the Ground Floor.

A spick-and-span new handsome floor has been laid down in P. Simons & Co.'s tailoring store, George street, which adds to the completeness of the interior of the premises. The work has been well done—of course it had to be in order to be in line with the garments turned out of this establishment. Every board is matched and fitted as slick as if the cutting and fitting had been done by Pete himself; every seam runs straight as a rule; and no wrinkles, bagging or puckering confronts the eye to distress the nerves or disorder the liver.

A Widow's Benefits Paid.

Mr. Robt. Morrison, Chief Ranger of Court Littlejohn No. 93, received on Saturday a cheque from the Treasurer of the High Court of the Canadian Order of Foresters for $1,000, payable to the widow of the late John W. Jenkins, who was a member of this court. Mr. Jenkins died on the 22nd of February, and his widow's claim has been promptly paid. In addition, Mrs. Jenkins, also received a cheque for $65 from the High Court Sick and Funeral Benefit Branch, and a similar sum had already been paid by Court Littlejohn. The advantages of membership in an order which so promptly and practically recognizes claims, and furnishes insurance and other benefits at so reasonable a figure, are too obvious to need insisting on.

Mr. Stephen Roadhouse's Funeral.

The funeral of the late Stephen Roadhouse was very largely attended yesterday afternoon, a large representation being present from the local lodges of Oddfellows as well as a delegation from Lansdowne Lodge Sons of England, headed by their band. The ceremony at the cemetery chapel was taken by the Oddfellows, Mr. George Bennett acting as Noble Grand and Mr. W. M. Matchett as chaplain. The Sons of England service was taken at the grave by Rev. H. Symonds, chaplain of Lansdowne Lodge, the concluding service being in charge of Rev. A. T. Dykeman, the family minister. The pall-bearers were: Oddfellows—Messrs. Wm. Savigny, R. M. Scott and Wm. King; Sons of England—Messrs. John Gibson, William Taylor and James Booth.

NORWOOD'S BIG FIRE.

MR. J. B. McWILLIAMS PROPERTY DESTROYED ON SATURDAY.

It Starts in Brennan's Livery Stable and Sweeps the Block to the Morgan House, Also Destroying That Structure—Five Buildings Consumed in Two Hours.

(Special Correspondence of the Examiner.)

NORWOOD, March 29th.

One of the most disastrous fires which has occurred in Norwood for many years took place on Saturday afternoon.

The first bell rang at about 5 o'clock, and in a few seconds the whole of Ott Brennan's livery stable was enveloped in a sheet of flames. The fire soon spread southward consuming also the J. B. McWilliams buildings, occupied by Robt. Wilson's harness shop, Wm. Roger's butcher shop, Chas. O'Reilly's implement and carriage warerooms, and the hotel occupied by James Mongraw. The fire lasted about two hours. The Peterborough fire brigade was telegraphed for but before starting they received word that danger of spreading further was over. Had the wind been in any other direction nothing could have saved the whole of main street. The Clancy House had a narrow escape.

On Friday night fire broke out in the Brennan livery stable office, and was supposed to have been put out, but the sparks must have smouldered all day until it was discovered on Saturday afternoon.

The contents of all the buildings were saved—except two cutters belonging to Brennan—through hard work on the part of the citizens. The buildings were fully covered by insurance. Total loss about $3,000. The buildings were totally destroyed.

An ember flew about a quarter of a mile and lit on the door sill of the high school and did about $20 worth of damage before being discovered.

The livery stables and the McWilliams building and contents were insured for about $3,000. The insurance on the latter being $2,000 in the Royal, and the London, Liverpool and Globe.

Tucker Bros.' buildings across the street had a very narrow escape.

The 'bus and two cutters were destroyed in the livery stables. Wm. Rogers lost the refrigerator in his butcher shop.

The Mongraw House was a three story frame building, and was occupied by Jas. Mongraw, formerly of the Oriental barber shop, Peterborough. All other buildings were one story structures.

BOARD OF TRADE EXCURSION TO OTTAWA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I notice by your paper that the Peterborough Board of Trade is going to run an excursion to Ottawa on Monday next by special train over the C.P.R. from Peterborough.

A good deal of uncertainty prevails sometimes in the public mind as to these excursions. What I mean is this—in fact what I want to, know for my own information as well as for others, is whether it is certain that a special train will be run on that date, April 5th, and what the fare will be, and what hour; whether there is any deviation in the fare and if it is calculated that the train will reach Ottawa in time to take in the debate in the House of Commons on that date (April 5th); whether ladies can go as well as gentlemen, and if any arrangements are made, or being made, for the convenience and comfort of the ladies on the way to Ottawa; if any arrangements are made with the hotels for the accommodation of persons going on this excursion, and if the train will reach Ottawa in time to get dinner at the hotels and afterwards listen to the interesting debate that I am informed is likely to occur on that evening or the following day; how long will the tickets be good to return by any passenger train and if any arrangements have been made with the hotels for accommodation and at reduced rates. I expect the excursion will be a large one owing to the interests involved to this section of the country and the energy of the gentlemen, who have the matter in hand. I suppose there will be a large gathering from the Midland district and therefore I would like to have all possible information on the matter so that the my friends and myself who intend to visit the Capital on that occasion may be posted in advance and be able to post others on the mode of procedure.

If some of the officers of the Board of Trade will give this information and any other in their possession they will confer a favour on

Yours truly,
INQUIRER.

THE FREE LIBRARY.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

SIR,—The time is drawing near when we citizens of Peterborough shall say how we wish the Diamond Jubilee of our Queen to be celebrated. It seems to me that we should consult the wishes of the Queen herself (God bless her) as well as our own in the style and manner of the celebration. Her wish is that our regard for her should be manifested in some good work that will inure to the benefit of her loving subjects. In one place an order of nurses has been founded, in another a cot in a "consumptive hospital," and so on. What does our local civic body propose? No doubt the councillors have a number of "permanent improvements" in their minds' eyes. Now what could be better than a FREE PUBLIC LIBRARY—a library and reading room where literally, "who runs may read," a place where every inquiring mind may find the objects of its inquiries and where those not over-blessed with this world's goods may yet gratify their thirst for knowledge. It is the aim of our beloved country that every Canadian shall be able to say that the ways of knowledge are open to him. It is easily done. It is a mere matter of seeing and realising the importance of such a step to the whole community, but chiefly to those unable to buy tickets and books. Arguments as to its advisability are of course not needed. The use of a free library has been amply demonstrated. The Rev. Mr. Symonds, a great reader himself, has advocated the adoption of the plan on more than one occasion, and I hope he will not rest till it is accomplished. In relieving the poor and sick we are perhaps well able to cope with public requirements. Few places are so fortunate in that respect. But in the after education of the boy who has to leave school early in life we are far behind. Give him and his sister a chance to become well informed and creditable citizens.

Yours, etc.,
PRO BONO PUBLICO.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nuptials of Miss Fannie Miles and Mr. Coleman Boyce.

On Wednesday, says a Stony Lake correspondent, a pleasant event took place at the home of Mr. William Miles, when his eldest daughter, Miss Fannie, was joined in wedlock's bonds to Mr. Coleman Boyce, eldest son of Mr. Chas. Boyce, of Smith. There were about seventy-five guests present to witness the interesting ceremony, which was performed by the Rev. Mr. Robinson, of Warsaw. Miss Mabel Elliott, Dummer, played Wyman's wedding march as the bridal couple entered the room. The bride looked very pretty in a costume of cream silk and nun's veiling with wreath of orange blossoms, and was assisted by Miss Hannah Nurse, of Ennismore, who was becomingly dressed in slate and cream, with wreath of cream lilacs. Miss Emily Drain acted as maid of honour and carried a bouquet of pink lilacs, while the groom was attended by his cousin, Mr. Wellington Boyce. After the ceremony the company repaired to the dining room where a delicious repast was served. The presents which were very numerous, were selected with good taste and attested the esteem in which the bride is held. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome pair of Persian lamb gauntlets. Their many friends wish them a long and happy wedded life.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a few days.

Preserving the Fish.

Mr. E. Tinsley, Chief Fish and Game Warden for the Province of Ontario, is taking steps to prevent the pollution of the streams, in order that the fish may become more abundant, and has just issued a circular to the mill-owners in the province which reads as follows:—"As the season is at hand for saw and other mills to commence operations, I hope you will in the future, as in the past, use every possible precaution to prevent sawdust or other deleterious matter from entering the stream on which your mill is situated. By so doing you will assist the owners and lessees of the stream or streams in their laudable efforts of restocking—at considerable expense—the depleted streams in your vicinity." Mr. Tinsley also reports that a moose head was seized a few days ago while in transit at North Bay and the party fined in whose possession it was found.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood-purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or a secret nostrum.

CURLING IN CANADA.

SOME REMARKS CONCERNING ITS HISTORY AND POPULARITY.

The Grand Old Game Has its Devotees in the Dominion as Well as in Auld Scotia — Club Membership Steadily Increasing.

As the end of the curling season has presumably arrived, a resume of the history of the game in Canada, and more particularly in Ontario may not be considered malapropos. The game has its devotees in men of every age:

As a matter of fact, men of 70 are hardly a rarity on the rink, although they may not exactly be common. Curling has also the additional advantage of being inexpensive for the implements last long, and opportunities for play can be made, if need be, without joining any of the clubs. To it must be brought a cool head, a steady hand, a clear eye, sincerity and cautious judgment. Its season is whenever ice is practicable, and all other outdoor sports—except the more energetic hockey—have ceased for the time being.

It has been said of the game that it has more a literature of its own than any other pastime. With the exception of angling, possibly, this is true. Its literature certainly has the merit of distinctiveness and scholarly attributes, which reckon more than abundance. It is doubtful if any pastime ever had so many polished wits devoted to it. Cricket for originality and brightness, stands no kind of comparison with curling, while other outdoor sports, such as baseball and lacrosse, are virtually unhonoured, either in prose or in poetry. At this moment I have before me besides over a score of the best annuals ever published in connection with one sport, a volume lent me by that genial enthusiast, Mr. William Rose, President of the Caledonians of this city, comprising 450 pages of beautifully printed and scholarly written matter. But these are only items in the literature of curling, which includes a multitude of the most stirring verses ever put into type. To the unimaginative Saxon, it may be that an interpreter is sometimes a necessity, and exact understanding of the language and the terms being taken as the crucial test of the true Scot. This was brought vividly home to my mind a few afternoons ago, when being engaged with a few friends I was startled by one of the rigb sort patting to another, who claimed to be, the query—"Dou you know what a pot-lid is?" My friend of the second part answered correctly, and to the understanding of all, unlike a certain veteran and accomplished skip, well known to fame, between whom and an inexperienced player the following conversation is said to have occurred:

"Mr. MacFergus, what's a pot-lid?"

"Weel, div ye see, ye gowk! Ye ding yer stane convilie, but no sae feckly as tae hog it. Nae hafkins fieg, nor jinkin turn, ye ken, but tentily, that it aye gangs moovin and straught as an elder's walk, hogsnontherin' amang the guards, till ye land on the verra tae. When ye've dune that, ye've mad a pot-lid, and ye may bear the stoup."

"Thank you, Mr. MacFergus; no doubt the explanation is very accurate, but I think its lucidity would have been very much heightened if you had made it in English."

"Tuts, man; an' ye'll be a curler, ye maun fameeliarize yersel' wi' the vernackular."

Curling has certainly attained an antiquity of 300 years at least, and is supposed to be of much longer standing. At least two centuries ago, a poet, one Pennyarrick, thus had it that—

To curl on the ice doth greatly please,
Being a manly exercise;
It clears the brain—stirs up the native heat—
And gives a gallant appetite for meat.

And Camden, in his Britannia, which was published in 1607, says that in the little Island of Copinsha, near the Orkenys, "are found in great plenty excellent stones for the game called curling." By some it is supposed the ancient and honourable game is of Low Country origin, owing to the apparent derivation of some of the terms, but whether that be the case or not, it is certain that it is played to a considerable extent on the continent of Europe. A letter was read before the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, in 1847, which said:

"When I was in Munich, as I promised, I made a point of seeing the curling ponds and curling apparatus in use in that part of the world. The game is a very ancient one, and is played generally throughout Bavaria, but more especially in the neighbourhood of Munich, the capital. It is common for gentlemen to have within their grounds artificial ponds for the practice of the game. These consist generally of one rink 50 or 60 yards long, which is the common length between the tees. The tees, called taube,' are movable, and the nearest stone counts wherever the tee may be moved to. They are formed of square pieces of wood, four inches long and two thick. The stones are made of wood and are in German called 'ice sticks,' for an equally good reason that in Scotland we call them stones.

"You recollect some attempts being made to supply the place of stones with wooden fabrications. These naturally got the name of wooden stones, and when some daring spirit attempts to introduce stones into Germany, I doubt not they will be called stone sticks. Their sticks weigh from 12 to 25 English pounds, and run on a sole from 10 to 18 inches, encircled close to the sole by a rim of iron to give weight and solidity. The handle is perpendicular, about nine inches long and slightly carved at the top. There are from two to four players a side. Numbered balls were put into a box, and each man takes his side according to the number of his ball. The places of the players are fixed by playing one end, and each man ranks according to the distance his stick measures from the tee.

"The first player is called 'maier,' the second 'long maier,' the third 'helfer' and the fourth, when there is one, also 'helfer.' The maier directs the game, and is reckoned the most important stick. The sides do not play alternately, but when one side has the shot, the others must play till they take it out. Each side has a right to play the maier stick twice. When all the sticks are played, including second playing of the maiers, the party gaining the end counts six. If any party take the end without playing the maier the second time, it counts nine. The stakes are paid at the end of each game, and there is always some stake played for."

The game we played is hardly that of Munich, but both seem to have a common foundation. In Canada, too, wooden "stones" were not unknown, the same Mr. Rose, of whom I have spoken, has a pair in his office at the Dominion brewery, which have the appearance of having seen very considerable service. An effort was made to utilise wood by placing lead inside, but it had to give way before the more serviceable and decidedly handsomer whinstone and granite. In Quebec and in Eastern Ontario iron is almost entirely played and preferred, because of its additional weight and superior impetus, the iron "stones" running from 65 to 75 pounds, whereas the granite only go from 35 to 50 pounds. A stone, it is stated, has been thrown over an English mile of ice. Sir James Brown, a noted authority, declares: "This was no uncommon things in the days of yore, and there are many still alive who have done it, throwing it across the Kirk Loch from the Orchard to the Stmilyland, a feat not much short of the above. Upon the occasion, we believe, of a match with Tinwold, Laurie Young, the strongest player among them, challenged the Lochmaben party to a trial of arm. Their president stepped out, and, taking his stone, threw it with such strength across the Mile Loch that it stotted off the brink upon the other side, and tumbled over upon the grass. 'Now,' said he to Laurie, 'go and throw it back again, and we'll then confess you are too many for us.'"

Whatever the age or the origin of the good old roarin' game, it is tolerably certain that the chronicles of it in Canada, whence it undoubtedly came from Scotland do not go beyond the present century. Its earliest settlement here was at Quebec city, but it was at Montreal 90 years ago, or in 1807, that the first curling club was formed. The membership fee was at first 4s and later 5s. Discipline was rigidly enforced, one of the rules providing that a player should be fined who appeared on the ice without a besom—then of birch, like the implement used in Scotland to-day. At a meeting held when the club was 13 years old the following resolution was passed:

"The members of the club minding of the necessity of producing emulation in the body, we, to-day, as a body politic, establish what may be considered an approach to the principle of an hereditary aristocracy as a stimulus to merit."

One of the founders, a Mr. Thos. Blackwood, was the recipient of this distinction in these terms on Dec. 8, 1820: "That an exception to one of the resolutions of this day, Mr. Blackwood shall, in consideration of his indefatigable and steady exertion as a member of this club, have free and perfect control over his blue stone, with a right to him to bequeath it to his rightful heir of the same name of Blackwood or any person who may be disposed to change his name to Blackwood, for the high honour hereby intended to be conferred."

On one occasion a controversy sprung up. Some members of the club considered iron stones as unorthodox, but after considerable debate, iron stones were considered within the rules. It is recorded that on the occasion of the Montreal club playing the Quebec club at Three Rivers in 1835, the Montrealers were beaten "because the ice was biased," also that champagne was drunk because in Three Rivers there was no whiskey.. The Montreal secretary in his minute book, notes: "The secretary has never seen such a thing, and as this is the first, so he hopes it will be the last time that ever he shall hear of 'champagne' being exhibited at a bonspiel dinner." It was one of the regulations of the club that the members should dine every fortnight on beef and greens, and drink whisky toddy, and that except the president and vice-president, no member should have the privilege of introducing a friend at these dinners. A regular club was formed at Quebec in 1821. When Montreal and Quebec met at Three Rivers, the Montrealers, being the losers, had each to pay £3 2s 6d as the cost of the meal. The wine bill being high, a member demanded that it be taxed, and produced from his pocket the cork of every bottle opened!

The Toronto Curling club, although formed 60 years ago, was not the first organised in this province. Fergus, having that honour, the date of its birth being 1834, West Flamboro coming into life in 1835, Toronto and Milton in 1837, Galt, Guelph and Scarboro in 1838, Paris in 1843, Elora in 1847, Hamilton Thistles in 1853. Toronto, however, showed the way to affiliation with the Royal Caledonian Curling club, throwing in its lot with the Canadian branch of that noble organisation in 1845. The example was extensively followed, but in 1874 it dawned upon the Western Ontario clubs that Montreal was a considerable distance away from the centre of their life, and that whereas they played with granite, all the Eastern clubs played with iron. There was, therefore, some discontent, and St. Mary's Club making representations to the Toronto Club, permission was sought of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club to form an Ontario branch. The necessary permission being given on Dec. 22, 1874, a meeting was held at the Walker House in this city and the branch formed with 28 clubs in affiliation, for 14 of which ex-Ald. David Walker held proxies. Hon. Peter Gow, of Guelph was first president, and Mr. Walker first secretary-treasurer, and office that he held until 1880, when the present secretary-treasurer, Mr. J. S. Russell, was elected, Mr. Walker becoming president in succession to Captain Ward, of Port Hope, who succeeded Mr. Russell. Since that time the presidents have been: Lieut.-Col. Moffatt, London; Judge Macpherson, Owen Sound; Dr. Jas. Ross, Toronto Caledonian; Mr. John O. Heward, Toronto; Mr. Henry Miehle, Fergus; Mr. J. D. Flavelle, Lindsay, ('86-'87); Mr. W. F. Davison, Toronto Granites; Mr. R. Ferguson, M. P. P., Thamesville; Mr. John Harvey, Hamilton Thistle; Dr. R. P. Boucher, Peterborough; Mr. W. Badenach, Toronto Granite ('91-'92); Dr. A. H. Beaton, Orillia; Mr. George N. Matheson, Sarnia; Mr. W. H. Biggar, M.P.P., Belleville; Mr. Thomas McGaw, Toronto, ('95-'96); and Mr. Thomas Woodyatt, Brantford. At the October meeting in 1892 the name of the branch was change to the Ontario Curling Association, on motion of Mr. C. C. Dalton, seconded by the present president, Mr. Woodyatt of Brantford. The Ontario silver tankard won by Lindsay last Thursday came into existence with the branch, and has been competed for annually since, except in 1877, when the Toronto retained possession in the absence of any other competitors. At first the points game decided the possession of the trophy, but for the last 12 years the tie system has prevailed.

Cupid, the Beggar.

How Love goes a begging for a little kindly treatment! How many women turn their backs on the little fellow! They give freely of their time and attention to fashion or social pleasures, but seem to regard happy wifehood and motherhood as a mere secondary consideration.

They take no end of trouble over the fit of a gown or the success of a dinner party, but think they have no time to bestow upon the health and physical soundness which are absolutely necessary to happy wifehood and motherhood.

Any weakness or disease of the delicate special organs of her sex totally unfits a woman to be a wife or mother. It is a woman's primary duty to be strong and healthy in a womanly way. Careful living and judicious treatment will certainly and completely eradicate these delicate complaints.

A complete and practical treatise on this subject with careful professional advice and suggestions for self-treatment are contained in "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," by R. V. Pierce, M. D., chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. This 1000-page illustrated book will be sent paper-bound absolutely free for cost of mailing and customs only: 21 one-cent stamps, or cloth-bound for 50 stamps. Address Dr. Pierce, as above.

Dr. Pierce has given a life-time to the study of women's diseases, and has had as wide a practical experience in this particular field as any living physician. His "Favorite Prescription" is a perfect and scientific remedy for diseases of the feminine organs. It is the only medicine devised for this particular purpose by an educated and skilled physician. It is a positive and permanent cure as attested by more than ninety thousand grateful women.

KILLED HIM WITH A SHOVEL.

Farmer Convey Could Not Stand Teasing and Took the Life of George Frost, His Tormentor.

Paris, Ont., March 26.—A terrible tragedy was enacted about five miles west of here this afternoon, when a farmer named Convey, an old man about 65 years of age, struck and killed George Frost, a young man in his employ. It appears Frost was tormenting the old man, who was down in the cellar shoveling turnips, by throwing chaff down on him and Convey, who is of a very passionate temper, struck him with the shovel, killing him instantly. Frost is an Englishman, about 26 years, and is said to have no relatives in this country. Convey admitted the crime and will be placed under arrest to-night.

An Inquest Held.

Princeton, Ont., March 26.—George Frost, a young Englishman, was found dead in the barn of E. Convey, near Princeton at 1.30 p.m. to-day. Coroner Dr. Staples was at once notified and, after having W. J. Watson sworn in as special constable, proceeded to hold the inquest. Henry Grover was the only witness examined. He said that his brother, Russell Grover, worked the Convey farm, and also attended to the stock, and that at 12.25 to-day Frost, who was in the employ of his brother, had gone to the barn to do the chores for noon, and about 1.30 p.m. Convey came to the house, called him out and said that he, Convey, and Frost had a fracas, and that he had struck Frost with a shovel, and asked Grover to come out and see him, saying he had fainted or something. Grover went to the barn, and found the lifeless form of Frost on the floor near the door. The inquest was adjourned till 2 p.m. Saturday.

Opposition Find Fault With The Globe.

IMPRISONMENT FOR DEBT HOLDS.

The House Refuses to Abolish the Judgment Summons—Discharges of Mortgages—Mr. McDonald's Bill Withdrawn—A Pretty Good Day's Work Got Through With.

Toronto, March 26.—After routine this afternoon, Mr. Marter rose to a question of privilege. He read a paragraph in The Globe, stating that yesterday the Opposition were killing time during the debate on the agricultural estimates yesterday evening, to allow him to see some of his friends who had expressed themselves as satisfied with the license bill. He denied that he had gone out of the House during recess, for the purpose. He woud have been better satisfied had the license bill come on earlier in the evening.

Mr. Whitney also protested against some of the statements of The Globe and denied that there had been any preconcerted arrangement to prevent the presentation of the license bill.

THIRD READINGS.

The following bills were read a third time:

Respecting the fisheries of Ontario.—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the debt of the village of Miverton.—Mr. Magwood.

Respecting the city of Windsor.—Mr. McKee.

Respecting local improvements in the city of Ottawa and for other purposes.—Mr. O'Keefe.

Respecting the Penetanguishene Protestant Separate schools.—Mr. Miscampbell.

DISTRIBUTION OF STATUTES.

Mr. Carnegie moved an address to the administrator of the Government, praying that he will cause to be laid before this House, a return of copies of all correspondence and orders in council relating to the distribution of the Statutes of Ontario to clerks of municipalities and Justices of the Peace.

In speaking to his motion, he complained that the distribution of the statutes was not satisfactory. If those entitled to copies of the statutes coud get them by mailing a card to the Clerk of the Peace it would be more satisfactory. As it is now they had often to travel considerable distances to get them.

The Attorney-General asked if Mr. Carnegie particularly wanted the correspondence, to which Mr. Carnegie replied that, as his object had been served by calling the attention of the Attorney-General to the subject, he was willing that the order should be discharged.

Mr. Garrow moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Architects' Act.

Mr. Cleland criticised the measure and contended that the Board of Examiners should be appointed by the Government, and not by the society. He was opposed to legalising so many close corporations. The bill appeared to authorize the collection of a great many fees.

Mr. McLean was opposed to the bill, but was willing it should go to a committee.

The bill received a second reading and was referred to a select committee

Mr. St. John moved the second reading of his bill to abolish judgment summons procedure in the Division Court. He enlarged on the hardships of the existing law, under which men could be imprisoned for a petty debt. Public opinion was so strongly against it that the judges dare not put the law into operation. The returns showed that, though in 1896 there were 1912 orders for committal, only 102 persons were actually sent to jail. He related cases of hardship which had accurred under the law, showing that it was made the instrument of oppression by grasping creditors. The machinery of the Division Court was much more expensive proportionately than that of the higher courts.

The Attorney-General said that there were now but few cases in which a commitment could be made. Only in cases in which there was the element of fraud could any one be committed to jail. However, he had no objection to the bill going to committee.

Mr. Haycock thought the bill might very well apply to debt for which security had been given, but not to other debts.

Mr. Cleland opposed any change in the law.

After some remarks from Hon. J. M. Gibson the bill was withdrawn.

SECOND READINGS.

The following bills received a second reading:

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Stratton.

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Auld.

To amend the Public Libraries Act, 1895—Mr. Magwood.

Respecting the liabilities of hospital trustees—Mr. Ryerson.

To amend the Municipal Waterworks Act—Mr. Pardo.

To amend the Act to Regulate Traveling on Public Highways and Bridges—Mr. Stratton.

To amend the Municipal Act—Mr. Stratton.

To amend the Division Courts Act—Mr. Garrow.

DISCHARGES OF MORTGAGES.

Mr. McDonald moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Registry Act, which makes it incumbent upon the mortgagee to register the discharge of a mortgage upon its being paid.

Hon. J. M. Gibson urged the withdrawal of the measure on the ground that there was no necessity for it.

Mr. Haycock supported the bill, urging that people who borrowed money were, as a rule, ignorant of legal matters and the neglect to secure proper discharges of mortgages by them often occasioned much loss.

Messrs. Howland, Matheson and St. John opposed the measure from the professional point of view, after which the bill was withdrawn.

PRIVATE BILLS.

The following private bills were read a second time:

Respecting the Kingston, Smith's Falls and Ottawa Railway Company—Mr. O'Keefe.

To confer certain powers on the city of Kingston—Mr. Harty.

To amend the Act to Incorporate the Ontario Ship Railway Company—Mr. Conmee.

To enable Edward Spencer Jenison to develop and improve a water privilegt on the Kaministiquia River—Mr. Conmee.

Respecting the Finance Committee of the Church Missionary Society in Rupert's Land—Mr. Dickinson.

Respecting the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway Company—Mr. Cleland.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c.

Crossing Ducks for Market.

Every attempt made to procure choice ducks for market by crossing the breeds has resulted in dissatisfaction compared with the use of the pure-bred Pekins. The Cayuga and Pekin cross is an excellent one, but the black pin-feathers of the Cayuga make picking more laborious. Crosses of Rouens and Pekins have not given any advantages, and the same is true of the Aylesbury and Pekin cross. The cross of the Muscovy drake and Pekin ducks gives fine market birds, but the cross-bred birds are quite sterile, their eggs not hatching. So far the Pekin seems to hold its ground as a market duck against all competitors. Ducks should be laying eggs at this season of the year, and if properly managed they will do much better than hens. Give them animal food, such as ground meat, at least once a day, and also a mess of cut clover, scalded. They prefer soft food, such as cooked turnips, thickened with equal parts of bran and cornmeal, which provides an excellent meal for them. If laying regularly, give them a meal three times a day. Keep the floor of their quarters covered two inches deep with straw and also keep the quarters clean, ducks will not thrive on damp floors.—Farm and Fireside.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. LIFE SAVED
by the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

DOWN IN THE DEPTHS.

Animal and Vegetable Life at the Bottom of the Ocean.

The temperature at the bottom of the ocean is nearly down to freezing point, and sometimes actually below it. There is a total absence of light, as far as sunlight is concerned, and there is an enormous pressure reckoned at about one ton to the square inch in every 1000 fathoms, which is 160 times greater than that of the atmosphere we live in. At 2500 fathoms the pressure is thirty times more powerful than the steam pressure of a locomotive when driving a train. As late as 1800 a leading zoologist explained the existence of deep-sea animals at such depths by assuming that their bodies were composed of solids and liquids of great density and contained no air. This, however, is not the case with deep sea fish, which are provided with air-inflated swimming bladders. If one of these fish, in full chase after its prey, happened to ascend beyond a certain level, its bladder becomes distended with the decreased pressure, and carries it, in spite of all its efforts, still higher in its course. In fact, members of this unfortunate class are liable to become victims to the unusual accident of falling upward, and no doubt meet with a violet death soon after leaving their accustomed level, and long before their bodies reach the surface in a distorted and unnatural state. Even ground sharks brought up from a depth of no more than 500 fathoms, expire before they gain the surface.

The fauna of the deep sea—with a few exceptions hitherto only known as fossils—are new and specially modified forms of families and genera inhabiting shallow waters in modern times and have been driven down to the depths of the ocean by their more powerful rivals in the battle of life, much as the ancient Britons were compelled to withdraw to the barren and inaccessible fastnesses of Wales. Some of their organs have undergone considerable modification in correspondence to the changed conditions of their new habitats. Thus down to 900 fathoms their eyes have generally become enlarged, to make the best of the faint light which may possibly penetrate there. After one thousand fathoms these organs are either still further enlarged, or so greatly reduced that in some species they disappear altogether, and are replaced by enormously long feelers. The only light at great depths which would enable large eyes to be of any service is the phosphorescence of deep sea animals.

We know that at the surface this light is often very powerful, and Sir Wyville Thomson has recorded one occasion on which the sea at night was "a perfect blaze of phosphorescence, so strong that lights and shadows were thrown on the sails, and it was easy to read the smallest print." It is thought possible by several naturalists that certain portions of the sea bottom may be as brilliantly illuminated by this sort of lights as the streets of a European city after sunset. Some deep-sea fish have two parallel rows of small circular phosphorescent organs running along the whole lengths of their bodies, and as they glide through the dark waters of the profound abysses they must look like modern mail ships with rows of shining portholes.

William Lee, mayor of Parish of Quebec, writes: "I have used 'Quickcure' for most painful rheumatism and got almost instant relief, and the pain has not returned since last spring; it also healed a wound caused by a rusty nail in a marvellous manner. I consider it the healing remedy of the age. We do not fear even toothache now, as we always keep 'quickcure' on hand."

GREECE PROTESTS

Against the Action of the European Powers.

THANKS GIVEN TO MR. GLADSTONE

For the Way in Which He Has Championed the Cause of the Cretan Christians — Prince Constantine Has Not Yet Gone to the Front —Salisbury and Hanotaux.

Athens, March 26.—The Government has handed to the representatives here of the several powers a note, protesting against the blockade of Crete. The note relates that, in view of the bonds uniting the Greeks and the Christians of Crete, the blockade which is depriving the island of the means of provisioning itself, is contrary to the sentiments of humanity inspiring the powers.

The President of the Boule, on behalf of that body, has sent to Mr. Gladstone a message of gratitude for the stand he has taken in behalf of Greece and the Cretan Christians. The message says in part: "All your glorious life has been full of combats for justice and liberty. Now that the Hellenic nation has risen to fight in favor of Crete, which is bedewed with blood, you come to uphold anew the rights of an oppressed race."

The Prince Didn't Go

Athens, March 26.—For some as yet unexplained reason, Crown Prince Constantine, who, it was announced last night, would leave Athens at 4 o'clock this morning to assume control of the Greek forces in Thessaly has not yet left this city. It is now reported that he will go to the Piraeus, whence he will sail for Volo, in Thessaly, to-morrow evening.

Caustic Criticism.

Canea, March 26.—The Christian sympathizers here caustically comment upon the action of the powers in taking possession of the town of Malaxa on the ground that the foreign admirals held that its occupation by either Christians or Turks is dangerous to the Europeans in this city.

Salisbury and Hanotaux.

Paris, March 26.—Lord Salisbury, who is here on his way to Cimiez, where he will act as Minister in attendance upon Queen Victoria, had a conference with M. Hanotaux, Minister of Foreign Affairs, to-day. It is understood that the two ministers concurred in the view that the proposed blockade of the Piraeus, the port of Athens, and the port of Volo, Thessaly, should be enforced if Greece refused to assent to the establishment of a neutral zone extending one mile on either side of the Graeco-Turkish frontier.

RETURNED THE CALL.

M. Hanotaux later returned Lord Salisbury's visit, calling upon him at the British Embassy. Lord Salisbury left Paris at 8.30 o'clock to-night and proceeded for Nice.

Efforts were made after the departure of Lord Salisbury to learn from M. Hanotaux the topics that had been discussed by the two statesmen. When questioned on the subject M. Hanotaux smilingly gave a diplomatic answer, saying that the British Prime Minister was a good French scholar and had expressed his views in the clearest manner. M. Hanotaux, however, declined to state what these views were. There is no doubt in the public mind that the question of action to be taken by France and Great Britain in the Cretan embroglio was thoroughly discussed and that some definite understanding was arrived at.

That Reply.

London, March 26.—A despatch from Athens says the reply of the Greek Government to the notification of blockade will be handed to the Foreign Ambassadors to-morrow. It will be a brief and dignified protest, emphasizing chiefly the fact that the result of the blockade of the island must be to starve innocent Cretans. A private meeting of members of the Boule was held to-day and as a result of it a deputation waited upon M. Delyannis to ask him for an explanation of the situation. The Premier replied that the Government would follow the line of policy already adopted, but would be glad to hear the opinion of deputies on the suggestion that Crete should be treated like Bosnia and Herzegovina, in the event that the powers continued to oppose its union with Crete.

London, March 26.—The Government announces that the international forces in the Island of Crete have occupied the town of Malaxa, which was the scene of fighting between the Turkish garrison and the Cretan insurgents yesterday, and subsequently taken by the latter, the garrison having found the place untenable. The grounds for this action, as stated, are that the admirals commanding the joint fleet of the powers in Cretan waters regarded the occupation of the town by either Turks or Greeks as menacing to the Europeans occupying Canea.

Must be a Change.

Constantinople, March 26.—The Ambassadors of the powers have held a meeting to consider a despatch from the foreign admirals in Cretan waters, stating that it is daily becoming more evident that a continuance of Turkish authority in Crete is impossible, and recommending that a European governor general be appointed and that the Turkish troops be withdrawn.

Austrian Infantry for Crete.

Vienna, March 26.—A battalion of Austrian infantry left Trieste for Crete to-day. Part of the men will be stationed at Suda and the remainder at Canea.

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

A SEVILLE BELLE.

Speak of the women of Spain, and your thoughts instantly turn toward the region of romance. No other nation in the world has won such a reputation in poetry and song through its women. Not undeservedly so, either, for the temperament of the fair senorita is such as to inspire sentiment. The descendants of many distinct races, they represent every type of beauty imaginable. There is a much larger percentage of blondes and demi-blondes among them than is commonly supposed; but the typical Spanish beauty is of course a pronounced brunette, with masses of dark hair, large lustrous eyes, small hands and feet, and the carriage of an empress. Her voice is exceedingly soft and sweet, and her complexion ravishing. But, unhappily, the beauty of the Spanish woman is ephemeral. She is most attractive between the ages of 15 and 25, but after the latter age she is very apt to become exceedingly stout. With the lapse of time, too, her voice loses its melody and becomes coarse and masculine, and her skin no longer has a flower-like fairness, but grows dark.

The young Spanish woman is much given to stringed instruments, fandangos and love affairs. She never thinks deeply, because she is rarely educated. Her love affairs are numerous and romantic. They must be conducted with great caution, owing to the extreme watchfulness of her parents or guardians.

The fondness of the Spanish woman for dancing is proverbial, and an enthusiastic writer says: "Who realizes so completely in every graceful motion and in the superb sweep of their matchless forms all the ideal perfection of Hogarth's famous line of beauty as the Spanish woman?"

The lace mantillas of song and story are still largely worn by women of the lower and middle classes. The gente fina, or gentlefolks, now very generally take their fashions from Paris.

Humors, pimples, boils, are very annoying. They quickly disappear when the blood is purified by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Secres of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

MR. LAURIER'S IDEA OF A JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

The Noblest Monument the Canadian People can Raise.

At the close of his brilliant speech during the debate on the address at Ottawa on Friday night, Hon. Mr. Laurier said:—The hon. gentlemen (Sir Charles Tupper) spoke this afternoon feelingly, eloquently and well in regard to the jubilee of Her Majesty the Queen. I could not add a word to what he said at that time, except this, that there is not, perhaps, in the broad domains of Her Majesty, any portion of the Empire where so much can be achieved out of the jubilee year. This is the jubilee year. This is the sixtieth anniversary of Her Majesty the Queen. Throughout the broad Empire all the tribes, all the races, and all the nations, which acknowledge her supreme authority, will vie with each other to do her honour; all the tribes, all the races, all the nations, divided though they may be by colour and religion, in education, in blood, will still be unanimous in their endeavour, in their efforts, in their emulation among themselves to testify to their devotion to her person. Monuments will be erected in commemoration of the event. The arts will be called on to give expression to this feeling in marble, and in bronze, to the loyal devotion of so many millions to one who is so wise and whose reign has been so beneficial. But there are monuments which speak more eloquently than even those of sculptured bronze or carved marble. There are monuments which will be more fitting for this occasion than sculptured bronze and carved marble. Let this be the jubilee year indeed. Let this year be as of old, a year of remission. Let the past be forgotten. Let old scores be put into oblivion. Let strife and contention be forever buried, and instead let us trust confidence and good will spring forth from the ground and rise towards heaven. This is the noblest monument, in my estimation, which the Canadian people could offer as their contribution to the glory of the jubilee year.

SELWYN LITERARY SOCIETY.

The last open concert of the Selwyn Literary Society was held in the hall, Selwyn, on Friday evening, March 19th. The roads were in bad condition, but still there was a very large attendance, the hall being comfortably filled. Mr. Frank Dwyer acted as accompanist on piano for Messrs. Adams and Ricketts to their entire satisfaction.

The Young's Point Dramatic club proved their courage by coming over the bad roads, and their ability they proved on the stage.

We desire to thank Mr. W. C. Manning for the loan of his piano when we could not procure one elsewhere for money.

A rather interesting case came up before Mr. Thos. Gillott, J. P., on Thursday afternoon last, when School Teacher Stacey of Mount Pleasant wrs fined $2 and costs for too severely punishing a sixteen-year-old scholar named Tommy Boyd. The case although very long, was extremely interesting, and the large number present at the trial from the little northern village showed the interest that pervailed in that section.

When the Magistrate took his seat at 2 o'clock the court room was crowded, the attendance including nearly all the school children of Mount Pleasant. A coat and vest which a few days ago had served Tommy Boyd to go to school in, but now in shreds, was one of the "exhibits" in the case.

Mr. R. Ruddy appeared for Mr. Boyd, and Mr. A. A. Smith acted for Mr. Stacey.

The first witness called was Tommy Boyd, the alleged victim of the unfortunate affair, who told how his teacher in a rage came down and pulled him out of his seat, and he (Boyd) fell on the floor. Because he did not get up as quickly as his teacher would have liked, the latter inflicted three kicks on his side.

A scholar named Jones who was close by corroborated this, and Mr. John Boyd swore that he saw the marks on his son when he came from school.

The defendant claimed that he did not kick the boy, but merely shoved him with his foot. He claimed that Tommy was the worst boy in the school, as he never gets up his lessons, and is the ringleader of all the mischief around the school.

Several of the scholars were then put forward by the defence; all agreed on Boyd's misbehavious record but when pressed they, however, admitted that while they did not see their teacher kick Tommy, he may have done so.

It was nearly half past 8 o'clock in the evening when all the witnesses were examined and Barrister A. A. Smith made his address to the magistrate. He claimed that Mr. Stacey's future as a teacher depended to a great extent on this decision and that the evidence which had been put forward by the defence must show conclusively that Mr. Stacey did not kick the boy but merely shoved him with his foot. That he was a bad boy was evident from the number of witnesses who had sworn to that effect, also that it was a question of who should run the school, the teacher or the scholars.

In his address Mr. Ruddy claimed that the teacher overstepped his authority and that it was time that some of these ill-tempered teachers were called down. He held up the coat and vest, which were torn to pieces, to show that undue force was used to correct the scholar. It was not necessary to kick a scholar if he did not obey. He was not even asked to hold out his hand, but was, he said, torn from his seat and kicked.

The magistrate, in giving his decision, said that he was convinced that the boy was somewhat mischievous, but that the teacher had no right to use the means he did to correct him. He would, however, not impose a very heavy fine on him under the circumstances, and fined the teacher $1 and costs.

Mr. R. Ruddy was in Omemee on Monday on business.

R. Graham & Son's millinery opening will take place on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of next week, March 31st and April 1st and second. They extend a cordial invitation to all to call and try a cup of Appleton's tea, which will be demonstrated at their store during the days of the millinery opening. An expert tea demonstrator will be in attendence. Their stock will be found complete in all lines.

A great many of the cellars are filled with water, owing to the sudden going away of the snow, and drains not being properly opened ont. In one of the cellars the water was coming out through the foundation, within a few inches of the floor above.

On Thursday of last week, while Master John Coughlin, son of Mr. Martin Coughlin, of Douro, was playing at the Brick school he fell on a nail, tearing a big gash just below his knee. The little fellow was taken to a doctor, who put a number of stitches in the cut. He is getting along nicely, but it will be some days before he will be able to attend school again.

There seems to be considerable difficulty in getting pure water for the use of the school, as two wells have already been sunk at the school and yet good water has not been procured. It is only a few years ago that the new well was dug and now the water is unfit for use. A new well will be sunk this spring in a different part of the grounds, when it is to be hoped that good water will be procured.

On Wednesday morning we had a very heavy snowstorm, in fact the heaviest we have had this winter. One of our oldest residents remarked that he had not seen so heavy a snow storm so near the end of March since the year 1870.

On Thursday evening of last week Mrs. Garvin, of Peterborough, Superintendent of Primary Sabbath school work, met the teachers of the various Sabbath schools in the Presbyterian church. It was decided to organize a local Primary Sabbath School Teachers Union.

The following officers were elected:
Miss Wallace—President.
Miss White—Vice-President.
Miss Eva Davis.—Secretary.

We have no doubt but that under the leadership of the above officers, the organization will prove successful. Trained teachers are as much required in the Sabbath school for the religious education of the children, as they are in the Public school for their secular education. By having an organization of this kind, teachers exchange ideas, and endeavour to get at the latest and most approved methods of the study of the Bible, so that it may be applied in a practical way in the teaching of it to young children. The following ladies have signified their willingness to assist at the meetings and give papers during the year, or teach a lesson. To teach a Sabbath school lesson: Miss Wallace, Miss Duff, Miss Nellie Cox, Miss Sanderson, Miss Carveth, Mrs. Benson, Miss Gordon. To take up a topic for discussion: Mrs. Reeves, Mrs. J. C. Sherin, Miss Fitzgerald, Miss Quinn, Miss White. The next meeting will be held in the Baptist church on Tuesday evening of next week, March 30th, when it is expected there will be a full attendance of the teachers. Mrs. Garvin deserves credit for her energetic organization of the society.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

The Franchise Law Repeal Bill Introduced

AND THE OPPOSITION DISPLEASED

Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster Wanted It Laid Over. But Mr. Laurier Said It Must Go — Sir Richard Cartwright Resumed the Tariff Debate.

Ottawa, March 29.—(Special.)—After routine to-day, amid rousing Liberal cheers, Mr. Guite, the man from Bonaventure, who had the temerity to give back chat to his bishop and then get elected, was introduced by Messrs. Laurier and Talbot, and took his seat.

Major Beatty also got a rousing cheer from his Conservative friends as a token of regard for the ordeal he had undergone in the courts for weeks in London.

Mr. Casey introduced his bill to secure the safety of railway employes and passengers, the object of which, he explained, is to provide for compulsory use of air brakes and of certain attachments to box cars. At a later stage he would ask that the bill be referred to a special committee. Another feature of the measure provides for compensation to railway employes injured in the performance of their duty through no fault of their own.

Mr. Maclean introduced a bill to promote the safety of railway employes, the object of which is to provide for the adoption of automatic air brakes. He said the different railway organisations in the country approved of the principle of the measure.

Mr. Maclean also introduced a bill to compel railway companies to keep upper berths in sleeping cars up when not occupied or engaged. The announcement of this provision elicited a chorus of cheers on both sides of the House. Another provision calls for a return to Parliament by each railway company of the number of passes of all kinds issued by railways, together with special rates quoted for passenger traveling. In his judgment there could be no solution of the transportation problem until this information were learned.

Mr. Cowan introduced his bill respecting employment of aliens in the Dominion. It provides that no alien shall enter Canada to work under contract, nor shall any person be employed in Canada who resides in a foreign country.

Mr. Maclean: "Does the bill contain any provision that no public contract shall be given by the Government to those who are not British subjects?"

Mr. Cowan: "No; but it provides that no alien labor may be employed on public works."

Mr. Mills (for Mr. Taylor) introduced a bill similar to the one just introduced by Mr. Cowan.

Mr. Fitzpatrick introduced a bill to repeal the Franchise Act and make provision in lieu thereof. He said the title accurately explained the scope of the bill. In substance the bill provided that the provincial franchise voters' lists and polling subdivisions should be substituted for the present Dominion franchise. He believed it would be more convenient to discuss the different features of the bill after the measure had been distributed. He explained that the bill was largely drawn on the lines of the measure introduced by Sir John Thompson in 1894, when he undertook to substitute the provincal electoral lists and franchise for the present franchise. The chief object in introducing this was to avoid the heavy expenditure which the present Act involved. Up to the present time the sum of $1,141,000 had been spent under the Act.

Sir Charles Tupper said the Opposition felt very strongly on this question. Many objections could be raised to the bill. The Government could not expect such a measure as this to pass the House without full and elaborate discussion. He did not mean to say the present Franchise Act could not be improved, and he thought especially so in regard to expense. Doubtless the House could devise means to mitigate that complaint. He questioned, however, the propriety of passing this bill at this moment. In England it was usual, after a change in the franchise, to appeal to the electors, but as it was evident the Government had no such design, what, then, was the necessity for pressing this measure now? The Government would have vindicated its position by bringing down a bill and letting it stand over until a future session. It was extremely important that the Prime Minister should visit England in connection with the Jubilee festival. That was an additional reason why a contentious measure of this kind should not be pressed now. The great measure which the country was looking forward to was the tariff, and he urged that a bill of this kind should not be interposed. Personally, he held the view that manhood suffrage might with safety be adopted as a basis of Dominion franchise. If this bill were left over until a more convenient time a general agreement might be reached in regard to the franchise that would be acceptable to the whole country.

Mr. Laurier said the Government was convinced they could do nothing which would be hailed with more delight by public opinion than the introduction of this bill. For ten years the Liberals have been asking for the repeal of the Franchise Act. The Opposition felt strongly in favor of the present Act. They honored it more in the breach than in the observance. The Government were pledged to the country to carry the measure and intended to carry out their pledges. Last session Sir Charles Tupper said the Liberals would be out in six months; now, however, he had changed his mind. (Ministerial cheers.) There would be no necessity to go to the country immediately after the passage of this bill, as the people had passed on this question and on many others on the 23rd June last. [Liberal cheers.]

Mr. Foster pointed out that the tariff was the chief measure of the session, and the people were anxious to know what that tariff was to be. Nothing was to be gained by passing a franchise bill this session. The great cry throughout the country was, What are you going to do with our business? and the Government ought to relieve public anxiety.

Mr. Campbell: "Oh, never mind that!"

Mr. Foster: "The hon. gentleman does not want to hear me. Well, he will hear many things he won't understand. [Laughter.] But other gentlemen are anxious to hear." Continuing, he said if the Government brought a tariff measure down the Opposition would help to put it through just as fast as they could with reasonable discussion on its merits, but nothing was to be gained by allowing a useless bill to intervene.

The bill was read a first time.

Mr. Gibson introduced his bill further to amend the Railway Act, which provides for a lien on behalf of workmen on railways constructed under Federal charter. He explained that the trouble on the T., H. and B. Railway had led him to introduce this bill.

Mr. Maclean asked the Government:

1. Whether it is the intention of the Government to enter into negotiations with the C. P. R. Company for the abrogation or modification of the following article in the contract and agreement made between Her Majesty and Mr. George Stephen and others, as set out in chapter 1, 44 Victoria:

"14. The company shall have the right, from time to time, to lay out construct, equip, maintain and work branch lines of railway from any point or points along the main line of railway to any point within the territory of the Dominion, provided always that before commencing any branch they shall first deposit a map and plan of such branch in the Department of Railways, and the Government shall grant to the company the lands required for the roadbed of such branches, and for the stations, station grounds, buildings, workshops, yards and other appurtenances requisite for the efficient construction and working of such branches, in so far as such lands are vested in the Government."

2. Whether it is the intention of the Government to enter into negotiations with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company for the modification or abrogation of the following clause of chapter 1, 44 Vic.:

"20. The limit to the reduction of tolls by the Parliament of Canada, provided for by the eleventh sub-section of the seventeenth section of the Consolidated Railway Act of 1879, respecting tolls, is hereby extended so that such reduction may be to such an extent that such tolls, when reduced, shall not produce less than 10 per cent. per annum profit in the capital actually expended in the construction of the railway, instead of not less than 15 per cent, per annum profit, as provided by said section, and so also that reduction shall not be made unless the net increase of the company ascertained as described in said sub-section shall have exceeded 10 per cent, per annum, as provided by said sub-section, and the exercise by the Governor-in-Council of the power of reducing the tolls of the company as provided by the tenth sub-section of said section 17, is hereby limited to the same extent with relation to the profit of the company and to its net revenue as that to which the power of Parliament to reduce tolls is limited by said sub-section 11, as hereby amended."

3. What steps, if any, have been taken by the Government to ascertain the capital actually expended in the construction of the said Canadian Pacific Railway, as referred to in above quoted clause?

Mr. Blair said the subject was under consideration. As regards the first two questions, no conclusion had been arrived at. As to the third question, there was no intention of making an enquiry at present.

Mr. Davin was told by Mr. Laurier that the matter of sending a detachment of Mounted Police to the Queen's jubilee was under consideration by the Government.

Mr. Foster read from a recent newspaper despatch from Kingston that the cotton mill there was about to commence running full time. The report was current in Kingston that the company had got the tip from the Government that there would be no interference with the cotton schedule. He hoped the Minister of Finance would be able to assure the House that nothing so unconstitutional with reference to the principle or details of the tariff bill had occurred as to give an intimation to the cotton manufacturers.

Mr. Fielding said the hon. gentleman's hopes were exceedingly interesting. The present Government would do nothing that was unconstitutional.

Mr. Foster asked if the report were true.

Mr. Fielding replied that he had no desire to be held responsible for newspaper statements.

Sir Richard Cartwright renewed the debate on the address. He at once turned his attention to the Manitoba school question, and in particular to the remarks which Sir Charles Tupper made on that subject in the debate on Friday last. Sir Charles then told the House that he had now washed his hands of the school question. If, said Sir Richard, Sir Charles had asked the advice of his friends, they would have told him to hold his tongue about it as well. The present Government had successfully grappled with the school question. They had done in six weeks what the late Government had failed to do in six years, and the settlement the Laurier Government had effected had received the approval of men of all classes and creeds. What Mr. Laurier had promised in regard to the school question Mr. Laurier had done. The settlement was due to the courage and wisdom of his honorable friend, also to the wisdom and good sense of his supporters in the Province of Quebec, and also to the way in which the Dominion Government had been met by the Government of the Province of Manitoba. The country at large had endorsed [illegible] If he remembered aright there had been eight bye-elections since the settlement The former members for constituencies in which those elections had taken place were four supporters of the Government and four supporters of the hon. gentleman opposite. What was the net result? If his calculations were right, the bye-elections had returned seven supporters of the Government and one of Sir Charles Tupper's. He hoped that no one would stir up the Manitoba school question again. If they did, he trusted they would be buried eight hundred fathoms deep, as in Wright and Bonaventure. With regard to Sir Charles Tupper's charges of corruption by the Government in the recent bye-elections, Sir Richard made light of them, and declared that in the matter of electoral corruption Sir Charles Tupper had forgotten more than those who sat on the Liberal benches ever knew.

After maintaining that the increase in expenditure since the Laurier Government came into office was due to the late Conservative Government, Sir Richard Cartwright turned to the tariff. "I will not," he said, "now go into detail about the tariff or its conditions. It is the earnest desire, and it will be the endeavor of the Government, so far as lies in our power, to do justice to all classes, the consumers, the producers and the manufacturers alike. We hope to be able to produce the tariff at an early day, and it will show at least that the Government has made an honest attempt to discharge its duty towards the people who placed it in power.

Mr. Davin followed, devoting himself chiefly to the school question.

The debate was continued by Messrs. Monk and Casgrain, who spoke at some length on the school question. The latter, to the great enjoyment of the House, read the ante-election pledges of several Liberal members on the school question.

The House adjourned at 11.05 p.m.

IRELAND'S FINANCES

Discussed in the Imperial Parliament.

THE DEBATE OPENED BY MR. BLAKE

Who Claimed That the Emerald Isle Had Been Unduly Taxed—Mr. John Redmond Seconded—Sir Michael Hicks-Beach Defended the Government Warmly.

London, March 29.—In the House of Commons to-day Hon. Edward Blake, Nationalist member for the South Division of Longford, opened the debate on the question of the financial relations between Ireland and Great Britain my introducing a motion for the relief of Ireland, contending that the contribution of Ireland to the treasury of Great Britain was unjustly disproportionate to Ireland's population and resources.

Mr. Blake added that the report of the Committee on financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland had proved that the latter country was unduly taxed. It was the duty of the Government to take early steps for the adoption of remedial legislation.

John Redmond, Parnellite, seconded Mr. Blake's motion. He said that the appointment of the new commission was a dishonest evasion and was intended to shelve the question for an indefinite time, but it would result in a hastening of the day when Ireland would find in her own national government the best safeguard against further spoliation.

Thomas P. Whittaker, Liberal, moved that while the exchequers of Great Britain and Ireland remained consolidated all portions of the United Kingdom must be regarded as one country for fiscal purposes.

This motion was seconded by Thos. Waring, who is classed as a "Constitutionalist and Imperialist."

Sir Michael Hicks Beach, Chancellor of the Exchequer, speaking in behalf of the Government, said that the Opposition ascribed everything wrong in Ireland for the past century to Great Britain. In 1817 the Irish and English debts had been consolidated, and the exchequers of both countries amalgamated. The Act had been passed by Parliament by a unanimous vote because it was felt that it would be a great relief to Ireland. He denied the stories of the poverty and misery that were said to prevail in Ireland.

Continuing, Sir Michael declared that a system of taxation based upon the taxablecapacity was never successful owing to the constantly varying conditions in all parts of the kingdom.

Sir Michael further said that if the Government restored to Ireland the £2,750,000 she claimed as the excess of taxation she had paid she would contribute nothing to the common expenditure of the United Kingdom, but would receive tribute from England and Scotland. There would be a further enquiry into the matter of the financial relations between Great Britain and Ireland, the Government desiring to do full justice, but it would in no wise depart from the system established in 1817.

The debate was then adjourned.

CRUELTY TO HIS HORSE.

H. M. Misner of North Colchester Very Properly Fined.

Windsor, Ont., March 29.—H. M. Misner, owner of a stave mill in North Colchester, was tried in the Police Court to-day. Humane Officer McEwan stated that Misner had tied his horse to a post, and after whipping it unmercifully left it tied till next day without food or water. Then, he asserts that Misner worked the horse till it was tottering from weakness. Misner denied most of these allegations, but pleaded guilty to a general charge of cruelty. He was fined $9.52.

Blaze at Port Hope.

Port Hope, March 29.—A fire occurred here to-night in the Port Hope Carpet Manufacturing Company's establishment, on Mill-street about 7 o'clock.

William Daynard and a number of the night force had just commenced work on the top flat when Daynard's lamp exploded, setting fire to the east end of the flat. Daynard was badly burned by flying oil. Damage to stock, machinery and building will amount to between $1200 and $2000; covered by insurance.

Move to Annex Hawaii.

Washington, March 29.—Mr. Spalding (Rep., Mich.) introduced in the House to-day a joint resolution providing for the annexation of Hawaii to the United States.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

According to the Globe, says the Montreal Star, the new Liberal policy is "patriotism, progress and prosperity"—the sunny ways of "p's," as it were.

The value of the Hudson Bay Railway as a speedy means of getting the Northwest grain crop to the British market is as nothing, while its value as a means of getting the grain to the Old Country at any time is extremely problematical. The waters of the Hudson Bay are ice sealed the greater part of the year. Sometimes a ship is able to get out in June, sometimes in August and sometimes not at all. It is certain that the grain crop of one year can not be shipped by this route the same year it is grown, as the harvest is generally gathered about the time the bay and straits are hametically sealed with ice. Sir Charles Tupper in promising a grant of millions to this railway exhibited his characteristic recklessness.

It largely depends upon the Opposition at Ottawa whether or not we shall have a fairly short session. In view of the fact that Mr. Premier Laurier has received a specially flattering invitation to attend the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebration in London on June 23rd, of course he is personally as well as officially anxious that among the representatives of Her Majesty's colonial possessions who will be present on the occasion, the Premier of the greatest of her colonies should not be numbered. Factious opposition and obstructive tactics can prolong the session (at a great expense, and with no countervailing advantage. There is not the slightest objection to full and free discussion of all measures submitted, but certainly there is no reason for obstructive tactics merely for the sake of opposition.

At last night's meeting of the town council a communication was read from Sir Donald Smith, Canadian High Commissioner at London, asking that information be sent him respecting the town of Peterborough. Sir Donald was appointed last year and we have this evidence that under the present Government his office is to be useful to the country, not merely ornamental—not a mere recess to enable the incumbent to prepare himself for a stumping campaign at the Federal elections. Sir Charles Tupper was appointed Commissioner in 1884. In 1887 he came to Canada to take part in the general election, and in 1889 he returned as High Commissioner, retiring in 1896 to assist in the knifing of Sir Mackenzie Bowell. In all that time there is no record that he took any pains to have Peterborough brought to the attention of the High Commissioner's office, or through it to the British people.

The response of the Canadian people to the mute appeal of the starving millions of India for help has been a noble one, and no single fund has had such extraordinary success as that promoted by the Montreal Star. The sums received through this source now amount to over $50,000. This sum represents the contributions of 200,000 persons, of whom nearly 100,000 are school children. The wide spread nature of the contributions thus shown, indicates that the response has been a national one and is perhaps unprecedented in the relations of one suffering colony of the empire to another. The circumstances demonstrate that the influence of a great newspaper is not confined to the daily benefactions it bestows upon its readers, but that it is a "power in the land" in the way of directing public sympathy and evoking practical expressions of the fact that the bond between the several members of the great empire is not a mere sentimental one. The liberality of Canada has attracted great attention and unstinted commendation in the old country, and will serve the purpose of impressing in quarters where it is needed a deeper conviction of Canada's fitness to be regarded as the chiefest colony of the Empire.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

The Assembly Sat Only Forty Minutes Yesterday—Several Bills Were Considered and Advanced a Stage.

Toronto, March 29.—There was a small attendance of members at the Ontario House this afternoon and a short sitting in consequence of the general habit which prevails among the legislators of going to their homes on Friday and returning early in the week. Many do not get back in time for the Monday sitting, so all matters about which there are likely to be any serious differencts of opinion are postponed until a fuller House is present, and the business is mainly of a routine character.

The following bill were introduced:

Mr. Chapple.—An Act to amend the Municipal Act.

Mr. Langford.—An Act to amend the Game Protection Act.

Mr. Davis.—An Act to regulate Maternity Boarding Houses and for the Protection of Infant Children.

The Attorney-General.—An Act respecting the appointment of Queen's Counsel.

Mr. Richardson's bill respecting the village of East Toronto was read a third time and passed.

The following bills were adopted in committee:

To incorporate the Petewawa Lumber, Pulp and Paper Company.—Mr. Bart.

To incorporate the Mineral and Timber Electric Railway Company.—Mr. Farwell.

Respecting the Township of York.—Mr. Burt.

Respecting the Kingston, Smith's Falls and Ottawa Railway Company.—Mr. O'Keefe.

Respecting the Finance Committee of the Church Missionary Society in Rupert's Land.—Mr. Dickenson.

Respecting the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway Company.—Mr. Cleland.

The bill to incorporate the Fort Frances and Pacific Railway Company was read a second time.

BONUS BYLAWS.

When the bill respecting the town of Thorold came up for a second reading Mr. Howland protested that in authorising a bonus it infringed upon a principle alopted by the House. It should not pass without careful scrutiny.

Hon. Mr. Gibson said that in the absence of the mover it might be as well to allow the bill to stand.

The next bill, to confirm a bylaw of New Hamburg village, was of the same class, and was opposed by Mr. Howland and by Mr. Gibson of Huron on the general principle that the giving of bonuses by municipalities ought not to be permitted. The consideration of the several other measures of the same class was postponed.

ASSESSMENT EXEMPTIONS.

Mr. Macnish moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Assessment Act. He explained that its object was to raise the present exemption on incomes from taxation from $700 to $1000. The City Council of St. Thomas were in favor of the proposal, which would relieve many wage-earners from the undue pressure of taxation.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) thought the bill was in the wrong direction and was opposed to increasing the number of exemptions.

The Attorney-General considered that there was a good deal of force in the objections taken to the measure. The whole matter had been carefully considered when the present limit of exemption was fixed, and he did not think the law unreasonable as it stood, or that a change in the direction sought for would benefit the wage-earning class.

The bill was read a second time and sent to the Municipal Committee, where it will doubtless receive the happy despatch.

SLEEPER AWAKE!

Thou Art in Danger.

Time for Thee is Short if Thy Foes are not Vanquished.

Paine's Celery Compound Thine Only Hope.

As spring appears, thousands are sleeping the sleep of the foolish and indifferent; they are in danger, but do not fully realize their awful position.

Kidney and liver troubles, heart failure, unstrung nerves, and blood diseases are fast dragging them near the grave.

Unless these foes are vanquished at once by the use of Paine's Celery Compound there is positively no hope for the afflicted ones.

The testimonials of thousands of people in the past, and the evidence of medical men, prove that Paine's Celery Compound is the surest, safest and best for those whose lives are in jeopardy.

Let us kindly impress upon every sick person the necessity of this wonderful medicine in the spring season. A few doses will soon assure the most unbelieving that it is a true health and strength giver.

Tobacco Heart.

Much heart and nerve weakness is caused by undue use of tea, coffee, or tobacco; palpitation, nervousness, irritability, excitability, lack of confidence, etc., are sure symptoms. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills bring ready relief, by steadying the nerves and regulating the heart. They are a true heart and nerve food.

ed Karaiskaki, who was one of the heroes of the Cretan revolution of 1821, and the blood of her patriotic grandsire flows freely in her warlike veins. Her great capacity as a leader and her wonderful influence over men have induced the insurgent chiefs to give her a command, and she has ever led her soldiers to victory. The Cretans under her, who probably never heard of the island amasons, look up to her as a new Jeanne d'Arc and are ready to follow her into whatever positions she elects to lead them. She is an able general, a talented strategist, and is totally wanting in the sentiment of fear. Her love for her native island is boundless. While brave and martial, she is, in every sense, womanly. She is pretty, strong, a great horsewoman, a skillful swordswoman and is only 23 years old.

No. 390 George St.

SENATOR COX'S MAIDEN SPEECH.

Enforcement of Prohibition Would Seriously Affect the Revenue—People Not Prepared for Direct Taxation.

Ottawa, March 29.—(Special.)—The Senate met at 8 o'clock to-night and sat for a little over an hour. The proceedings were characterised by a great show of friendliness between Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Sir Oliver Mowat.

Mr. John Lovitt, the new Senator from Yarmouth, was introduced by Mr Oliver Mowat and Hon. Mr. Scott.

Senator Cox, the new Senator from Toronto, rose to move the adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and was greeted with applause. He began by referring in fitting terms to the celebration of the Queen's Jubilee, reviewing in eloquent terms the achievements during Her Majesty's reign, and the honor conferred upon Canada in being asked to send a representative to attend the celebration. He found great satisfaction in the settlement of the Manitoba school question, which, he thought, put forever at rest a dangerous question in a manner which was satisfactory to a vast majority of the Canadian people.

The question of prohibition of the liquor traffic was a most important one. If the people of Canada by their votes decided upon prohibition, it would mean a serious loss to the revenue, which would have to be met by additional taxation, either direct or indirect. The question was not a political one ,and should, in its consideration, be removed from the arena of politics altogether, and considered on its merits.

The construction of the C. P. R. and other great public works had so enormously increased the public debt that he was convinced that the people were not prepared now for direct taxation.

In considering the question of the tariff, he thought the Government should exercise the utmost caution. It should not be forgotten that immense interests had been built up in the country under a policy of protection, involving millions of money. Any legislation calculated to embarrass or destroy these industries could not be otherwise than disastrous to the country at large.

Speaking of the relations between Canada and the United States, he said that the Government had shown every desire to admit the products of that country into Canada on the most favorable terms, but that the United States in the framing of its tariff had shown an intention to exclude Canadian products. In view of this condition of affairs Canada had no recourse but to look to the extension of its trade in other directions. He dwelt at considerable length upon the value of the trade between this country and Great Britain, and detailed the efforts which were being made by the Government to afford further facilities for the extension of that trade.

The proposal of the Government, as foreshadowed in the speech, to extend the Intercolonial Railway to Montreal, and to pursue a vigorous policy with regard to the deepening of the St. Lawrence Canals, could not fail to inspire the public with confidence that there were at the head of the affairs of the country men of energy and ability to push these great works to a successful completion.

Senator King, the new Senator from New Brunwick, seconded the motion in a creditable address. Speaking of the revision of the tariff, he said that he had always been in favor of a reduction of the tariff. The introduction of the National Policy had been a mistake which had worked havoc in the country generally, and especially in the Maritime Provinces. To-day, however, after 18 years of protection, conditions were changed. Immense industries had been built up under the National Policy, which had to be considered. The United States showed a disposition to make us lose our identity as a nation and sever our connection with the Mother Land in return for any trade concessions which might be granted us. These conditions were impossible, and the Government would do well to go slowly and consider well what it was doing in revising the tariff, until such time as the good judgment of the people of the United States reasserted itself. We should grant no concessions unless we received concessions in return. It was impossible to enter into any trade arrangement with a country which adopted not only a policy of protection, but a policy of seclusion as well. The new tariff of that country was even more prohibitory than the McKinley tariff, and bore with great severity upon Canada, and on no part more severely than the Maritime Provinces.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, after paying a very high compliment to the mover and seconder of the address, and congratulating the Government upon the recent appointments to the Senate, moved the adjournment of the debate.

Sir Oliver Mowat expressed his high appreciation of the very kind words of the leader of the Opposition in regard to the recent appointments to the Senate and spoke in eulogistic terms of the mover and seconder. The appointment of Hon. David Mills was especially mentioned by both leaders, and the Sage of Bothwell came in for many compliments. Sir Oliver spoke of him as the ablest politician in Canada.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell gave notice that he would move for a return, giving the number of commissions and the names of all commissioners issued since July last to enquire into charges made against civil servants and Government employes for offensive partisanship. Also of all claims made against the Government and the findings of the commissions thereon.

Personal and General Notes.

It is stated that the object of Mr Dobell's visit to England is to further arrangements for the fast line between Canada and Great Britain. Mr. Peterson, the representative of the English company, whose offer has been so favorably considered by the Canadian Government, is in Boston, but will probably accompany Mr. Dobell to England. On good authority it is stated that the figures of the proposed subsidy which Peterson, Tait & Co. are said to be willing to accept, viz., $500,000 per annum, added to the Imperial subsidy, are not correct.

Lnieut.-Gov. Mackintosh, who has been in the Capital for the last fort night, has tendered his resignation from the office which he now occupies, as Lieutenant-Governor of the Northwest Territories. Sir Henri Joly de Lotbiniere has been offered the post and will likely accept.

A local deputation saw the Premier to-day to ask for the co-operation of the Government for erecting a permanent memorial to the Queen in Ottawa. The deputation informed Mr. Laurier of the proposition to erect a building which would provide a home for all the art, literary and scientific societies in the city, and asked if the Government would co-operate.

The Premier in replying said that it is the intention of the Government to erect a geological building, with also provision for the National Art Gallery, but as yet no definite plans have been made. He did not know the feelings of his colleagues, and could not say whether the Government would co-operate with the citizens and go in for a magnificent building which would be ample for all the services required. He requested the committee to put their request in writing in as brief a form as possible, and he would bring the matter before his colleagues.

Mr. Cowan has secured the support of the Government to his alien labor bill. Provision will be made that this bill shall not come into operation unless by proclamation. This is to give the United States a chance to back down.

The Speaker and Sergeant-at-Arms have inaugurated a new departure. They have quit wearing kid gloves except on high occasions. It seems Mr. Edgar wrote over to England concerning the practice there, and having found that the festive lavender kids had been abandoned he decided to follow suit in Canada. Heretofore a swell Speaker would use two dozen pairs in one session, and the sergeant and his deputy not less than three dozen pairs.

The Speaker of the House of Commons and Mrs. Edgar entertained the following ladies and gentlemen at dinner this evening: Senator Allan, Miss Van Horn of Montreal, Mr. Lavergne, M.P., Madame and Miss Lavergne, Mr. J. A. Ritchie and Miss Ritchie, Captain Wilberforce, Mr. Bostock, M.P., and Mrs. Bostock, Dr. G. M. Dawson, Mr. Martin J. Griffin and Miss Griffin, Mr. D'Arcy Scott and Miss Scott and Mr. Agar Adamson.

The writ for West Prince, P.E.I., the constituency vacated by the unseating of M. Hackett, Conservative, will be issued at once.

Messrs. J. C. Black, James Sargent and M. C. Ellis of Toronto, representing the Commercial Travelers' Association of Canada, are here to press for certain amendments to their insurance charter.

E. W. Ratmbun and R. C. Carter of Deseronto are here to urge upon the Government the favorable consideration of the cement duties in the new tariff.

Mr. Hobbs, M.L.A. of London, is here closing up his deal with the Justice Department for the purchase of binder twine from Kingston Penitentiary.

Mr. McGregor, M.P., denies that he is to be appointed collector of customs at Windsor. The present collector was only appointed about four years ago.

Mr. Maclean will ask if the Canadian Pacific Railway have deposited plans with the Department of Railways for construction of a branch through the Crow's Nest, and if so on what date.

Mr. Foster will query the Government as to the expense of operating the Baie des Chaleurs Railway. He will also move for all papers connected with the bank note tender. He will also ask for the names of all commissioners appointed to investigate charges against civil servants.

Mr. Foster will ask for correspondence relating to the dismissal of Bourpas, Birchoff & Co. as Canadian legal agents in England, and the appointment of Charles Russell to the position.

A deputation will urge the Government to-morrow to place an export duty on pulp wood.

Mr. McCleary to-day presented a petition from Welland county asking for the passage of an alien labor law.

A caucus of Government supporters is called for Thursday, when it is understood Mr. Fielding will indicate the main lines of the tariff revision bill.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood-purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or a secret nostrum.

SUFFERING WOMEN

Troubled with Weaknesses Peculiar to their Sex.

HOW THEY MAY BE CURED.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Act Upon the Female Organs as well as upon the Kidneys — Many Women Suffer Needlessly.

Women suffer more than men. From the time a girl-child turns the corner into womanhood, she has more troubles than men ever dream of. We look upon women as weak and fragile, but considering what they endure they are stronger by far.

Women suffer many times more than they need to. Partly because they don't know what ails them at first; then because they are ashamed to tell a doctor; latterly because they hate to be a continual source of expense to their husbands.

"Female Weakness" are what we term the diseases peculiar to the female sex. They are so often confounded with female Kidney troubles, and Kidney troubles are often mistaken for other troubles. All those delicate organs are closely connected. What affects one affects the others.

What cures one, cures the others, too. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS which are a sovereign cure for all Kidney ills, act to regulate and control the female organs and to relieve their difficulties. This is worth while for every woman to remember.

Mrs. Lucy Crabbe, Chambers P. O., says:—"For years I was a sufferer from weakness peculiar to my sex, combined with kidney trouble from all of which I was completely cured by two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Elmena Ady, Walkerton, Ont., says:—"For a long time I have suffered from a complication of Kidney Trouble and Female Disease; and am glad to say have no pain or ache since using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS cure Kidney Disease and Female Weakness. Try them. They are on sale at all druggists.

Price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

WORTH WHILE.

'Tis easy enough to be pleasant,
When life flows along like a song;
But the man worth while is the one who will smile
When everything goes dead wrong;
For the test of the heart is trouble,
And it always comes with the years,
And the smile that is worth the praise of earth
Is the smile that comes through tears.

It is easy enough to be prudent,
When nothing tempts you to stray;
When without or within no voice of sin
Is luring your soul away;
But it's only a negative virtue
Until it is tried by fire,
And the life that is worth the honor of earth
Is the one that resists desire.

By the cynic, the sad, the fallen,
Who had no strength for the strife,
The world's highway is cumbered to-day;
They make up the item of life.
But the virtue that conquers passion,
And the sorrow that hides in a smile—
It is these that are worth the homage of earth
For we find them but once in a while.

But One Sure Remedy—Obtain It for 25 Cents, Blower Included, and be Cured.

Catarrh is a disagreeable and offensive disease. It usually results from a cold and often ends in consumption and death. The one effective remedy so far discovered for it is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure.

Physicians failed to cure Geo. Belfrey, toll-gate keeper, Holland Landing road. Chase's Catarrh Cure did it.

One box cured William Kneeshaw and two boxes James T. Stoddard, both of West Gwillimbury.

Division Court Clerk Joel Rogers, Robert J. Hoover and Geo. Taylor, all of Beeton, voluntarily certify to the efficacy of Chase's Catarrh Cure.

J. W. Jennison, of Gilford, spent nearly $300 on doctors, but found no permanent relief until he tried a 25-cent box of Chase's.

Miss Dwyer, of Alliston, got rid of a cold in the head in 12 hours.

Henry R. Nicholls, 176 Rectory street, London, tried a box with excellent effect.

A Sad Death.

A very sad death took place at St. Joseph's Hospital yesterday in the demise of Martha, aged 20, eldest daughter of Mr. David Jones, town. The deceased had been ill for two weeks with an attack of erysipelas. Her mother died a little over a year ago and since that time she has had the care of the family of seven children. The funeral took place this afternoon from the hospital to the Roman Catholic Cemetery.

Obituary.

The death of Mrs. Michael Sheehan took place this morning at her residence on Douro street, Ashburnham. The deceased was formerly in the employ of the Grand Trunk, and was one of the oldest residents of the village, and is well known both in town and Ashburnham. She has been a resident of the locality for over forty years. Funeral from family residence on Thursday, April 1st, at 9 o'clock, to St. Peter's Cathedral and the R. C. cemetery.

Prices to all parts of the house 25c; children, 10c.

The Huffman House.

Owing to increased business, entailing too much labour on Mrs. Huffman's part, combined with Mr. Huffman's impaired health, negotiations are in progress for associating with the present management a gentleman of large experience in city hotel trade who will take an active part in the management and supply additional capital. With these arrangements completed, which is expected to be done in the course of the week, this popular hotel will be in a better position than ever to cater to the wants of the public.

The Bicyclists' Petition.

A petition signed by 250 ratepaying wheelmen was received by the town council last evening, and referred to the Street and Bridge Committee. The bicyclists want permission to ride on the sidewalks when the roads are bad. The principal business streets will not be used. So largely signed a petition demands an even more than ordinary amount of consideration at the hands of the council. It is pointed out that the petition only had a circulation of a few hours and that the matter is an important one to many is emphasized, therefore, to an even greater degree.

The Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company have reduced their fares; and tickets will be sold on and after Thursday next, April 1st, until further notice at the following rates:—8 tickets for 25c, good all day; 10 tickets for 25c, good from 6 to 8 a. m., 12 to 2 p. m. and 5 to 7 p. m.

LACROSSE.

Secretary Vance, of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, has sent out the following circular to the clubs:

"It has been suggested that, on account of the numerous absurdities and contradictions in the constitution and rules of the C. L. A., caused by constant amendment year after year, the constitution and rules should be entirely re-written and submitted to the association at its annual meeting on Good Friday next. The Secretary has consented to undertake the work if thought advisable by a majority of the clubs. As the proposed change would require to be submitted as an amendment and be mailed to the various clubs one week before the date of the meeting, it is necessary that the work should be proceeded with at once. The President proposes to appoint a representative committee to revise the work before submission. Your club is invited to communicate with the secretary of the association your opinion as to the advisability of the above, and, if favourable, to make any suggestions that may be of assistance in preparing the draft. An immediate answer is absolutely necessary.

"This need not prevent any proposed amendments to the constitution and rules as they now exist, which should be in the hands of the Secretary not later than April 8th next. It is advisable that these should be forwarded in any event, so as to provide against the possibility of the proposed work not being completed in time.

It was on motion of Mr. W. Ham. Hall, of the Markham club, that the C. L. A., of last year's convention, abolished the evil of proxy voting, and some very commendable further legislation is now proposed by the same club to be considered at the Good Friday meeting.

Markham will advocate the confining of players to teams representing the town or village in which they live. The bona fide residential qualification is meeting with favour now in quarters where it was formerly opposed.

Another amendment shuts out from the Judicial Committee all past Presidents except the immediate past President.

It is also proposed that no certificates be issued after August 1, and that no member of the Judicial Committee may sit on any case in which the club is interested.

A LITTLE PEN PICTURE OF ITALY.

Rev. J. G. Davidson's Sightseeing in Venice and Milan.

A private letter received from Rev. Mr. Davidson, dated at Venice and Milan, contains references to the sights he is seeing, and the following extracts are given:

"VENICE," March 12th.

We have paid most interesting visits to Sorrento, Naples, Rome, Florence and Siena. Now we find ourselves in this unique city whose foundations are the Adriatic sea. Our windows look out over an arm of the sea (narrowing gradually into the Grand Canal) on which are lying vessels of every size and description including two beautiful American yachts, one owned by the Astors. Behind and around us is a network of narrow canals, with picturesque old houses rising on either side, through which we often wend our way in a gondola. The motion of this graceful boat is much like our Canadian canoes. It is propelled by a gondolier standing on the "stern deck," so to speak. The gondoliers are a robust and picturesque looking lot of men, and their cries echo and re-echo along the winding canals, giving warning of their approach.

The Grand Canal is lined with "palazzi" or mansions of antique architectural beauty.

The Venice or "Venezia" more properly of to-day is noted for the manufactures of glass and lace, both of which we visited.

The weather all along has been most pleasant, the thermometer ranging about 56° Fahr. In the sunshine it is often uncomfortably warm in the middle of the day. We live with our windows open, though after sundown the air suddenly becomes much cooler.

"MILANO," March 14th.

We arrived yesterday in the commercial metropolis of Italy, which is more modern in appearance than any other city we have visited. The streets are generally broad and the buildings fine. The cathedral or "Duomo" is a Gothic edifice of resplendent beauty. It impresses me far more than St. Peter's at Rome, both inside and outside. Its exterior is a forest of statuary and other ornamental adornments, culminating in a lofty turretted dome. From the top can be obtained a panorama of the Alps, which seem quite near and glisten with snow. The cathedral holds 40,000 people, and is regarded by the Milanese as the 8th wonder of the world.

To-day is the birthday of Queen Margherita, who is greatly beloved, and a review of the troops was held this morning. Five thousand are stationed here. The city is gay with the Italian colours, green, white and red.

This country is behind our own in the application of scientific knowledge. Electricity is only as yet partially introduced both for lighting and locomotion. Indeed, lighting for private purposes seems to be chiefly done by candles, petroleum being very expensive and gas not common. Our hotel here is lighted by electricity, which we gladly use for the first time in Italy. It has been introduced, however, into all the expensive hotels, and I see the price is to be reduced to two cents per otto watt (whatever that means) per hour. This will interest our Peterborough electricians. Elevators, or "ascenseurs," are generally used by the hotels, but only for ascending. They allow no one to go down but the attendant.

BOARD OF TRADE EXCURSION TO OTTAWA.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In reply to the letter of Inquirer in yesterday evening's EXAMINER I beg to say:

1. That it is as certain as anything in the future can be that a special passenger train will leave Peterborough for Ottawa at 2 p. m. on Monday next, April 5th.

2. That the fare for the round trip has been placed at the small sum of $3.00.

3. That there can be no deviation from this rate inasmuch as the price named leaves the smallest possible margin, after paying the railway therefor, to meet the expense of advertising, etc., and I may add has been so fixed, as the object of the Board is not to make money, but to secure a good attendance at Ottawa on Tuesday morning.

4. It is fully expected that the special train will arrive in Ottawa at 6.30 p. m., which will allow an hour and a half for dinner and still be in time for to take in the proceedings in the House of Commons that evening, as they do not begin until 8 o'clock p. m.

5. Most certainly. The members of the Board of Trade will be delighted to have as many ladies as possible join their excursion, and to that end they have been promised that a Fourmier coach will be attached to the train for their particular accommodation.

6. As to hotel accommodation I can make no promises at present, but the matter has not been overlooked, and communications are now being had with Ottawa for the purpose of securing special rates for the same.

7. Tickets from Peterborough and as far east as Havelock will be good to return by any regular passenger train on the C.P.R. leaving Ottawa on Tuesday, Wednesday or Thursday; consequently any one leaving here on Monday can spend Monday evening, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday up to — p. m. (if they so desire) in Ottawa for the very modest sum of $3.00 for railway fare.

This, I think covers all the points raised by "Inquirer," and I would simply add that intending excursionists will materially promote their own comfort by securing their tickets as soon as possible, so that there may be time to secure ample seating capacity on the train for all going.

Yours truly,
JOHN CARNEGIE,
President Board of Trade.

March 30th, 1897.

A QUESTIONABLY JUST CHARGE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR—Mr. Ranton, the evangelist, is reported as saying on Sunday that he saw more evidences of drinking in Peterborough that any other place he had been in. I have been a resident of Peterborough nearly a score of years and from almost daily observation I had come to congratulate myself and the town on the fact that the town was remarkably free from the drinking habit. Mr. Ranton judges from a few days' visit. And I am inclined to think that he jumps at conclusions as he did at Port Hope in attacking an organization of ladies in a manner which the organization publicly branded as "slanderous and defamatory." I am to be understood as sympathizing with Mr. Ranton's legitimate effort to improve the moral condition of the community; but I submit that he is going the wrong way about achieving his aims, when he takes advantage of the hospitality he is receiving to destroy the good name of the town and give it a reputation no citizen will say it deserves. If there is so much drinking done in Peterborough, one would think—considering the large profits on the sale of liquors—that the hotels would be luxurating in obese prosperity. As a matter of fact I am told there is hardly a hotel or other allied business in Peterborough that is more than paying expenses, and it is said that there are many that are not doing that. If Mr. Ranton will kindly permit me to know something about Peterborough, I venture the opinion that he is mistaken in ascribing wholesale bibulistic depravity to the town. That there is intemperance in the use of strong drink in Peterborough is a sad fact, and that there is intemperance in the use of strong language Mr. Ranton, if he is correctly reported, affords proof. He has been hospitably received in Peterborough, and while I hope his presence and labours may be productive of much good, I hope he will permit us to think that the statements he may make may have better foundation than the assertion attributing excessive drinking habits to the people of Peterborough.

Mr. Henry Denne, speaking for the Little Lake Cemetery Company, asked the assistance of the council in procuring from the Water Company an extension of the mains along Crescent street to the cemetery. The sum asked for the service by the Water Company was so large that unless the assistance of the council was obtained, it would be impossible to get the water. All the town was asked to do was to order a hydrant to be placed at the gate.

Mr. Jas. Stevenson also spoke, mentioning the present danger of fire to the chapel and caretaker's residence and urging the beauty of the cemetery as a worthy object of assistance.

Mr. C. W. Sawers pointed out that it would take $560 for the company to get the mains extended, and as all of the citizens took pleasure in visiting the cemetery it was not much to ask the town to order a hydrant at $35.00.

On motion of Councillors Dawson and Meldrum the matter was referred to the Fire, Water and Light Committee, with power to act, and instructions for urgency in dealing with the matter.

Mr. Thos. J. Moore was invited to speak on the subject of the drainage of Park street below Albert street. He represented that hundreds of the families were almost flooded out in this vicinity every spring. Those afflicted were willing to meet the expense of drainage through a frontage tax.

The matter is left in the hands of the Street and Bridge Committee.

THE FINANCE COMMITTEE,

through its chairman, Councillor Denne, reported as follows:

1. That a special grant of $100 be made to the Peterborough Children's Aid Society.

2. That a grant of $250 be made to the Fire Brigade Band on condition that the band shall play three times a month in the Court House Park during the season that the park is open to the public, and once a month during the said season in a park to be designated by the council.

3. Owing to the unusual expenses this year, and the expected loss in the assessment, your Committee cannot recommend a grant to the Sons of England Band.

Adopted.

Councillors McWilliams and Robertson moved that the report be referred back with orders to the committee to recommend that the Sons of England band be granted $50.

Councillors Dawson and Meldrum moved that the report be also amended by a grant to the Salvation Army Band of $50.

Councillors Denne and Davis moved the adoption of the report, with the exception of the clause referring to the refusal of a grant to the Sons of England Band.—Carried.

The other two motions will be considered by the Committee.

THE MARKET COMMITTEE,

throught its Chairman, Councillor Robertson, reported:

That they had sold the market tolls and charges by auction on March 22nd last, and they were purchased by Mr. R. H. Green for $1,900. Mr. Green has executed the necessary papers.

Adopted.

THE PROPERTY AND HEALTH COMMITTEE, through its chairman, Councillor Graham, reported and recommended that this committee be authorized to award the contract for a nuisance ground and the taking care of the same for the year beginning May 1st next, and that the mayor and clerk be authorized to sign the necessary agreement with the person to whom the committee awards the contract.—Adopted.

THE LICENSE COMMITTEE, through its chairman, Councillor LePlant, recommended the reduction of a two-horse truck license fee from $10 to $7.50.

THE STREET AND BRIDGE COMMITTEE, through its chairman, Councillor McWilliams, reported:—

1. We recommend that the gravel from a cellar on Water street be taken from Wm. Montgomery and that he paid twelve cents per yard on the certificate of the street inspector, the gravel to be delivered where required by the inspector.

2. We recommend that no action be taken in reference to the communication of John Conroy to sell certain lumber and timber to the town.

3. Owing to the expense that the town will will have to incur in connection with bridges this year we recommend that no action be taken in regard to the communication from the county council in reference to the Mud Lake bridge.

4. That this committee be authorized to ask for tenders for lumber and timber required for the season.

5. Your committee had a meeting with the Street Railway Company and recommend as follows:—That permission be given to the Company to stop running their cars each year for five years between December 15th and April 1st unless the earnings of the Company shall be sufficient between these dates to pay the expenses of operating the lines and keeping the tracks open. Any question as to the earnings or expenses to be submitted to an officer appointed by the council, who is to have the right to examine the books of the Company.

This concession is to be on the following conditions:—That the Company shall extend its lines from Charlotte street along Park to McDonel street and along McDonel street from Park street to George street before the first of August next and from the corner of McDonel and Park streets to the Jackson Park, as soon as the right of way from McDonel street to the Park along the creek is provided, and also from present terminus on Lock street to the river as soon as a franchise for that purpose is obtained from the Township of North Monaghan; also that the Company shall issue tickets as the following rates:—Ordinary tickets at the rate of eight tickets for 25 cents and in books of 100 for $2.50; children's tickets and students' tickets at 10 for 25 cents, and tickets good on any day between the hours 6 and 8 a. m., 12 noon and 2 p. m., and 5 to 7 p. m., at the rate of 10 for 25 cents.

Adopted.

BYLAWS.

The bylaw granting the Children's Aid Society $100 and the Fire Brigade Band $250 received its several readings and was passed, as was the bylaw reducing the license fee of a two-horse truck to $7.50.

Councillor McWilliams introduced the bylaw appointing Messrs. Ranney & Innis Street Inspectors.

In amendment Councillors Dawson and Cobb moved that the name of Robert Clinkscale be inserted in the bylaw in place of that of Ranney & Innis.

Speaking to his motion, Councillor Dawson found fault with the bylaw as being something which was sprung unexpectedly on the council. He stated that Mr. Clinkscale did not have a fair chance last year to show his ability as the streets were cut up with the sewers. Mr. Ranney, he charged, was too old for the work. He had been superannuated years ago by the Government, and when he was found incapable of doing governmental work, it was not the correct thing to appoint him as a street inspector in Peterborough.

Councillor McWilliams refuted the charge that the bylaw had been "sprung" on the council. He was not in the habit of springing anything on the council. The matter had been before the committee for over a month and Councillor Dawson had been present when the details were thoroughly thrashed out there. As to Mr. Clinkscale's qualifications all he had to say was that the streets had been improperly looked after last year. Water street above McDonel, although watertabled under Mr. Clinkscale's supervision last year, was a disgrace as it was hardly passable at the present time. Councillor McWilliams was not prepared to say who was responsible for this, but if it was Mr. Clinkscale, then Mr. Clinkscale was most assuredly not qualified. A number of planks had been used in the sidewalks during the year which were of dead timber. Mr. Clinkscale being a carpenter must surely know the difference between dead and live timber. It was said Mr. Clinkscale was

OVERRULED BY OTHERS.

Well, if Mr. Clinkscale had not the backbone to resist Mr. Langford's influence in such matters he was not the man for the position. He should have appealed to the council if he was being compelled by Mr. Langford to act against his judgment. Mr. Clinkscale had the appointment, and he had therefore to be held responsible. Messrs. Ranney & Innes had offered to do the work for $100 less than Mr. Clinkscale, which was another reason for their appointment. Regarding Councillor Dawson's charge that Mr. Ranney had been superannuated by the Dominion Government, the speaker stated that he had thought everyone was well acquainted with the facts of the case, which were that as Mr. Ranney had refused to give Mossom Boyd $50.00 for a single tree to be put in the locks at Bobcaygeon, that gentleman had secured his dismissal. Councillor McWilliams was personally in favour of Mr. Clinkscale's appointment, but on the grounds stated he would have to vote for Messrs. Ranney & Innes, as being in the best interests of the ratepayers, whom he was sent to the council to represent.

Councillor Davis pointed out that there was only one course to pursue. The committee had been authorized to receive offers for the position. That of Messrs. Rainey & Innis was $100 less than that of Mr. Clinkscale. As a matter of business there was nothing left for the committee to do, but to recommend

THE LOWEST OFFER.

Councillor Meldrum stated that the matter had to be viewed as a purely business transaction. The Council had decided on economy and the opportunity for retrenchment presented itself in this matter.

Councillor Best alleged that "a lot of most rascally stuff" had been used in the sidewalks last year, for which no one could be held responsible but the inspector, Mr. Clinkscale. No detailed reports had been received from him for some time and it was necessary to have a man in the position who had sufficient education to prepare an intelligible report. Mr. Clinkscale might be a good man in his own line of business, but he was not fit for the position of Street and Bridge Inspector.

The by-law was carried on the following division:

Yeas — Councillors Best, LePlante, Robertson, Davis, McWilliams, Meldrum and White—7.

Nays—Councillors Denne, Dawson, Cobb and Graham—4.

SOME RESOLUTIONS.

On motion of Councillors McWilliams and Cobb, the clerk was authorized to issue a cheque to cover the expenses of the council whilst in Ottawa with the Trent Valley Canal deputation.

Councillor White drew the attention of the council to a heap of brush, etc., which had been deposited in the centre of Homewood avenue.

Councillor Best brought up the matter of the defining of the duties of the police. At present, he thought, the force defined its own duties and its own salaries. It was time there was a change. It was found almost impossible to get an officer to go to the outskirts of the town. Complaints would be made and the Chief would refuse to do anything in the matter unless the complainant pushed the case himself. The Chief instead of looking into such matters, contented himself with quoting the law on the subject.

Councillor Meldrum thought the matter could be settled very quickly if a complaint was sent to the council on the next occasion when an officer refused to go to the outskirts.

On motion of Messrs. Best and Leplante, the matter was referred to the Committee on Supervision of Police.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Mr. A. White, the district freight agent of the G.T.R., has been instructed by the general freight agent to spend a few days in Madoc and vicinity with a view to ascertaining what the prospects are in the freight line over the proposed line from Madoc to Eldorado and other points. Mr. White will visit Madoc in the near future.

Some further changes in officials, it is understood, are to be made by the G.T.R. The most recent rumour is that Mr. Geo. Masson, chief engineer of the Grand Trunk system west of St. Clair river, is to be retired. He has been connected with the G. T. R. forty-six years. He was born in Kingston and started in railroading on the Great Western. Mr. Masson built the London, Huron and Bruce Railroad. He has has been in his present position 11 years.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, Locomotive Firemen, Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors at Hamilton have decided upon federation.

Four G.T.R. sectionmen had a close call on Sunday. They were riding on a handcar near St. Mary's, moving southward and, did not see the way freight London bound behind them, until almost too late. The engine struck the handcar just as the men jumped. Three escaped without injury, but Wm. Adams, of London, had his leg broken by the fall. The train stopped and Adams was taken to the hospital. The handcar was demolished.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 28 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before his advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before and never dealt in future prospects. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents. It afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 88 or $2,800 on 10,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 36 cts. for July. When a man falls out of a ten-story window you'd naturally say he is a dead man. Well, perhaps he is and then again, perhaps not. Something may save him. There may be a friendly awning that will let him down easy, so he may be sound and well to-morrow. You never know what may save a man who seems to be as good as dead.

Many a man who seemed to be dying of consumption, and whom the doctors pronounced just as good as dead, has got well and strong and hearty again by using Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This wonderful medicine has shown the doctors that consumption isn't always a fatal disease. It can be cured if you get at the germs of it in the blood and clear them out thoroughly. That is what this "Discovery" does. It makes new blood,—healthy blood.

The germs of consumption can't exist in healthy blood. They simply let go their hold and are carried out of the system; then the new blood builds up new tissue, new flesh, new power, new life. It carries vitality to the lungs, the bronchial tubes and every other part of the body.

It cures people after cod liver oil has failed, because their digestive organs are too weak to digest fat-foods. The "Discovery" makes the digestion strong.

For thin and pale and emaciated people there is no flesh-builder in the world to compare with it. It doesn't make flabby fat, but hard, healthy flesh. It builds nerve-power and force and endurance. It is never safe to pronounce any one "dying of consumption," or any other wasting disease, until this marvelous "Discovery" has been given a fair trial.

Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser" will be sent free paper-bound for the cost of customs and mailing only, 21 one-cent stamps. Cloth-bound, 50 stamps. Address Dr. R. V Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

WHERE LIFE IS CHEAP.

Horrors Revealed in Hungary, Where People Poison Relatives as a Matter of Business.

London, March 26.—The poisoning trial, which is still continuing at Hodmesoe, Hungary, has developed into the greatest criminal revelation of modern times. It is beginning to appear that murder by poison is a family custom in that part of Hungary. The victims are numbered almost by hundreds. Most of the accused persons denied everything at first, but when the woman Csordas, driven into a corner and seeing that she could not escape, began to reveal facts and to implicate the accused midwife, Jager, the latter not only made a full confession, but also referred to cases which had not even been suspected. She gave names and facts in such detail that the court was bound to order fresh arrests and the exhumation of 12 more bodies.

The number has increased still further, as all the accused are now vying with each other in making startling revelations. A pork butcher named Horvath, nick-named the Evangelist, because of his habit of quoting scripture, now stands accused of having poisoned his mother, father, parents-in-law, and finally his wife. The woman Csordas owns to having poisoned her sister and niece, in addition to the crimes of which she was originally accused. She also informed the court that the midwife Jager procured the poison from a chemist's assistant, whose arrest has been ordered. It was suspected that the cases under trial would prove only a small portion of the crimes acually committed in this one town, but the new disclosures are so far inconvenient that they will probably necessitate the adjournment of the trials.

A correspondent says there is not a house in Hodmesoe in which suspicion does not exist that deaths dating back several years are the result of foul play, and family ties in the town are being broken right and left.

Insurance for the amount of ordinary burial expenses furnished the motive in nearly all cases. In some cases it was an aged mother who was insured by her son and daughter, or an ailing sister by her brother. Sometimes it was a poor person who had nobody to care for him and was thankful to be received into a house on any terms. All these were insured for moderate sums. One man, who lived in extreme poverty, got $400 when his mother died, having insured her in five societies. Midwife Jager, it is said, always supplied arsenic, which was ready when the insured person became ill, and it could be given with the medicine without arousing suspicion. When death took place the doctor examined the body and declared that everything was in order, and the widwife was handsomely paid when the insurance money was received. In some cases persons previously insured were asked to dinner and received poisoned food.

"Not Exactly Right."

Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaprilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create an appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

Hood's Pills cure nausea, sick headache, indigestion, billiousness. All druggists. 25c.

COMING BACK FROM MAINE.

Many French-Canadians Now in the United States Will Return and Settle in the Northwest.

Montreal, March 28.—(Special.)—Rev. Abbe Morin, the apostle of French-Canadian colonization in the vicinity of Edmonton, N. W.T., has just arrived from the State of Maine, where he has succeeded in working up a good deal of interest in emigration from that State to the Canadian Northwest. Rev. Mr. Morin will leave here for Morinville about the 8th of April, and he will be accompanied by three delegates, representing a dozen or more families settled in Maine, who are desirous of bettering themselves in Western Canada, and if the delegates find the country to their liking the little colony will move westward, followed, no doubt, by many others who desire to return and settle down under the British flag.

UNITED STATES TARIFF DEBATE.

Hides, Hens and Hay Were Among the Articles Talked of on Saturday.

Washington, March 27.—During the debate to-day on the new tariff, while Mr. Walker (Rep.) was upholding the merits of the agricultural schedule, Mr. Terry (Dem., Arkansas) asked if Mr. Walker claimed that the tariff made hens lay more eggs.

"Well," answered Mr. Walker, amid laughter, "if that isn't Democracy for all the world! The Democratic mind cannot comprehend the idea of more hens, but thinks that a tariff makes the hens lay more eggs. We claim the tariff makes more hens."

Mr. Simpson (Pop., Kansas), recurring to the matter of hides, which had been under discussion, said that if a duty was imposed on hides it would do the farmer more good than the duty on every article in the agricultural schedule. He discussed briefly also the proposition that the foreigner pays the tax, and suggested that the experience of the people would be that the foreigner would object and refuse to do so.

Mr. Payne (Rep., New York) replied to Mr. Simpson's remarks regarding hides, saying it greatly pleased him to hear the Democratic-Popocratic and trade leader from Kansas instructing the House as to the beauties and benefits of a duty on hides. The whole situation as to hides was this: Nearly all the hides imported into the United States came from hot countries, where nature has provided the animals adequate defence against insects by thick hides and thin hair. They are brought in for tanning into sole leather, and do not come into competition with the hides of the cattle in Kansas. In the cold climate of the United States nature protects the cattle with thick hair and thin hides, and they are used for the uppers of boots and shoes. A duty on imported hides would not profit the farmers of the United States a penny's worth. As to Mr. Simpson's contention, regarding the payment of the tariff, Mr. Payne said he knew no better answer than the experience of two farmers, one a resident of his district, and the other a resident of Canada, just across the river. "My constituent," continued Mr. Payne, "took 100 tons of hay to Buffalo and sold it for $1000, which he brought back and put in his home bank. The Canadian farmer also took 100 tons of hay to Buffalo and sold it for $1000, but he had to leave $400 with Uncle Sam as duty. It was under the McKinley law, and he took home with him but $600, and all the sophistry of Democratic and Populistic traders cannot convince him that he did not have to pay that tax." [Applause.]

Responding to this, Mr. Terry (Dem., Arkansas) said the fallacy of the gentleman's conclusion was that it failed to take into consideration the effect of that 40 per cent. duty on the market price. Had it not been for that duty, Mr. Terry said, the price would have been but $6 a ton, so that it came back to the Democratic position that the consumer pays the tax. [Applause.]

THEY LAUGH AT US.

Mr. Payne of New York Says the New Tariff Bill is to Provide Revenue.

Buffalo, March 27.—The Commercial's Washington special says: Public men at Washington do not conceal their amusement at the utterances of the Canadian press that the Dingley tariff bill is an expression of unfriendliness to the Canadian people. Mr. Sereno E. Payne of New York, who is a conspicuously prominent member of the Ways and Means Committee, says that the present tariff bill is a revenue and protective measure. It is not framed in a spirit of hostility to any country. Its purpose, he says, is to provide revenue for the Government, and to afford such protection to American industries as will give us the control of the American market. Canada, he says, has more to lose by not trading with the United States than the United States have by not trading with Canada. There are many manufactured products which Canada must buy from us, whatever be her inclinations. Agricultural implements, sewing machines, electrical supplies and scores of other articles are manufactured more cheaply in the United States and are of a better quality than similar articles in Great Britain and on the Continent. If Canada does not buy such articles from the United States, she must either do without them or be satisfied with a poorer quality.

So far as farm products are concerned, the demand for protection against Canada is too great to be overlooked. Farm lands and farm labor, Mr. Payne says, are cheaper across the border than in this country, and, without a proper tariff, the Canadians can undersell us in our own market. Our first duty, Mr. Payne says, is to protect our own people, and that is the purpose of the Dingley bill. If Canada resents this, and discriminates against us by raising the duty on American manufactured products, while lowering the duty in favor of the European manufacturer, so much the worse for Canada.

In other words, Mr. Payne contends if Canada can stand it, we can.

JUBILEE CELEBRATION.

Extensive Preparations for the Reception of Hon. Mr. Laurier as Premier of Canada.

London, March 27.—(Montreal Star Special.)—It is understood that the official organizers of the Jubilee celebrations will be instructed to give special distinction to Hon. Wilfrid Laurier as the Premier of England's only confederated colony.

Everywhere one hears of Canadian and colonial fetes being arranged in Mr. Laurier's honor.

It is believed Mr. Chamberlain would readily extend the invitation to the Provincial Premiers if the Canadians expressed a strong wish, Mr. Laurier's pre-eminence being, of course, retained.

Canada's friends here say that eight Provincial Premiers, with a French-Canadian Federal leader, supported by Canadian troops, would be the most magnificent evidence yet given of Canada's unity and progress.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. LIFE SAVED began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore

MARTHA'S PATIENCE.

"Martha! Martha! What does keep you so long?" called a querulous voice from the doorway of a little white cottage which stood at the end of the village street.

It was a hot July day, and Martha, who had stopped to rest in the shade of the willow trees, drew a little sigh of discomfort as she hastened to fill the big white pitcher at the spring.

"I wish I could stop just a minute to get cooled off," she said to herself, as she hastened across the sunny, dusty street.

"Well!" complained Aunt Patty, as she took the pitcher, "did you stop to dig a new spring? It took you long enough."

"I just waited a minute to cool off under the willows," said the girl, meekly. "It's so hot!"

"Hot! And you never thought of me, I suppose, ready to perish with thirst," said her aunt, peevishly. "It's always the way; no matter what becomes of an old woman like me."

"Oh, Aunt Patty," said Martha, in the same subdued voice; "I didn't think you would care."

"Oh, I dare say not," was the reply, "you don't stop to think about anything but dawdling; but you won't have much time for that now if you expect to have your father's dinner by noon. It's 11 o'clock already. And don't forget to have a mess of those late peas," added Aunt Patty, as she hobbled off into the cool sitting room, leaving Martha alone in the hot kitchen.

"Oh, dear," sighed the girl, wiping her flushed face, "whatever shall I do? She wants peas again, and how can I stop to pick them? There are the pies to finish and the potatoes to wash! I wonder where Tom is?" and she flew to the door, and looked up the long, shady street, calling Tom's name at the top of her voice.

"Let me play I am Tom," said a pleasant voice in the next yard, and Mrs. Drew's summer boarder came to the fence.

"Is it peas you want? Oh, I see the basin! I'm a master-hand at peas."

"Oh, Mrs. Vance," said Martha, in confusion, "you mustn't, indeed. It's so hot in the garden!"

"Not in the shade of the plum tree," said the lady, "and I am longing for a chance to get into your nice garden again."

Before Martha could find words to remonstrate she had taken the dish and was half way down the walk.

Martha hurried back to her pies and was putting the last one in the oven, when the kindly voice spoke again in the doorway: "Now bring me a dish and I'll sit here on the step and shell the peas for you."

"What a busy little woman!" said Mrs. Vance, presently, as Martha went flying from kitchen to pantry. "Is it hard work sometimes?"

"Oh, I dont mind," was the answer, "when it isn't so dreadfully hot. Oh, there's Aunt Patty calling, and she ran to see what was wanted.

"Don't hold the door open and let all the heat in," cried Aunt Patty, fretfully. "I only wanted to charge you not to forget the nutmeg on the custard pies. They were just spoiled the last time."

"She means patience to have her perfect work in you," said Mrs. Vance, as Martha closed the door. "I have always had a fancy for your patron saint, Martha, and I know how much more difficult it is to be an active saint than a listening one, especially in warm weather."

"I always felt sorry for poor Martha," said the young girl pausing in her work. "I suppose she would rather have been sitting down listening; but somebody had to get the supper."

"But the legends tell us that she did most glorious deeds for the Lord afterwards when she became a missionary, and she has been the patroness of good housekeepers ever since. You must come over and sit under the trees with me this afternoon when your work is done, and I will read you some of the tales Mrs. Jameson gives us of her holy life."

Thus Martha's acquaintance with the summer boarder began, and it grew to be the brightest thing in her poor barren life.

The pleasant conversation under the elm trees, the fresh papers and magazines opened a new world to this hungering soul.

There was not much that was inspiring in Martha Bradley's life. The death of her mother two years before, when Martha was only 14, had obliged her to leave school and take upon her shoulders all the care and work of the little household.

"Don't neglect Aunt Patty," was one of her mother's parting injunctions. "She has been like my own mother to me ever since I was a helpless child, and now that she is old and sick and feeble, I could not die easy to think that anybody could ever be unkind to her. Promise me to be patient and bear everything, Mattie."

Martha promised, and never had she broken her word, however trying and exacting Aunt Patty might be.

"I like to think of the robbins that Tom caught last year," she said once to Mrs. Vance. "He shut two half-grown birds in a cage, and one of them beat and beat itself against the wires, and in the morning it was dead on the bottom of the cage, and the other one never struggled a bit, but just hung its head and moped on the perch. Tom felt so sorry when he saw the dead one that he opened the cage and let the mate go, and it flew straight up toward the sun, and sang the gladest song. I wonder if it knew the trees and the sunshine were waiting for it, even when it was in the cage. I think that is why it was so patient."

"And do you want to spread your wings, too, and fly into the sunshine?" asked Mrs. Vance. "Well, never forget the patient bird. Wait a little while longer and your turn will come, too."

"But I don't know what to do," said the girl, sadly. "I thought that now I had so many books, I could read a little evenings; but Aunt Patty can't bear to see me reading. She thinks it is a waste of time. It's of no use for me to think of anything but mending and pillow-cases."

"But, my little friend," said good Mrs. Vance, "you can make mending and pillow-cases beautiful. You can have the most lovely thoughts all the time, while the sweet flowers of patience are growing up in your heart."

"Patience again," laughed Martha, adding, soberly, "it's what my mother told me, too. Well, if that's beautiful, I'll try to have one beautiful thing about me."

But Martha's great trial was yet to come.

Mrs. Vance had planned a grand excursion and picnic for one of the last days of her visit, and Martha had been dreaming for a week of this day in the woods, a whole, free day.

Her busy fingers were setting the last stitches in a new muslin dress for the occasion, and she gave a sigh of satisfaction as she held it out at arms' length to behold it.

"Vanity, vanity!" said Aunt Patty, crisply. "I hope you don't forget about the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit."

"No, Aunt Patty," said Martha, absently, her mind filled with happy thoughts of the next day's pleasures.

"I do believe," said Aunt Patty a few hours later, "that one of my bad spells is coming on. The heat has gone to my head. I guess you'd better make me a little composition tea and I'll go to bed.

The tea did not prove efficacious, and the fever grew worse toward night, and poor Martha was kept up all night to bathe the hot head and bring cooling drinks.

The vision of the cool woods grew dimmer and dimmer, but when the morning sunlight flooded the room, she ventured to say:

"Would you mind, Aunt Patty, if I got old Mrs. Brent to stay with you to-day? I do so want to go to the picnic. It is Mrs. Vance's last day."

"You know Mrs. Brent drives me wild," was the answer; "but go, of course, I can stay alone and you can think of me lying here alone and dying maybe. But then you'll be well rid of me. I shan't trouble you much longer."

"Oh, don't talk so," said the girl, with tears in her eyes, as the last gleam of the vision faded away, and left her with an aching head, tired feet, and a long, dreary day in the sick-room stretching out before her.

Another vision came to her. It was of a tired, faded face, which she remembered so well, transfigured in some way by a heavenly glory, and a voice which seemed like an angel's repeated: "Promise me to be patient and bear everything," and then she thought of the bird as it flew away from the cage, and it seemed to be singing, "Patience, patience."

"I am sorry you missed your merry-making to-day, Mattie," said Mr. Bradley, when he came home to dinner, "and I rather think you need to be out in the open air now and then. You've been looking a little pale lately."

"It's only the warm weather," replied Martha, "and it's nearly over now. It's almost the middle of September."

"Yes, yes," said Mr. Bradley, slowly, "so it is. You've been a good girl, Mattie, and I don't want you to wear out. I'll come home early to night, and you must take a walk up the river to Cousin Barbara's and see if she can't come down here for a few weeks to spell you a little."

And so the afternoon was not so long after all, and Aunt Patty had a good nap, which gave Martha an opportunity for an undisturbed hour with her precious books.

"It hasn't been such a bad day after all," she said to Mrs. Vance, as she bade her good night at the fence, "I had a real nice read and a walk, and I could almost see what you were doing, the sky was so clear."

"I believe I smell the flowers already," cried Mrs. Vance; "of patience, I mean," she explained, as Martha looked wonderingly at her.

A week later Mr. Bradley came into the kitchen with a letter in his hand.

"How would you like to go to the city to school this fall?" he asked.

"Oh, father," cried Martha, "how could I? What do you mean?"

"Why, here's a letter from Mrs. Vance," he replied, slowly, "asking me to send you to her for the year. She's taken a fancy to you, it seems, and wants to have you make her a long visit, and she promises to find a good school for you. There's something about giving a bird a chance to use its wings, which I can't make out, maybe you can."

Martha's face beamed with joy as she read the pleasant words, but a shadow came over it, as she said:

"But Aunt Patty, I can't leave her. Oh, dear, I should like to go!"

"Oh, Barbara and I will take good care of Aunt Patty, and she'll prize you all the more when you come back," replied her father, heartily.

"Do you suppose she will be willing to let me go?" asked the girl, eagerly.

"Don't worry about Aunt Patty," said a voice from the next room. "I don't want to stand between you and happiness, child, and when you gave up your picnic so pleasantly last week, I made up my mind it was about time for me to sacrifice something, too."

"It will be a cross for me to give you up, I don't deny; but I say 'go.'"

"Yes," said Mr. Bradley, "we can't allow our Martha to wear out with much serving and look pale and tired, and so we shall send her off next week."

And happy Martha went up to her room to read again the precious note to herself, which ended thus:

"The flowers are growing finely; but I think they need a little more sunshine. We will try to find it."—Churchman.

There doesn't seem to be very much the matter with your child. He doesn't actually lose weight, but there is no gain. He belongs to that large class of children that don't seem to prosper. You look at him a little more thoughtfully than you do at the rest and say "He is not doing well." Failure to gain in weight in a child is a danger signal. Scott's Emulsion should be taken at once. The Queen's Great Jubilee.

Touching the Queen's Jubilee and the proper name for it, Professor Skeat writes, after protesting against the expression "Diamond Jubilee:" The better name is obvious enough when once thought of. It so happens that the native English word 'great' is already in use to express a comparative. Thus we speak of the Great Seal, meaning a seal greater or more important than others; Great Britain, a great gross, a great hundred, the great day, the great death, a great-grandfather, and so on. We have already commemorated the Queen's jubilee; let us soon commemmorate her great jubilee.

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing constipation. It makes people listless, causes dissiness, headaches, loss of appetite, lose of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

A Feature of German Shipbuilding.

The statistics of 1896 of the German shipbuilding trade show a distinct increase in the number of commissions received from foreign admiralties. In the year 1895 some eight war vessels were built in German dockyards for the navies of Norway, Austria-Hungary, Brazil, and Turkey. At the present time the three great shipbuilding firms at Stettin, Elbing, and Kiel are constructing nine ships of war for abroad, including three armored cruisers and four torpedo boats for China, and two torpedo cruisers for Brazil, while one ironclad is being rebuilt for the Brazilian Government.

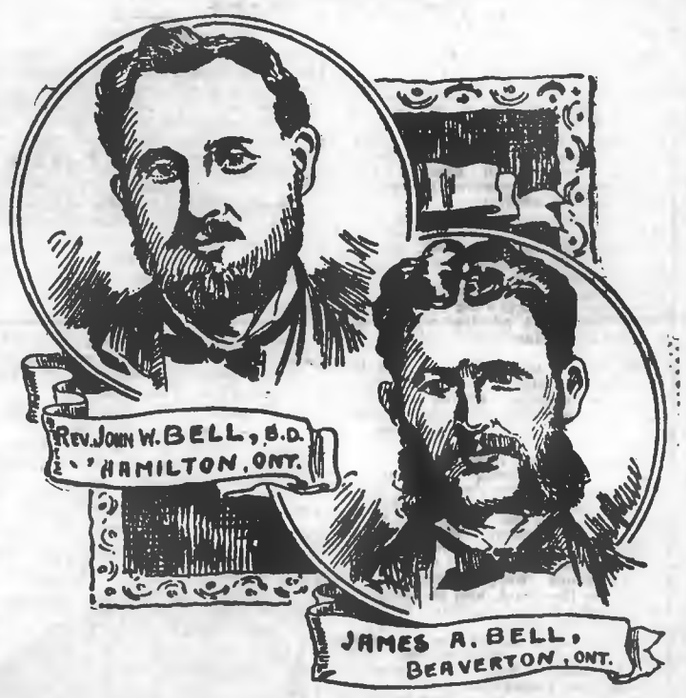
BUILT UP THE SYSTEM IN A WONDERFUL MANNER.



James A. Bell, of Beaverton, Ont., brother of the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., prostrated by nervous headaches

A victim of the trouble for several years.

South American Nervine effected a complete cure.

In their own particular field few men are beter known than the Rev. John Wesley Bell, B.D., and his brother Mr. James A. Bell. The former will be recognised by his thousands of friends all over the country as the popular and able missionary superintendent of the Royal Templars of Temperance. Among the 20,000 members of this order in Ontario his counsel is sought on all sorts of occasions. On the public platform he is one of the strong men of the day, battling against the evils of intemperance. Equally well known is Mr. Bell in other provinces of the Dominion, having been for years a member of the Manitoba Methodist Conference and part of this time was stationed in Winnipeg. His brother, Mr. James A. Bell, is a highly respected resident of Beaverton, where his influence, though perhaps more circumscribed than that of his eminent brother, is none the less effective and productive of good. Of recent years, however, the working ability of Mr. James A. Bell has been sadly marred by severe attacks of nervous headache, accompanied by indigestion. Who can do fit work when this trouble takes hold of them and especially when it becomes chronic, as was, seemingly, the case with Mr. Bell? The trouble reached such intensity that last June he was completely prostrated. In this condition a friend recommended South American Nervine. Ready to try anything and everything, though he thought he had covered the list of proprietary medicines, he secured a bottle of this great discovery. A second bottle of the medicine was taken and the work was done. Employing his own language: "Two bottles of South American Nervine immediately relieved my headaches and have built up my system in a wonderful manner." Let us not deprecate the good our clergymen and social reformers are doing in the world, but how ill-fitted they would be for their work were it not the relief that South American Nervine brings to them when physical ills overtake them, and when the system, as a result of hard, earnest and continuous work, breaks down. Nervine treats the system as the wise reformer treats the evils he is battling against. It strikes at the root of the trouble. All disease comes from disorganization of the nerve centers. This is a scientific fact. Nervine at once works on these nerve centers; gives to them health and vigor; and then there courses through the system strong, healthy, life-maintaining blood, and nervous troubles of every variety are things of the past.

EASTERN SITUATION.

Crown Prince Constantine Arrives at the Front.

GREETED WITH MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Received by the Garrison and Crowds of Citizens—Austrian and Other European Troops to be Distributed Over the Island—Discussion in the British Commons.

Athens, March 29.—Crown Prince Constantine and his party have arrived at Larissa, where the Prince will make his headquarters. They traveled by rail from Volo, and were everywhere along the route received with much enthusiasm. The whole garrison at Larissa were under arms to receive their commander. Crowds had assembled in the flag-bedecked streets to welcome the Crown Prince, and he was given an ovation as he proceeded from the railway station to the headquarters that had already been prepared for his reception. The enthusiasm of the troops and the populace was unparalleled.

Disposition of Troops.

Canea, March 29.—It has been arranged that a force of Austrians shall occupy Izzedin, the fort at which place was attacked by insurgents yesterday from the heights above the town of Suda.

It has also been decided that an international force shall occupy the town of Akrotini, on the peninsula of that name. Each of the foreign admirals has asked his government to send 600 troops in order that the insurgents may be held in subjection.

There does not appear to be the slightest prospect in the near future of any improvement in the deplorable situation existing throughout the island.

Greek Warships in the Gulf.

London, March 29.—A despatch to The Times from Salonica, under yesterday's date, says that two Greek cruisers and a Greek gunboat were sighted in the Gulf of Salonica yesterday, and their appearance caused a great deal of excitement and provoked unwonted activity on the part of the garrison, in expediting the formation of earth redoubts around the bay, upon which were mounted a number of Krupp and Armstrong guns. In addition to these precautions against an attack, thirty torpedoes were laid in the bay, and the supply of munitions of war at Salonica has been largely increased by consignment from Germany. The despatch also says that the movement of Turkish troops to the front, on the Greek border, continues unrelaxed. Within the past month 65,000 troops have passed through Salonica on their way to the frontier and the total number of soldiers now under command of Edhem Pasha, the commander-in-chief of the Turkish forces near the Greek border, has reached 150,000. The discipline of these troops, the despatch says, is perfect and the men are eager to fight.

Europe Protecting the Turks.

London, March 29.—In the House of Commons to-day Right Hon. George N. Curzon, Under Foreign Secretary, read a number of telegrams from the admiral commanding the British warships in Cretan waters. The admiral wired that the Cretan insurgents having refused to permit supplies of food to be sent to the Turkish force at Malaxa, an ultimatum was sent to them by the foreign admirals, informing the insurgents that the supplies must be allowed to go to the Turks. Otherwise the foreign warships and troops would resort to force to compel obedience to their demands. In the meantime, the admiral added, the insurgents captured the Turkish block house at Malaxa. [Cheers from the Irish benches.]

The foreign admirals, the telegram stated, then decided that it was necessary to drive the insurgents out of the block house, and, accordingly, the warships opened fire upon them. The firing lasted six minutes at the end of which time the insurgents evacuated the block house but not before they had looted and burned it. [Renewed Irish cheers.]

Mr. Curzon continued his reading after the cheers had subsided. The British admiral wired that, owing to repeated attacks on the part of the insurgents, the English admiral decided to treat them as enemies—(cries of "Shame!")—and to demand more troops from the powers in order to keep them in subjection.

Col. Vassos, commanding the Greek troops in Crete, received warning from the admirals to this effect, and replied to it by ordering the capture of the block house at Malaxa, and followed up his success by attacking and capturing the earthwork fort at Suda. Col. Vassos, the admiral wired, had practically declared war against the powers.

The House subsequently went into committee of supply, whereupon Philip Stanhope, Radical, moved to reduce the salary of Prime Minister Salisbury, his object being to call attention to Crete.

A warm debate resulted.

George N. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, warmly repelled the charge made by Mr. Stanhope that the Government was siding with Turkey. The charge, he declared, was grossly untrue, Crete, he added, had been taken from Turkey whose troops were confined to the towns on the coast, and she had been prevented from sending reinforcements to the island.

At this point one of the Irish members shouted, "Tommyrot." The Speaker warned him that he must not repeat that expression.

Mr. Curzon was frequently interrupted in the course of his speech, chiefly by members on the Irish benches.

Sir Charles Dilke, Radical said he believed that the Government's policy in the Cretan matter had caused profound dissatisfaction in Great Britain.

Sir Ellis Ashmead Bartlett, Conservative, who was recently decorated by the Sultan, taunted John Dillon, leader of the anti-Parnellites, who had spoken against the course of the Government ,with advocating the maiming of cattle, and at the same time posing as a Christian philanthropist.

The Speaker rebuked Sir Ellis for his language.

A vote was then taken on Mr. Stanhope's motion, and it was rejected 163 to 60.

Protecting the Water Supply.

Canea, March 29.—A detachment of French, Italian, Russian and Turkish troops, with three mountain guns, has occupied the village of Butsunaria, the source of Canea's water supply, in order to prevent its seizure by the insurgents.

The Careless Woman.

The careless and indifferent woman, when she decides to dye a dress, jacket, cape or suit for her husband or son, goes to a store and simply asks for a package of dye of the colour wanted.

This is the character of the customer that some dealers are looking for—the careless customer, who takes anything that is given to her.

The careless woman gets her package of dyes, goes home, and with some hope commences her work. The colour she gets makes her mad. The muddy, dingy shade produced by the poor dye would make an angel weep with vexation.

Wise women take the precaution to buy Diamond Dyes that are all fully warranted to give the best colours. One package of the Diamond Dyes has three times the dyeing power of ordinary package dyes. All colours are clean, bright, fast and fadeless. Ask for the "Diamond" and see that you get them at all times.

ÆSTHETIC GOWNS.

A Revival of an Old Freak of Fashion in London Circles.

Aesthetic gowns are once more the rage, and the fashionable maid this spring will adopt artistic designs for all her home dresses.

The Liberty Company shop in London is responsible for this new, or rather the revival of this old, freak of fashion, and every variety of quaint gowns is shown by this celebrated firm in its spring displays.

There are artistic designs for maidens lean and tall, for matrons plump and short, for middle-aged women, for school misses dreaming of their coming debut, and for tiny tots still in their nursery.

The accompanying illustration shows two of the prettiest artistic frocks seen in London this season. The short-waisted dress shows a charmingly planned creation of the Empire style, modernized and brought right up to date by adapting the present fashion in sleeves. The material is white liberty silk, fine in texture, and possessing the clinging tendency necessary in aesthetic garb. The yoke, girdle and body of sleeve is of white and gold silk passementerie, edged with metal gimp. The sleeve trimming is corded silk, lined with gold-colored satin.

A stunning frock for the long-waisted girl of slender proportions is a study in violet called the "Elaine." The different shades of the violet are in combination with silver and violet passementerie. The short petticoat worn under the skirt proper is of violet velvet, the deepest, darkest, richest shade ever seen in the fragrant blossom. The looped and trained skirt is of delicate violet pongee, of the real Indian variety. The sleeves, of the same silk, are lined with the palest hue of violet gauze.

A pretty substitute for the passementerie in reproducing this dress would be wreaths of violets for the skirt trimming and for neck sleeves and waist bands.

A quaint little frock for the school

miss is fashioned somewhat on the lines of the pretty pictures in Kate Greenway's books. The plain little waist is short and fastened in the front with stiffly precise bows. The skirt is long and full, and the sleeves a single large puff, reaching to the elbows. A soft, full kerchief, edged with a deep frill, is worn at the throat.

This dainty frock is shown in soft liberty silk, for which the London shop is most famous, of delicate olive. The kerchief is of India mull and the bows olive velvet.

MR. HARCOURT'S BILL

Passed the Second Reading in the Legislature.

IT WAS VERY WARMLY DEBATED

Opposition Accused the Government of Violating Pledges—Sir Oliver Mowat Heard From in Explanation of His Promise—Premier Hardy's Able Speech.

Toronto, March 30.—The entire time of the sitting of the Legislature to-day was occupied with the discussion of the amended Liquor License bill, the adjourned debate on the second reading being taken up in the afternoon, Mr. Marter opening in a lengthy speech, strongly assailing the course of the Government. Te Attorney-General made a very effective reply dealing more especially with the charge that the Government had violated the pledge made by Sir Oliver Mowat to the deleg-tion of the Dominion Alliance in 1893. The climax of the controversy was reached when the Premier, amid great enthusiasm, read a letter from Sir Oliver strongly corroborating the view that the pledge solely applied to prohibitory legislation and had no reference to license.

A QUESTION OF PRIVILEGE.

After routine the Attorney-General drew attention to a report given by one of the Toronto papers of his speech in connection with the participation of officials in elections. It has reported him as saying that while judicial officers should not take part in elections he did not seriously object to officials in general doing so. This was entirely incorrect. When he said that there were a class of officials whose right to take part in elections could not be seriously objected to he did not refer to any of those who drew their whole support or nearly so from the public funds, but to the class who only derived a small part of their livelihood from Government employment.

SATURDAY SITTINGS.

Tt Attorney-General moved that on and after Friday next, Government business shall have precedence over all other business on every day of the session, and that there shall be a sitting of the House on Saturday next, for Government business only, to begin at 11 of the clock in the forenoon, Mr. Speaker to leave the chair at 1 a.m. of the clock in the afternoon. The motion was adopted.

THE LIQUOR LICENSE BILL.

Mr. Marter, in resuming the debate on the second reading of the License bill, said the bill was a very moderate one indeed, and that the Provincial Treasurer in introducing it had apologized for its weakness. Sir Oliver Mowat had declared that public sentiment was ripe for prohibition, which was in direct antagonism to the statement that the bill was as strong as public opinion would sanction. The Treasurer had occupied a large portion of his speech in arguing that prohibition was ineffective. If so, why had the Government held out prohibition as a measure they were ready to grant as soon as the people demanded it? He quoted freely from the utterances of J. J. McLaren and Ald. Spence to show the dissatisfaction of the advanced temperance men with the workings of the licensing system. He did not consider the bill a step in advance, but the contrary. The Government had shircked their responsibility of fixing the number of licenses and the hours of sale, and handed it over to the municipalities, with the result that the onus would have to be borne by temperance men and that continual trouble and difficulty between neighbors would result. He reviewed the course of the Government in connection with the plebiscite, and the promises they made to give the largest measure of prohibition within their power. How G. W. Ross, speaking on the subject on October 4, 1893, had said that the Legislature, which refused to carry out the will of the people would be known by its epitaphs, not by its legislation. The people had declared for prohibition and the Government had not kept faith with them. Sir Oliver had said as regards the plebiscite that it was impossible not to regard the vote as expressive of public sentiment. Dr. Potts, who had declared Sir Oliver's pledges as "eminently satisfactory," at that time now considered the present bill "eminently satisfactory." It seemed to take very little to satisfy Dr. Potts. The Government made a promise they did not think they ever would be called upon to fulfil, and now they refused to fulfil that part of their promise which was within their power. The License bill as first brought down created astonishment and disgust. The Dominion Alliance repudiated it as a failure to fulfil the Government's pledge and as injurious to the best interests of the province. He proceeded to read the opinions of many leading temperance men in antagonism to the bill, who, he said, were politically friends of the Government. The Attorney-General told the temperance deputation who waited on the Government after the bill was introduced that he could not go as far he would like in prohibitory legislation because they were not all of one mind. He referred of course to his own party. Yet they were all elected on a pledge, to give prohibition. The Attorney-General pleaded that they had only a small majority? Was that a reason to put forward why they should not keep their pledges? The recent amendments of the bill were then dealt with by the speaker, who complained that the evil of selling liquor in clubs was left untouched, excepting as regards minors. There was little in the bill for anyone to be gratified for. He thought the liquor seller, so long as the license system was retained, had a right not to be worried and harrassed and the bill, instead of defining his position, left the matter of issuing licenses as a continual bone of contention and a cause of strife and difficulty. The act contained but three of the 24 provisions asked for. The temperance people had placed their cause in the Government's hands, they had been deluded, and if they tied, they must resent the result at the polls.

THE PREMIER'S SPEECH.

The Attorney-General said that while disclaiming political animus in dealing with this subject, Mr. Marter had wound up every climax in his speech by urging that the Government should be hurled from power. Far from being "apologetic," as he had said, the Treasurer's speech was eminently aggressive, and the last speaker had not attempted to answer it. They were dealing with the question as practical legislators, as those who had not merely to pass laws but to see to their enforcement. There were no equal clauses on the statute book of any country as far as he knew, as formidable or as potent for good as some of the clauses of this bill. He instanced the clauses relating to minors as the greatest steps yet made in license legislation on this continent. The stoppage of tipping as druggists was another important amendment. He reviewed the other changes made by the bill and urged that the bill was as far as it was possible to go. Mr. Marter had spoken for an hour and a half, but had failed to point out what the Government had failed to or what they had done in a wrong direction. He had not the courage to put himself and his party on record for any specific measure, but confined himself to vague generalities.

SIR OLIVER MOWAT'S PLEDGE.

An attempt had been made by political opponents to misinterpret Sir Oliver Mowat's pledge to a deputation of the Dominion Alliance in 1893, that he would give prohibition if in his power. That pledge related to prohibition—either total or partial—altogether and had nothing to do with license legislation. The convention to which the pledge was given had asked for prohibition to the extent of the power of the Legislature. It was, therefore, to a demand for prohibition and nothing else that Sir Oliver's pledge was an answer. A resolution asking for the "restriction" of the traffic was overwhelmingly voted down. In the questions submitted to the Privy Council there was no suggestion about license. It was purely regarding prohibition, and the result of this reference was the object of discussion when the pledge of which so much had been made was given. He vigorously repelled the charge that the Government had in any way misled the public or failed to carry out anything it had promised, and, amid loud applause, read a letter from Sir Oliver Mowat, dated March 24, fully confirming his interpretation of the late Premier's words. Sir Oliver stated that "the pledge had exclusive reference to a prohibition law," and that "none of us supposed we were giving any pledge to the deputation in respect to the license law." The Premier was still speaking when 6 o'clock arrived.

AFTER RECESS.

Long before the House reassembled in the evening the galleries were packed to overflowing by an audience, in which the temperance element apparently predominated, large numbers being unable to obtain admission.

At 8.30 the Attorney-General resumed his speech. He dealt with the argument that license was partial prohibition, and contended that they were really as wide as the poles asunder. The decision of the Privy Council gave the Province no jurisdiction to prohibit the sale of liquor, therefore no pledge was violated. The Government had no wish to shirk any responsibility for Sir Oliver Mowat's pledge. They stood by every word of it. (Applause.) He (the Attorney-General) had stated that they were a temperance Government, that they would not go backward, but would go forward as fast as public sentiment would warrant, and be stood by that pledge also, but they must, in the last resort, be the judges of how far public sentiment went and what it would sanction. The plebiscite was a significant vote, but when temperance was mixed up with other questions the result was different, as shown by the small vote cast for temperance candidates in Hamilton and elsewhere. They had no power to give more than partial prohibition, and to stop the sale of liquor with distilleries and breweries running full blast would be an exceedingly difficult thing to do.

THE OPPOSITION LEADER.

Mr. Whitney drew attention to the difference between the bill as at first introduced and the present form of the measure, which showed the Government's disposition to wobble. The Attorney-General had asked Mr. Marter why he did not suggest what amendments to the Government's policy he wanted, but the Opposition were not there to help the Ministry out of the Serbonian bog in which they were wallowing. [Opposition cheers.] He had perhaps heard of such a place as Torres Vedras. [Laughter.] The Opposition leader proceeded to discuss at some length the significance of Sir Oliver Mowat's pledge and the Attorney-General's interpretation of it. The temperance people complained that they had been deceived. He was not there to say that they were right and the Government wrong, or that the Government were right and they were wrong. The liquor men also said that they had not been fairly dealt with. In fact, there was dissatisfaction all around, but it was not the part of the Opposition to help them out by formulating a policy. They had nothing at all to do with the matter.

WHO ARE THE WOBBLERS?

Hon. G. W. Ross could not understand what useful purpose Mr. Marter's speech was intended to serve. He severely scored the Oppositionists for Mr. Whitney's declaration that they would not help the Government. Mr. Marter was willing to let the temperance question perish rather than assist to improve a Liberal measure. Well, they could get along without them, but after such a statement what confidence could any temperance man put in the Opposition? Mr. Whitney had talked about wobbling, and he had wobbled all through his speech. The amendments in the law made by the bill were recapitulated and the advances on the existing law indicated. Such a law well enforced was a more potent influence against intemperance than a prohibitory law feebly enforced. The change allowing shops and druggists to sell a small quantity of liquor had been criticised, but he thought it was good temperance legislation, as many would otherwise buy larger quantities. Under the bill half the population—those under 21—would be under prohibitory law, and that half were those most in danger of being led into intemperance. There were fourteen distinct progressive steps in the direction of temperance in the bill. It was not within the power of this Government to pass a prohibitory law or they would have done it, but in passing the bill in hand they were keeping their pledge in advancing as far as public sentiment would warrant, whereas the Opposition had no policy on the question whatever. He closed an eloquent speech by pointing out that enthusiasts had always thought moral reforms were advancing too slowly, but substantial progress was made every year, and he had no fear but that the bill would be received by the Christian people of this country as a great improvement.

Mr. St. John styled Mr. Ross the champion wobbler. He had wobbled all over to-night in the attempt to get away from his record. He denied the claim of the Government that it had largely assisted in moulding temperance sentiment. He went into the history of temperance legislation at some length in order to prove this point. He took exception to the Treasurer's comparisons between the workings of license and prohibition on the basis of convictions for drunkenness in Ontario and Maine, as misleading and valueless. The reason why local option laws had not been passed since 1894 was that the people had been waiting for the Government to redeem their pledges. Throwing back on the municipalities the onus of limiting the number of licenses and fixing hours of sale was a retrograde step.

Dr. Meacham discussed the various proposals of the bill in a somewhat discursive way, contending that the measure was a very slight improvement, if any, on the present law, from a temperance point of view. He thought that hotels should be closed at 7 every evening, and all day upon holidays. The concession to shops to sell as little as half a pint of liquor was granted as a concession to the liquor advocates, yet that was claimed as an advance in the direction of temperance. The entire bill was bad.

Mr. Haycock supported the bill as being as advanced as the education of the Canadian people on the subject. The Patrons

DEBATE AT OTTAWA.

Mr. Fitzpatrick on the School Settlement.

A GREAT SPEECH BY MR. TARTE

The Petition Sent by Senators and Members to Rome Read by the Minister of Public Works With Telling Effect—Uproarious Applause When He Concluded.

Ottawa, March 30.—(Special.)—Great interest centres in the House proceedings, everybody being anxious to hear what the Solicitor-General would say.

Mr. Mulock, in introducing the bill to amend the Superannuation Act, said it dealt with the superannuation of officials who have contributed for ten years or more to the superannuation fund. In the event of such officers dying in the service they got nothing. If superannuated they receive an annuity for the rest of their lives. The percentage deducted from salaries is to be funded, and interest is allowed on it. When an officer retires or resigns that money is his. But while in the service he will have no call upon it. Should he die in the service it will pass to his heirs. Officers hereafter appointed will not come under the fund. Those who have contributed less than 10 years will have 5 per cent. interest on their contributions, and the sum will be carried to their credit. The reason for the difference regarding those who have ten years' labor to their credit and those who had worked that time was because the latter could retire at any time with a gratuity.

Sir Charles Tupper said the bill departed from the principle underlying the superannuation system, and would lead to the former condition of affairs where officials who were either suffering from ill-health or were inefficient through old age were kept on because dismissal would reduce their families to destitution.

Dr. Montague said the optional clauses would throw a great burden on the fund.

Mr. McMullen claimed credit for being the father of this bill, as it was framed on lines of his. Had the superannuation system not been abused by the Conservatives there would have been no necessity for this measure.

The bill was read a first time.

Mr. Fielding, on orders of the day being called, said the statement in The Ottawa Citizen that he gave any private tips regarding the coming tariff was absolutely false, and without a shadow of foundation.

Mr. Foster was glad to hear the straightforward denial of Mr. Fielding. It would be a shameful act for any member of the Government to give a private warning to any industry. If, however, Mr. Fielding yesterday had only given a direct answer to his (Mr. Foster's) question, he might not have left himself open to attack.

At this point the Speaker interfered and Mr. Foster resumed his seat.

Mr. Fitzpatrick then rose to continue the debate on the address.

Mr. McNeill raised the point of order that Mr. Fitzpatrick having spoken last night he could not speak again today. He quoted a number of English precedents in support of his contention. He did not want to shut the Solicitor-General out, but only wanted to have the rule defined.

Mr. Speaker's ruling was in favor of Mr. McNeill's contention. He thought a member in moving the adjournment should confine himself strictly to the formal motion, and in future he would ask that the rule be observed. Doubtless, however, the House would allow Mr. Fitzpatrick to make his speech. [Opposition "Hear, hear's."]

Mr. Fitzpatrick expressed his appreciation of the Opposition's courtesy. Then he plunged into the discussion of the school question, incidentally referring to Mr. Foster's attack upon him for non-fulfilment of his ante-election pledge to his bishop. He had one remark to make and that was when the inside history of the school agitation was written it would be seen who were the secret foes and false friends of the Manitoba minority. [Liberal cheers.] He referred to the mandement of last June, and expressed himself as not opposed to the interference of the Roman Catholic clergy in the elections, but he did object to their interference in party politics. The two parties should have been allowed to fight out the issue without clerical interference. But despite the pledges given by himself and his Liberal friends there has been the most active interference against those Liberal candidates. The pledge amounted to a contract between the two parties, but neither party seemingly had lived up to it. His (Mr. Fitzpatrick's) case was the most aggravated of the lot. He meant to stand by his pledge, no matter what the consequences might be. Having given his pledge to his bishop from that day to this he had been called upon for an explanation as to whether he had fulfilled its conditions, but the pledge had been delivered up to the Tory party to be made use of for political purposes. [Loud Liberal cheers. Not only that, instead of the clergy holding aloof from the election contest, they in his county actually worked against him, and yet he beat his opponent, Mr. Freemont, so badly that he came within six of losing his deposit. [Liberal cheers.]

Mr. Fitzpatrick said that personally he was in favor of the Manitoba minority securing everything to which they were entitled under the Privy Council judgment. He believed, moreover, that secular and religious teaching should go hand in hand. Under the present agreement the Manitoba minority would not get all they ought to get, but it was utterly out of the question under existing circumstances in the House to secure more for them at the present time. He would not ask the minority to take this as a final settlement—[Opposition cheers]—but he would ask them to take it in the spirit in which it was given to them. At the same time he would ask them to look in the Manitoba Legislature and in this House and see where they could get any more than was now offered to them. Why, even in the Manitoba Legislature, Mr. Roblin, Conservative leader, had moved the six months' hoist. Proceeding, he commented on the appointment of Mr. Charles Russell as the Canadian solicitor in England, and disagreed with the Conservative doctrine that no change should have been made. Then he spoke of his trip to Rome. He went there and came back. [Laughter.] After he came back some one else went there. [Laughter.] Speaking seriously, he

Sour

Stomach, sometimes called waterbrash, and burning pain, distress, nausea, dyspepsia, are cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. This it accomplishes because with its wonderful power as a blood purifier, Hood's Sarsaparilla gently tones and strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, invigorates the liver, creates an appetite, gives refreshing sleep, and raises the health tone. In cases of dyspepsia and indigestion it seems to have "a magic touch."

"For over 12 years I suffered from sour with severe pains across my shoulders, and great distress. I had violent nausea which would leave me very weak and faint, difficult to get my breath. These spells came oftener and more severe. I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." MRS. THE FRANCHISE ACT.

The Ottawa Opposition are much concerned over the bill of Hon. Mr. Fitzpatrick to repeal the unfair, unjust and expensive Franchise Act. They conceal their aversion to its repeal under the specious plea that its immediate repeal is unnecessary as there is no prospect of a general appeal being made to the electorate. There is need to keep the franchise law in a constantly workable state. If there is no general elections there is a possibility and probability of bye-elections and it is as necessary that the electors of ridings where they take place should have a fair and honest opportunity to exercise their franchise as if elections were taking place in every constituency of the Dominion. Therefore, it is necessary to have an annual revision of the existing law if it remains upon the statute book. And we all knew how expensive both to the country and to the members of both political parties such a revision is. With the proposed new license law which practically adopts the franchises of the several provinces, there will be a new list every year prepared at comparatively little expense, so that the voters lists are always up to date for any by-election that may be brought. There is necessity of the immediate repeal of the present franchise law, which has too long been a reproach to a country enjoying the theoretical blessings of representative institutions—it cannot be repealed a moment too soon. The present Government is pledged to its repeal, and as it intends to keep its promises in this as in other respects, the present legislation, looking to the repeal of the Franchise Act, is a fulfilment of the Government's promise in this regard.

BROAD TIRES.

(Ottawa Journal.)

It is gratifying to find the value of broad tires on heavy waggons maintained by practical men of such experience as those whom The Journal has been interviewing lately. When a proposal was made three or four years ago to enforce broad tires in the city, many intelligent citizens opposed the idea on the ground that it was impracticable—that heavy waggons with broad tires simply could not be drawn on many streets by an average team. This was theory, and nobody seemed to have any decisive facts the other way. Partly by good luck, partly by the courage of some of the aldermen, a broad tire bylaw was passed, and it has gained favour from the start. Some of the very citizens who denounced the idea to The Journal less than two years ago, are now firm supporters of the bylaw; all, we believe, of the city firms who have obeyed the law are satisfied with the results of the change, and the only trouble remaining is that in connection with farmers' waggons.

Farmers who come from a distance, and partly over clay roads, argue just as some city men use to, that at times the roads would be impassable to broad tires. Until somebody tries broad tires on such roads and gets stuck, this argument must be received with doubt. As the Journal once before remarked, there was a time when the majority of even intelligent people argued that a steam locomotive would never draw cars on rails unless the wheels and the rails had cogs. It would be interesting to see six-inch tires tried on a bad clay road in competition with two-inch ones. The competition would be unfair to the wide tires so long as the roads are cut up as the constant use of only sharp tires cuts them up nowadays; still the trial would be worth while.

Whatever the outcome of the country agitation to be allowed to cut up city streets because the farmers choose to keep bad roads themselves, it is certain that the broad tire by-law is a fixture so far as the city's heavy waggons are concerned. The law is now pretty fully obeyed, and from this out there should be no mercy shown to those who ignore it.

The next big improvement possible in the conditions of use of city streets is the requirement of a different width in the front and rear axles of waggons, so that the front and rear wheels shall roll in different tracks. When that is brought about, and broad tires are general, every big waggon will be a first class road-roller and road preserver instead of as up to a very recent date a first-class road destroyer.

WESTWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A la bonnie heure!

We welcome the spring; as it approaches our secluded little town resembles Goldsmith's village of the plains, "Auburn."

Mr. N. Breckenridge, Welbeck farm, was up in Otonabee last week visiting friends.

Mr. George Buck, Norwood, was here on Monday paying our friend John a flying visit.

Mr. Thomas Breckenridge was up in Otonabee last week almost encroaching on Peterborough territory.

Misses Cumming and Blezard are visiting relatives in Warkworth.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Eason were visiting friends in Norwood on Friday.

Our pond is overflowing with logs. The buzz of the saw will soon be heard again. Friend Dane is going to shove the 'dog' in earnest this year.

It is with sincere regret we chronicle the sad downfall of one of our promising young men from the west. On driving home (on the same seat that another sat) he overtook a fellow traveller. He naturally turned out to pass, but lo! the centre of gravity was suddenly lowered. The spry ponies after leaving their precious charges in the cold ditch stood stock still and allowed the blushing young man to regain his seat.

The latest fad in the line of music is the whistling quartette.

We have had peace in our town for several years but at last we are doomed to War(r). Its shadow has been hovering over us but the cloud is about to fall on us. Never mind Fred, we give you a cordial welcome.

We have to record with pain the deaths of two of our prominent and respected ladies, Mrs. Thomas Cardwell and Mrs. Hugh Cameron. Neither of the deceased had attained to middle life and the news spread a gloom over our village and people of Asphodel, where they lived. The bereft relatives have the sympathy of the entire neighbourhood.

Dr. W. Geo. Beers writes: Dr. Ivers has been fortunate enough to produce a preparation ('Quickcure') which really has no rival in the Materia Medica of dentistry. I have investigated its merits, and find it, without exception, the most useful and convenient preparation for the purpose I have met with. We know very well, too, that chemists sell a lot of preparations which do more harm than good. From personal experience, and the unanimous verdict of Dr. Ivers' confreres in Quebec city and Montreal, we have no hesitation in recommending the preparation, not only as an invaluable addition to dental therapy, but as as family friend in emergencies, where one cannot at once reach the dentist."

HARVEY.

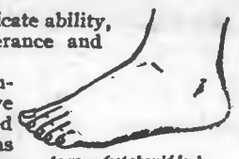
Intellectual Feet.



As your foot should look.

Large feet indicate ability, intellect, perseverance and integrity.

Scores of distinguished men have been as much noted for their big feet as for their large noses.

George Eliot, Madame de Staël and other supremely intelligent women had also very large feet.

It is not the size but the shape of the foot which makes it beautiful or ugly, and the shoe worn decides its shape, as well as its comfort.

There is more care used—more time spent—in shaping "Slater Shoes," and in taking the stretch out of the leather so it will retain that shape, than in the entire making of ordinary shoes.

The Goodyear Welt process admits of this fine modelling, and the stamp on the sole ensures to the wearer these hidden qualities.

DEBATE AT OTTAWA.

went to Rome, not on behalf of the Government of Canada nor in the interest of the Government of Canada. He went to Rome to endeavor as a Roman Catholic to bring the grievances that in common with other Roman Catholics he felt he had before the head of his Church. It was a source of comfort and gratification to the Roman Catholics to feel that they belonged to a religious body in which there were over 240,000,000 subjects, and no matter how numbe.e a man might be if he went to Rome with a grievance he could lay it before the head of his Church within two days. [Hear, hear.] Few people realised the extent of papal power and influence. They talked of the power of England, of Russia or Germany, but these were as nothing compared with the influence of he who presided at the Vatican. "Why did he go to Rome?"

Some hon. members: "Give it up."

The Solicitor-General: "Here is the reason—not in my words, but in the words of Mgr. Satolli—because I cannot find words to convey my ideas to the world. The State has nothing to fear, but everything to hope in the existence of the Catholic Church in their midst. He has everything to hope and nothing to fear, not only as regards their independence and constitutional liberty, but as regards the liberty of political parties as well, to none of which does the Church nor the Pope desire that Catholics' interests should bind themselves. The Church holds herself on a higher plane, and looks only to the common good, to the reign of truth, of love and peace. That is why I went to Rome. [Loud Liberal cheers.]

The debate was continued by Messrs. Dupont, Lariviere and Quinn.

Mr. Tarte said if it suited the Opposition to fight the school question he did not object. They had been fairly beaten in June last and since, and the Liberals were prepared to repeat the dose at any time. (Government cheers.) The Government had been specially assailed on incidental grounds. They had been accused of violating their duties as Ministers of the Crown by appealing to the Pope for his interference. He was glad this matter had been brought up, because it gave the Liberals an opportunity of stating their case before Parliament. There was nothing to conceal in this matter. The Government, as a Government, had nothing whatever to do with the appeal to Rome. He frankly admitted, however, that a group of Roman Catholic public men belonging to the Liberal party took steps to secure the sending out of a papal delegate. He took the full responsibility of his signature to the document he was about to read:

The Petition to the Pope.

To His Holiness Leo XIII.:

Most Holy Father—We, the undersigned, members of the Senate and members of the House of Commons of Canada and representing therein the Liberal party, present ourselves before Your Holiness as respectful and devoted children of the Holy Church to complain of the existence of a state of things which, if allowed to continue, might be extremely dangerous to the constitutional liberties of this country, as well as to the interests of the church itself.

Your Holiness has already been made aware of the conduct and attitude of certain prelates and of certain members of the secular clergy, who, during the general elections in this country, in the month of June last, intervened in a violent manner in restraint of electoral freedom, taking sides openly for the Conservative party against the Liberal party, and going so far as to declare guilty of grievous sin those of the electors who would vote for the candidates of the Liberal party.

Sincerely attached to the institutions of our country, which ensure to us Catholics the most complete liberty, we respectfully represent to Your Holiness that these democratic institutions under which we live and for which Your Holiness has many times expressed sentiments of admiration and confidence, can only exist under perfect electoral freedom.

Far be it from us to refuse to the clergy the plenitude of civil and political rights. The priest is a citizen and we would not for a single instant deprive him of the right of expressing his opinion on any matter submitted to the electorate; but when the exercise of that right develops into violence, and when that violence in the name of religion goes to the extent of making a grievous sin out of a purely political act, there is an abuse of authority of which the consequences cannot but be fatal, not only to constitutional liberty, but to religion itself.

If, in a country such as ours, with a population consisting of persons of various creeds, and wherein the Protestant denominations are in the majority, Catholics did not enjoy in all matters relating to legislation the same political freedom as their Protestant fellow countrymen, they would ipso facto be placed in a position of inferiority, which would prevent them taking the legitimate part which they are entitled to take in the government of the country, with the possibility, moreover, of conflicts between the various groups of the population, which history shows to be ever fraught with danger.

Then, again, an active and violent intervention of the clergy in the domain of political questions submitted to the people must of necessity produce amongst the great mass of the Catholic population a degree of irritation, manifestly prejudicial to that respect which religion and its ministers should ever inspire and command.

Some 20 years ago His Holiness, Pius IX., your illustrious and lamented predecessor on the pontifical throne, acting through the Sacred Congregation of the Propaganda, made it his duty to put a stop to certain abuses of a similar character, and forbade the intervention of the clergy in politics. This prohibition was generally respected so long as His Eminence Cardinal Taschereau was able to guide the church in Canada, but since old age and infirmities have paralyzed his guiding hand, the abuses to which your illustrious predecessor had put a stop have begun again and threaten once more to create trouble among us and to compromise, not only Catholic interests in this country, but the peace and harmony which should exist between the various elements of our population. Again affirming our absolute devotion to the faith of our fathers, and to the church of which you are the supreme head; affirming our respect and attachment for the person of Your Holiness, our attachment to the interests of our country, and to the Crown of Great Britain, its aegis and protector, we beg that Your Holiness will redress in our behalf the most wise prescriptions and prohibitions of your predecessor, protect the consciences of the Catholic electors, and thus secure peace in our country by the union of religion and liberty, a union which Your Holiness has many times extolled in those immortal encyclicals whose precious teachings we desire in all things to follow; and lastly, grant to the children of the church, now addressing Your Holiness, the apostolic benediction.

Ottawa, October, 1896.

Mr. Casgrain asked if the hon. gentleman meant to accuse any of the Bishops who went to Rome of branding Mr. Laurier as a bad Catholic and a Free Mason.

"Yes," said Mr. Tarte, "The hon. gentleman who is at the head of affairs to-day (Mr. Laurier) was denounced to the papal authorities as a bad Catholic and a Free Mason."

Then Mr. Tarte went on to say that the Bishops, upon their return, issued a circular stating that the Pope had assured them no delegate would be sent. But a delegate had been sent, said Mr. Tarte. "My sons," he said, "publish a paper (Le Ouitivateur), of which I am the political editor. That paper, without any explanation being named, was placed under the ban. That means that in the diocese of Chicoutimi there is not a Roman Catholic who goes to confession but the first question he is asked is if he is a subscribed to my soul's paper. I feel I can be a good Roman Catholic and a good British subject at the same time. I knew that if the Pope, who is one of the broadest-minded men of the age, knew the oppression that was being practiced he would put a stop to it. And we were not mistaken."

Mr. Tarte read the pledge which the Bishop of Rimouski asked Mr. Guite of Bonaventure to sign, and praised him for not signing. He added: "We, therefore, went to Rome for liberty. The allies of the hon. gentleman opposite went to Rome against liberty."

As to the charge that the minority had not been consulted, Mr. Tarte declared he had had four interviews with Mgr. Langevin himself. But His Grace would have nothing but Separate schools, and that was out of the question. The Holy See was not opposed to Public schools, for in Ontario the Public schools were attended by 50,000 Roman Catholic pupils, yet in those schools religious teaching was restricted to one hour a week."

In his naive way, Mr. Tarte dealt with the tariff. "Of course," said he. "Our friends opposite thought the Government was going to make a fool of itself, but the Government is not going to do it. I never sat among a body of such safe men as the members of this Government. The country will be all right."

Speaking of dismissals, he said that in the Department of Public Works he had dismissed about 100 because they were not wanted. "Nevertheless," said he, "we must protect ourselves; we are not going to put ourselves in the hands of our enemies. And when I find any one of my employes not loyal to me I shall dismiss him at once." He concluded by declaring that the sentiment of the people of the Province of Quebec was changing and they were no longer exclusive, but anxious to be at one with their Protestant neighbors. (Liberal applause.)

Mr. Craig followed. He said it was time this question were dropped, the country being tired of it. If any Conservative offered a resolution condemning the settlement he would vote for the Government.

Mr. McInerney criticised Mr. Foster's attitude when, by innuendo and open accusation, he cast a slur upon the Roman Catholic hierarchy, and recalling that the papal ablegate could make but one report, had turned around and reviled his church. He would like to know if other documents and other charges were not sent to Rome.

Mr. Tarte: No.

He had learned that specific charges had been sent to Rome against certain of the clergy. Yet this same Mr. Tarte was not long since the violent champion of these same clergy in the House.

At midnight, upon a suggestion from the Government, Mr. McInerney moved the adjournment of the debate and the House adjourned immediately afterwards.

NOTES FROM THE GALLERY.

Items From the Departments and Other Ottawa News.

Ottawa, Ont., March 30.—(Special)—The deep interest manifested this afternoon in Mr. Fitzpatrick's remarks in the House was more than intensified to-night when, in the presence of a full House and crowded galleries, Joseph Israel Tarte delivered certainly his best speech in Parliament. The occasion will ever be a memorable one to those who were present. Few men would dare to speak of the bishops so boldly as Mr. Tarte did. His manly utterances will commend themselves to all reasonable-minded men in this country and will show to the world what strides Quebec is making these days in political freedom. Mr. Tarte read the now famous petition of the Liberal senators and members to the Pope. Senator Landry's statements of yesterday called it forth.

At the close there was one of the most striking demonstrations seen in Parliament for years. The Liberal cheers were prolonged and again and again.

An important measure was introduced into the Senate by Sir Oliver Mowat this afternoon. It amends the Criminal Code of 1892 in several particulars. The clauses relating to publication or printing of immoral literature are made much more stringent. The seduction clause is made to conform to the Imperial Act, the words, "of previously chaste character," being struck out of the Canadian act. Section 183 governing seduction of a ward or servant, is made to apply to men in authority or employes in shops and stores, as well as in factories, mills and workshops. A new section is added prohibiting the holding of race meetings for a longer continuous period than 12 days. This will shut out Windsor and other frontier cities. The Art Union Lottery system is to be crippled by allowing only the giving of pictures as prizes. The combines clause is amended to exclude combinations of workingmen.

Sir Oliver Mowat introduced an important bill in the Senate to-day respecting the employment of children. No boy under 12 or girl under 14 is to be employed in a factory. Hours of labor are to be limited and factory inspectors to be appointed.

Pulp manufacturers from all parts of Canada were here to-day and saw several members of the Government to urge the imposition of an export duty on pulp wood. Among the deputation were: Messrs. John Forman of Montreal, A. E. Jones, Halifax; E. B. Eddy, Hull; F. H. Clergue, Sault Ste Marie; Joseph Ward, Port Neuf; Ayres, of Lachute, and A. Saucier of Maskinonge. Letters and telegrams were received from all the other manufacturers throughout Canada, approving of the object of the deputation.

Fred L. Jones, the well-known Ottawa newspaper correspondent, has received an appointment in the outside service of the Customs Department.

A Brave Mother.

She was a careful mother. The family of children had been well brought up, but they were rather fastidious in some things, and hard times had made it difficult to please everybody. However, the good soul always insisted upon the plate of porridge and milk every morning for breakfast as a good commencement for the day. Other food might fail, but she managed to provide the jug of fresh milk out of her limited resources, and the boys and girls of that household thrived, though commons were often short. But one morning the mother happened to look into her jug after she divided the precious quart among her offspring. Her own thimbleful lay at the bottom, and in the milk destined for the plateful of porridge in front of her was a great ugly cochroach, it seemed to her disgusted vision.

Here was a dilemma! How on earth was she to find another jugful of milk? Meanwhile the children were enjoying their porridge. They tasted nothing amiss in the morning mess; and, indeed, when asked, the eldest boy thought that his porridge tasted better than he had known it for a long time. Could she sacrifice a good breakfast under the circumstances? For not a child would eat another spoonful if the horror were revealed. It was a puzzle. Yet to keep silence, and not to drink the milk herself, meant that the distressed mother would have curious eyes upon her, and that would never do. So at last, in desperation, rather than send the children away hungry, she poured out the remainder of the precious fluid as if nothing were the matter, taking care to keep the disgusting insect at the bottom of the jug, and then with an inward prayer for strength she proceeded to eat. The meal ended in due course, but the secret remained undiscovered. Everybody enjoyed the morning porridge except the mother. There is heroism and heroism—we are in doubt how to classify this bit of Brisbane experience. —The Queenslander.

THE TRAIL OF DEATH

It begins at the Throat and ends at the Grave How many a human life is unnecessarily sacrificed.

There are many remedies on the market for the cure of consumption, but consumption, once it reaches a certain stage, cannot be cured. In professing, therefore, to do what is impossible, these remedies prove themselves to be simply humbugs.

Consumption is a disease which destroys the tissue of the lungs. Once gone, no medicine can replace that tissue. Good medicine may arrest the disease even after one lung is wholly gone, as long as the other remains sound. Once both are attacked, however, the victim is doomed.

Just why people should risk their lives to this dread disease and go to great expense afterwards to check it, it is hard to conceive. It is much easier prevented than cured. Throat troubles and severe colds are its usual forerunners. A 25-cent bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine will drive these away. It is, without doubt, the best medicine for the purpose to be had anywhere.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 78 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. What the Cleveland People Say.

Mr. E. R. Thomas, general manager of H. A. Lozier & Co., has reason to feel well satisfied with the way the season is opening. The Cleveland, not only in Toronto, but all over Canada, they say, has jumped into popularity over all other makes, but it is one thing to sell wheels and another to have them turn out satisfactorily, and judging from the numerous unsolicited testimonials that are received daily by this firm, they now reign supreme as the manufacturers of Canada's leading bicycle.

The Kineoptoscope and Graphophone—Edison's very latest invention for producing true to life pictures and sounds, will be the attraction at the Opera House to-night and for the balance of the week. On its former visit to Peterborough the Kineoptoscope pleased immense crowds. Since then the graphophone has been added, and and combined they give a first class entertainment. The pictures are all new, including some of the very latest scenes, such as the New York Fire Brigade at work on a fire and the flight of the Empire State Express. A TAILOR'S STRIKE.

The Employees of Hall, Gilchrist & Co's. Tailoring Department "go out." —Both Sides of the Story.

Yesterday the tailoring staff of Messrs. Hall, Gilchrist & Co. went out on strike to the number of nine—five tailors, two trousers makers and two vest makers. The story of the discontented workers is that the trouble arises over the failure of the firm to employ a machinist to operate the sewing machines. They assert that before the Christmas holidays a machinist was employed, that at the holidays she went off, and that the firm has failed to bring her back or to supply her place. It is claimed that if the tailors are compelled to do their own machine sewing that it represents a loss of 50 cents on each coat made. The firm persisting in declining to employ a machinist—the tailors, five of whom belong to the union, "went out" and the others went out on sympathy.

THE FIRM'S VERSION.

An EXAMINER reporter called upon Messrs. Hall, Gilchrist & Co., during the day and the firm expressed their sorrow at the course which the men have taken. A slight change was made at the first of the year, but no protest was made by the employees until the new store was entered, and the firm think that a change in location, which was calculated to benefit the men by giving them more work, should have been received with more gratitude. The firm also states that large Toronto firms do not furnish machinists and other local firms have also dispensed with them.

The Action, Baldwin vs. Lundy, Dismissed With Costs.

Judgment was entered to-day in the action of Baldwin vs. Lundy, dismissing the same with costs, and in favour of the defendant, Lundy, upon his counterclaim for $1,000.

The action was brought by plaintiff (Baldwin) against the defendant (Lundy), seeking to recover damages on the grounds that the defendant was harbouring the plaintiff's wife (sister of the defendant), and that the defendant had also slandered the plaintiff. Upon the action coming on for trial at the Assizes here on the 10th of March, the plaintiff asked for a postponement which was granted, upon the terms of his paying the defendant's costs of the postponement in twenty days, and in default that case be dismissed. Baldwin not having paid such costs judgment was accordingly entered against him as above mentioned, disposing of the matters in question.

Mr. E. B. Stone was solicitor for the plaintiff, and Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson, represented the defendant.

CELEBRATION OF THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE HOLD ANOTHER MEETING.

The Plan is to Have a Giant Parade in the Morning of the Military, Civic Bodies and Local Societies. Also an Oration—A Programme of Sports for the Afternoon and a Band Concert and Citizens' Illumination at Night.

At a meeting last evening of the committee of citizens having in charge the local celebration of the Queen's Jubilee, a communication was read from Mr. W. H. Meldrum, resigning the position of chairman, which he felt unable to accept. Mr. D. W. Dumble was elected to preside pro tem.

Mr. Dumble invited the members to begin work at once. His view was that to commence with there should be a military procession, the firemen, too, should turn out, and an effort made to have the different orders and societies parade in full regalia, as well as the town council. All this could be taken as "the official set." Then all could repair to some spot where an oration might be given on the day and all it represented. In the afternoon the programme of sports should be turned over to a committee, and he could think of no committee so energetic as the Canadian Foresters. With the spirit with which they would take hold of it the afternoon could be when a less energetic committee might fail. If they would devote the proceeds to some good and charitable object this was all that could be asked.

Mr. Wm. Menzies submitted the statement of the expenses to which the Foresters had been put and which the Citizens' Committee had agreed to assume.

No one advancing any opinions as to the next step in the programme, Mr. Dumble remarked that the last assemblage was a disintegrated one apparently, as no one was present who was in a position to speak as to the position taken at that time.

Mr. E. H. D. Hall thought if the citizens assumed the morning's part of the programme that would be enough. The afternoon could be given over to any society who would undertake the work.

Mr. W. H. Moore wanted to see the citizens take charge of an afternoon of sports. Good purses could be hung up for horse races and athletic events and professional men attracted from the outside.

Mr. F. J. Jameson suggested that a sub-committee be appointed to draw up a programme to be submitted to a future meeting of the general committee.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, in view of the fact that it seemed impossible to settle on the way the day should be celebrated, thought that the Foresters should never have been interfered with.

Mr. J. H. Burnham suggested that the afternoon's programme be turned over to

THE FIRE BRIGADE.

This suggestion pleased Mr. Moore.

Rev. Mr. Symonds was pleased with the suggestion as to the first part of the programme, but thought the school children should have some part in it. In the afternoon there could be a luncheon at the grounds and speeches given in honour of the day. These could be short and upon such objects as the Queen, the Army, Navy and Volunteers, Canada, Ontario, Peterborough, Literature, Science and Arts. This would add very much to the dignity of the occasion. He did not believe in bringing in professionals, but thought that the local men could make a far more interesting programme.

Mr. Burnham thought that the prizes should be fitting the occasion, and in the form of fine gold medals. He discouraged the idea of bringing in professionals. We might have a magnificent tournament of sport, and there was surely plenty of local amateurs to make the programme pass off well. They would throw more spirit into it.

Mr. Dumble asked for more details as to the luncheon which Mr. Symonds proposed.

Mr. Symonds had not yet considered the matter to any great extent, but thought it might be on the grounds, and beginning at one o'clock, could be over by three. Naturally an affair of this kind would attract the most representative citizens to the ground who might not otherwise be there. The tickets could be fixed at a dollar each, and the affair carried out, in the manner of luncheons of the same nature in England.

Mr. Moore was not in favour of the idea of a luncheon, but Mr. Symonds stated that he had seen such affairs carried out with great success in the Old Country.

Messrs. J. H. Burnham and E. B. Edwards moved that the form of the demonstration should be as follows: The first part to consist of a civic and formal celebration, and the form of a parade in which the military in all civic bodies and societies should participate. This to be concluded by an oration in the park. The second part of the programme to consist of a programme of sports with a concert in the evening by the band in the Court House park.

Mr. E. B. Edwards was anxious to to see an illumination in the evening. In London in 1887 the evening illumination had surpassed the demonstration in the day time. The citizens should certainly be ordered to illuminate their residences.

Mr. Burnham heartily agreed in the suggestion and the resolution was then adopted.

Mr. Thomas Cahill thought that the matter of the day's celebration should be left to a small committee composed of delegates from the Town Council, County Council, military and fire brigade and citizens. They should ask the Town and County Councils to give grants.

It was moved by Messrs. E. B. Edwards and C. W. Sawers, that it is the pleasure of this meeting that the afternoon sports be free, if financial arrangements to this end can be made.—Carried.

The chairman appointed the following gentlemen to act as a committee to strike the sub-committee to carry out the programme: Messrs. F. J. Jamieson, J. H. Burnham, William Menzies, W. B. Bemford and W. H. Moore.

The meeting then adjourned.

CHURCH UNITY.

An Open Letter.

To the Rev. H. Symonds:

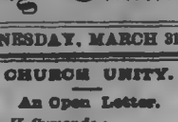
MY DEAR SIR,—I have not as yet the privilege of a personal acquaintance with you. You will permit me, however, to write to you a short letter bearing on the subject of Church Unity, a subject which seems to be near to your heart.

You have courteously invited ministers of two of the other denominations to give addresses to your people on some of the phases of the question of union, to which you have added one of your own on Friday evening last. Yours being the concluding address there is not any opportunity for review or discussion on the part of subsequent speakers. [illegible] the reason for my action in now writing this open letter.

I have [illegible] interested in the several [illegible] they appeared in type [illegible] Bonnets—The [illegible]NER, and your own [illegible]s, But Brims Are all has set me thinking [illegible]t and thought how [illegible]lvet and Novelties. [illegible]ave a harmonious [illegible] the great wholesale and [illegible] is indicated in [illegible] to the country have thrown [illegible]ty in name show rooms for the inspection [illegible]body after interested in the spring style[illegible]as is the in hat, bonnets and trimmings [illegible]now—the noticeable that rough or fancy [illegible]nets and braids are again abundant. Co[illegible]ntersted wood alike are the fibres whi[illegible] union. peared most noticeable in th[illegible] When braids, while the methods of pla[illegible] toge- differed but little from those to w[illegible]tian everyone has been accustomed for s[illegible]at eral years past. A good word [illegible]d also spoken for braids of smoother plaiting and ribbon-like effects, or those without a purled or relief edge, but choice will probably resolve itself into a question of individual taste.

Beautiful Effects.

Charming effects are produced of ribbon-like braids from three to four inches wide, edged with narrow relief plaiting in black or a contrasting color, or tone of color. There are wide sheets



[illegible] of the way are not to renounce their views and practices on the questions of the mode and subjects of baptism. So with the Methodists regarding any distinctive views which they may now hold as a denomination. Congregationalists also can still retain their doctrines on the subject of church government by the people alone. I have thought that it would be easier to dwell together in unity as we now are than as we would be under the supposed circumstances.

I have thought again that there could be no adequate gain from such a union. There cannot be gain where there is dishonour. There would be dishonour in doing what you suppose some might be willing to do for the sake of union. Here is what you think some might be willing to say: "We do not believe Episcopacy to be taught in the New Testament, we only accept for the sake of peace and fraternity and communion." Surely there would be dishonour in professing to repudiate a true doctrine and to embrace a false one. As the man believes, so the doctrines are true or false to him. Now, Mr. Symonds, you would not ask me to do evil that good may come.

I have thought again that if I adopt the article of the "Historic Episcopate" I must go further and adopt also the article of the headship of the reigning sovereign over the church. Bishops—if I understand the matter right—are appointed by archbishops and archbishops by the Queen, or one of her representatives. I have great regard for the Queen, but I cannot give her the place in the church which belongs exclusively to the King of Kings. This I must do, apparently, if I accept the "Historic Episcopate."

I do most firmly believe in ordination by the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery. Whatever may have taken place in after-times I believe that in the days of Paul and Timothy and Titus there was no such thing as a diocesian bishop. The word bishop (episcopos) is never used in the New Testament to signify the oversight over ministers, but only over the flock. In New Testament times every pastor was a bishop.

You should not think of making as a sine qua non to union a tenet, the truth of which is still, as you say, "hotly debated," and let me add, hotly debated in Episcopal circles themselves. All Episcopalians do not hold to the doctrine of the Episcopate as a New Testament requirement. Some utterly deny it. Fawcett, a distinguished Episcopalian, in his "Bible Cyclopædia," under the article "Bishop," says that bishop and elder were interchangeable terms. "Presbyter or elder," he says, "was the term in the Christian Church at Jerusalem for the Pastoral Superintendent. Episcopus or bishop was naturally adopted in Gentile Christian churches, the word being already in use among the Greeks. The terms were originally equivalent." Further on he says: "Those called elders (presbyters) are also called overseers (bishops) as if the terms were interchangeable. The Presbyters discharged Episcopal functions, that is, overseeing the flock. Other Episcopal authorities might be adduced, but to quote would make the letter too long.

If there is no foundation in Scripture for the distinction between elder and bishop, then the phrase "Historic Episcopate," as now used, is a delusion. Even though it had a Scriptural basis, it is still a delusion, unless every link in the chain of succession from the time of the Apostles until now can be fully established. This I think you will find a herculean task.

You seem greatly to deplore the divided state of the church. Let me remind you that the members of the Lambeth conference have thrown the greatest obstacles in the way of reunion at least with Episcopalians. Until that Lambeth gathering reconsiders and rescinds its action the fulfillment of the prayer of Christ, "That they may be all one," must be further deferred. None of the other denominations have thrown any such a barrier in the way of its fulfillment. What would you think of a Baptist convention calling upon the churches to unite as quickly as possible, so that men everywhere "May believe that God hath sent His son into the world," but at the same time laying it down as a sine qua non to union with themselves the adoption by all of the doctrine of "Historic Baptism?" What presumption you would say and properly say. And let me tell you the Baptists, taking them here and there and everywhere, are a numerous and potential people, and just as much attached to their distinctive tenets as you are to yours. With great respect, I am, yours fraternally,

WM. BENNETT.

Peterborough, 29th March, 1897.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I shall esteem it a great favour if you will permit me once more to trespass upon your valuable space for a few remarks anent the Public Library.

In my former letter I said that almost every village in the State of Massachusetts boasted of a free library. Since then I have found that our own province is much richer in free libraries than I supposed, and that considerable municipal grants are annually made for their support. Amongst the villages and small towns I may enumerate Arnprior, Beeton, Brampton, Cardinal, Drayton, Georgetown, Ingersoll, Iroquois, Merriton, Prescott, Renfrew, Simcoe, St. Mary's and Waterloo. The grants in these places range from $50 to $527. The following large towns and small cities have free libraries:

Brantford—Grant made in 1896				$3,800 00
Berlin—	"	"	"	1,746 68
Brockville	"	"	"	1,240 00
Chatham	"	"	"	1,560 00
Guelph	"	"	"	1,200 37
St. Catharines	"	"	"	1,200 00
St. Thomas	"	"	"	1,200 00
Windsor	"	"	"	1,625 00

The Librarian of the Brantford Public Library informs me that the grant for this year is $3,700.

Now the total expenditure of our Library last year was $1,428.44, and we have an endowment worth $600 per annum, and a legislative grant of about $200, leaving a balance of $628.44, or but little more than one-half the smallest amount annually voted on the above list.

That there exists a demand for reading matter which cannot be supplied under the annual subscription system, the following comparative tables sufficiently demonstrate. The number of books issued in Peterborough during 1895–96 was 15,748. In Brantford, with a population of about 4,000 more than Peterborough and Ashburnham, it was 73,846; in Brockville, 26,021; in Chatham, 20,475; in Guelph, 54,759; in St. Catharines, 26,595; in St. Thomas, 21,352, and in Windsor, 33,369.

In the consideration of this subject it is never to be forgotten that those who at present enjoy the advantages of the Library for the most part can afford to buy some books, or to subscribe to some periodicals for themselves, whilst those who cannot afford to subscribe to the Library are totally or almost totally deprived of all reading but the very lightest and cheapest. Looking at the matter from what some might regard as the least important point of view, viz., the recreative, what an enormous boon to hundreds of our citizens, the opportunity would be of access to an unlimited means of passing happily many hours which now hang heavily on their hands or are spent in very much worse fashion even than reading novels.

The functions of municipalities are steadily increasing. It is impossible to say exactly where they end. It is, at all events, generally acknowledged in Great Britain that the town or city council is via a than the guardian of the commercial cloth; erity of the people. What one might the nareligious element is begining to perclath. se civic state. It is being recognized tire hearmen as well as by clergy-flutingshat "man doth not live by dication alone," and the general welally unf the people is the lofty aim and sgery true councillor will set before him. It is the spirit of exclusive commercialism that has led to the wretched degradation of municipal affairs in many cities that we know of. Nor has this commercialism resulted in the enrichment of the people, but only of the wire-pullers, and place-hunters. The adoption of a loftier and more disinterested spirit will not impoverish but enrich our cities. It will inspire the energies of our best men, it will tend tend to the contentment of our citizens, it will win their confidence, it will fill us all with an honest pride in our town, and I know of no one step which would be more truly "pro bono publico" at the present time than the gift to our fellow citizens of a free library as a fitting commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of the reign of Queen Victoria.

Yours, etc.,
HERBERT SYMONDS.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—"Ex-Director" thinks everyone can afford to purchase a ticket for the use of our Public Library. Therein I disagree with him.

Let us look at the matter in this way. There is a very large number of our citizens who earn from $300 to $500 per annum. There is a smaller number who earn from $1,500 to $5,000 per annum. The ticket for the Public Library amounts to $1.50 per annum. To the man who earns $300 a year, $1.50 is equivalent to $7.50 for the man who earns $1,500. How many of our citizens with incomes of $1,500, would subscribe to the Public Library if the fee was $7.50?

Yours, etc.,
READER.

THE FREE LIBRARY.

RE. BOARD OF TRADE RESOLUTIONS.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's Reply to Mr. Burnham's Letter.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

SIR,—I send you the Premier's answer to my letter, written to him in despair after the Board's meeting on Friday night. He makes a mistake in supposing that the resolution was adopted. However, that does not interfere with the purport and value of his reply.

Yours, etc.
H. BURNHAM.

Hon. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Esq., Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 27th instant, enclosing me copy of a resolution adopted by the Peterborough Board of Trade, which read as follows:—"That, in view of the attitude of the United "States towards Canada in matters of "trade and social relations, the proposed "programme of practical remonstrance of "the Dominion Government with that "nation, and its avowed intention of cultivating closer relations with Great "Britain, be heartily approved by this "Board of Trade."

You ask me further to let you know "if "such a resolution would not be acceptable "and if similar expressions on trade matters would not be acceptable to the Government of Canada, and further, if it "would be advisable for Boards of Trade "to express their sincere interest in the "welfare of the country and the action of "our National Government."

In answer, I have only to say that the Government will always consider it a favour to receive the sincere and honest expression of opinion of all those who take an interest in the welfare of our common country. It is not to be expected that all these expressions of opinion will be identical, but from their very divergencies the Government might find the means of arriving at a proper solution of all the problems which we have to solve.

I have the honour to be, dear sir,
Yours very sincerely,
WILFRID LAURIER.

THE SECRET OUT!

Miss Rudkins' Successful Millinery Exposition.

"What means all the crowd at Miss Rudkins' store to-day?" said a well-known citizen at the dinner table yesterday. "Why, don't you know this is her millinery opening day and she is giving a surprise to her lady visitors by presenting them with a beautiful tea rose as they pass out; splendid idea, wasn't it?" And so it was decidedly appropriate and decidedly catchy for a millinery opening. Miss Rudkins deserves credit for her sagacity as well as for her brilliant millinery display, both of which were the talk of the ladies. The magnificent opening of spring millinery and other novelties created a real sensation and the effect produced was far greater than Miss Rudkin's expected. The popular uprising of the ladies to learn the secret of the surprise promised on the opening day, from confidence in Miss Rudkin's assurances, exerted a great influence on the attendance. The musical programme also delightfully contributed to the success of the opening event and Miss Butler as pianiste acquitted herself most creditably on the occasion. The crowd was so great that the special purchase of 400 lovely tea roses from local florists were not long in being exhausted. Miss Rudkins had to send for a further supply of tulips and carnations; to her great regret she could not supply all visitors. Miss Rudkins is to be congratulated on the great success of her unique millinery opening.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

"Playing the Fool" was the Topic of Last Evening's Address.

The attendance at the George street Methodist church last evening was the largest since Evangelist Ranton began his special services. He spoke from I Samuel, xxvi chap., 21st verse:

Then said Saul, I have sinned; return, my son David; for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day; behold, I have played the fool and have erred exceedingly.

"Playing the fool" was the theme of the sermon. During the service Miss Clara Bellegham gave an exceptionally acceptable rendering of the solo, "Home at Last" and Mr. Mulligan's contribution of "Eternity Where?" was greatly appreciated. This evening Mr. Ranton will speak on the subject "Lessons from a Heathen."

On Sunday afternoon the Evangelist will speak in the opera house at four o'clock on "The Devil's best Friend."

THE VETERANS OF '66 ON PARADE.

Large Meeting Last Night to Consider Organization—Preliminary Steps are Taken.

At a meeting of the veterans of 1866, held at the drill shed last night, there were about forty scarred warriors present to consider the organization of an association for Peterborough.

Mr. John Irwin was appointed chairman and Mr. J. D. Collins secretary of the meeting. A general discussion of the proposal to form an association was had, and no little enthusiasm shown on the subject.

The constitutions of the Bellevills and Toronto associations were laid before the meeting and discussed. At last it was resolved that a committee consisting of Messrs. Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, convener, Capt. Miller, A. P. Poussette, Henderson Nesbitt, D. Breese, John Irwin and J. D. Collins be appointed to draft a constitution, to report at a meeting to be held on Monday evening, April 12th. The committee meets on Monday night, April 5th, to enter upon their work. There is material in Peterborough for the formation of a numerically strong association, and no doubt the outcome will have a result in forming an association not only strong in numbers but strong in patriotic enthusiasm and esprit de corps.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or a secret nostrum.

CHURCH UNITY.

An Open Letter.

To the Rev. H. Symonds:

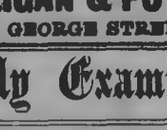
MY DEAR SIR,—I have not as yet the privilege of a personal acquaintance with you. You will permit me, however, to write to you a short letter bearing on the subject of Church Unity, a subject which seems to be near to your heart.

You have courteously invited ministers of two of the other denominations to give addresses to your people on some of the phases of the question of union, to which you have added one of your own on Friday evening last. Yours being the concluding address there is not any opportunity for review or dis[cus]sion on the part of subsequent speakers. [Th]e reason for my action in now w[riting] this open letter.

I have[ob]served with interest in the several [win]dows as they appeared in type [suc]h Bonnets—The [CHIN]A, and your own [fa]ce, But Brims Are all has set me thinki[ng] and thought how[ev]elvet and Novelties. [ha]ve a harmonious [ef]fect. The great wholesale and [re]tail houses in the country have thrown [op]en to the consumer [th]eir show rooms for the inspection [of] everybody after [th]e interested in the spring styles [as] is the in hat, bonnets and trimmings [no]w—the noticeable that rough or fancy [ne]ts and braids are again abundant. Co[ns]terised wood silks are the fibres which [ap]peared most noticeable in the union. When braids, while the methods of pla[ce] togedifferred but little from those to w[hich] everyone has been accustomed for [se]veral years past. A good word was also spoken for braids of smoothed plaiting and ribbon-like effects, or those without a purled or relief edge, but choice will probably resolve itself into a question of individual taste.

Beautiful Effects.

Charming effects are produced of ribbon-like braids from three to four inches wide, edged with narrow relief plaiting in black or a contrasting color, or tone of color. There are wide sheets



[to]day are not to renounce their views and practices on the questions of the mode and subjects of baptism. So with the Methodists regarding any distinctive views which they may now hold as a denomination. Congregationalists also can still retain their doctrines on the subject of church government by the people alone. I have thought that it would be easier to dwell together in unity as we now are than as we would be under the supposed circumstances.

I have thought again that there could be no adequate gain from such a union. There cannot be gain where there is dishonour. There would be dishonour in doing what you suppose some might be willing to do for the sake of union. Here is what you think some might be willing to say: "We do not believe Episcopacy to be taught in the New Testament, we only accept for the sake of peace and fraternity and communion." Surely there would be dishonour in professing to repudiate a true doctrine and to embrace a false one. As the man believes, so the doctrines are true or false to him. Now, Mr. Symonds, you would not ask me to do evil that good may come.

I have thought again that if I adopt the article of the "Historic Episcopate" I must go further and adopt also the article of the headship of the reigning sovereign over the church. Bishops—if I understand the matter right—are appointed by archbishops and archbishops by the Queen, or one of her representatives. I have great regard for the Queen, but I cannot give her the place in the church which belongs exclusively to the King of Kings. This I must do, apparently, if I accept the "Historic Episcopate."

I do most firmly believe in ordination by the laying on of the hands of the Presbytery. Whatever may have taken place in after-times I believe that in the days of Paul and Timothy and Titus there was no such thing as a diocesian bishop. The word bishop (episcopos) is never used in the New Testament to signify the oversight over ministers, but only over the flock. In New Testament times every pastor was a bishop.

You should not think of making as a sine qua non to union a tenet, the truth of which is still, as you say, "hotly debated," and let me add, hotly debated in Episcopal circles themselves. All Episcopalians do not hold to the doctrine of the episcopate as a New Testament requirement. Some utterly deny it. Fawcett, a distinguished Episcopalian, in his "Bible Cyclopædia," under the article "Bishop," says that bishop and elder were interchangeable terms. "Presbyter or elder," he says, "was the term in the Christian Church at Jerusalem for the Pastoral Superintendent. Episcopus or bishop was naturally adopted in Gentile Christian churches, the word being already in use among the Greeks. The terms were originally equivalent." Further on he says: "Those called elders (presbyters) are also called overseers (bishops) as if the terms were interchangeable. The Presbyters discharged Episcopal functions, that is, overseeing the flock. Other Episcopal authorities might be adduced, but to quote would make the letter too long.

If there is no foundation in Scripture for the distinction between elder and bishop, then the phrase "Historic Episcopate," as now used, is a delusion. Even though it had a Scriptural basis, it is still a delusion, unless every link in the chain of succession from the time of the Apostles until now can be fully established. This I think you will find a herculean task.

You seem greatly to deplore the divided state of the church. Let me remind you that the members of the Lambeth conference have thrown the greatest obstacles in the way of reunion at least with Episcopalians. Until that Lambeth gathering reconsiders and rescinds its action the fulfillment of the prayer of Christ, "That they may be all one," must be further deferred. None of the other denominations have thrown any such a barrier in the way of its fulfillment. What would you think of a Baptist convention calling upon the churches to unite as quickly as possible, so that men everywhere "May believe that God hath sent His son into the world," but at the same time laying it down as a sine qua non to union with themselves the adoption by all of the doctrine of "Historic Baptism!" What presumption you would say and properly say. And let me tell you the Baptists, taking them here and there and everywhere, are a numerous and potential people, and just as much attached to their distinctive tenets as you are to yours. With great respect, I am, yours fraternally.

WM. BENNETT.

THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—I shall esteem it a great favour if you will permit me once more to trespass upon your valuable space for a few remarks anent the Public Library.

In my former letter I said that almost every village in the State of Massachusetts boasted of a free library. Since then I have found that our own province is much richer in free libraries than I supposed, and that considerable municipal grants are annually made for their support. Amongst the villages and small towns I may enumerate Arnprior, Beeton, Brampton, Cardinal, Drayton, Georgetown, Ingersoll, Iroquois, Merriton, Prescott, Renfrew, Simcoe, St. Mary's and Waterloo. The grants in these places range from $50 to $567. The following large towns and small cities have free libraries:

Brantford—Grant made in 1896				$2,200 00
Berlin—	"	"	"	1,166 66
Brockville	"	"	"	1,320 00
Chatham	"	"	"	1,460 00
Guelph	"	"	"	1,266 27
St. Catharines	"	"	"	1,199 66
St. Thomas	"	"	"	1,220 00
Windsor	"	"	"	1,266 00

The Librarian of the Brantford Public Library informs me that the grant for this year is $2,700.

Now the total expenditure of our Library last year was $1,498.44, and we have an endowment worth $600 per annum, and a legislative grant of about $260, leaving a balance of $638.44, or but little more than one-half the smallest amount annually voted on the above list.

That there exists a demand for reading matter which cannot be supplied under the annual subscription system, the following comparative tables sufficiently demonstrate. The number of books issued in Peterborough during 1895—96 was 15,748. In Brantford, with a population of about 4,000 more than Peterborough and Ashburnham, it was 73,846; in Brockville, 26,021; in Chatham, 20,475; in Guelph, 54,759; in St. Catharines, 26,566; in St. Thomas, 21,363, and in Windsor, 33,369.

In the consideration of this subject it is never to be forgotten that those who at present enjoy the advantages of the Library for the most part can afford to buy some books, or to subscribe to some periodicals for themselves, whilst those who cannot afford to subscribe to the Library are totally or almost totally deprived of all reading but the very lightest and cheapest. Looking at the matter from what some might regard as the least important point of view, viz., the recreative, what an enormous boon to hundreds of our citizens, the opportunity would be of access to an unlimited means of passing happily many hours which now hang heavily on their hands or are spent in very much worse fashion even than reading novels.

The functions of municipalities are steadily increasing. It is impossible to say exactly where they end. It is, at all events, generally acknowledged in Great Britain that the town or city council is via e than the guardian of the commercial cloth; erity of the people. What one might the nareligious element is begining to per- cloth. ic civic state. It is being recognised tire heermen as well as by clergy- flutingshat "man doth not live by dicatio alone," and the general wel- ally und the people is the lofty aim and sgery true councillor will set before him. It is the spirit of exclusive commercialism that has led to the wretched degradation of municipal affairs in many cities that we know of. Nor has this commercialism resulted in the enrichment of the people, but only of the wire-pullers, and place-hunters. The adoption of a loftier and more disinterested spirit will not impoverish but enrich our cities. It will inspire the energies of our best men, it will tend tend to the contentment of our citizens, it will win their confidence, it will fill us all with an honest pride in our town, and I know of no one step which would be more truly "pro bono publico" at the present time than the gift to our fellow citizens of a free library as a fitting commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee of the reign of Queen Victoria.

Yours, etc.,
HERBERT SYMONDS.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—"Ex-Director" thinks everyone can afford to purchase a ticket for the use of our Public Library. Therein I disagree with him.

Let us look at the matter in this way. There is a very large number of our citizens who earn from $300 to $500 per annum. There is a smaller number who earn from $1,500 to $5,000 per annum. The ticket for the Public Library amounts to $1.50 per annum. To the man who earns $200 a year, $1.50 is equivalent to $7.50 to the man who earns $1,500. How many of our citizens with incomes of $1,500, would subscribe to the Public Library if the fee was $7.50?

Yours, etc.,
READER.

RE. BOARD OF TRADE RESOLUTIONS.

Hon. Wilfrid Laurier's Reply to Mr. Burnham's Letter.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

SIR,—I send you the Premier's answer to my letter, written to him in despair after the Board's meeting on Friday night. He makes a mistake in supposing that the resolution was adopted. However, that does not interfere with the purport and value of his reply.

Yours, etc.
H. BURNHAM.

Hasspden Burnham, Esq., Peterborough, Ont.:

DEAR SIR,—I have the honour to acknowledge the receipt of your favour of the 27th instant, enclosing me copy of a resolution adopted by the Peterborough Board of Trade, which read as follows:—"That, in view of the attitude of the United "States towards Canada in matters of "trade and social relations, the proposed "programme of practical remonstrance of "the Dominion Government with that "nation, and its avowed intention of cultivating closer relations with Great "Britain, be heartily approved by this "Board of Trade."

You ask me further to let you know "if "such a resolution would not be acceptable "and if similar expressions on trade matters would not be acceptable to the Government of Canada, and further, if it "would be advisable for Boards of Trade "to express their sincere interest in the "welfare of the country and the action of "our National Government."

In answer, I have only to say that the Government will always consider it a favour to receive the sincere and honest expression of opinion of all those who take an interest in the welfare of our common country. It is not to be expected that all these expressions of opinion will be identical, but from their very divergencies the Government might find the means of arriving at a proper solution of all the problems which we have to solve.

I have the honour to be, dear sir,
Yours very sincerely,
WILFRID LAURIER.

THE SECRET OUT!

Miss Rudkins' Successful Millinery Exposition.

"What means all the crowd at Miss Rudkins' store to-day?" said a well-known citizen at the dinner table yesterday. "Why, don't you know this is her millinery opening day and she is giving a surprise to her lady visitors by presenting them with a beautiful tea rose as they pass out; splendid idea, wasn't it?" And so it was decidedly appropriate and decidedly catchy for a millinery opening. Miss Rudkins deserves credit for her sagacity as well as for her brilliant millinery display, both of which were the talk of the ladies. The magnificent opening of spring millinery and other novelties created a real sensation and the effect produced was far greater than Miss Rudkin's expected. The popular uprising of the ladies to learn the secret of the surprise promised on the opening day, from confidence in Miss Rudkin's assurances, exerted a great influence on the attendance. The musical programme also delightfully contributed to the success of the opening event and Miss Butler as pianiste acquitted herself most creditably on the occasion. The crowd was so great that the special purchase of 400 lovely tea roses from local florists were not long in being exhausted. Miss Rudkins had to send for a further supply of tulips and carnations; to her great regret she could not supply all visitors. Miss Rudkins is to be congratulated on the great success of her unique millinery opening.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

"Playing the Fool" was the Topic of Last Evening's Address.

The attendance at the George street Methodist church last evening was the largest since Evangelist Ranton began his special services. He spoke from I Samuel, xxvi chap., 21st verse:

Then said Saul, I have sinned; return, my son David; for I will no more do thee harm, because my soul was precious in thine eyes this day; behold, I have played the fool and have erred exceedingly.

"Playing the fool" was the theme of the sermon. During the service Miss Clara Bellegham gave an exceptionally acceptable rendering of the solo, "Home at Last" and Mr. Mulligan's contribution of "Eternity Where?" was greatly appreciated. This evening Mr. Ranton will speak on the subject "Lessons from a Heathen."

On Sunday afternoon the Evangelist will speak in the opera house at four o'clock on "The Devil's best Friend."

THE VETERANS OF '66 ON PARADE.

Large Meeting Last Night to Consider Organization—Preliminary Steps are Taken.

At a meeting of the veterans of 1866, held at the drill shed last night, there were about forty scarred warriors present to consider the organization of an association for Peterborough.

Mr. John Irwin was appointed chairman and Mr. J. D. Collins secretary of the meeting. A general discussion of the proposal to form an association was had, and no little enthusiasm shown on the subject.

The constitutions of the Belleville and Toronto associations were laid before the meeting and discussed. At last it was moved that a committee consisting of Messrs. Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, convener, Capt. Miller, A. P. Poussette, Henderson Nesbitt, D. Breese, John Irwin and J. D. Collins be appointed to draft a constitution, to report at a meeting to be held on Monday evening, April 12th. The committee meets on Monday night, April 5th, to enter upon their work. There is material in Peterborough for the formation of a numerically strong association, and no doubt the outcome will have a result in forming an association not only strong in numbers but strong in patriotic enthusiasm and esprit de corps.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or a secret nostrum.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 40 years accumulated $40,000,000. His contemporary began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart's stores and counters abroad for years and commanded advantages before big declines. He economized on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 86 or $2,000 on 100,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 25 cts. for July. "Tears, idle tears, I know not what they mean," wrote the poet Tennyson. But tears always mean something. There are tears of melancholy, tears of joy, and of despair, and those saddest most pathetic tears of the nervous overwrought woman who has been bearing up as bravely as she may under a daily burden of weakness and dragging, torturing pain.

No wonder women weep. The wonder is that they are not oftener in tears for all they have to bear and suffer; and the saddest thing about it is how little their sufferings are understood. Even the doctor, nine times in ten says: "Oh, a little nervousness, that's all" or "neuralgia," or "insomnia," or "dyspepsia." If he suspects the real cause he insists upon examinations and local treatment,—about the very worst thing possible to a nervous, overwrought woman.

There is no need of these repugnant methods. Any woman may insure health and strength in a womanly way by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It cures the weaknesses and diseases of the feminine organism absolutely and completely. It was devised for this special purpose by one of the most eminent and experienced physicians in this country; an expert specialist in women's diseases.

For nearly 30 years Dr. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. Any woman may consult him by letter, free of charge. Her letter will be answered not by a mere nurse or uneducated, unscientific person, but by the most competent medical authority anywhere obtainable.

All women should read Dr. Pierce's thousand-page illustrated book, "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser." It contains more clear and comprehensive advice on medical subjects than any other book ever published. Soap.

In addition to the soap for bathing, white castile should be kept for washing the hair. Occasionally a little borax or ammonia may be used for this purpose, but care should be taken in their application as they are rather harsh in their effects.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a few days.

A WOMAN DOG TRAINER.

How a Bright Girl Is Earning a Very Good Income.

There is money in small dogs for any woman who will cultivate the fashionable and not too finely bred species, according to the simplest rules of canine hygiene. This is the opinion of a girl who has a small dog farm in her father's back yard, and is making it pay. She began three years ago by rescuing a batch of fat puppies from a watery grave, simply through tenderness of heart, and, when the orphans were thrown on her hands, volunteered to find them homes when they arrived at months of discretion.

"It was a big bar sinister somewhere in their pedigree that made them worthless to their original owner," she explained when telling about her experiment, "but I saw they were developing into very fair specimens of middle-class fox terrierhood, so I gave them the advantages of a decent education. I don't think their rearing cost me a cent. Some nice large dry goods boxes made suitable kennels; I fed them with milk and kitchen scraps, and because out of pure affection for their race I had them properly docked, collared and named, and gave them a plain, solid education in deportment suitable for house animals. At the end of three months I didn't give them away. I sold every one of the four at $25 apiece to women who were willing to pay that price for dogs possessed of good habits, sound digestion, sweet temper and showing some pretty tricks like mine.

"That stroke of luck put ideas into my head especially when my front door bell was besieged by women anxious to buy up any more 'darling little beauties' like those I had just disposed of. I merely increased my row of dry goods boxes, picked up here and there any likely looking puppies I could lay hands on, and I find I can sell them directly their educations are finished, at a very large profit on my original investment.

"First, of all, I select for my dogs capital names, cultivate stout constitutions, sweet, cheerful tempers, carefully break them to the leash, inculcate perfect house habits, train them to understand children and strangers and teach every one a few pretty tricks. Of course it takes time and patience and a genuine love of the dog itself to cultivate these excellent habits and varied accomplishments, but really the outlay is small and every dog I sell turns up at his future mistress' door in collar and ribbon neck bow. But all of them are not fox terriers.

"I both breed and raise Yorkshire and Scotch terriers, dandie dinmonts, water, cocker and King Charles spaniels, a few pugs, an occasional poodle and a great many dachshunds. These are what I call the standard small dogs, easy to raise, readily trained and always in fashion. The big dogs are too expensive to board, and are not nearly so clever or so salable as their smaller brethren, while the dogs of purely aristocratic strain and rarities I never invest in. Now and then I will take a high born puppy and raise and educate him for his owner, and since my dog experiment is proving so profitable I am trying my hands on cultivating cats for the same market.

Just now I am testing a litter of charming Maltese kittens, bringing them up with my puppies. I got the whole batch for a song, as an ordinary cat is not greatly sought after these days, and the average fine Maltese Tabby or Tommy does not command at most more than eight or ten dollars. Still I expect to be repaid for my efforts at training them, as mousers, gay pets and dainty house companions, and any woman with a proper love of animals can do all that I have done. The capital invested need not be over $25, any good veterinary's book will give her all the technical information wanted, and patience with personal attention are the other requisites to success in this interesting little industry. As to disposing of the animals when old enough and properly trained I can only say I never knew the clever, lovable small dog born into the world that there was not always some feminine heart, hearth and purse open to him."—Boston Globe.

Since the article appeared by Dr. Ievers in the last issue, a large number of testimonials from outside and impartial sources, have been sent to us as to the value of "Quickcure." Eminent physicians express the same opinion from practical experience in its use in boils and wounds. We have had practical proof of its value in a burn, and repeated experience in its efficacy in exposed pulps, and various pathological conditions of the gums and the mouth. Dr. Ievers, of Quebec city, has for over eleven years had such invariable success with his preparation, that he had little trouble to persuade many of his colleagues to experiment in the same direction, and the general consensus of professional opinion has been decidedly in its favour.

SUFFERING WOMEN

Troubled with Weaknesses Peculiar to their Sex.

HOW THEY MAY BE CURED.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Act Upon the Female Organs as well as upon the Kidneys — Many Women Suffer Needlessly.

Women suffer more than men. From the time a girl-child turns the corner into womanhood, she has more troubles than men ever dream of. We look upon women as weak and fragile, but considering what they endure they are stronger by far.

Women suffer many times more than they need to. Partly because they don't know what ails them at first; then because they are ashamed to tell a doctor; latterly because they hate to be a continual source of expense to their husbands.

"Female Weakness" are what we term the diseases peculiar to the female sex. They are so often compounded with female Kidney troubles, and Kidney troubles are often mistaken for other troubles. All those delicate organs are closely connected. What affects one affects the others.

What cures one, cures the others, too. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS which are a sovereign cure for all Kidney ills, act to regulate and control the female organs and to relieve their difficulties. This is worth while for every woman to remember.

Mrs. Lucy Crabbe, Chambers P. O., says:—"For years I was a sufferer from weakness peculiar to my sex, combined with kidney trouble from all of which I was completely cured by two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Elmena Ady, Walkerton, Ont., says:—"For a long time I have suffered from a complication of Kidney Trouble and Female Disease; and am glad to say have no pain or ache since using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS cure Kidney Disease and Female Weakness. Try them. They are on sale at all druggists. Price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

LIFE SAVED
By the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. FIELDS, Bloomfield, Ia.

SPRING MILLINERY.

SOME OF THE GAY THINGS SEEN AT THE ANNUAL OPENINGS.

Beautiful Effects in Hats and in the Dutch Bonnets—The Bell Crown Prevails, But Brims Are Not So Wide—Velvet and Novelties.

The great wholesale establishments of the country have thrown open their show rooms for the inspection of those interested in the spring styles in 1897 in hat, bonnets and trimmings. It was noticeable that rough or fancy straw braids are again abundant. Cocoa and wood silks are the fibres which appeared most noticeable in the new braids, while the methods of plaiting differed but little from those to which everyone has been accustomed for several years past. A good word was also spoken for braids of smoother plaiting and ribbon-like effects, or those without a purled or relief edge, but choice will probably resolve itself into a question of individual taste.

Beautiful Effects.

Charming effects are produced of ribbon-like braids from three to four inches wide, edged with narrow relief plaiting in black or a contrasting color, or tone of color. There are wide sheets or plaques of smooth fancy braids of basket mixture which are fashioned into hats and bonnets of skilful folding and shaping over a wire frame. Some of the most unique of the new bonnets are made of fancy braids in the old three-ply flat, about a third of an inch in width, and the fancy braids so like plaiting of tissue paper, have reappeared. The fancy braids now most numerous are of wood-silk fibre and are generally referred to as satin straw braids. Those of smooth, ribbon-like texture are made of solid colors, but very beautiful effects are seen in braids of two or more colors, as, for examples, geranium red introduced on a grounding of silver gray; pale moss-green or medium violet and a combination of matelot-blue, emerald green and kola-brown.

Following the inclination for felt and moire antique in the winter millinery, there are absolutely smooth braids to divide preference in the selection of a hat and hats with the crown of smooth and brim of rough braid and vice versa.

The Shapes in Hats.

The large hats for the most part follow in contour certain shapes which came out during the period of the New York Horse Show, in that they have a medium tall and medium broad bell crown, the brim wide and flaring at the front and gradually narrowing to two-thirds the width of the front. The bell crown in both hats and bonnets promises to be the prevailing one, but varying this, there are hats with tall crowns narrowing at half their height and then widening out after the shape of an hour glass.

Shapes with a plaque projecting over the top after the manner of the flanges of a spool; shapes with medium tall and medium broad definitely square crowns; shapes with broader or narrower, slightly tapering crowns, and again crowns rising from a head-size. The brim in most of the new hats is narrower at the back than at the front, but there are shapes with the brim considerably wider at the back than at the front and turning up high. Other shapes have the brim widening out and turned high at the left, while others have the brim in a wide, obtuse point turned high at the left side of the back. The hats, as a rule, are somewhat larger than they were in the autumn, without attaining the circumference of the Gainsborough or the Braganza.

Among the most striking novelties in hats is one with a braid bell crown, a brim, wide and wing-like at the sides, narrower and having a shallow scallop at the front, and narrower and cleft in a notch at the back.

A New Idea.

These new productions have a brim rising to a high point at the left of the back. The most notable of the small hats is a modification of the "Oxford," with a broad bell crown rising from the narrow brim closely curling at the sides. A unique little bonnet is a faithful copy of the pretty and picturesque little capote worn by the Flemish peasant woman, who sell milk in the cities of the Netherlands. It is formed of a band of straw braid about four inches wide, fitted to a flat, square crown, and hugging the head closely at the sides, the ends descending in lappets, which are sharply bent up. Novelties of manufacture are shown in hats of texture of the effect of etamine, canvas or grenadinet (in reality grass grenadine). The hats are fashioned as out of velvet or other woven fabric, and the brim bound with a narrow bias of velvet.

A new fibre braid of basket texture, of the effect of very heavy and stout canvas, is employed in the same manner as the grass cloth, the brim cut in the necessary circle and finished with narrow velvet binding. Of hair manufacture, there is a novelty in pressed or felted goods, which, with a slight transparency of texture, has the effect of rough camel's hair cloth or hairy felt. Hats are made of this as of felt, by blocking into shape and finishing with a hot iron, the brims in the trimmed models generally being unbound or unbordered by extraneous finish or trimming. All these, of their kind, are interesting productions of handicraft. They appear in natural hues, black, and some of the fashionable colors. With the exception of malines tulle and chiffon, which, as indicated in this review of styles, for the approaching season, will vary the use of braids in headgear for wear in warm weather, there has appeared, up to this time, no very remarkable output of the tissues which are produced sometimes for the making of hats and bonnets for summer wear.

Velvs for Bardeaux.

In the finish of the new hats and bonnet garnishing will, of course, take its place, but it will have comparatively small part in the coming millinery. There has appeared almost at the last moment an article for millinery use that has the appearance of a net made of wood fibre and of silks, the former bearing the name of Batavia cloth, Bengal cloth and Tricot cloth, while the silk cloth or net bears the name of Silkeline and Silk Batavia cloth. It is used for covering the entire hat, for trimming edgings and flutings, and as aigrette. There are indications that laces will be very liberally used in the millinery of the spring and summer. They vary plisses of chiffon for veiling the brim and swathing the crown on imported hats and for the shells, rosettes, etc., fashioned of chiffon and ribbon by the Paris and the New York milliners; and on some of the French models the lace barbe is substituted for ribbon in bonnet strings. The black laces employed are of French and Flemish manufactures, more or less closely imitating the Chantilly point. A ruffle of wide lace, or a plisse of chiffon rising from the edge of the crown, is a feature distinctive of the next season, in the adjustment of trimming on the Paris hats and bonnets.

There seems, at this time, little cause to doubt that ribbons of plain color will rule the coming mode of millinery. Ribons of plain texture will probably be rivalled by those of gauze and satin striping, and in this striping there are varieties which show the introduction of contrasting strong and bright colors, but they will hardly disturb the rule to any great extent. The plain ribbons are mostly of taffeta weave, taffeta moire or watered moire, with satin back and satin lined taffeta, and all of exceeding (unexampled) fineness of texture and lightness of weight. High novelties in plain ribbons are those in weaves of linen and mousseline effects, and there has been a revival of ribbons of the old popular Louisine weave of glace effect.

Notadle Novelties.

Fancy ribbons of diaphanous texture of grass linen are plaided in Scotch colors, are also in Roman colors and broad quadrille effects. There are also Sarcenet ribbons of plain centre with fancy edges, and in Roman plaiding. The ribbons which will give character to the millinery of the spring, in a general sense, are of unusual width, running, as a rule, from five to eight inches, and in some instances reaching ten inches wide. Their delicate texture and lightness of weight contribute to their use, and render them available for trimming purposes. Velvet ribbons are continued for bonnet strings, but they are now employed in widths from one and a half to two inches, and an occasional model is seen with strings of satin ribbon of about No. 20 width. The taffeta ribbons used for bonnet ties are generally about four inches wide.

Jets are out again in bonnet crowns and the usual line of ornaments, in new devices. It is exclusively of the faceted description, in stiff mounting, and wired. French gold ornaments have taken the place of the cut steel ornaments of last autumn, and of the earlier jewels, of Rhine crystals and other mock precious stones, but cut steel, white and colored crystals, mock pearls and mock turquoises stud the gold, and the jewels are as elegant as they have been for the last several seasons. They have come out in buckles, brooches, bars, slides and long pins.

Season of Flowers.

Importers of artificial flowers tell us that roses will be in the greatest demand, but fashionable and refined taste has not yet been sated with violets for the trimming of hats and bonnets, and large invoices of them are already in the market, while geranium blossoms, lilacs, poppies, sweet peas, orchids, sprays of hollyhock with bunches of berries and garlands of ivy leaves and berries are seen upon the charming Parisian models. The flowers are generaly of colorings of nature's suggestion, though the blossoms of the garden have appeared in colors foreign to nature's accustomed production.

The coming season will be distinguished by a very lavish use of feathers.

Ostrich plumes trim Paris hats in some cases to the exclusion of flowers. On several models are seen birds' wings, and on one or two hats there were birds and very airy Paradise bird plumes.

GARNITURE OF RIBBON AND OSPREYS

Black will retain its popularity for bonnets and hats with ladies of elegant taste, and combination of black and white will retain favor. There appears, however, to be an inclination to lend brightness to black by a touch of colors, and, if nothing more, a tuft of violets. The medium pale tone of mauve known as Ophelia appears in trimmed bonnets from distinguished Paris milliners and purple in all tones from deep violet to pale lilac will be in vogue.

Necessary Precaution.

"Yes, George," she said, with a fond smile, "our engagement must be kept a secret."

"But why, dear?" he asked.

"Because, silly boy, if it were made public people would think I really intended to marry you."—Philadelphia North American.

Centuries ago people used to fear what they called the pestilence. "Black Death" was the most terrible thing in the world to them. They feared it as people now fear the Cholera and Yellow Fever. And yet there is a thing that causes more misery and more deaths than any of these. It is so common that nine-tenths of all the sickness in the world is traceable to it. It is merely that simple, common thing constipation. It makes people listless, causes dizziness, headaches, loss of appetite, loss of sleep, foul breath and distress after eating. The little help needed is furnished by Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One pill is a gentle laxative and two a mild cathartic. Once used, always in favour. If you are careless enough to let an unscrupulous druggist sell you something on which he makes more money, it is your own fault if you do not get well. Be sure and get Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets.

SPOT CASH—ONE PRICE—MONEY BACK IF YOU WANT IT.

The Controlling Passion

To-day more than ever before is to get hold of the $'s. The worshippers at the shrine of the "Almighty Dollar" are legion. Purchasers seem to-day to want to get $1.00 worth for 50c.

This is healthy, indicating economical tendencies, as well as a stimulus to mercantile acuteness. To be able to meet this popular demand wins many a pleasant "Thank you" and expressions of appreciation, on which one can build hopes of future harvest, from the present seed sowing.

We wish to put the strongest emphasis on the ECONOMICAL features of our NEW, ONE PRICE, SPOT CASH SYSTEM of doing business:—

No losses through Bad Debts.
No losses through Interest on Carrying Accounts.
No losses through Bookkeeper's Salary, Stationery, Books, Postage, etc.
No losses through not taking Cash Discounts when buying stock.

All these "loss" items saved our numerous customers through our ability to sell for less, by doing a cash busines. Fully 20 per cent. saved in every purchase.

SCALY SKIN HUMOR

Body, Head, and Arms Covered With Spots Like Drops Of Mortar.

Skin Came Off in Layers. Doctors Useless. Suffered for a Year Without Relief.

Almost Given Up Hope. Cured in 8 Weeks by CUTICURA. Skin Nice and Clear as a Baby's.

I was afflicted with an obstinate skin disease, called by some doctors Eczema and others Psoriasis. My body, head, and arms were covered with spots like drops of mortar, and which came off in layers of dry scales. I suffered for over a year without relief, and consulted several doctors but without aid, and I had almost given up hope, as my case was a bad one. I happened to see an advertisement about CUTICURA REMEDIES and got them, took them according to directions, and in eight weeks I was as well as ever. I consider myself cured, for my skin is as nice and clear as a baby's. I cannot express in words the thanks to you for what the CUTICURA REMEDIES have done for me.

GEO. REABURN, Hanover, Ontario, Can.

CUTICURA REMEDIES are beyond all doubt the greatest skin cures, blood purifiers, and humor remedies of modern times. They are no long-drawn-out cuticura-style-of-treatment. A warm bath with CUTICURA SOAP, a single application of CUTICURA (ointment), the great skin cure, and a full dose of CUTICURA RESOLVENT, greatest of blood purifiers and humor cures, will afford instant relief, permit rest and sleep, and point to a speedy, permanent, and economical cure of the most torturing, disfiguring, and humiliating of itching, burning, bleeding, scaly, pimply, and crusted skin and scalp humors with loss of hair, when all else fails.

Sold throughout the world. POTTER DRUG AND CHEM. CORP., Sole Props., Boston.

THE TALK OF A COUNTY.

IS THE REMARKABLE CURE OF MR. JOHN MAIERS, OF DELAWARE.

Crippled with Rheumatism and Had to be Wheeled About in a Chair—The Doctors Said He was Incurable. But He Found a Medicine that has Restored Him to Health.

From the Chatham, Ont., Banner.

A former member of the Evening Banner staff while enjoying his holidays in Middlesex county, spent some time in the picturesque village of Delaware, and found the residents disposed to discuss considerably the almost miraculous cure of Mr. John Maiers, who conducts a market garden about a mile north of the village. Knowing the old gentleman quite well, and knowing how he had suffered, the newspaper man wheeled up to his residence to make enquiries into the matter. He found that Mr. Maiers was visiting friends in Cleveland, but Mrs. Maiers was at home and cheerfully told the story of her husband's recovery. She said: "You know how Mr. Maiers used to suffer from rheumatism when you were here a few years ago. Well, he got worse and became so helpless that we had to feed him and wheel him around in an invalid's chair. He could not move his hands, and his cries at times were heart rending so excruciating were the pains he suffered. For three years he was in terrible agony, and often longed for death. The doctors declared that his case was incurable. Many so-called rheumatic remedies were tried, but they gave no relief. One day a neighbour recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but it was with reluctance that Mr. Maiers could be induced to try them. He had taken six boxes before he found any relief, but then it was noticeable that he no longer had any hesitation in continuing the use of the pills. From that out he steadily progressed towards recovery. The pains disappeared and the stiffness left his joints, and by the time he had used thirty boxes he was a cured man, and mind you the doctors said he could not be cured. The fact that he is now well is due to the wonderful curative properties of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and we both have reason to bless the day he began their use."

At a later date the writer saw Mr. Maiers, now strong and hearty, and he fully corroborated the statements made by his wife. The villagers who are acquainted with Mr. Maiers says his recovery is a little short of a miracle.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic medicine, enriching the blood and strengthening the nerves, thus reaching the root of disease and driving it from the system. They are beyond doubt the greatest medicine of the 19th century, and have cured in hundreds of cases after all other medicines had failed. The great popularity of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills has caused unscrupulous dealers to imitate them extensively, and intending buyers are urged to see that every box is enclosed in a wrapper bearing the full registered trade mark "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." Pills coloured pink, but sold in bulk by the dozen, hundred or ounce, or taken from glass jars, are fraudulent imitations and should always be refused no matter how plausible may be the story of the interested dealer offering them.

MRS. A. B. SAXTON, of Port Burwell, Ont., says; "I had been troubled with sick headache for years and two boxes of Miller's Compound Iron Pills cured me." Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

Throat Trouble Cured.

"I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for severe throat trouble," writes Mrs. Hopkins, of 254 Bathurst street, Toronto. "It proved most effective. I regard it as one of the best household remedies there is. It is easy and pleasant to take and drives out the cold with surprising celerity."

MR. BLAKE'S MOTION

Defeated in the British House of Commons.

MR. MORLEY SPOKE IN ITS FAVOR.

The First Lord of the Admiralty Contended That Taxation in Ireland Was No More Severe on the Poor Than Was the Case in England.

London, March 31.—The debate on the motion introduced in the House of Commons by Hon. Edward Blake, Nationalist, proposing a readjustment of the Irish tax rate, was continued in the House to-day. The motion was supported by Mr. Thomas Lough, Liberal, and opposed by H. O. Arnold Foster, Unionist.

Right Hon. John Morley, Chief Secretary for Ireland in the Rosebery Ministry, then took the floor and spoke in favor of the motion, saying in the course of his speech that besides suffering from fiscal oppression Ireland had also suffered from the oppression of the landlords, but the latter had been stopped by Mr. Gladstone.

Mr. Blake's motion was finally rejected by a vote of 317 to 157.

The motion introduced by Mr. Thos. F. Whittaker, Liberal member for the Spen Valley division of Yorkshire, that while the exchequers of Great Britain and Ireland remained consolidated all portions of the United Kingdom must be regarded as one country for fiscal purposes, was not voted upon, the House adjourning before a vote was taken.

Right Hon. George J. Goschen, First Lord of the Admiralty, contended that the rate of taxation in Ireland did not rest heavier upon the poor in that island than the English taxation did upon the poor of London or elsewhere. Nevertheless, he said, he could not accept Mr. Whittaker's motion, because a Government commission was already prepared to inquire into the question whether payments to Ireland for local purposes could be treated as offsetting the payments by Ireland to the Imperial treasury.

RELEASED FROM JAIL.

Major Sir John Willoughby and Other Raiders Liberated.

London, March 31.—Major Sir John Willoughby, who with Dr. L. S. Jameson, Major R. White, Col. H. F. White, Col. R. Gray and Captain Coventry, was convicted of participation in the Jameson raid into the Transvaal, was released from Holloway Jail this morning, his term of ten months' imprisonment having expired.

Dr. Jameson, the leader of the raid, who was sentenced to 15 months' imprisonment, was released on Dec. 2 on account of ill-health. Col. H. F. White and Col. R. Gray were liberated at the expiration of their five months' sentences on Dec. 26, and Major R. White was released on Feb. 27, his term of seven months' imprisonment having expired. Captain Coventry received a sentence of seven months' imprisonment, but was released in the latter part of August, 1896, the physicians of Holloway Jail certifying that further confinement would endanger his life, as he was suffering from the effects of a wound received in the fight between the raiders and the Boers at Krugersdorp in December, 1895.

Praetoria, March 31.—President Kruger's grandson, an officer of the Government at Krugersdorp, has been suspended from duty for having used language insulting to Queen Victoria, and an inquiry has been ordered in his case.

Mayflower's Log Not Yet Delivered.

London, March 31.—The log of the Mayflower and other records of the Pilgrim Fathers, the custody of which was a few days ago accorded to the United States Ambassador upon the petition of the President and citizens of the United States, have not yet been delivered, but J. C. Carter, United States Charge d'Affaires, will privately submit further formal evidence to the Chancellor of the Diocese of London to-day, after the presentation of which the delivery of the documents will doubtless be sanctioned. It is possible, however, that they will not be turned over until Ambassador Bayard returns from his trip to Italy about the middle of April.

Mr. Carter to-day had an interview with the Chancellor of the Diocese of London, in the course of which the terms for the transfer of the documents were arranged. The Mayflower log will, it is stated, probably be handed to Mr. Bayard in person.

THE DOMINION HOUSE

Three Public Bills Introduced in the Commons.

DEBATE ON THE ADDRESS RESUMED

Mr. McInerney Makes An Attack on Mr. Tarte — Mr. Maclean Talks on the School Question and the Constitution — Mr. Wallace Also Chimes In.

Ottawa, March. 31.—(Special.)—Three bills of a public character were introduced at the opening of the House this afternoon. They were Mr. Charlton's, to secure a better observance of the Lord's day, Mr. McLennan's to compel railway companies to sell second-class return fare tickets on the same basis as first-class and Mr. Wood's (Hamilton) respecting building societies and loan companies carrying on business in Ontario.

There was a great batch of questions on the order paper, but none of special interest.

Mr. McInerney resumed the debate on the address. He took up the question of the tariff and read the past declarations of Liberal members to show how in swallowing the proposed new tariff they were doing the jumping jim crow act. When the history of this tariff provision came to be read, it would be known as the Laurier-Mowat somersault act. [Conservative cheers.] He proceeded to refer to the school question, and pointed out that in the petition to Rome the Liberals, Senators and members, spoke for the Liberal party, that being expressly stated. Moreover, the petition stated that previous communications had gone to the Pope. He (Mr. McInerney) was anxious to know now what those communications were. He charged Mr. Tarte with having made the declaration that, unless justice was granted to the minority and the guarantees under the constitution secured for the French minority, they would annex themselves to the United States.

Mr. Tarte: "You are altogether wrong. I never made any such statement in the House, nor out of it."

Mr. McInerney said: "Just wait until I have finished. In the House on the 6th March, 1893, Mr. Tarte referred at some length to the position of Catholics, and wound up with this sentence: 'There is a large space where we could get protection, and where our rights would not be assailed.'" [Conservative cheers.]

Mr. Tarte: "Is that all?"

Mr. McInerney: "That is enough. It is nothing more or less than a threat that the hon. gentleman is prepared either to unite to the States or else rebel against the constitutional authority of this country." He claimed that the school settlement was not a settlement, because it had not been accepted by the Roman Catholic minority. The bishops had certainly the same right to express their views as had Anglican Synods or Methodist Conferences.

Mr. W. F. Maclean followed: I desire after the speeches to take up the attention of the House for but a very few minutes. I wish merely to say that I repudiate any responsibility for what might be construed as an attempt to introduce again a measure coercive of Manitoba on the school question. I desire to repudiate responsibility for any such action or desire on my own behalf as a Conservative coming from Ontario, and further to repudiate any connection with anything which might be construed to imply that the Ontario Conservatives are not in sympathy with the people of Quebec in any attempt they may make to protect their civil liberties. I have every sympathy with what has been said concerning the attempt now being made by the Liberal representatives of the Province of Quebec to vindicate their civil liberties. These people have not only my sympathy in that attempt, but in my newspaper I have backed them as well as I could. This school question, in my opinion, and I believe in the opinion of all Conservatives in the Province of Ontario, is a question that has been settled forever. While the minority of Manitoba had a grievance, and I believe the highest court of this country decided that they had, and while that grievance was sought to be remedied under the constitution, the question was still an open one, but now that that has been settled by constitutional means, we have not the right to bring it up again.

With us, different from what is the case under the constitution of the United States, our Government must assume the political responsibility of every act done by this House; that, for the administration of the constitution, no matter what the courts have decided, the Government, the dominant party, is responsible. The courts may have declared that the minority had rights which had been taken away, but the restoration of those rights was a matter of policy, a matter of responsibility, and that responsibility I am glad to know from the approval of the hon. gentlemen opposite they are prepared to assume. I am glad to see that even the Prime Minister accepts that responsibility of the settlement which has been made. The Liberals as a party accept the responsibility of the settlement, and, speaking of parliamentary responsibility, I come to another point.

After what was said on this point yesterday in this House by the Solicitor-General (Mr. Fitzpatrick), after what was said by the Minister of Public Works (Mr. Tarte), after treating of that celebrated document last night, I say that the Government and their party must take full responsibility for that mission to Rome. They cannot escape that responsibility. They have said that it is on behalf of their party that they went there, and, seeing that we are governed by the principle of Parliamentary responsibility, they must accept that responsibility before the people. They say that they went to Rome to vindicate the civil liberties of the people of Quebec. Mr. Speaker, while I sympathize with them in their efforts to conserve their political liberties, I do not agree with them in the authority to which they went to protect those liberties. It is not in St. Peter's, it is not in the Vatican, it is not in the Seven Hills of Rome that the political, the civil liberties of British citizens are conserved. If there is a temple sacred to British liberty, if there is a place where our rights are to be protected, that temple is within these walls of Parliament. The shrine of our liberties is on the floor of the House, and we, the members of the House, are the sacrimans of that temple; we are the priests, the ministers at this shrine; we, worthy or unworthy as we may be, are the men who must protect the civil liberties of the people.

What will happen to gentlemen on the other side of the House if it turns out that the ablegate now in this country does not come to their relief and does not pronounce in their favor and guarantee their civil liberties, which they now profess they seek to protect? They will have to come down here to defend and protect these liberties if they are assailed. If they do come to Parliament, I will aid and support them in doing what they should, now, here, and not outside, to protect the liberties, not only of the people of Quebec but of the people of Canada.

I must take objection to the statement of the Solicitor-General (Mr. Fitzpatrick) last night in the comparison he made between His Holiness and Her Gracious Majesty. We who are Canadians say that there is no one but Her Majesty to appeal to in the protection of the civil liberties of British subjects the world over. She is the guardian of our civil liberties, not His Holiness of Rome, and as a Conservative I hope to have the support of all the Conservative party in at least making the statement. And there were names mentioned in that statement in regard to civil liberty. I have the greatest respect for the present Pope of Rome. He is known to be a liberal man, but the Liberals must invoke some other name in regard to liberty than that of Pio Nono. When we read the history of the unification of Italy, when we recall the names of Garibaldi and Mazzini, and the other heroes of that struggle, he is not the man whose name should be quoted by the Liberal party in the vindication of the liberties of the people of this country. Now, Mr. Speaker, this is all I have to say on the school question, but I think it is very important, and I think I speak the views of the great bulk of the Conservatives of Ontario in regard to that question.

In conclusion, Mr. Speaker, I just wish to reiterate what I said before, namely, that we in Ontario consider the school question settled. We sympathize as far as we can with the people of Quebec in their efforts to maintain their civil rights, but if they wish to vindicate them we feel they ought to vindicate them in this chamber and not by a roundabout mission to Rome. [Applause.]

Mr. Macpherson, in a maiden speech, dealt with a number of topics referred to in the speech from the throne. He believed the Government would carefully work out the details of the tariff bill, and that it would be acceptable to the country. On the subject of prohibition, he expressed himself as entirely opposed to it, and hinted that a plebiscite would not show a majority in favor of prohibition. He believed in the view put forward by Lord Salisbury, who took the ground that tea dealers should pay their share of taxation, that in the same way liquor dealers should pay their fair share of taxation.

Clarke Wallace lost no time in tackling the school settlement, to several clauses of which, he said, he would have objected had it come up in Parliament, but he recognized the sovereignty of the Legislature of Manitoba in the matter. He protested against the appeal of the Canadian public men to Rome to settle this question. First Abbe Proulx, then Chevalier Drolet, then Mr. Charles Russell and lastly Mr. Fitzpatrick had gone to Rome to appeal to the Pope in a matter which should never be adjudicated upon but by a British subject.

Mr. Casey accused Mr. Wallace of having thrown off his mantle of independence and come out in his true Tory colors. He defended the appeal to Rome as being the only means of settling a difference between the clergy and laity of the Roman Catholic Church.

Then John Ross Robertson took up the parable and made the fur fly for a few minutes. He expressed the opinion that the school question was dead and buried. The sooner the Conservative party recognized this the better it would be for them. He extended his congratulations to Mr. Tarte for his frank and fearless utterances. With reference to the appeal to Rome, as long as Catholics settled their civil troubles in Parliament he did not care where they settled their spiritual difficulties. It was time the hell and damnation arguments on behalf of certain Conservatives in Quebec were stopped. If the Pope had been a party to the school settlement, he (Mr. Robertson) would have opposed it, but, on the other hand, this Parliament had no right to interfere with any member or with a member of the Government in his spiritual affairs. In his judgment the settlement went too far and gave the Roman Catholics too much. For instance, it was not right to exclude Protestant teachers from certain schools. Again, he thought it a mistake to provide for the teaching of any language other than English. The people of Quebec were deceived if they thought Conservatives of Ontario sympathized with the attempt to keep this question open. It is time, John Ross said, Conservatives dropped the minority of Manitoba out of their affections. Sympathy with minorities was a weakening disease. The skeletonized condition of the Conservative party showed this. The school question was now buried, and not buried on the instalment plan either. The Conservative party could not afford to be kept wandering about the graveyard any longer. [Cheers.]

Mr. Talbot devoted considerable time to the discussion of the attitude of the bishops. He said the only pledge he had given was to favor legislation on the lines of the judgment of the Privy Council.

Mr. Maxwell moved the adjournment of the debate. The House adjourned at 11.25 p.m.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Montreal Star says:—"A plebiscite vote is apt to be very like loading an old gun with gunpowder only. It may "kick" but it cannot possibly shoot anything. If the temperance people do not believe this, they might reckon up what they have gained by the provincial plebiscites they have already fought and won." The Star is hardly fair in putting the matter in this light. It fails to say that provincial plebiscites are merely sentimental and not available as the basis of prohibitory legislation, because provincial legislatures have no power to act in this direction. Would it not have been fairer for the Star to assume that a plebiscite passed under the auspices of a body having power to implement the expression of such a plebiscite is a far different affair from a provincial pronouncement?

THE amended Licenses Bill of Mr. Harcourt passed its second reading without a division, and though in its amended form it may fail to please extremists of either party, yet it secures the approval of prominent temperance advocates. Rev. Dr. Potts is one of the most eloquent and prominent divines of the Methodist Church and is known as a decided Conservative in politics, and if, in both capacities, he is satisfied with the bill in its revised form it should satisfy any who have any real interest in the promotion of temperance legislation, uninfluenced by considerations of making political or other capital. In an interview, Rev. Dr. Potts said to the Globe:—"Nothing short of absolute prohibition is entirely satisfactory, but the Harcourt Bill is satisfactory compared with what it was when introduced into the Legislature. * * * * "On the eve of a plebiscite, I would," said Dr. Potts. "prefer that Mr. Hardy should withdraw the bill entirely than pass in its original form. Moreover, I think he might reasonably refuse any legislation at this juncture, awaiting the result of the forthcoming plebiscite." If Mr. Hardy had adopted the course of refusing to legislate as Rev. Dr. Potts thinks he could reasonably have done, there would have been a terrible outcry from a certain section of temperance advocates. It makes all the difference in the world to the political wire-pullers as to the person proposing a certain course.

THE DINGLEY BILL.

Dimock & Co., leading brokers of Wall street, express the following interesting opinion of the Dingley tariff bill:—The Dingley bill for the destruction of commerce, and the payment of campaign debts will accomplish one good. It will bury the protection delusion, and probably the Republican party with it. Otherwise the bill hasn't a redeeming feature. Mr. Dingley in introducing his abomination to Congress, said, "no economic policy will prove a success unless it shall in some manner contribute to opening up employment to the masses of our people at good wages. When this shall be accomplished and thus the purchasing power of the masses restored, then will prices cease to feel the depressing affect of under consumption and the prosperity of our people rise." Why, the sole purpose of the Dingley infamy is to rob the masses of the people of half the wages they now get, and thus destroy their purchasing power to that extent, and Mr. Dingley knows it, if he knows anything. He couldn't have hung a Hobbenigh with that speech. The prices of our products, grain, cotton and most manufactures, are fixed by the world's demand in the world's markets. To some extent our tariff by preventing reciprocity lowers these prices, but its chief result, and only purpose, is to intercept the wages of the workmen on their return flow, and divert half of them to the protected vultures. Mr. Dingley will increase the misery of the classes, but not the revenues of the Government. It would be immoral to openly pay the Sugar Trust a bounty for the imposition of ad valorem duties, therefore Congress will juggle with words, and levy a specific duty on a polariscope scale, as suggested by the Sugar Trust, which knows how few politicians can distinguish a polariscope from a pollywog. The Dingley tax on wool will probably provide revenue for the Dingley mills, but not for Uncle Sam. The Dingley tax on intelligence may be levied by Congress without being oppressive to its members. The tariff on lumber will make permanent institutions of the floods which are to-day devasting the valley of the Mississippi. Mr. Dingley defends his tax on art upon the ground that it is better for the millionaire to pay taxes on his luxuries than for the burden to fall upon the average taxpayer. Then Mr. Dingley should abandon the rest of his bill, nearly every other section of which taxes citizens in proportion to their property, and never in proportion to their wealth. And for every dollar which the Dingley Bill takes from the poor man for the benefit of the Government, it taken ten dollars from him to bestow upon the protected millionaire. It is curious to think that in a few years or perhaps months, an awakened people will look back upon the fantastic protection delusion as a particularly hideous nightmare!

FORTY-FIVE PEOPLE KILLED.

The Texas Cyclone Caused Fearful Havoc—About Two Hundred Were Injured.

Guthrie, O. T., March 31.—A terrific cyclone struck the town of Chandler, 40 miles east of here, at 6 o'clock last evening, and the latest news is that 45 persons were killed and more than 200 injured, a dozen of them fatally.

A despatch received here at 2 a.m. reported the ruins on fire and many injured people burned to death. So far 24 dead bodies have been taken from the ruined buildings.

Chandler was a town of 1500 inhabitants and was almost completely devastated, only two buildings being left standing, the Grand Island Grocery and the Mitchell Hotel.

The known dead are: Mrs. Henry Mitchell, Mrs. Tom Smith, John Dawson, attorney; F. Demoff, Emma Dressinger, D. C. Johnson and wife, Mrs. Philip Johnson and child, Mrs. Dr. Lee, A. W. Keller and wife, unknown woman and babe, five unknown children, ex-Mayor A. McIlhenny and wife, George Pierson.

Among the fatally injured are: Arthur Jewett, Peggy Johnson, Mrs. Frank McCann, D. C. Gooding, Maggie Reaves, Andrew Asher and wife, Mrs. Cullom, Jennie Woodsworth, Alex Bishop, Arch Shepard, Mrs Frank McCall, Mrs. Emery Foster and baby, Nettie Ulan, Wilson King.

Others injured, so far as known, number 16.

The scenes were heartrending, people dying on all sides, with but one physician on the ground who was not hurt. Six persons in one building were pinned down and slowly roasted to death. Darkness came on soon after the cyclone struck and the work of rescue was carried on under the greatest difficulties. The telephone office was carried away, but at 10 o'clock a telephone was connected with the wire two miles away and a message sent here for assistance. A number of physicians and other citizens have left here for the scene with surgical instruments, drugs and other supplies.

A later message stated that a large number of people known to have been in business buildings are missing, and it is feared they are dead under the ruins. The exact state of affairs cannot be learned until daylight.

Chandler is the seat of the Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical College, which, it is reported, has been badly wrecked. Many people are reported injured in the [illegible] court house, and the disaster is believed to be much worse than at first thought. The injured will reach over 200, and there is no shelter and no adequate medical attendance, and it is feared many will die from exposure.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

A BIG DAY'S WORK

Accomplished by the Legislators at Toronto.

CLEARING OFF THE ORDER PAPER.

Bonus Question Again Debated—Special Legislation for Several Places—Departmental Stores Attacked—Shall They Be Regulated—Changes in Insurance Law.

Toronto, March 31.—The Ontario Legislature got through a considerable amount of work yesterday with but little oratorical display. The order paper was cleared of a number of motions for returns, etc., and many measures either pased the ordeal of a second reading or were thrown out. The principal discussion arose during the afternoon over the question of passing special measures permitting municipalities to bonus industries, contrary to the provisions of the general law. These bills, though strongly opposed, passed the second reading, and will almost to a certainty become law.

Mr. Middleton introduced a bill respecting departmental stores, which provides that the council of any city having 30,000 population or over may pass laws imposing a special tax upon stores carrying on more than three distinct kinds of business. The bylaw requires a two-thirds vote of the council, and the Act takes effect Jan. 1, 1898.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) introduced a bill to encourage the manufacture of steel and iron. It provides that where the payment of a bonus to a railway company is authorized there may be delivered to the company at the discretion of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council in lieu of the bonus either wholly or to the extent of 50 per cent. railway steel or iron of provincial manufacture.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) introduced a bill to further improve the mining laws.

THIRD READINGS.

The following bills were read a third time:

To regulate the immigration into Ontario of certain classes of children.

To incorporate the Mineral and Timber Electric Railway Co.

Respecting the Kingston, Smith's Falls & Ottawa Railway Co.

Respecting the Manitoulin & North Shore Railway Co.

In answer to Mr. Langford, the Attorney-General stated that a charge laid against the superintendent of Algonquin Park had been investigated and a report made, but no action had been taken upon it.

In reply to a question put by Mr. Whitney, the Attorney-General said that no appointment had ben made to the office of registrar for Ontario county, the Government not having made a selection among the applicants.

RETURNS MOVED FOR.

The following returns were ordered:

On motion of Mr. Willoughby—A detailed statement of the surplus existing when the Sandfield Macdonald Government went out of power; receipts and expenditures from 1867 to the last fiscal year; receipts from Crown lands, etc.

Mr. German—Total amount of money deposited in the High Court of Justice for Ontario with names of persons entitled to share in same.

Mr. Little—Expenditure on Colonization roads for last five years.

Dr. Ryerson—Correspondence respecting the conduct of Deputy Game Warden Smith.

Mr. Haggerty—Acreage of the farm proper at the Agricultural College, stock kept there last year and expense of maintenance, etc.

WANTED TO KNOW TOO MUCH.

Mr. Whitney moved for a return of the names of all aplicants for the Ontario county registrarship.

The Attorney-General stated that many of these aplications were to some extent confidential. No doubt the motion arose out of the charge brought by Mr. William Smith against Mr. Dryden, but he could assure Mr. Whitney that there was nothing in connection with any of these applications which would aid the cause of Mr. Smith.

Mr. Whitney hoped that the Attorney-General would waive technical objections and produce the information.

Dr. Willoughby thought the names of all applicants for office should be public.

The AttorneyGeneral said that as a lawsuit was pending he did not propose to make any admissions.

The motion was withdrawn.

GRATUITIES TO OFFICIALS.

Dr. Meacham moved for a return showing the amounts paid for gratuities since Jan. 1 1880, with the names, positions, number of years service and salary of recipients.

Hon. J. M. Gibson had no objection to the return being brought down. He might say that the question of gratuities to retiring civil servants had been under the consideration of the Government for some time, with a view to its being put upon a more satisfactory basis, and he hoped they would be able before long to present some system that would be satisfactory. The tendency of late had been to curtail the amounts paid very considerably. It was the intention of the Government to get down to a business basis in the matter.

Mr. Marter criticised the methods in vogue, which drew from the Attorney-General an explanation of how the system had originated and grown out of that in force at Ottawa at the time of Confederation.

The motion was adopted.

MUNICIPAL BONUSES.

When the bill respecting the Town of Thorald came up for a second reading Mr. Howland vigorously opposed it. He pointed out that, after bitter experience, the rule had been laid down that the granting of municipal bonuses was undesirable and should be discontinued. Conditions must be very exceptional to justify giving such powers it was entirely illegitimate to confer powers on a majority to compel a minority to engage in a speculative business, and it was entirely foreign to the purposes for which municipalities were constituted.

Mr. German pointed out that the bill was different from the old bonus law, as it provided that before any bonus would be granted a two-thirds majority of the ratepayers must be secured. The Town of Thorold had suffered seriously from the centralization of business in larger places and, while it had every facility for carrying out large manufacturing industries, it was necessary to give bonuses to secure them. Something was needed to keep our workingmen at home instead of having them leave the country.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) spoke against the principle of the bill.

Hon. J. M. Gibson admitted that bills of that nature were undesirable. The effort of the Private Bills committee had been to restrict such measures within certain lines, and to insist that in each instance a strong case must be made out. But it was difficult to draw the line. He would have been glad if in regard to some of these bonus bills a different course had been adopted.

Mr. Whitney said, amid cries of "No! No!" from the Government side, that the Act preventing municipalities from granting bonuses was passed in order to strike a blow at the N. P.

The Attorney-General recalled how manufacturers had been induced to leave the smaller for the larger municipalities owing to the offering of heavy bonuses. He hoped the whole question would not be re-opened and that these special cases would not be allowed to form a precedent.

Mr. Garrow thought municipalities should be allowed to do as they pleased. The town of Goderich, for instance, ought to be permitted to bonus a summer hotel

Mr. Pattullo was opposed to special legislation and favored a general law.

The bill received a second reading.

Mr. Moore moved the second reading of a bill to confirm bylaw No. 241 of the village of New Hamburg, which also authorizes the granting of a bonus. This was also keenly debated by Messrs. Howland, Garrow, Gibson (Huron), McLean and McDonald. The bill was read a second time.

Two other bills authorising the villages of Kemptville and Drayton to grant bonuses to industries were also read a second time, as were a number of other private bills.

Mr. McDonald moved the second reading of a bill respecting the attachment of money in the hands of the Crown, intended to enable creditors to garnishee the salaries of civil service employes.

Te Attorney-General moved the adjournment of the debate.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. Carnegie's bill to amend the Municipal Act by defining a deviation road on a boundary line was opposed by Mr. Stratton and Hon. J. M. Gibson, and, after some debate, was declared lost on division.

Mr. McLean moved the second reading of the bill to amend the law of landlord and tenant by exempting the goods of a tenant which were subject to chattel mortgage, from seizure.

Hon. J. M. Gibson thought the law should remain as at present.

Mr. Farwell supported the bill on the ground that a landlord should not have any preference over another creditor.

The bill was lost on division.

Mr. Auld's bill to amend the Act respecting companies for steam and heating got a second reading.

SECOND READINGS.

The following bills were read a second time: Mr. Kerns' bill to amend the Municipal Act by extending the time for County Councillors to make their declaration of office to 30 days. Mr. Matheson's bill to amend the Registry Act in reference to the registration of wills. Mr. Gibson's (Huron) bill to amend the Assessment Act. Hon. J. M. Gibson's bill to amend the Mechanics' and Wage-Earners' Lien Act.

INSURANCE LAW.

Hon. J. M. Gibson moved the second reading of his bill to consolidate and amend the Acts respecting Insurance, explaining in detail the changes effected. The benefits of life insurance were extended to grandchildren and the phrase "legal heirs" was more clearly defined. Burglary and bicycle insurance were dealt with. An important provision was one respecting policies in American companies, which make all contracts subject to the law of Canada, as regards the money in which they were to be paid no matter what changes might be made in the American currency system. Additional provision had been made to facilitate the winding up of benefit societies with the object of safeguarding the interests of the members. The expenses in connection with these proceedings had been greatly reduced. The bill received a second reading.

VITAL STATISTICS.

Hon. Mr. Davis, in moving the second reading of his bill to amend the law respecting the registration of vital statistics, explained that the changes made in the law were slight and comparatively unimportant. An amendment which would be found of much convenience was one enabling deaths to be registered with the nearest registrar, whether in the same municipality or not. Coroneds were also empowered to issue burial certificates. The bill was read a second time.

Hon. J. M. Gibson's bill respecting land surveyors, and Hon. Mr. Davis' bill to amend the General Road Companies Act were read a second time.

The Attorney-General's bills respecting a short form of municipal bylaws and respecting the Court of Appeal were adopted in committee.

When Mr. Ross' bill respecting technical schools, which authorised High School Boards to arrange for a course of subjects taught in technical schools, came up for second reading Mr. Matheson objected that such a change would deprive many of a High school education. It ought, in all cases, to have the sanction of the ratepayers. It was sent to the committee.

THE WILLS ACT.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Wills Act of Ontario, explaining that it modified considerably the existing law, by which the subsequent marriage of the testator made a will invalid, a principle which will henceforth only apply in certain cases.

Dr. Baxter drew attention to the undue expense of settling estates, and his remarks were seconded by Mr. McLean, who said that the cost had considerably increased of late years.

Mr. Whitney said the fees were well defined and there was a remedy against overcharged.

The Attorney-General suggested that possibly the overcharges complained of were for advertising or some other service in connection with the case.

The bill was read a second time.

THE OLD MADE YOUNG.

HEALTH AND HAPPINESS MAY STILL BE THE PORTION OF SUFFERERS ADVANCED IN YEARS. THE NEW INGREDIENT IS WORKING WONDERS.

People who get past middle life are apt to think that their days of usefulness are almost gone when they are seized with Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, Sciatica or some other dread disease, they consider their days are numbered and pain and suffering will be their lot for the few remaining years of their sojourn on earth.

With the advent of Ryckman's Kootenay Cure, which contains the new Ingredient, a new hope has been opened up for aged sufferers Its action in driving away the aches and pains which Rheumatism and Sciatica, two of the commonest diseases to which the old are subject, has made many an aged one rejoice.

As an example of what great things Kootenay is doing for old people we might mention the case of Mrs. Catherine Burgess, 165 Jackson St. E., Hamilton, who states under oath that she is seventy-three years of age, that for two years she was afflicted with Rheumatism and Sciatica, had severe pains in her back and kidneys and broke out with Erysipelas. Since taking "Kootenay" she has been free from pain, has no eruption, a splendid appetite, sleeps well and is a hearty woman in every respect.

Then we might mention the cases of Mr. Patrick Ryder, a retired farmer, 69 years of age, living at 940 Lorne Ave., London, Ont., who swears that he suffered 36 years from Rheumatism, tried hundreds of local applications, but got no relief till he took Ryckman's Kootenay Cure which banished his rheumatism and restored his health.

Mr. John Hyde, of 141½ McNab St., Hamilton, Ont., under oath testifies that he is 72 years of age, suffered from Dyspepsia and Constipation for 35 years and was cured by Kootenay Cure.

No need to multiply instances of how this wonderful remedy has befriended the aged and given them a new lease of life If you are anxious to know more of this marvellous Kootenay Cure, address the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont, and full information will be sent you free.

DROPPED DEAD!

Suddenly Stricken Down by Heart Disease.

"A sad and sudden death occurred to a well-known citizen on one of the leading streets this morning."

Nearly every large city paper contains daily some such heading. The number of deaths from heart failure is very large, but it is only when they occur in some public and sensational manner that general attention is drawn to them.

Palpitation and fluttering of the heart are common complaints. With the heart itself there is nothing radically wrong. But the system is disorganised, the kidneys and liver are out of order, and the stomach is not in condition to do its work perperly. Between them all, they throw too much responsibility on the heart, and the latter is unable to stand the strain.

A box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills at a cost of 25 cents will regulate the system, purify the blood and make a new person of every sickly man, woman or child.

Dr. Chase's Liver-Kidney Pills may be had from any dealer or from the manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto. One pill a dose, one cent a dose.

Dr. Chase's Linseed and Turpentine is good colds. Largest bottle on the market; only 25 cents.

OBITUARY.

The Late Mrs. R. W. Shaw of Port Hope.

The many friends of Mrs. R. W. Shaw, of Port Hope, will regret to learn of her death which occurred yesterday afternoon. Susan Charlotte Fortune was one of the old residents of Peterborough. She was married to the late Robert William Shaw in 1856, and lived for a number of years on what is still called "Shaw's Hill" in Ashburnham. They afterwards removed to the west end of Peterborough and occupied Erin Cottage until Mr. Shaw's death in 1873. Mrs. Shaw then removed to Port Hope, where she has resided ever since, though her warm affections for Peterborough never abated. For the past two years she has been in uncertain health, and passed away very quietly yesterday at the age of 76 years. The funeral will take place from the Grand Trunk station on Saturday afternoon on the arrival of the 5.12 train from Port Hope.

IN NEW PREMISES.

Messrs. Foot & McWhinnie's Fine New Establishment.

That old and well established firm, Messrs. Foot & McWhinnie, dealers in boots and shoes, have been compelled through the increase in business to move into new and larger premises and have secured the store recently vacated by Mr. John McKee, Druggist, No. 384 George street.

The new store enables the firm to carry a large and finely assorted stock of boots and shoes and gives them increased facilities for handling the custom, which their unfailing courtesy and sterling integrity has built up. The premises are well lighted by the magnificent plate glass front and also the windows in the rear. The shelving is new and extends from the floor to the ceiling, the top shelves being reached by moving ladders, which are easily shifted on rails provided for the purpose. Altogether the new store is one of the most prepossessing in town, and doubtless the firm will reap the reward of their venture in a greatly increased patronage.

Of Interest to Anglers.

How high, how far can a fish jump? has long been a debatable question among anglers and noted fishermen have written to Forest and Stream and other sporting authorities warmly combatting the evidence advanced in proof a big muskinonge, ouananiche, or other gamey fish having leaped over a cance or a huge rock in some rapid stream. In connection with the above we take the liberty of referring the following to the attention of W. A. Sanderson, Harry Winch and other well-known local anglers, as its truth is vouched for by the Toronto Telegram:—During the high water and freshet last Friday in Hallwell's fish pond, Highland Creek, a large sturgeon, six feet in length, and weighing 100 lbs., leaped eleven feet in an attempt to jump over the dam, but stranded, and it took two men to put the fish back into the pond.

SAD NEWS OF LIEUT.-GOVERNOR KIRKPATRICK.

His Condition Hopeless—His Life Cannot Long be Spared—The Prognosis of the Famous Surgeon Mr. Herbert Allingham.

Ottawa, March 31.—(Special.)—The Citizen this morning publishes the following: "A private letter to a professional friend on this side from Mr. Herbert Allingham, the famous London surgeon who operated upon his Honour, Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick, contains a very grave prognosis regarding his distinguished patient's case. In fact Mr. Allingham believes that, in spite of the relief afforded by the operative measures, Mr. Kirkpatrick's life cannot long be spared. This will be sad news for a public to which the Governor has endeared himself by many genial graces and solid virtues."

[The news received respecting the serious condition of Lieutenant Governor Kirkpatrick, will be received with great regret throughout the Province, where he is held in the highest esteem, not only in his official capacity but also for his personal qualities of character. It is to be feared that the reports of his dangerous condition are only too true. Private advices received recently by relatives in town tend to indicate the probability of a most lamentable issue to his illness.

CHURCH UNITY.

To the Rev. Wm. Bennett,—

MY DEAR SIR,—The open letter which you have done me the honour of addressing through the columns of the EXAMINER, and which I gratefully acknowledge as an additional token of the interest excited in the subject of unity, has received my best consideration, and I hereby beg to make the following reply to such points in it as seem to call for attention.

In the first place I must confess to a feeling of mystification as to why you should find it necessary to inform me at the close of your letter that the Baptists are a numerous and potential people. I have said nothing about the Baptists, either good or bad. I do not doubt that they are just as much attached to their distinctive tenets as I am to mine. Indeed I think many of them would excel me in that respect, for I am a humble follower of Dean Stanley in preferring points of agreement to points of difference. I must very frankly deny that I should, whether properly or improperly, say that the Baptists were guilty of presumption in laying down as a sine qua non of union the adoption of the "Historic Baptism." As I understand it, this is already a sine qua non of union with that body, in whose eyes I suppose both you and I are unbaptised persons.

It appears to me, sir, that you have entirely misunderstood the object of my reference to the Lambeth Articles, as well as that of the articles themselves. My object, which was, I think, clearly set forth in the EXAMINER'S report, was not to defend the Historic Episcopate, or in any other way whatsoever to steal a march upon my predecessors in this course of lectures, but simply to point out that the Anglican church in the Lambeth articles made real concessions in those terms upon the basis of which she declared herself prepared to enter into communion with other reformed churches. That was why I pointed out (and I did so quite as much for the benefit of my own congregation as for any others) that the Lambeth articles did not as conditions of unity demand the surrender of the "Confession of faith" or their forms of service, or, on the other hand, the adoption of the 39 articles or the prayer book. I did not exhort the Presbyterians to accept these terms. I only, in order to show clearly their implication, made the supposition that they accepted them and then proceeded to describe what would follow.

I am not now greatly concerned to prove the "Historic Episcopate" otherwise I might demur to the statement that to establish it, it would be necessary to prove every link in the chain of succession from the time of the Apostles. Nor do I find it necessary to controvert your position that in the New Testament bishop and elder are interchangeable terms. It has nothing whatever to do with the argument of my lecture. Neither has the question of the existence of the Diocesan Bishop in the New Testament. That the question of the Episcopate is hotly debated amongst Anglicans, I very distinctly asserted in my lecture, and I added that I did not think it probable that this fourth term of unity would be accepted. Let me repeat my sole object in this part of the lecture was to show that the Lambeth articles contained real concessions, and were made in good faith. That eminent Methodist preacher, Rev. Hugh Price Hughes, said at one of the Grindelwald Conferences:

"Our leaders have never realized what vast and unprecedented concessions the Lambeth manifesto of the Anglican bishops expresses or wishes."

In my opinion, neither have we Anglicans ourselves, and therefore I dwelt upon that point.

There are, sir, at least some distinguished men of various communions who believe that the Lambeth Articles offered a basis upon which, "as articles of agreement, the unification of the Christian denominations of this country (United States) may proceed, cautiously and steadily." These words are from the Preamble to the Constitution of the League of Catholic Unity, which was drawn up by four Presbyterians, four Congregationalists and four Episcopalians. Concerning the Historic Episcopate, which they do not appear to regard as a delusion, they say:

"The Historic Episcopate in various forms already prevails extensively throughout the Christian world; and . . . it might become a bond of organic unity among the Christian denominations by completing their Congregational, Presbyterial or Episcopal systems, and at length re-combining them normally in one Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church."

Princeton University is the head centre of American Presbyterianism, yet the name of Prof. Shields, of that University, is subscribed to this statement.

Had I controversial inclinations, the paragraph in your letter regarding the supposed necessity of adopting the headship of the Queen in matters spiritual, and the methods of Episcopal appointment in England, would afford me ample scope for their indulgence. But as you, sir, remark I am deeply interested in unity, and not in controversy in which I have little faith, which seldom makes for peace or even truth. And, therefore, in conclusion let me say two things. First, if you have not already read it, may I commend to your notice a very beautiful book by a great Presbyterian divine, the late Professor Milligan, of Aberdeen, entitled "The Resurrection of Our Lord." In the last three chapters is to be found an extremely able and devout exposition of the grounds upon which Christian unity is to be promoted. I shall esteem it a happiness to lend you my copy if the book has not yet found a place in your library. Secondly, I cannot look upon Christian unity as a matter of individual predilection, or opinion. Still less upon its accomplishment as a matter of victory or triumph for any one denomination. To me, it is a question of the will of Christ, our common Master, who taught the Fatherhood of God, and therewith of necessity the brotherhood of man; who gave as his own special commandment the injunction to love one another; whose preaching was continually of a Kingdom,—the Kingdom of Heaven, the universal society wherein that brotherhood was to be realised; who gave to that Society the beautiful initiatory rite of baptism, and the still more suggestive symbol of unity, the common meal, the Communion of His Body and Blood; and whose last prayer with the little band who formed the nucleus of that Society was not only for them but for those also "which shall believe on me through their word; that they all may be one; as Thou, Father, art in Me, and I in Thee, that they also may be one in us; that the world may believe that Thou has sent Me." As Dr. Torrance aptly pointed out in his lecture, a unity that the world may see is of necessity some kind of visible unity, and it is not for me to ask whether human nature is too good or too bad for such a unity, it is not for me to doubt the power of the Holy Spirit to so transform our human nature, that we may live together in godly union and concord; but it is for me and for every other minister, when he has a strong conviction concerning this or that aspect of the Gospel, to preach it at all hazards.

I am, my dear sir,

Yours fraternally,
HERBERT SYMONDS.

A RETURN TO PAGANISM AND THE DARK AGES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—During the 14th century Germany was celebrated for its carnival plays, in which religious subjects were treated with unbounded license. In France the same thing was carried on in the name of religion. The persons of the Father, Son and Holy Ghost, angels and apostles, were dramatized. In 1547 these plays or entertainments were suppressed in France. In England in the same century the friars encouraged this semi-sacred opera dramatising the fall of Lucifer, the Bible story of Abraham, Melchizedek, Lot, etc., as a means of stigmatising the labours of Wycliffe, branding the Bible as false, using it as a common play book, and anathematising spiritual enquiry as heresy. At some of these plays Satan was caricatured and his Satanic Majesty belaboured.

This year of our Lord, 1897, witnesses a rapid return to the dark ages. In our good town of Peterborough an advertisement reads as follows: "Thursday, April 1st, at 8 p.m., the Devil to burn, ANALYZED, DISSECTED AND DESTROYED! An effigy of his Satanic Majesty will be placed in a coffin, the funeral procession will leave the barracks at 7.30 p. m., and march up Aylmer to McDonel streets, down George street to the barracks, where the Arch Fiend will be tried, found guilty and annihilated." Surely this is a return to paganism! On April 8th a semi-serious-opera is to be played at the same place of worship! when the Marriage Supper of the Lamb is to be dramatized into a theatrical play, exhibited in sixteen acts. "This is taken from the 14th chapter of St. Luke's gospel, and will be a very attractive service. Those who take part will be dressed in special costume." I quote above from their own advertisement. On April 6th there is advertised to be held in one of our city churches a very beautiful and attractive cantata (or more properly speaking a musical drama or opera), at which the whole book of Ruth is to be represented on the stage. Ruth, Boas, Naomi and Orpha, all being personated. Tickets 25 cents.

If some societies are bound on turning their churches and and places of worship into play houses, in the name of all that is sacred and holy, for the sake of our holy Christianity let them keep their hands off the sacred oracles of God. If they will have their sensational plays, their humourous and dramatic entertainments, their jolly jokes, their theatrical performances, etc., "in order to raise money and entertain and keep the dear young people from losing their religion," let them take their plays and productions from other writings than those of holy men of old who wrote as they were moved and inspired by the Holy Ghost. On the fly leaf of all our Bibles we read that the Scriptures were "appointed to be read in churches," not to be presented to the people in the shape of dramatic performances at so many cents a ticket.

I hesitate not to brand this whole business as a sacrilege of the first degree, and I am persuaded I am voicing the sentiments of a large percentage of the right thinking people of this community.

In conclusion I would say there is a pressing necessity that all who believe this to be wrong to cry it down. "Judgment should begin at the house of God." "Begin at My sanctuary" is God's order.

Yours, etc.,
JOHN CARLISLE.

THE TAILORS' STATEMENT.

The EXAMINER has been requested by Tailors' Union, No. 47, to print the following:

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—There appeared in last evening's EXAMINER an article purporting to be a statement of our grievances with Messrs. Hall, Gilchrist & Co., and an "explanation" of the same, said to have been given to a reporter by a member of the firm. While the union has no personal antagonism towards the members of the firm we take occasion to say that the alleged explanation is neither a fair, nor yet a correct statement of the causes of the difficulty.

1. It is stated that "a slight change was made at the first of the year, but no protest was made by the employees until the new store was entered." The facts are that there has been trouble over this matter for as much as a year, two committees having waited on the firm in regard to the matter, and their representations were successful in inducing them to continue the employment of a machinist. But as to any change being made at the first of the year, we have to say that no such thing was done so far as the union was aware, and the men were therefore not in a position to make any protest. At the Christmas holidays the machinist took the usual vacation and was told that she would be sent for when they wanted her. Week after week passed away, and yet she was not sent for, nor were she or the tailors told that it was not intended that she was to come back until now when the busy season has set in. Now she and the tailors are told that the latter will have to do their own machining, which means a loss to them of fifty cents a coat. It will therefore be seen how disingenuous is the statement that we "made no protest." How could we when we knew nothing of the alleged charges?

2. The firm also states that "large Toronto firms do not furnish machinists and other local firms have also dispensed with them." This is another unfair and incorrect statement, and we are forced to the conclusion that the firm has been misinformed as to the facts and that they have acted from an altogether mistaken understanding of the position of affairs. The truth is that all union shops in Peterborough employ machinists. As to Toronto, an enquiry will satisfy the firm, and all disinterested citizens that the conditions in Toronto are altogether different from those prevailing in Peterborough. In Toronto the men are paid about fifty per cent higher prices than we and this difference is based upon the fact that in Toronto the men are required to do their work by hand or hire any machining that may have to be done. They are therefore paid for the extra work which we have not had to do, and it is only fair that it should be so. But to ask us to take the smaller amount and do the same work as the Toronto men is altogether unreasonable, and should not be asked by a firm of the standing and reputation of Hall, Gilchrist & Co.

The public will from the above statement understand more thoroughly our position in the matter, and will be able to appreciate the unfairness of the demand which has been made upon us.

Signed on behalf the journeymen.

BICYCLES ON THE SIDEWALK

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—As the question of allowing bicycles on the sidewalks is now being agitated, will you kindly allow me a portion of your space in which to state what I consider to be a fair solution of the question?

It is obvious that during the muddy seasons a large and constantly increasing number of citizens would be benefitted by being allowed to use their bicycles on the walks. These citizens are certainly entitled to such privilege as can be granted without encroaching upon the rights of other citizens. As the bicycle requires no more room on the walk than a pedestrian (provided the rider has learned to ride) and as the wheel cannot possibly injure the walk, it will doubtless be conceded by all that the only objection to allowing the bicycles on the walks is the liability of injury to pedestrians due to possible collisions. I believe that if the following rules were adopted and rigidly enforced, there would be no more danger to pedestrians consequent upon allowing bicycles upon the walks, than exist at the present time incident to the crossing of sidewalks by bicycles and ordinary road vehicles.

1st. The speed of the bicycle, when on a sidewalk, at no time to exceed that of eight miles per hour: at a distance of fifty feet from every pedestrian, or other rider, and at fifty feet from every street crossing the speed of the bicycle to be reduced to that of a man walking at moderate rate.

Every person who has learned to ride a bicycle knows that the above rule is practicable and that if it is conformed to no harm other than soiling clothing would result even from a collision—whether with a child or an aged person. But, at the rate of speed specified, a collision is not at all likely to occur, and should anything unexpected happen a rider has perfect control of his wheel and can dismount and bring his wheel to a full stop inside of two feet.

2nd. Pedestrians and riders, when alone, invariably to keep to the right side of the walk unless there is some special reason for taking the other side.

This would allow free passage for riders at all times, and when this rule was once learned by the public no uncertainty would arise when meeting a bicycle as to which way to turn. This uncertainty and indecision is probably the cause of more collisions with bicycles than all other causes combined.

3rd. Persons meeting, whether riders or pedestrians, always keep to the right, and when one overtakes another going in the same direction to town, to turn out to the left.

This throws the responsibility for turning out upon the one who faces the other party, and therefore has the advantage. The pedestrian is always safe when on right of walk.

4th. Each rider to procure a license from a properly appointed town official before being allowed to ride on any walk, such license to be granted on payment of a fee, and only after such officer is satisfied by examination that applicant has learned to ride sufficiently well to properly carry out the above rules; and that he can correctly estimate the distance of fifty feet, and with sufficient accuracy estimate the different rates of speed specified.

5th. A penalty (say of $5) to be inflicted for every case of riding on walk without a license—the rider's wheel to be held until the fine is paid.

6th. No riding to be allowed on walks on certain parts of the busier streets.

It is clear to the writer that with the above or equivalent rules in force, no danger would ensue other than that which now exists due to the recklessness of lawless youths who persist on "scorching" on all streets of the town. Is it right to deprive law respecting citizens of certain privileges because of evils apt to result from the recklessness of a few careless youths? Would it not be more just to punish each offender when he commits an offence?

It is to be carefully noted that, with the above rules in force, any serious injury to a person resulting from collision with a bicycle would be prima facie evidence that the rider was moving at a much greater speed than the law allowed. Witnesses would not be necessary to establish this fact. One or two cases of severe punishment which should always be commensurate with the damage done, would greatly reduce the likelihood of such accidents recurring.

Yours truly,
BICYCLE RIDER.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY QUESTION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—I would suggest that if the Rector of Ashburnham is so desirous of having a free library as a Jubilee memorial, why not ask the council of the village in which he resides to make grant for that purpose, as they have done nothing as yet towards celebrating the day. We in Peterborough feel that we are now over burdened with taxes for educational purposes, sewerage, street improvements, etc., and that they are likely to be increased in the future.

LENTEN SERVICES.

Last Evening in St. John's and St. Luke's Churches.

The Wednesday evening Lenten services in St. John's church last evening were conducted by Rev. W. L. Armitage, the sermon being delivered by Rev. H. Symonds, of St. Luke's church, Ashburnham.

Mr. Symonds spoke on the "Kingdom of Heaven," taking his text from St. Mark, 1st chap., 14-15 verses:

Now after that John was put into prison, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the Gospel of the kingdom of God.

And saying, the time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand; repent ye, and and believe the Gospel.

In Rev. Mr. Symonds' absence the services in St. Luke's were taken by Rev. E. V. Stevenson, of St. John's, who spoke from the text, "Render unto God therefore the things which are God's," Matthew, xxii chap., 21st verse

When the appetite fails there is no use in trying to tempt the palate with delicate food. No matter how good and well-cooked and "appetizing" the food may be, it cannot give any nourishment unless the stomach is able to digest it. Nature indicates the state of the constitution by the loss of appetite. This is an unfailing indicator. It shows that something is fundamentally wrong with the nutritive functions.

The only true natural relief must be as searching and fundamental as the trouble it aims to overcome. It is the thorough deep-searching character of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which causes the marvelous efficacy in all bilious and digestive difficulties. It creates that healthful vitality of the entire digestive and nutritive organism which produces both the natural desire for food and the organic capacity to assimilate and transform it into nourishing, revivifying blood and healthy tissue. It gives appetite, digestion and sound sleep, and builds up solid muscular strength and vital nerve-energy.

H. H. Thompson, Esq., of P. O. Box 4, Kipple, Blair Co., Penn'a, writes: "I had been troubled with extreme vomiting in summer season, always after eating; had to be very careful at times to get anything to stay on my stomach at all; had been taking other medicines, but without effect. I heard a friend speak of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and thought I would give it a trial. I used about five bottles of it and think it is the only medicine that did me any good, as I have a splendid appetite now, and am not using any medicine at all and don't think I need any more."

A man who is suffering from the evil effects of constipation doesn't feel like work, and can't even enjoy his leisure hours. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are a sure, swift, safe, and permanent cure for constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. Dishonest druggists try to get you to take a substitute for the sake of the added profit.

GONE TO THE DOGS.

Rollo Simpson Became a High Roller and Went Away With Cantlie & Co's. Money.

Montreal, March 30.—(Special.)—The worst has now to be told, for the whole city knows, after weeks of anxious waiting in business circles, that Mr. Rollo Simpson, confidential man for the woolen firm of James A. Cantlie & Co., of this city, is a defaulter to the very large sum of $70,000. Not long since Mr. Simpson, who had been drinking heavily and living a pretty fast life generally, left the city, yet his friends attributed his departure to the effects of a recent spree, and not dreaming that there was anything wrong with his accounts, they looked for his immediate return, and little more was thought of the matter, outside the members of the victimized firm in question. Days wore on and Simpson, having been located with a relative in Elmira, N.Y., and it becoming evident that he did not intend to return, suspicions were aroused and an expert accountant set to work. Mr. Cantlie was amazed to find that the man in whom he had placed such implicit confidence for a quarter of a century or more had been robbing him to an alarming extent, although Simpson had authority to draw $3500 a year.

At first the defalcation was placed at $40,000, or thereabouts, but to-day a member of the firm, while discussing the sad end to what at one time appeared to be a most promising business career, said that the shortage would reach about $70,000 and extended over a good number of years. He said they had kept the matter quiet as long as possible, but from the fact that Simpson's downfall was public property, it could be kept hidden no longer. Of course the firm, of which Mr. James A. Cantlie is the head, can stand the loss, yet they cannot get over the ingratitude of the man and the shock which attended the discovery of their trusted employe's crime.

The Ottawa Government having decided to give $300,000 to aid the rebuilding of the Victoria Bridge, and the Quebec Government $150,000, one of the company's engineers has left for England in connection with the work, and it is said that the enterprise will be started the first of May.

THE PAPAL ABLEGATE

Arrived in Montreal and Proceeded to Quebec.

HIS PLANS NOT FULLY MATURED.

Statement From Rome That the Vatican is Not Pleased With the Settlement, but the Pope Awaits the Result of the Ablegate's Mission Before Resorting to Extreme Measures.

Montreal, March 30.—Mgr. Mery Del Val arrived here this morning, and while waiting for the departure of the Quebec train the ablegate, who has the appearance both in dress and speech of an Anglican rector, talked to The World regarding his mission to Canada.

"I did," he said, "express regret that the matter had been so hastily put through the Manitoba Legislature, for how could I express pleasure? However," he added, "I presume all acts are subject to amendment, and also that no one party, or no one man, has the monopoly of justice and good will."

He was considerably amused at the report of Mgr. Begin being disciplined by the Pope, and added that the Archbishop of Quebec had not reached Rome when he left, and what they had not met subsequently.

"Are your immediate plans yet matured?"

"No, not yet. I may tell you, however, that my mission is one of peace. I will first go to Quebec and pay my respects to the Cardinal, and then I will return to Montreal. I will take a general view of the situation and will probably go to Ottawa and Winnipeg, where I will meet, no doubt, a great many people, both lay and clerical."

"How long will you be in Canada?"

"I cannot say at present, but you can contradict the report that I had been appointed to represent the Holy Father on the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee. There is certainly no foundation for such a story, and as a matter of fact I do not think anyone has yet been appointed."

At the Ancient Capital.

Quebec, March 30.—The arrival of Monsignor Mery Del Val from New York brought an immense crowd to the C.P.R. station this afternoon. The train pulled in at 2.20 p.m. Monsignor Marois, who acts as administrator in the absence of Archbishop Begin, who is now in Europe, ascended Mr. Shaughnessy's private car, accompanied by Monsignor Langevin and several prelates of the Bishop's palace.

Having curtseyed after the manners of Roman etiquette, Mgr. Marois escorted His Excellency to Cardinal Taschereau's state carriage. The suite was provided with carriages and the procession started up Palace Hill to the Basilica, where a solemn thanksgiving service was celebrated. The ceremony ended with the "Te Deum." The chancel of the Basilica was filled with priests and curates from far and near.

ARCHBISHOP BEGIN AT ROME.

The Pope Will Hear From His Delegate Before Taking Extreme Measures.

Rome, March 30.—After the audience which Archbishop Begin of Quebec had with the Pope yesterday he was interviewed and said: "I came to Rome in order to see the Pope on several religious questions in Quebec in view of the precarious health of Cardinal Taschereau, and the Manitoba question, upon which the Canadian bishops are a unit, and are not satisfied with the Laurier-Greenway compromise, which they consider an illusory settlement."

Partly from Archbishop Begin and partly from Vatican sources the reporter learned that the Pope, before intervening with extreme measures, desires through Monsignor Del Val, the papal delegate to Canada, to obtain such improvement of the Laurier-Greenway compromise as will satisfy the Manitoba Catholics. For the rest, having regard for the difficulty which arose in the United States in an analogous situation with Archbishop Ireland, the Holy See will openly uphold the system of denominational schools in Manitoba if the Laurier-Greenway compromise is not sufficiently amended.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a few days.

PROROGATION AT WINNIPEG.

The School Bill Amendments Become Law —Free Education for All Classes— Premier Greenway's Health.

Winnipeg, March 30.—(Special.)—The Manitoba Legislature prorogued this afternoon, Governor Patterson giving his assent to numerous bills, among them that containing amendments to the School Act, in accordance with the Laurier-Greenway settlement. In his speech assenting to this, Governor Patterson said: "The amendments to the Public Schools Act, embodying the settlement arrived at between the Dominion and my advisers, adopted during the session, will, I am convinced, put at rest a prolonged and vexing controversy. It now remains for the law as amended to be so administered that the advantages of the Provincial education system may be freely enjoyed by all classes of the community. I feel assured that this will be done and that the most complete harmony will be re-established between all sections of our population."

Premier Greenway, who is in poor health, has been advised by his physicians not to proceed East at once, but to rest in quiet a month or so. Consequently, he has gone to his country home at Crystal City, and will not go to Ottawa until May, when he will be accompanied by Mr. McMillan, Provincial Treasurer.

MRS. CARY'S WASH.

Upon the roof on summer nights,
Above the hazy city lights,
We sit, sweet Dora Dale and I,
Beneath the cool and friendly sky.

And we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas.
And we dream that we are sailing till we almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

Love makes the roof so dear to me
That all the charms of wood and sea
No longer in my heart can stir,
If having them I must leave her.

So we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas;
And we dream that we are sailing till almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

The neighbor gossip on the roof,
Just from the rest we sit aloof,
And plan how some day, happily,
Our roof shall lie beside the sea.

And we listen to the flapping of Mrs. Cary's wash,
Like the shaking of white sails on summer seas:
And we dream that we are sailing till we almost hear the swash
Of the water, as the lines swing in the breeze.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

LIFE SAVED
by the Persistent Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"I was troubled for years with a sore on my knee, which several physicians, who treated me, called a cancer, assuring me that nothing could be done to save my life. As a last resort, I was induced to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and, after taking a number of bottles, the sore began to disappear and my general health improve. I persisted in this treatment, until the sore was entirely healed. Since then, I use Ayer's Sarsaparilla occasionally as a tonic and blood-purifier, and, indeed, it seems as though I could not keep house without it."—Mrs. S. A. Fields, Bloomfield, Ia.

CAIRO'S GAY SEASON.

STYLES SEEN AT TEA ON BOARD A DAHABEAH.

Spring Hats Were Much in Evidence—The Dresses of the Race Course—Dainty Toilets of French Fashion Worn by Fortune's Daughters.

(Special Correspondence.)

Cairo, Egypt, (Special.)—Cairo was never gayer than it is this winter. It has been fuller, but that doesn't count. A good many tourists have been kept away because they wished to take Turkey and Egypt in one trip, and Constantinople has failed somehow since last summer's massacres to impress them as wholesome. And then, too the cholera scare, quickly as it blew over, made timid folks wonder if Cairo itself was good campings. But the people who are not here are mostly the ones who expect to see the east but once in a lifetime and who are correspondingly particular about times and seasons. They are not the rich people, nor those who add most to the gayety of nations. The moneyed crowd, to whom a winter on the Nile counts as little and is had as regularly as a spring in London, are here in full force. Their manners and their clothes are the best and the worst one ever sees. They're a picturesque mixture of high breeding and loud vulgarity. The rudeness of the worst of the English is exceeded only by the laughable lapses of the most ignorant Americans. Yesterday at the best-appointed hotel table in the east three handsome women who had been discussing their plans for next summer at Narragansett Pier for the benefit of the rest of the guests made us listen also to their dinner reckoning.

TEA ON BOARD A DAHABEAH.

"Now, your bill," said one of them, who was fair, fat and thirty, "is 50 piasters and 20 for wine and mine is 50 piasters and 15 for wine, and Edith's is 50 piasters and 15 for wine; shall you give the waiter anything for a pour boire"

And the waiter, who understands English perfectly, stood silently at the ladies' back while the amount of his fee was discussed at length, and afterward bowed them out of the room with oriental politeness and impassivity.

Fortunately all Americans who winter in Egypt are not of this type, nor are any of them so fast as the most rapid set among the English, whose pace here makes London dissipations seem quite of the slow order by comparison. It's lucky there's no Parkhurst here, for if there were he'd stand to kill himself in a wild orgy of reform.

As I said, Cairo is gay. One of the prettiest and most innocent of its divers ons is tea on board a dahabeah.

The day before a boat starts for a pleasure cruise up the Nile it puts on its best clothes. The Arab boatmen scrub the decks, the long, lance-like yards are hung with pennants and rugs are spread everywhere under the awnings. The dahabeah is tied up probably just above or below the great Nile bridge, and over this for a couple of hours rattle strings of open carriages and cavalcades of polo ponies, bringing festive youths in white flannels and women under flower-laden hats and big parasols to taste the hospitality of the voyagers.

This afternoon a boat was thus en fete, and so many spring hats were in evidence that it is necessary to make some note of them. Cairo gets Paris fashions before Paris gets them, for it has to have straw while Europe is still buying fur. A blonde girl who drove her own trap wore a combination of white and purple. Her dress was of some sort of white veiling, with trimmings of purple ribbons. Her hat was a broad, sunburnt straw, of a shape that promises to be very popular. The brim turned up at the sides, but not acutely. The crown was high, but was rather a broad, flat top, and the hat was meant to be perched on the back of the head, instead of forward. It was trimmed with bunches of violets, nestled at the heart of huge lace rosettes. Under the brim, where the lace touched the hair, it was white; above it was black, but relieved by white ribbons.

Foot passengers have no rights in Cairo, where only the natives walk, and this girl was complaining volubly that she had had to give a smart cut with her whip to an Arab nurse boy who was not quick enough in getting the baby wagon he had charge of out of her way.

Another girl, who had two or three of the white flannel youths in tow, wore a very fresh pretty dress of blue china silk, figured with green, with little touches of pink here and there. Her waist and throat ribbons were pink and she carried a bunch of the small, greenish, cream-colored narcissus, with which Cairo is gay in March. Her hat was a large, green straw, with a wide, flat brim in front, turning up sharply behind. For trimming it had a wealth of green velvet and pink ribbons, into which were twisted narcissus stems. Flowers and ribbon bows stood up behind.

A bride whose honeymoon is passing in Cairo wore a round hat of green straw with a flat brim, whose shape suited admirably the young round face, with its low brow and hair drawn back carelessly in waves. At the back of the hat high loops of cream-colored ribbon stood up in a semi-circle. On one side of the brim lay a bunch of pink roses, on the other curled a black ostrich plume. The dress that matched this hat was a yellowish, cream-colored chine silk, figured with green. The skirt was full, rather longer than skirts have been made, and plain. The bodice was plain and close-fitting also, but almost hidden under a very deep lace collar, the tabs of which were so wired as to stand out in half-handkerchiefs all around. A frill of lace at the neck flaring over a collar of pink ribbon and a narrow, pointed pink ribbon waist-belt gave the finishing touches.

Tea was served on the upper deck under the awnings, and here a couple of white turbaned Arabs, whose feet were noiseless on the mattings, handed it about, eastern fashion, in glasses. People who have not been in Egypt would hardly recognize the beverage, flavored as it is with verbena and the juice of small green limes. The pretty sister of the hostess directed operations in a green gray canvas dress trimmed about the skirt with three bands of plaided red and green ribbon. The bands were put on with a deep point in front and high up on the sides, to simulate the overdress that knocks so loud at fashion's gate, but is not yet let in. The waist was made with a blouse turning back in ribbon-edged revers over the shoulders and sleeves and opening in front on a vest of pale green silk. A broad plaided sash of red and green tied in bows at the back of the waist and fell to the deck in streamers. A big hat of gray green straw was trimmed with red roses and green straw was trimmed with red roses and green ribbons.

Dress for the race-course is as smart in Cairo as elsewhere. At the second winter meeting of the Khedival Race Club the other day an English woman, who had two horses entered, drove out to the track in a silvery white cloth gown, with a full skirt gauged on to a cord about the hips and trimmed with three rows of rather narrow yellowish brown ribbon. The bodice was made with a white velvet zouave embroidered with silver and edged with frills of lace and ribbon. The sleeves had the shoulder puffs gathered in to the tightness of the arms by several rows of tucking. Yellowish brown velvet made the belt and collar and trimmed the broad straw hat with its wreaths of roses.

Another good costume at the track was a fawn-colored cloth with a narrow ruffle at the hem. The close-fitting bodice had three rows of creamy lace gathered across the bust with a big rosette of old rose velvet at one side. The broad belt and the standing collar were of velvet also. The hat was a large white straw trimmed with roses.

Promenade dresses are not common here, for reasons already stated. In town one drives; in the desert one rides a horse, donkey or camel. Yet I saw a very elaborate walking dress this morning. It was of brown cloth braided all over the skirt with arabesques in black silk. The bodice, braided in the same fashion, opened on a chemisette in white mousseline. There was a black silk draped belt, and a black collar with lace frills. The hat was black straw, with roses and black feathers.

CHARM OF GRACIOUSNESS.

And Why All Women Should Seek to Possess It.

EW charms possessed by womankind are more delightful than that which is known as "graciousness."

What is graciousness? It is simply the presence in the mind and the manifestation in the manner of an innate generous kindliness of spirit combined with unselfish tactfulness—as different, this last quality, from policy and diplomacy as is falsehood from truth.

The possession of the charm of graciousness is, indeed, the first factor in a woman's social success; she displays it alike in her intercourse with women and men—it succeeds with the former because they see in it something subtly flattering, a desire to be markedly amiable, and with the latter because it conveys a hint of warm appreciation of masculine superiority!

The Frenchwoman, whose charm of manner is proverbial, possesses the gift in the highest degree—with her it is not an attribute to be put off and on at will, it is a positive duty to be gracious—she is gracious to the clerk what waits upon her in the shop, to the woman who manicures her nails, to the suitor whose attentions are unwelcome, to the tradesman who duns her with bills—in fact, to all sorts and conditions of men does she display the charm in so marked a degree that her manner has become a proverb, and to imitate it is the secret wish of every woman who has once fallen under its wondrous spell.

Nor is graciousness inconsistent with perfect truth and sincerity; it is not, as is too often supposed, a form of policy, a cloak to be put on to serve a purpose; it is, as I have already said, an outward manifestation of a kindly, gracious spirit—of a large-hearted generosity, whose fundamental basis is the old, old principle of doing unto others as one would be done by!

So, my sisters, do not from a fear of being misunderstood, or of being dubbed gushing, eschew the gentle charms of graciousness.

It was undoubtedly the possession of this same charm that has made the fame of many women resound to the uttermost parts of the earth; be sure it was that and nothing more which made men and women alike the devoted slaves of a Mary Stuart, a Marie Antoinette or a Madame de Stael.

Red in Millinery.

If color can sound the note of the new millinery, red bids fair to reign supreme in this branch of fashion. The first display of spring hats and bonnets is always a jumble of startling colors and shapes, altogether discouraging to the women who prefer elegant and not conspicuous headgear, but as the season advances the popinjay style of hat disappears and good taste and moderation have an inning. Just at present red straw, red tulle, and red flowers, in more shades than nature can produce, are combined in one hat. Poppies and geraniums have the lead in red blossoms, but there are green silk poppies in pretty, soft shades, with black centres, which are very effective on a black hat with green ribbon and black tulle or kilted chiffon, which is one of the special features of millinery.

Tulle, with narrow satin straw sewn on in many rows, is used for bows, and sequined net will be much employed. Aigrettes of all sorts and kinds are in order, as are black and white paradise plumes, and ostrich feathers curled round the top in a sort of fringe. Every kind of ornament in gold, pearl, steel, jet and rhine stones will be used, and a great deal of horsehair lace, which is well spangled. Moire, glace, and gauze ribbons, are the special kinds in favor, and white, in ribbon flowers, lace, and tulle, will be very much worn when the warm days come.

With most kinds of flowers foliage will have a very important place, and lilies of the valley, sweet peas, Scotch thistles, and both white and colored violets are choice selections. Yellow flowers are to be much worn, and cowslips arranged to stand up in a sort of fringe or comb at the back of the hat are a novel fancy.

The fashion of wearing the hats well tilted over the eyes promises to continue throughout the summer, and certainly the shade given to the eyes is very acceptable even though it is not always becoming. The shapes in hats are legion, since so many are made to order out of the pretty soft braids by the milliners to suit the wearer; but the sailor shape, with the plain, straight brim and medium low crown, will not be ousted.

The Use of Words is Vain
When Deeds Are Expected.

It's so easy to say a thing, but so different to prove it Claim is not proof, it's deeds that count. No sign a dog will bite because he barks, neither is it convincing proof of merit because a manufacturer says so. Canadian deeds with Canadian people is the endorsement that goes with every box of Doan's Kidney Pills. No chance for the skeptic here, his last argument is gone. When we say Doan's Kidney Pills cure weak, lame and aching backs, dropsy, Bright's Disease, Diabetes, etc., we prove it; that bad backs result from sick kidneys and Doan's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney Ills the words are not vain, because we give you deeds. Not one case but hundreds, not Torontonians alone but Canadians. Just room for two this time—here they are:

MAXWELL JOHNSTON.

Medical men, Hospital treatment and a dozen different medicines failed to cure me of dropsy. I had been tapped seven times and was given only a few days to live when I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me completely, and I am now in the best of health.

A TRIUMPH WON.

Before taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt that diabetes was fast tightening its grip upon me. Now, I know that it has been met and defeated. PRESIDENT J. A. FIFE'S INTERESTING PAPER.

READ BEFORE THE NATURAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATION.

On the Subject "Respiration and the Organs by Which it is Accomplished"—Coloured Drawings and Preserved Specimens Used.

President Fife's paper on "Respiration and the organs by which it is accomplished," was very instructive. Mr. Fife had several coloured drawings and preserved specimens which he used as illustrations during the lecture. The following is a synopsis of the paper: "The arterial blood, which is a bright red colour, is found in the left chambers of the hearts of the higher animals, while the venous blood, of a reddish purple colour, is in the right chambers of the heart and in the veins.

The change from arterial to venous blood takes place as it passes through the tissues in the fine net work of capillaries which traverse every part of them. The tissues are constantly using up oxygen for their sustenance, and the source from which they obtain it is the blood which comes from the heart laden with it loosely combined with the red colouring matter it contains. Some of this oxygen passes through the thin walls of the capillaries by the principle of diffusion. These tissues form large quantities of carbonic acid, with which they become saturated, and diffuse it into the blood, causing the reddish purple colour.

Respiration can be carried on in either air or water, and is necessary to supply oxygen and rid the system of carbonic acid. In lower animals the skin performs this, as seen in the earth worm and leech, but as we rise in the scale of animal life, are provided, viz.: lungs and gills, the former for use in the air, the latter in water. Hence animals which breathe in water are those in which the changes in the blood are slow, e.g., oysters, clams and fishes. In the mud puppy or lake lizzard the gills are developed on the outside of the body, and as these are very much branched they present a large surface to the water, obtaining their necessary supply of oxygen through them. In the fishes the gills are placed in the interior, but in communication with the mouth, so that as the animal opens and closes its mouth, a current of fresh water is constantly maintained over them, giving the most favourable conditions for the passing of the oxygen into the blood and the carbonic acid gas from it. It is interesting to note that every blood system besides conveying nutriment to the different organs of the body also conveys impure blood back from them to the heart which propels it to the breathing organs where it is converted into arterial blood and in some cases passes directly to the body (as in fishes) and in others comes back to the heart to be propelled by it to the body. In fishes the heart propels venous blood only, while in animals higher than these the relation of the breathing system to the blood supply is different. In man the heart propels both venous and arterial blood.

There is a great difference between the gills and lungs. Gills are either external or are enclosed cavities connected with the mouth, and bear large numbers of very fine filaments of tender tissues which are abundantly supplied with minute thin walled blood capillaries and over them is constantly playing a which is taken in at the mouth and passed out at the hinder edge of the gill cover through the gill slit.

Lungs commence as simple out-growths from the under side of the gullet; they then become two lobed and grow backward into the thoracic cavity where they gradually increase in size and complexity. The part attaching these lobes to the œsophagus becomes drawn out into a tube which becomes the trachea or wind-pipe. This bifurcates at its lower end to form the two bronchi, one of which passes to each lung. In their further growth the bronchi branch out into finer and finer tubes and finally end in small vesicles called infundibula, which are made up of a number of smaller compartments called alveoli, and which are surrounded by blood capillaries through the walls of which the interchange of the respiratory gases takes place.

In the Mollusca, to which the clam, oyster and snails belong, respiration takes place through the general surface of the body, assisted in most cases by gills and in a few of the snails by a lung.

The Crustacea, e. g., the lobster and crayfish, breathe entirely by gills, which in the case of the lobster and crayfish are attached to the bases of the limbs on the SIDE OF THE THORAX.

In the Insecta one general system of respiration prevails — namely an intricate system of air tubes, these being kept open by means of a coiled spiral thread which seems to act like a spring.

Birds all breathe by well developed lungs, respiration being necessarily active to keep the temperature sufficiently high during rapid motion through the atmosphere. They are also possessed with numerous air sacs which serve to regulate the general buoyancy of the body to suit the rarer or denser atmospheres.

The Reptiles breathe by lungs, although many of them spend a considerable portion of their time in the water and are excellent divers.

The Mammalia, the class of animals to which we belong, all possess lungs which are highly developed. In many of them the division and sub-division of the primary lung sac has been so far carried on that the alveoli are so minute that they cannot be seen by the naked eye, yet each alveolus has its blood vessels bringing blood to it and others carrying it away from it again after aeration has taken place."

The paper was closed by the expressed wish that "the few facts given might stimulate to greater effort to learn more of the wonderful adaptability of the organs of our bodies to the purposes for which they are intended."

MARCH WEATHER NOTES.

In keeping with the former months of this winter, the month of March just passed proved to be a mild one, and considerably above the average in temperature.

The first day of March was the coldest of the month, and 10 below zero was reached. The only other day that the temperature went below zero was on the 16th, when 2 below was indicated. The warmest day was on the 30th, viz., 52 degrees.

The average temperature for the whole month was 27.18 degrees. The average temperature of March of former years was 20.96. It is thus seen that the month just gone by was over 6 degrees higher than usual.

The average daily range (the difference between the highest and lowest each day) was 15.67. The greatest daily range was on the 1st, when there was a difference of 45 degrees in the 24 hours, or from 10 below zero to 35 above. The least daily range was on the 9th, when there was a difference of only 3 degrees.

Rain or snow fall on 20 days to the amount of 3¼ inches. The rainfall was 1.09 inches. The snowfall was about 18 inches. The heaviest snowfalls were on the 14th and 24th. On the latter date more snow fell than at any one time this winter. The precipitation for the average March is 2.01 inches, so during the past month we had more moisture than we were entitled to. The truth of the old saw that when March comes in like a lion it goes out like a lamb, was verified in this particular instance.

THE OPPOSITION MADE NO FIGHT

Insurance Bill Well Received—Enquiries Into Incendiary Fires—Good Progress Made With Government Measures—Mr. Brower Asks for Information.

Toronto, April 1.—In the Ontario Legislature yesterday the Attorney-General introduced a bill in relation to Rondeau Park, making an addition thereto of 500 acres.

Mr. McKay brought in a bill relating to the election of members of the Legislature, and Mr. Haycock re-introduced the Patron bill respecting the granting of passes on railways to members.

THIRD READINGS.

The following bills were read a third time and passed:

Respecting bylaws Nos. 1458, 1633 and 1707 of the city of Ottawa.—Mr. O'Keefe.

To incorporate the Petewawa Lumber, Pulp and Paper Company.—Mr. Barr.

To amend the Act to incorporate the Ontario Ship Railway Company.—Mr. Conmee.

Respecting the Finance Committee of the Church Missionary Society in Rupert's Land.—Mr. Dickenson.

The House went into committee on the bill providing for the auditing of municipal accounts. On motion of the Attorney-General, an amendment was adopted, making the bill applicable to cities of less than 15,000 population, but not to larger cities.

INCENDIARY FIRES.

The House went into committee on the bill to consolidate and amend the Acts respecting insurance. A discussion arose as to the necessity of taking some steps to detect and prevent incendiary fires.

Hon. J. M. Gibson said it was the opinion of the chiefs of fire departments, as well as his own view, that there were more incendiary fires for the purpose of obtaining insurance than the public had any idea of. There should, he thought, be a strict investigation as to the origin of fires in every case. It might be considered advisable to appoint a provincial inspector, whose duty it should be to conduct such investigations, whose salary should be paid by a levy upon the insurance companies.

Mr. Whitney spoke approvingly of the proposition. There could be no question as to the need of taking some steps to check the spread of incendiarism.

Mr. Marter thought such an appointment as Mr. Gibson had suggested would be a wise measure and one that ought to meet with the approval of the insurance companies.

Messrs. Howland and Wilioughby also favored the proposal.

Hon. J. M. Gibson was pleased to hear these expressions of approval and said that the Government would consider the matter, though probably no action could be taken before next session.

The following bills were passed in committee:

To amend the law respecting the registration of vital statistics.—Mr. Davis.

Respecting technical schools.—Mr. Ross.

Respecting certain lands forming part of the property of the University of Toronto.—Mr. Ross.

UNIVERSITY LAND GRANT.

Mr. Ross moved the second reading of the bill setting apart certain wild lands of the Crown for the use of Toronto University, comprising six townships. He said that the object of the bill was to settle some old claims of the University against the Government. He reviewed the history of the endowment of the University since the first appropriation for educational purposes in 1797, contending that the University had never received its legitimate share of the lands so set apart. How Adam Crooks in 1881 held that the University was entitled to 132,000 acres more than it had received. The Government simply proposed to carry out the terms of the old grant made 100 years ago, as a tardy reparation to the University. Another claim was on account of an agreement with the Canada Company, by which the University was to receive £1000 per year for 16 years from the company as part of the consideration for the land grants the latter received. These payments had been withheld until amendments were made in the University charter of a character acceptable to the Legislature. These amendments were made, but the arrears due the University were never paid. The sum, with interest, now amounted to $196,000. A third claim was on account of the Queen's Park, which was taken from the University and held by the Government until 1859. The liability of the Government on that account was estimated at $232,000. If the University went to court with this claim it would probably prevail, but their object was to prevent litigation. Another claim, amounting to $169,000, was on account of University money used for Upper Canada College purposes. The University was, furthermore, worthy of assistance as a national institution. It was altogether free and unsectarian, and open to all, regardless of denominational tests. It had furthermore expended $345,000 on building, the expansion of its accommodation being necessary on account of its unprecedented growth. In 1554 it had only 94 students in the arts course, while in 1896 it had 957. It had affiliated itself with other institutions, which had greatly extended the sphere of its influence. It conducted examinations for 4747 students in these various affiliated bodies. There was not a single interest in the country which did not feel more or less the influence of the University. It had a right to ask an indulgent consideration of its claims on broad national grounds. He urged the example of Britain, Germany, France, the United States and other countries in making large and liberal grants for higher education. The time was auspicious for making this grant, as this year was the centennial of the University, and it only remained for the House to complete the work of a hundred years ago by a full and generous provision to secure its continued usefulness.

OPPOSITION DO NOT OBJECT.

Mr. Howland agreed with the object of the bill and the necessity of making adequate provision for the University. The Government, however, did not propose to make full but only partial restitution. If the attempt to set the University on its feet was to be successful that institution must be released from its present trammels and set free from the pressure of Government control. The history of the financial transactions which had been referred to showed clearly the necessity of its being made independent of the Government.

Col. Matheson said it was contrary to public policy to tie up the public lands for any corporation, even a university. He did not think that some of these claims would stand investigation. If the grant were made in settlement of past claims, the whole control of the university should be vested in itself, and then they could attract to their aid the help of the munificent. Once free from Government control money would flow in freely.

Dr. Ryerson did not see how a grant to Toronto University would benefit the other universities. One reason why the University was in difficulties was because it had gone out of its way to give technical education.

NO POLITICS.

Hon. J. M. Gibson was glad that the Opposition did not object to the proposed settlement. In fact the gist of their remarks seemed to be that the terms of the compromise were not liberal enough. The mater was somewhat complicated on account of the lapse of time. The University was in such condition that they might fairly look for considerable additions to the normal revenue of the University, which would make further grants unnecessary. This was to be regarded as a final settlement. The lands granted would not be locked up, but administered by the Department the same as any other public lands. He strongly repudiated the insinuation that Government control involved the running of the University on anything like political lines. It was not true that political considerations had anything to do with the appointment of the staff, the selections being entirely on merit. If the University were freed from Government control there would be no more inducement for private persons to endow it than at present. The fact was that Ontario was not particularly blessed with public-spirited millionaires willing to contribute largely to universities.

Mr. Whitney agreed that the claims of the University had at least an equitable basis, and admitted that while the University was a provincial institution it must be kept up. His objection to the bil lwas that it did not extinguish all claims and secure a release in full of every possible demand. He proposed at a later stage of the session to take the sense of the House on the desirability of freeing the University from Governmental control.

Mr. Beatty (Parry Sound) thought the grant a needless interference with the free grant system.

The Attorney-General explained that the land would be sold as ordinary Crown land. It would not be tied up, but sold on account of the University and without expense to them. The land was not to be taken out of the free grant districts.

Dr. Willoughby said there was no reason why the University should have established a medical faculty at such great expense.

The bill was read a second time.

NOTICES OF MOTION.

The Attorney-General—Bill in relation to Rondeau Provincial Park.

The Attorney General—Bill respecting arbitrations.

Mr. Howland—Bill to amend the Judicature Act.

Grant of St. Thomas, who was charged with having obtained copies of the examination papers before matriculation examination in 1896? If not, why not? If so, what was the result of the investigation?

Mr. Brower—Order of the House for a return of copies of all correspondence between the Minister of Education or any officer in the Department and Mr. Stewart of Glencoe or any other person in reference to this matter.

Mr. Meacham—Order of the House for a return showing the names of all persons who tendered for "butchers' meat" for the Deaf and Dumb Asylum, Belleville, for the years 1891-92-93-94-95 and 1896; the amount of each tender, the name of the successful tenderer and the reason of such choice; also the amount of deposit required with each tender.

A Funny Little Story.

Some time ago the Queen of Italy asked a little girl to knit her a pair of silk mittens for her birthday, giving her the money for the material. A pair of beautifully-worked mittens arrived on the Queen's birthday. The little girl received in return another pair; one mitten contained lires, the other bonbons. Queen Marguerite inclosed a little note, saying: "Tell me, my dear child, which you like best." The reply ran as follows: "Dearest Queen: Your lovely presents have made me shed many tears. Papa took the mitten with the money; my brother had the bonbons."

DEBATE OF THE ADDRESS ON STILL

The Two Members for West Toronto Want the Manitoba Question Relegated to the Background—Mafor Hughes and Mr. Bennett Have Their Little Fling.

Ottawa, April 1.—(Special.)—Mr. Charlton's bill to amend the criminal code by making the seduction law more drastic was introduced this afternoon.

Mr. Maclean asked whether it is the intention of the Government to disallow an act passed by the Legislature of British Columbia in the 59th year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, entitled, "British Columbia Southern Railway Aid Amendment Act, 1896"?

Mr. Blair replied that, so far as the Government is concerned, this is a purely local act, and it is not the intention of the Government to disallow it. "I may say further, that the Government has received no complaint against that act."

Mr. Paterson told Mr. Broder the Government did not intend to install David Halliday, who was appointed by the late Government, to the position of Collector of Customs at Morrisburg.

Mr. Blair informed Mr. Maclean that 17 tenders were received for sections 4 to 7 of the Soulanges Canal, and 13 for section 12. He did not consider it proper to say who the tenderers were or that it was in the public interest to give the aggregate amount of each tender until the work has been completed.

Mr. Laurier informed Mr. Casgrain that the Government did not know whether Mr. Dobell had promised a subsidy of $1,000,000 for a new bridge over the St. Lawrence. The policy of the Government was the same as last year, when it was announced that material assistance would be given to any responsible persons or company who were prepared to undertake the construction of the bridge.

Mr. Laurier told Mr. La Riviere that the negotiations between the Dominion and Manitoba Governments on the school question were verbal. There was no record of them. All the papers will be brought down.

Mr. Laurier declined to give Mr. Foster any information regarding the passing of an order-in-council granting $300,000 to the G. T. R. for reconstruction of Victoria Bridge, Montreal. He asked him to make a formal motion for papers.

Rev. Mr. Maxwell, the clerical representative of Burrard, B. C., resumed the debate on the address. His speech was in fine literary form and it evoked repeated applause from the Government side. He commended the conciliatory methods adopted by the present Government, and regarded the school settlement as fair, just and statesmanlike. He had every sympathy with the Quebec Liberals in their appeal to Rome for release from the clerical tyranny of three hundred years ago. He was a free trader, but in the meantime was prepared to accept the tariff of the Administration.

Major Hughes followed. He twitted the last speaker with his readiness to change his sentiments on the trade and other questions. He drew attention to the fact that, while the Premier was giving utterance to patriotic observations on the Diamond Jubilee, his organ, Le Signal, was deploring the spread of British Imperialism and urging the people of Quebec to draw closer to France.

Dealing with the bye-election in North Ontario, he proceeded to tell of Liberal methods which contributed to their success. Liberal stumpers, he said, paraded Protestant sections, telling the people to stand to their guns, otherwise the bishops of Quebec would sweep Mr. Laurier from power. But in Roman Catholic townships the electors were told the settlement was a great thing, that Mr. Laurier had given the minority more than they would ever have received from the Tories. The people were told that the Postmaster-General had said he wanted a Protestant Liberal elected in North Ontario. They needed more in the House, because he was afraid of the Frenchmen who sat behind Mr. Laurier

Mr. Mulock rose to deny that he had ever made such a statement.

Mr. Hughes said it was stated in the riding all the same. Another Orit report was that the Speaker of the House had closed the bar of the restaurant of the House in order to prevent Conservative members from getting drunk. [Loud laughter.] And where was the story told? asked the Major. "In a community of Methodists who were temperance people." [Renewed laughter.]

The debate was continued by Messrs. Richardson and Chauvin.

Mr. E. F. Clarke, who was received with Conservative cheers, said: I desire to emphasize the opinion that has been expressed by some hon. members on this side of the House, and to say that so far as I am concerned this Manitoba school question has been practically settled by the agreement which was reached between hon. gentlemen opposite and the Government of Manitoba, and by the crystallization of that agreement into an act of the Legislature which has received its third reading, and which has been assented to by the people of the Province of Manitoba. [Hear, hear.] I say that this question in my judgment is settled; not only for the reason I have given, but because, as I understand, there are only two legislative bodies in this Canada of ours which have the right or the authority to deal with that question. One of these bodies is the Parliament of Canada, and this Parliament at a recent session, a session held not more than 12 months ago, tried ineffectually by legislation to interfere with the school affairs of the Province of Manitoba. The failure which attended the efforts of the gentlemen who were then in power—efforts which were put forth, I am sure, with an idea of doing what they considered an act of justice to the minority in Manitoba—the failure which attended their efforts on that occasion will deter similar efforts from being made in the future in this House to coerce by legislation any of the provinces in

He gladly testifies to the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and what he says is worthy attention. All brain workers find Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiarly adapted to their needs. It makes pure, rich, red blood, and from this comes nerve, mental, bodily and digestive strength.

THEY NEED WATCHING.

ETERNAL vigilance is the price of liberty. For a long time, and at great cost, Victoria tried to saddle on Peterborough county the cost of helping to maintain a bridge entirely in Victoria County. The courts in succession, including the highest in the empire, decided against the little grab game of our neighbours, and this session an attempt was made to steal through a little bill thinly disguised, to answer the same end. They were again unsuccessful. Mr. Stratton was on the lookout for the protection of our interests, and vigorously opposed the bill which was lost on the second reading on Wednesday. Victoria will have to exercise its ingenuity in a new direction to make this county help maintain its bridges.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THERE is a split in the 'ranks of Sir Charles Tupper's followers. There is a Bleu party and an Ontario party. But the cleavage is only fact, not in appearance The Bleu party is Bleu and the Ontario party is blue also.

THE indications are that the pending general elections in the provinces of Quebec and Nova Scotia will result in a great victory for the Liberals. It is expected that in the latter province the Liberals will capture 25 out of the 38 seats, and in Quebec 50 seats in a house of 74. Sir Charles Tupper's missionary work doesn't seem to have been very successful.

THE speeches, especially those of the Conservative members, in the debate on the address are largely funeral orations—over the dead and gone and settled school question. Mr. John Ross Robertson, Conservative representative of East Toronto, said in the House that the school question was buried, and not on the instalment plan either and that the Conservative party could not afford to keep wandering around the graveyard.

MR. MIDDLETON, of Hamilton, is evidently making a dab at the departmental stores. He introduced into the Ontario Legislature on Wednesday a bill providing for conferring on municipalities of 20,000 inhabitants or over power to impose a special tax upon stores carrying on more than three distinct kinds of business, The tax will be in respect of each additional class of business. A two-thirds vote of the municipal council will be necessary to authorize such a bylaw.

MR. HUGH JOHN MACDONALD has been formally offered and accepted the leadership of the Conservative party in Manitoba. He has not yet selected a constituency. The choice would seem to be an easy matter as there are only about seven Conservative seats to choose from; but the selection may not be so easy after all as the members for these seven seats were elected by precariously narrow majorities—varying from 41 to 27, excepting Woodlands, where Mr. Roblin, the deposed leader, had a majority of 341. It is not probable, however, that he will consent to complete extinction—even to accommodate the leader whom Sir Charles Tupper has appointed.

HON. MR. GIBSON, Commissioner of Crown Lands, introduced a bill into the Legislature on Wednesday providing for the encouragement of the manufacture of steel and iron in the Province. This desirable end is sought to be accomplished by the adoption of a plan of paying railway bonuses in rails. The whole or part of the bonus may be thus paid. The steel or iron must be manufactured in the province from ore of which at least two-thirds has been obtained from the mines of the Province, and the Provincial scrip or certificates in payment of the steel or iron may be issued to the manufacturers by whom it has been delivered in lieu of the railway company. It is provided that tenders for supplies of steel and iron rails may be called for by the Government, and discretion is given to the Government to moderate between the tenderer and the railway.

THEY DEMAND STABILITY.

New York Chamber of Commerce Reports in Favor of a Modification of the Tariff to Secure Permanency.

New York, April 1.—At the monthly meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-day the Committee on Foreign Commerce and the Revenue Laws submitted a report and resolutions on the pending tariff bill. The report states that the committee has considered the Dingley tariff bill and finds that it virtually re-enacts many of the duties contained in the McKinley Act, and in some cases exceeds them. The report continues:

"It is the opinion of the committee that the business men of this country desire nothing more earnestly than an extended period of rest and cessation from continued tariff agitation and tariff changes. They realize the fact that the party in power is committed to a change in the tariff in the direction of greater revenue and of higher protection. They demand, however, that whatever rates and systems of taxation are adopted shall be so reasonable and conservative, and shall so commend themselves to the majority of the intelligent voters of the land, that the tariff finally adopted may be regarded as settled and not provocative of an early reaction, rendering all business calculations and enterprises uncertain and hazardous, retarding prosperity and affording an opportunity to the advocates of free silver coinage and disastrous financial schemes for the spreading of their peculiar doctrines."

The resolutions declare that it is the conviction of the chamber that the tariff bill now before the House of Representatives is excessive and that it should be carefully revised in the direction of a reduction of rates of duty proposed, to the end that a system of tariff taxation may be adopted that shall be reasonably permanent, and that shall insure the business interests of the country a certain measure of immunity from early change. The resolutions invite the co-operation of commercial bodies throughout the country in urging these views upon Congress. The report and resolutions were adopted.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

Completely Outgeneraled.

"I've heard a good deal about coercion," said the man with a heavy mustache and a big gold watch chain, as he leaned over the desk of a Washington hotel. "But it's my opinion that the public in general don't know what coercion is. Just wait till you get women in politics; then you'll find out something about it."

"Have you ever had any experience with women in politics?" inquired the clerk.

"Not with women in politics. But I've just had experience with a woman in business, which shows how quick the sex is in recognising an advantage and how heartless it can be in making use of it. I run a dime museum. One of my chief attractions is a bearded lady. About two weeks ago her husband came to me and said that she wanted some new costumes; that she was tired of trying to keep up appearances with her old ones. I just laughed at him; but he assured me that she was in earnest. I told him to tell his wife that we weren't paying her milliner's bills. He went away, and came back with the message that she wasn't going to be put off; that she wanted three new dresses, and that she wanted 'em made by the most expensive modiste in town. 'What'll she do if she doesn't get 'em?' I asked. 'She's awfully set in her own way,' he answered; 'I shouldn't be surprised if she resigned right off.' I laughed at him again and told him that I had a contract with her for the season, which it would cost her more to break than she could earn in six months."

"That ought to have settled it," the clerk remarked.

"It didn't, though. In less than ten minutes he came back to my office on a run. 'You've got to compromise, somehow,' he said. 'You've always been a friend of mine, and I don't want to see you get the worst of it.' 'She can't get around that contract,' I answered, beginning to feel a little apprehensive. 'She isn't going to try to. She says she'll stay her time out and appear every afternoon and night as she agreed to. But when I left she had her things on, and you'll have to run if you want to catch her; by this time she's half way to the barber shop. She's going to get shaved."—Washington Star.

It surprised many visitors to the Chicago World's Fair to find that of all the blood purifiers, Ayer's Sarsaparilla was the only one on exhibition. The reason is that Ayer's Sarsaparilla is a standard remedy, and not a patent medicine, or a secret nostrum.

PUNCHING THE CRETANS.

Foreign Admirals Will Not Allow Them to Trade at Canea Unless They Lay Down Arms.

Canea, April 1.—The admirals commanding the foreign fleets in Cretan waters have refused to allow the Christians at Akrotiri to sell sheep or produce in Canea, which is but a short distance from Akrotiri, unless they surrender their arms.

Asking for More Help.

London, April 1.—It is credibly stated here that the admirals commanding the fleets on duty at Canea and other Cretan ports have applied to their respective governments to each send 50 cavalry and half a battery of artillery, which they declare are required to be used for garrison purposes. It is stated that the admirals have announced that these forces will be used solely to defend the various forts.

Greek Vessels Captured.

Athens, April 1.—Some of the British warships employed in blockade duty in the waters of Crete have captured three small Greek sailing vessels. Much indignation is expressed here over the affair, as it is pretty clearly established that at the time the vessels were captured they were outside the limits of the blockade.

They are Ready.

Athens, April 1.—So far as essentials are concerned, the troops on the frontier are already prepared to take the field. There is no evidence of weakness on the part of the King or Government. M. Delyannis, the Prime Minister, conversing to-day with some members of the Boule, said: "Our efforts have been directed towards a friendly settlement of the trouble, but a pacific solution now appears improbable. Events, however, will find us ready."

Blockade of Athens Agreed To.

London, April 1.—Any doubt that the powers have assented to a blockade of the Gulf of Athens has been finally removed, but the details of the scheme are nowise completed. The admirals of the international fleet in Cretan waters will decide whether and when the blockade will be effected. It is obvious that it cannot be established immediately as the squadrons must be increased. This implies a delay of several days.

All the despatches received here from special correspondents concur that, if the step be taken, its inevitable result will be that the Greek troops in Thessaly will cross the frontier into Macedonia.

William Lee, mayor of Pariah of Quebec, writes: "I have used 'Quickcure' for most painful rheumatism and got almost instant relief, and the pain has not returned since last spring; it also healed a wound caused by a rusty nail in a marvellous manner. I consider it the healing remedy of the age. We do not fear even toothache now, as we always keep 'quickcure' on hand."

Weakness and Dyspepsia Cured.

DEAR SIRS,—I can heartily recommend Burdock Blood Bitters. For a long time I was troubled with dyspepsia and weakness. The least exertion would tire me out. I am glad to say, however, that your B.B.B. has greatly benefitted me, curing the dyspepsia and making me strong and well.

OSLER AND CLARKE.

regard to matters that have been relegated to them under the constitution. Since the Legislature of Manitoba enacted an amendment to the school law of 1890, I felt bound to consider the character of the amendments which have been made, and having done so, I am forced to the conclusion that it is my duty as a member of this House to support the agreement as reached, and to support the legislation which has been enacted by the province. The privileges which have been obtained through the settlement of this vexed question are not all that either side to the controversy desires, but when it is considered that this settlement is a compromise I think that most fair-minded men will agree that it is a fair compromise and a compromise that will meet with the support of the great majority of the people of this country. It has been pointed out by many hon. members who addressed the House that there are objections to this settlement. I am free to confess that there are many and grave objections, and I refer particularly to the clause which makes it compulsory for school trustees in certain districts and on certain conditions to employ a number of teachers of a particular faith. I think that is a grave objection, but as I understand the question, it was necessary in order to provide for religious instruction being given in the schools that such a condition as that should be embodied settlement. It is my opinion that in the employment of teachers the trustees should have the fullest liberty. In the appointment of a teacher his efficiency as an instructor of youth should, I believe, be the only qualification demanded from him. While I object to that clause of the agreement, still I think it is better, even with an objectionable clause of that kind, that it should be accepted and this school controversy settled. But, while there are objectionable points in the settlement, there are, no doubt, many points of advantage, and these ought not to be lost sight of. It is the consideration of these advantages that prompts me to give it my support. In the first place, this settlement secures and guarantees to the people of Manitoba for all time to come the existence of a national non-sectarian system of schools. [Hear, hear.] That is the aim and the prime reason why I support that settlement. The people of Manitoba had the experience for many years of a dual system of education, and [illegible] as an ideal system of education on a school system ought to work. In view of the present sparse settlement of the country, in view of the few inhabitants in the country, it was believed, and events have justified them in their action, that the wiping away of the old system and the establishment of a common national system would secure better results than had been obtained previously.

Other advantages of the settlement, in his judgment, were these: It secures qualified teachers for all the schools in the province, and provides for a rigid system of education, so that the schools shall be kept up to a standard, and provides for the election of school trustees by ballot; it places the same curriculum in all the schools; it brings under one roof the children of parents who hold diverse religious views; it meets the scruples of certain classes of people who desire to have religious instruction in the schools. Mr. Clarke asked if those who sought the support of that settlement would demand equal privileges for the children of a large number of people in the Province of Ontario, mentioning particularly the right to vote by ballot, and to employ qualified teachers.

Continuing, he said: "I support this settlement because I believe it is in the best interest, not only of the people of Manitoba, but the people of Canada generally, that this burning subject, that has received so much attention during the last five or six years, should be finally set at rest. I take the ground that, so far as this Parliament is concerned, the matter has passed out of our hands, and that any agitation for further amendments, if such are desired, should be confined to the Legislature of that Province."

Discussing the mission of the Papal Delegate, Mr. Clarke said: "Within the last few weeks we have read and heard of delegations crossing the Atlantic and paying visits to the Eternal City, and for what purpose? We have been assured by the honorable gentlemen opposite and by their press throughout the country, that this Manitoba school business has been settled, but we ask why those delegations have been crossing the Atlantic in the middle of winter to Rome? We are told that they are being sent over to secure the aid and co-operation of His Holiness the Pope in settling domestic disputes in the church with regard to matters of faith and religion, with which, I take it, those who are not Catholics have nothing whatever to do. But, sir, when we examine what the distinguished gentleman and prelate who has been sent from Rome to Canada says with regard to his mission, we must come to the conclusion, as reasonable and honest men, that he has been sent out here to aid these gentlemen in making some further settlement, or some further arrangement, in connection with this school business. Now, sir, I think, from the speeches that have been made in this House by gentlemen who signed that famous manifesto to the Pope, and who knew whereof they spoke, I think it must be clear to every person in this House that this delegate has come to Canada in response to the petition which they sent to the Holy Father, and if the papal delegate expresses his views correctly in the interviews which I have quoted, he certainly understands that he is coming here not to settle a domestic dispute between members of the same Church, but rather as the representative of the Holy Father in the settlement of a matter which certainly ought to be settled by those most interested, the people of Canada, and by them alone."

Continuing, he entered his solemn protest against the Government seeking aid outside of the Dominion of Canada or the British Empire in settling a matter of prime importance to the people of this country. He condemned the grave abuses of power on the part of the bishops of Quebec, which had been exposed by the Minister of Public Works. Such things should not be permitted, and if the Government did not enact legislation against such things it would be held responsible for their continuance.

In conclusion, he declared his readiness to vote for the settlement.

The discussion was continued by Mr. Prefontaine, who discussed the action of the bishops in Quebec, and claimed the right of religious freedom for his compatriots in Quebec. He quoted from a sermon by the cure of Batiscan, delivered last Sunday, in which he said the Liberals were followers of Satan; that the country was being overrun by emissaries of that infidel, Wilfrid Laurier, and urged them to chase them away from their doors with sticks and to set dogs on them.

Mr. Broder followed in a brief, but practical speech. After him came Mr. Lemieux.

Mr. Osler, West Toronto, said he thought the school question had been relegated to the past, settled, and so far as this House was concerned, settled for all time. He believed the members had been wasting the time of the country discussing everything except matters of vital interest to the country. The main point had, in his judgment been lost sight of. The Manitoba people themselves would have to decide as to what was to be done with the school question. Personally he felt that the settlement had gone further than he would have liked. He considered that more concessions had been made to one church than was proper. He did not think any church should be allowed to control the education of the children of this country. [Hear, hear.] Our children should be brought up together. In a settlement of this kind there must be concessions on both sides. The concessions of Manitoba, in his judgment, had gone to the utmost limit, gone further, indeed, than he cared to see. The matter could now be fairly left to Manitoba to settle. If the question came to a vote in the House, he would support the agreement, because he believed it to be a reasonable compromise.

Mr. McCleary reminded the Liberals of some of their former pledges, to show what he called the inconsistent position in which they now stood. He raised the point that no reference had been made in the speech from the throne to the alien labor law.

Mr. Bennett, in a half hour's speech, scored Mr. Sifton and other Ministers for the manner in which they had secured thei rportfolios. Then he dealt with bye-elections, and said that while Mr. Laurier used one sort of argument in one part of the country, men like Col. O'Brien were sent to another part to win Protestant votes by altogether different arguments. The member for North Ontario did not owe his seat to the votes of the people, but to a partisan judge.

Mr. Bennett condemned the delay in bringing down the tariff, expressed his opposition to the franchise bill, although anxious for a cheap and inexpensive method of revising. He concluded with an eloquent reference to the Queen's Jubilee.

Mr. Fraser moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 11.25.

The Editor of the "Dominion Dental Journal" and Dean of the Dental College, Montreal.

Dr. W. Geo. Beers writes: Dr. Iovers has been fortunate enough to produce a preparation ('Quickcure') which really has no rival in the Materia Medica of dentistry. I have investigated its merits, and find it, without exception, the most useful and convenient preparation for the purpose I have met with. We know very well, too, that chemists sell a lot of preparations which do more harm than good. From personal experience, and the unanimous verdict of Dr. Iovers' confreres in Quebec city and Montreal, we have no hesitation in recommending the preparation, not only as an invaluable addition to dental therapy, but as as family friend in emergencies, where one cannot at once reach the dentist."

IN ICY WEATHER.

There's a pleasant sound of bell tones, gently growing, far off flowing,
Of rain upon the roof, like the pattering feet of mice;
Of harp strings in the casement where the wind is lightly blowing—
But there's no such music anywhere as the skates make upon the ice!

A-ringing and a-singing while you're heeling, while you're wheeling,
A-humming and a-thrumming and a-drumming to a thrice;
A-chinking and a-clinking when the outer rail you're reeling;
Oh, there's no such music anywhere as the skates make upon the ice!

A-chiming and a-rhyming, one stroke springing, one stroke swinging,
A-jangling and a-twangling, whirling,
twirling, twice and thrice,
A-chaffing and a-laughing all along your airy winging—
Oh, there's no such music anywhere as the skates make on the ice!

SPANIARDS WHIPPED.

They Suffered Disaster at the Very Spot Where General Maceo Was Entrapped and Killed.

New York, April 1.—The Herald's Havana correspondent sends the following, via Key West: I learn of a decided insurgent success in the very place where Maceo was killed and against the famous San Quintin Battalion, whose soldiers killed him. The engagement occurred on March 27, near Punta Brava, 12 miles from Havana. The insurgents, 1000 strong, under Major Acosta, who was with Maceo when killed, and Col. Delgado had combined and surrounded 150 men of the third company of the San Quintin Regiment, under Capt. Ruiz, at the Lacostes estate, where the Spanish had gone for fodder.

The insurgents poured a volley into the Spanish column, and they replied. There was sharp fighting for half an hour, when the Spanish column attempted to retreat, only to find that they were surrounded. Then the insurgents charged with the machete, cutting the San Quintin soldiers down right and left. Only 20 of the 150 escaped. Forty were killed and 20 wounded. The survivers, after a brave fight against heavy odds, fled, leaving their dead comrades, and reached Punta Brava, where they told their story.

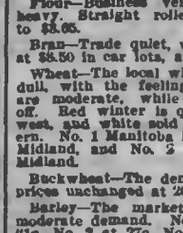
A FAMOUS MAN!

What His Researches Have Done for the World.



All successful and distinguished men have imitators, and Dr. Chase, the well-known author of Chase's Recipe Book, proved no exception to the rule. Dr. Chase's discoveries have many pretended rivals, but no equals.

Dr. Chase. Long scientific researches produced Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and Chase's Ointment, the first a certain cure for all kidney, liver, stomach, bladder and rheumatic troubles; the latter an absolute specific for chronic and offensive skin diseases. Among his other discoveries were Chase's Catarrh Cure and Chase's Linseed and Turpentine for colds and bronchitis.

During 1895 the Canadian manufacturers, Edmanson, Bates & Co., 45 Lombard street, Toronto, gave away free 500,000 samples of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills and 100,000 samples of Chase's Ointment. The return they brought proved how much they were appreciated. The same free distribution of samples will be continued during 1896. Those at a distance should enclose a 5-cent stamp and also receive a sheet of the latest music in return.

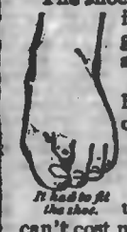
THE SLATER SHOE

Business Moods.

When a good man swears on a wet day it's more than likely the profanity comes from his feet.

The shoe that pinches spoils the temper, irritates the nerves, impairs digestion, and obscures the merry sunshine of life.



It had to fit the shoe.

Success or failure in life oft hinges upon a man's mood at critical moments, and the way his feet feel sometimes sways destiny.

A pair of "Slater Shoes" may unconsciously save a fortune, but can't cost more than $5.00.

It's cheaper to throw away a shoe that hurts than to keep it, and mark this—new "Slater Shoes" need no breaking in.

A tag on each pair tells just what leather it is made of—how it will affect the feet—and the wear it will, or will not give, according to use.

The fire brigade turned out yesterday afternoon to answer a call to the bridge-works but their presence was not needed. This Morning's Fire.

A small rough-cast dwelling on Cross street, belonging to Mr. Henry Grundy, was completely destroyed by fire last night. The brigade responded promptly, but the flames had acquired so great headway by the time the hose was strung, to be extinguished, and the building was gutted. The property was uncovered at the time. It was insured through Messrs. Cox & Davis in the Guardian for $200.

THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

The Regular Monthly Meeting—Routine Business Transacted—Paper by Mr. W. A. Buchanan—Move to Preserve Historic Data and Documents.

At the regular monthly meeting of the Historical Society there was almost literally a fair attendance, the larger number present being ladies.

THE WRECK OF THE SPEEDY.

After an informal discussion upon matters of internal economy, Mr. W. A. Buchanan read a paper on the loss of Schooner Speedy in 1806, while on a voyage from Fort York (Toronto) to Presque Isle Point. The Speedy had on board the judge (Justice Cochrane) and court officials from York, conveying them to Presque Isle, to inaugurate the new court house, built by Governor Simcoe. En route the schooner took on board an Indian charged with murder; but before reaching the point of destination the ship and all on board was lost in a storm and none were ever heard of after. The court house was never used for the purposes of justice, but was converted into a barn. A local legend attributes to Governor Simcoe the intention of holding the first parliament in this structure, but such intention, if entertained, was never carried out, the first parliament having been held in Kingston.

Several matters were discussed including the informal consideration of arrangements for the holding of the proposed art loan exhibition.

Mr. Edwards brought up the question of the importance of collecting historical data, especially of a documentary nature, for preservation in the archives of the society. Mr. Yakome in this connection suggested the advisability of securing the viva voce statements of the old residents of the county, who in the course of nature were passing rapidly away and therefore their personal recollections would not be available. These suggestions were favourably received and the following gentlemen were, on motion of Mr. R. B. Edwards and Dr. Bell, appointed a committee to secure such information, with authority to employ a competent stenographer,—Col. Rogers, Messrs. T. A. Hay, Hampden Burnham, H. C. Strickland and F. R. Yokome.

It was also suggested and insisted on that each member of the society should make an effort to secure from their friends contributions of curios or articles of historic value, to be donated to the society, record of such donations to be made in the daily papers so that interest in the collection of the society might be stimulated and made more general.

Mr. Hampden Burnham was appointed a delegate to the annual meeting of the Provincial association to be held next June, and to prepare a paper on a historical subject to be read at such annual meeting. The selection of the other delegates was deferred to a future meeting of the local society, to be held on Friday evening, May 4th.

It is important that the members of the society who feel an interest in its welfare should make arrangements to attend the meetings in larger numbers than last night. They have not the excuse of forgetfulness as they are personally notified of the date of meetings.

Y. W. C. A. NOTES.

Don't forget the meeting of the association this evening. All the members are particularly requested to be present. The president also wishes to meet with the executive committee precisely at 7.30.

Attempted Burglary.

Throat Trouble Cured.

"I used Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for severe throat trouble," writes Mrs. Hopkins, of 254 Bathurst street, Toronto. "It proved most effective. I regard it as one of the best household remedies there is. It is easy and pleasant to take and drives out the cold with surprising celerity."

A Cycle Collision.

Last night Mr. Dick Martin was walking along Aylmer street when a reckless bicyclist ran into him violently from behind, knocking him down and severely shaking him up. Before he could rise to his feet the wheelman had gone. It's lucky for him he went. If he had stayed till "Dick" got hold of him, there wouldn't be much of the bicycle or its rider left to tell the tale.

ANOTHER JUBILEE RECALLED.

How they Did Things on the Occasion of "Farmer George's" Fiftieth.

Mr. W. C. Morris has left with the EXAMINER a copy of the London, (Eng.) Courier of the date of Monday, Oct. 23rd, 1809. This was of course in the reign of George III—"Farmer George"—and the year of his jubilee, the fiftieth of his reign, shorter only than that of Queen Victoria's now is. (En passant, Her Majesty celebrated her golden jubilee ten years ago, 1887.) This number of the Courier is interesting since it contains several references to the manner of celebrating the Georgian Jubilee on Oct. 25th. For the benefit of the local Diamond Jubilee Committee, which is now struggling with a programme, the article under the modest heading "Jubilee" may be quoted entire:—

JUBILEE.

"A general order, of which the following is a copy, has been given to the Admirality, that all brave Tars in the ports of Great Britain shall be regaled on Wednesday, the 25th, with roast beef and plumb (sic) pudding and a pint of wine or half a pint of wine in addition to their usual allowance.

GENERAL ORDERS.

"By the commissions for executing the office of Lord High Admiral of the Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland.

"Whereas we think fit that an extra allowance of four pounds of fresh beef, three pounds of flour, and a pound of raisins, shall be issued to every eight men of the respective companies of his master's ships and vessels at the port of , together with an extra allowance of one pint of wine or half a pint of rum to each man on Wednesday, the 25th, being the 50th anniversary of the accession of his Majesty to the throne of this Kingdom, and direct you to give the necessary orders to the several captains and commanders accordingly.

"By command of their Lordships, etc.,

"JOHN BURROW.

"To Admiral ——, at ——.

The article adds:

That a general pardon will be granted to all deserters and

That all prisoners of war on parole except Frenchmen, will be relieved and allowed to return to their homes.

A royal salute will be fired for every ship in his Majesty's service.

The exception made above in regard to Frenchmen, is doubtless due to the fact that Great Britain was at that time at war with France, the Duke of Wellington referred to in a despatch in another part of the paper as "Lord" Wellington, being engaged in trouncing the enemy in the Peninsular campaign. The latest news from the seat of war—published in a paper dated Oct. 23, was dated the "3rd inst." The telegraph lines were evidently out of order.

AN APRIL WEDDING.

Miss Alice Davis, Niece of Senator Cox, Quietly Married to Dr. Perry G. Goldsmith, of Belleville.

Toronto Globe.

The residence of Hon. George A. Cox, 339 Sherbourne street, was the scene of a very pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when his niece, Miss Alice Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis, of Peterborough, was united in marriage to Dr. Perry G. Goldsmith, House Surgeon of the Hospital for Sick Children, and a graduate last year of Trinity Medical College. The House was prettily decorated for the occasion, with ferns, palms, roses and smilax, and the wedding ceremony was witnessed by not more than twenty people, all of whom were the immediate relatives of the contracting parties.

The bride looked charming in a handsome travelling suit of green, and carried a large shower bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by Miss Florence Fuller of Toronto, and Mr. Harry D. McKellar performed a similar function for the bridegroom. Rev. Dr. Dewart performed the ceremony.

The wedding was succeeded by a quiet but exceedingly pleasant reception, after which Dr. and Mrs. Goldsmith left on the evening train for Buffalo. After a short trip through the Eastern States they will take up residence in Belleville, where Dr. Goldsmith will join his father in the practice of medicine.

PERSONAL.

Mr. Charles Hendricks has returned from Toronto.

Mr. H. A. Fife, 77 Harvey street, is confined to his room through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Davis and Mr. Aaron Cox returned to town last evening from Toronto, where they were attending the wedding of Miss Alice Davis.

Miss Eva Deene, who is taking a course in the Kingston Hospital Training School for Nurses, is home for a few days recuperating after rather a severe attack of illness.

Ex-Conductor Dan Allen, who used to have a run on the C. P. R. between Toronto and Montreal, is reported to be dying from the effects of an accident whereby he lost his foot some time ago.

Dr. T. W. H. Young, a graduate of Trinity and other medical colleges of Toronto, and who has recently returned from Edinburgh and Glasgow, has opened a temporary office in Cox's new block, upstairs, opposite the Post Office.

The Latest Swindle.

A new swindle is being worked in a number of towns by two confederates in this manner. One of them goes into a store and purchases a small article, paying with a bill which has previously been marked. Picking up the change he departs. In a few minutes the other enters and buys a cigar. After standing around a few minutes he asks the clerk for his change. The swindler insists that he has paid, and remembers it very distinctly because the bill he gave the clerk had a very peculiar mark upon it, which he describes. The clerk looks in the till, finds the bill as describe, gives him his change, and apologises for detaining him.

Asking About the Lakes.

The following card received by Mr. Peter McIntyre of Toronto, clearly shows that there is a way to reach the summer tourist and that the Grand Trunk Railway advertising literature has a hemisphere circulation:—"Bogota, Columbia, South America, Feb. 18th, 1897: Dear Sir:—I beg you to send me pamphlets on the Muskoka and Midland lakes of Canada. I saw the announcement in a pamphlet of the Grand Trunk Railway System. Yours truly, R——G——." The President of the Muskoka Lakes Association has assured Mr. McIntyre that if this party comes up from South America this season they will see that they are well taken care of by the Association. Mr. John Holmes of the Burleigh Falls Hotel should look after these tourists.

An Amusing Entertainment.

The Kinecptescope at Bradburn's opera house last night drew an appreciative audience. The Blacksmith Scene was very realistic and drew forth loud applause. The African mother bathing her child created a good deal of merriment. The Leigh sisters in their acrobatic movements are exceedingly graceful, and make the finest motion pictures produced. The Fire Alarm, and At the Fire, with smoke and water effect, and the puffing of the steam fire engine, and the Cavalry Charge, are very exciting views. In addition to the scenes a very powerful graphophone is introduced, which can be heard quite distinctly in all parts of the House, giving selections from bands, soloists and orators. A very interesting part of the programme was the satisfactory reproduction of a record by Mr. George Adams of Peterborough. The motion pictures and graphophone are two of Edison's most wonderful inventions, and all who wish to keep pace with the age should not miss the opportunity of seeing it.

Ran Over a Skunk.

The approach of the 10:10 train from Peterborough last night, says the Port Hope Times, was heeded by an odor that disturbed the peace of the neighbourhood around the Midland depot. About a mile from town the engine ran over a polecat, and the odor that immediately pervaded the atmosphere almost derailed the train. As soon as the train stopped the passengers fairly rushed from the cars. Councillor Giddy was on board and he told Jack MacMullen, who was on his way home from the Dominion Day Committee meeting, that it was the worst experience he ever had in his life. A traveller on the train, representing a glue factory, was so overcome that he had to be carried to the Queen's and resuscitated with a bottle of Ambrose & Winslow's soda water. The members of a wedding party from Garden Hill were hanging half way out of the car windows, grasping for smelling salts, which were quickly supplied from Deyell's drug store. As the train pulled out it was noticed that the engineer and fireman took turns fanning each other. It is likely the engine will be sold for old iron as it can never be used again.

Mrs. E. B. Garneau, wife of president Quebec Board of Trade, writes: "'Quickcure' has always given instant relief to my children."

CHURCH UNITY.

Rev. Mr. Bennett's Reply to Rev. H. Symonds.

To Rev. H. Symonds:

MY DEAR SIR,—In a short note I wish to say that I cordially reciprocate the brotherly feeling expressed in your reply to my open letter. I am glad to find from it that there is, after all, so much harmony on the point about which we seemed to have differed.

With regard to the "mystification" to which you allude, I suppose it must have arisen from my failure to express myself clearly. The Baptists, as you indicate, are indeed quite as exclusive as it is desirable to be, but then they do not ask for or expect union on the basis of the "Historic Baptism." I made the supposition in my previous letter merely for the purpose of illustration and comparison. I am,

Yours very sincerely,
WM. BENNETT.

THE I. B. & O. RAILWAY, WHAT IT IS DOING.

A WELL BUILT ROAD THROUGH A ROMANTIC COUNTRY.

The Road a Godsend to the Settlers—Bancroft a Bustling Village in a Rich Dairying and Mineral District.

At the request of friends living in the north part of the county a representative of the Post took a prospecting trip over the Irondale, Bancroft & Ottawa Railway of which little is apparently known by Peterborough. A start was made by the train leaving Lindsay at 2 p.m., which reached the I. B. & O. junction at 4.40—22 miles from Lindsay—where a train, consisting of an engine, a very handsome and well appointed passenger coach, and a number of box cars loaded with miscellaneous freight for points on the road, was awaiting passengers. One of the box cars contained Manitoba flour from Winnipeg, which was consigned to a firm at Bancroft, near the terminus of the line. Good time was made, the locomotive being a new and powerful one.

The first stop made after leaving the Junction was at Irondale, which has a population of 100 inhabitants—busy people one would say, judging from the large piles of cordwood, telegraph poles, ties, birch and ash timber, etc., that were scattered along the track ready for shipment. Gooderham, the next station, displayed even a more prosperous condition of affairs as hundreds of cords of wood and large quantities of other forest produce crowded the station grounds. Gooderham has a population of several hundred souls; it has three general stores, two hotels—the Queen's being equal to any found in the north country—a lumber and shingle mill, which is doing a healthy business, making shipments of a couple of carloads a week, and several smaller industries. Wilberforce, the next station, 30 miles from the Junction,

IS THE COMPANY'S HEADQUARTERS.

Here is situated a well appointed shingle and lumber mill, which has been running steadily all winter and shipping at an average of two cars a week. From Wilberforce the train proceeded to the present terminus of the line, Baptiste Lake, which was reached at 8 o'clock p.m.

A trip over the I. B. & O. Railway in the summer time would no doubt be a very romantic and enjoyable experience. The roadbed follows the valley of the Burnt River, which is most picturesque. Shortly after passing Gooderham, the line follows a chain of lakes, nestling amid picturesque woods and towering cliffs. At one spot the road skirts a pretty lake by a causeway over two thousand feet in length. On one side is the sheet of water several miles in extent, and on the other towers a rock cliff, 400 feet high. The roadbed is in excellent condition, and shows with what care the construction has been carried forward. There are many heavy and expensive rock cuttings on the line, as well as several difficult fillings, but the company's policy has been not haste but security, which they have evidently attained. The road affords an outlet to the people of a rich section of country, which has been practically shut in from the rest of the world, and creates a market for the settlers, who have heretofore been compelled to sell their produce to the lumbermen. Much of the pine having disappeared the settlers would now be in a very bad shape if it were not that they can sell cordwood, telegraph poles, and other forest produce to buyers at the railway.

46 MILES FROM THE JUNCTION.

Four miles graded more and ready for the steel, and by August the road will be completed to Bird's Creek. At Baptiste Lake we were met by Mr. James Best, the genial proprietor of the Bird's Creek hotel, who drove us to his house for dinner, and a cleaner and a more comfortable hotel it would be hard to find. Mr. Best is always ready on receipt of a telephone message (which may be sent from any station along the line) to meet a passenger and drive him wherever he may desire to go. Bird's Creek is situated in an excellent farming country, five miles from the terminus of the I. B. & O. It has a large saw and shingle mill, one general store, a cheese factory and a blacksmith shop. The locality is noted for the excellent quality of hay grown. A drive of four miles from Bird's Creek brought us to bustling, go-a-head Bancroft, a most progressive village of over 500 inhabitants, which has until recently been dependent for an outlet upon the Central Ontario railway, some 16 miles distant. The village has a live weekly newspaper, The Bancroft Times, of which Mr. John Bremner is the editor and proprietor; a saw and shingle mill, grist mill, woollen mill, planing mill, five general stores, one drug store, three harness shops, one hardware store, a tinware store, a grocery and feed store, two jewellry stores and three blacksmith shops. There are four excellent churches in the village—Roman Catholic, Anglican, Methodist and Presbyterian. There are eighteen cheese factories in the district surrounding Bancroft, the output of which totals 6,000 pounds per month during the season.

The country covered by the I. B. & O. R. R. abounds with small lakes which are stocked with the choicest kind of fish, especially speckled and salmon trout. The lakes have been fished but little, and the region is truly a sportsman's paradise, where one could spend a month's outing fishing in two or more new lakes each day.

The most important feature of the country, however, is the mining industry, which is destined to play a leading part in the history of that section. There are a number of rich iron mines which assure a profit if worked, and several gold leads which on an assay showed splendid results; they are situated within a mile of Bancroft.

OBITUARY.

Death of Mr. Thos. Casement, of Inkster, Dak., Father of Mr. W. H. Casement, of Lakefield.

On Tuesday morning County Councillor W. H. Casement, Lakefield, received a telegram announcing the death of his father, which took place that morning at Inkster, North Dakota. Mr. Casement had been unwell more or less since January, but only recently was his illness considered serious. He was born 77 years ago in the county of Down, Ireland, and came to this country about the year 1840. His father and mother, and brothers, Robert and William, and sister, Mrs. Whitla and the Rev. Henry and Mrs. Wolseley, who have all passed away preceded him about two years. He was a resident of Douro till about twelve years ago when he moved to Inkster, North Dakota.

In the year 1852 he married Sarah, second daughter of the late John Nelson, who mourns his loss. By this union eleven children were born, eight of whom are still alive, viz: Mrs. J. Myers, and Mrs. Alsdorf, Inkster, North Dakota; and Mrs. Dilabough, Drayton, North Dakota; his sons, William. H., Lakefield; Robt. R. Madoc; Hugh, Walter and Alexander, Inkster, North Dakota.

Mr. Casement served for many years as a school trustee, when Lakefield was a part of a rural school section, and after incorporation he served on the Board of Trustees. In Dakota he was elected several terms a member of the Board of Supervisors for the township in which he lived. While here he was a Liberal in politics. In religion he was a Presbyterian, and shortly after coming to this country was elected an elder of that church, when Presbyterians worshipped in the log school house near the late Mr. Cullen's residence in Smith. He took an active part in church affairs and was a member of the Building Committee of the Presbyterian church on the 9th line, afterwards moved to the 11th line, now known as North Smith church, as well as a member of the building committee of the present stone edifice in Lakefield, which was completed in 1862. He is the last of the elders holding office at that time. After his removal to Inkster he was elected an elder of the church there, which position he held at the time of his death. His many friends in this section will regret to hear of his demise.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 40 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 20 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 85 or $2,500 on 10,000 bushels. Now advertise the purchase of Corn around 35 cts. for July. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.25; it will sell at $10 before it does at $8. Railroad stocks and bonds bought on the New York Stock Exchange for investment or on liberal margins. Call me up on long distance 'phone and I can execute your order while you wait in New York, Boston or Chicago.

"PENNY WISE, POUND FOOLISH."

BUYING a poor bicycle is like buying a poor watch or a poor horse, penny wise and pound foolish. Poor watches make rich watchmakers, poor horses produce wealthy veterinary surgeons, and a poor bicycle is a constant source of revenue to the bicycle repair man. If all bicycles were made of as good material as the Brantford RED BIRD, as carefully constructed, as thoroughly tested before leaving the factory, the bicycle repair man would soon become extinct, but, unfortunately, they are not and he continues to thrive and multiply in numbers. To ride the entire season without a cent for repairs is the rule with RED BIRD riders.

NURSING.

MRS. CHAS. ROBINSON,

Trained Nurse, is very successful in all kinds of Diseases. Maternity cases a specialty. Mrs. Robinson has had a long experience in the old country hospitals. REFERENCES—Southern Hotel, P. O. Box 787, town. 6w8m

Love is the sun of woman's life. Its dawning is the maiden's tender sentiment; it brightens into the steady affection of the contented wife, and reaches its glorious noontide in the happy mother. Happy motherhood is a true woman's loftiest ambition. Her highest pride is in her fitness to fulfill this grand and sacred destiny. Nothing so clouds and darkens her existence as to be incapacitated for this noblest of womanly functions by weakness or disease.

A woman who suffers from any ailment of the delicate special organism of her sex, feels something more than pain and physical wretchedness. She is mortified with a sense of womanly incompleteness.

But no woman need remain under this cloud of misery and dissatisfaction. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription positively cures all diseased conditions and weaknesses, and restores complete health and strength to the feminine organs.

It is the only medicine of its kind devised for this one purpose by an educated and experienced physician, and eminent specialist in this particular field of practice.

It is the only medicine which can be relied upon to make the ordeal of motherhood absolutely safe and almost painless.

"I cannot say too much for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss Clara Baird, of Bridgeport, Montgomery Co., Penn'a. "I feel it my duty to say to all women who may be suffering from any disease of the womb that it is the best medicine on earth for them to use. I cannot praise it too highly for the good it did me. If any one doubts this give them my name and address."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate the stomach, liver and bowels. Of all medicine dealers.

IT RAINED OYSTER SOUP.

Queer Yarn of an Engineer and How He Saved His Train.

He was more than an ordinarily accomplished liar for an amateur, and they all knew it when they asked him for a story, says The Chicago Times-Herald.

"I can tell you how I once ran an engine and saved a train load of people with an oyster stew if you want to know, but I don't think of anything more exciting than that," he said, apologetically.

"That's good enough," they all declared. "Give us that."

"All right, then; here goes," he said, as he settled back in his chair. "I was once engineer on a road that ran for a long distance through the forests of northern Wisconsin, and we were frequently bothered by forest fires. They were particularly bad at the time I speak of. One day I had run through one big blaze, only to find that there was a bigger one ahead. The worst of it was we were low on water, and there was no chance to fill the tank without dashing through the fire ahead of us. I sent the fireman out to see if we had enough to make the run, but he came back and told me the boiler was almost dry.

"I was puzzled for a while. It was death to all of us I knew to stay there, but how to get out was the question. Suddenly a happy thought struck me. There was a milk car just behind the first baggage, and I made for it. 'How much milk have you got?' I says to the fellow in charge. 'About forty cans, I guess,' he answered. 'Why do you ask?' 'Never mind,' says I. 'What's that in those cans in the corner?' 'Oysters,' he answered. 'But why do you want to know?' 'Never you mind,' I told him and then I ordered the other train hands who had come up to see why we had stopped to tote that milk and those oysters up to the engine. They did it in spite of the kicking of the milkman, and when they had brought them up I ordered them all chucked into the tank. The conductor came up, too, and declared it was a funny notion to be making oyster stew in an engine boiler, when we were in danger of being burned alive, but I soon convinced him that it was necessary if we did not want to stay there and roast.

"Well, we finally dumped in all the milk and all the oysters and started ahead. You ought to have smelled the steam that came back into that engine cab. It would have made you think of an old time church festival. Whew! how that soup did smell. It made the engine jump, though, and that was all we wanted. We got up a great head of steam in no time, and the way we plunged through that next fire belt was a caution. As we pulled up at the station just beyond I opened up and began to whistle. A great cloud of oyster soup or vapor shot into the sky, of course, and didn't come down till we were far out of sight. Then it settled like a thick fog, oysters, soup and all. Everybody noticed it, of course, and there was a country scientist in the town who was sure it was the greatest phenomenon of the age. It was raining oyster soup up there he was sure and the next issue of the weekly papers were full of it—not the soup, but the news of it. After the residents up that way had all swallowed it—not the soup, but the story—we told them about it, and that was the silliest looking scientist I ever saw."

A Triumph Won

TO FURNISH A KITCHEN.

A List of Articles Necessary For a Well-Furnished Kitchen.

"The trouble with many housekeepers," said Mrs. Lemcke, one of the chief culinary apostles in New York, "is that they expect their cooks to get them up Delmonico dinners and either give them utensils and no materials, or materials and no utensils, or they expect the same dinner and give the cooks neither. You cannot cook unless you have the proper things to cook with.

"People will spend $100 for folderols for their parlors and begrudge every cent spent on the kitchen. Then if they do get a supply of kitchen utensils, they expect them to last forever. You have to keep buying for the kitchen all the time. Things will wear out. Even human beings can't last forever.

"First in the list of things necessary for the kitchen I should mention a nest of saucepans, from the largest to the smallest, seven or eight of them with handles.

"There must be an iron soup kettle. I use the steel, but the iron will do as well, and a ham boiler also of iron. The iron is cheaper. There must be three frying pans—the iron are better than other kinds—large, medium, and small; two double boilers, a one and a two quart, or a pint and a quart, according to the size of the family. For bread pans I like the round ones which fold over. It takes a little longer to make the bread in them. If this kind is not used, there must be two brick pans. There must be six round pans for layer cake, I use those for fluted edges. The cake comes out of them without any difficulty, and I think they are prettier than those with plain edges.

"There must be two fluted forms with a tube in the centre for wine babas," she went on presently, "small tins for wine cake, timbal molds, one dozen; a set of cutters for cake, biscuit, and puff paste, round or fluted—I prefer the round. There must be a nest of vegetable cutters and two small paint brushes to brush different dishes over with butter.

"You will need one-half dozen small wooden spoons, and this is the proper kind." The spoon that Mrs. Lemcke exhibited had a bowl flat and rather square in shape, and from the shallow nose of the bowl more like a paddle than a spoon. "These are excellent for beating cake. Infinitely superior to the regular spoons. I have mine made for me. They have had them in the stores, but there was no demand for them, and they have not been kept in stock. They must be of assorted sizes. There must be at least eight mixing bowls of stone ware; the yellow is as good as the white. There must be one or two jelly forms of tin, measuring cups—a quart, pint, one-half pint and gill, and a small tea scale, with weights from one-quarter to a pound.

"The preserving kettle can be of steel or of imported blueware. You will need one-half dozen shallow tin pans, 1 inch deep, 11 inches long, and 5 inches wide, for coffee cake, puff paste, cookies, etc., and two square pans for molasses cake. The frying kettle of iron can be bought with the sieve and all attached. The long covered fish kettle is provided with a drainer. Of knives and forks there must be half a dozen of each, a broiler, a toaster and a colander.

"There must be one soup and one sauce strainer, a nutmeg grater, lemon squeezer, ladle for dipping soups, pudding forms with a tube in the centre of each, two pudding pans for rice and other puddings, two deep dishes for chicken pie, four pie plates, a large and small roasting pan, molding pan, and board and rolling pin, three wooden buckets for flour, powdered and granulated sugar, a chopping board and a chopping bowl and knife.

"A carving knife must be included and a large fish knife. The latter are used for many things, chopping, cutting up, etc. There must be half a dozen common plates, two cups and saucers, and other little utensils. There will be skimmers, half a dozen tablespoons, half a dozen teaspoons, a funnel, medium-sized, of tin; an egg beater, little scalloped tin molds for cake, tin scoops for flour and sugar."

"The bread and cake box will be of tin. There must be spice boxes and a nest of boxes for rice, raisins, etc. The salt box should hang on the wall, and there must be a vinegar jug and a molasses jug. A meat grinder is very important for Hamburger steaks, and preparing forcemeats. An ice cream freezer that will hold two quarts will be valuable. I like an odorless ice chest.

"That will be a satisfactory outfit for a family of six persons."

She Wanted to See and See She Did.

On Wednesday afternoon a large blonde lady—good-looking, too—passed by the messengers who guard the part of the senate wing which is reserved exclusively for the press. As she went by one of the messengers said:

"That is private, madam."

"Oh, I just want to look out of the window," she replied and walked along.

The messenger hurried after her and continued: "But this is private and you are not permitted to go back there."

She didn't blink an eyelash, but walked along.

"I beg your pardon," said the messenger, coming up with her.

"Oh, you can come along with me if you want to," she replied, smiling at him sweetly. "I want to see what is to be seen from this window."

And she did.—Washington Post.

Reflections of a Bachelor.

The more people agree with us the more use we generally have for their opinions.

Some women seem to think they can influence a man in about the same way they shoo chickens.

As soon as a girl gets married all the other women watch her to see how soon she will begin to age.

When a girl has been told that she has a spiritual face she begins to try to put on a dreamy, rapt expression.

A woman never feels that real joy of shopping till she has mussed another woman's hair at a bargain counter.

A girl will give a man a silver flask with a monogram on it for a Christmas present and then get mad if he uses it.—New York Press.

MGR. MERY DEL VAL AT QUEBEC.

He Listened to the Sweet Music of the Ladies of the Ursuline Convent.

Quebec, March 31.—The Papal delegate celebrated mass in the Ursuline Convent Chapel this morning. The convent ladies sang the service to the accompaniment of pianos, harps, guitars and mandolins. His Excellency's secretary was Abbe Pennetiere, who declared afterwards that more delicious music is seldom heard anywhere.

Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Provincial Attorney-General, had a lengthy interview with His Eminence this afternoon. The delegate then called on Mayor Parent at the City Hall.

A reception was given at the Cardinal's Palace in Mgr. Mery Del Val's honor this evening. The great red drawing room presented a busy scene about 8.30, when the representative society of Quebec hastened to present its homage to the envoy. Ladies were present in large numbers.

In an interview, His Excellency said he would leave by the C.P.R. to-morrow at 9 a.m., and would only spend a few hours at Three Rivers, and a day at Montreal, proceeding at once to Ottawa to enter upon the duty assigned to him by the Pope. He expressed himself as much gratified at the cordial reception he met with yesterday.

The Papal delegate will probably reside while in Ottawa in a private house, or with one of the religious communities, where he will make his headquarters during his stay in Canada.

The Rev. Canons Bardi and Beland of Three Rivers arrived here this afternoon to accompany His Excellency to the Trifluvian City to-morrow.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a few days.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 389 George Street.

Health and vigor are imparted to the system by the use of Adams' Tutti Frutti.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

A POLISH GIRL'S LOCK OF HAIR.

Hedwiga, Countess of Wasilewski, was a beautiful Polish girl, with a patriotic love of her own country.

Her father had been sent to Siberia by the Russian Government for writing a powerful pamphlet upon the wrongs of Poland. Her mother, left alone and desolate, endeavored to bring her children up with a wholesome dread of revolutionary projects; and Halina, her eldest daughter, as gentle as she was beautiful, was acknowledged by all to be absolutely innocent of any association with patriotic schemes for the deliverance of her country.

Hedwiga, however, was made of different metal; perhaps her father's blood ran more strongly in her veins, for from her earliest youth Polish literature, Polish songs, Polish patriots excited her passionate enthusiasm.

The Countess of Wasilewski and her two daughters were passing the winter in Warsaw when a letter arrived one morning from an influential friend at the Russian Court, to say that if they would all come immediately to St. Petersburg he could arrange an interview with the Czar, when she could plead for the return of her husband, and there was little doubt that the petition would be granted under certain reasonable conditions.

The Countess, overjoyed at the prospect of the Count's return, at once gave a reception to her friends before leaving Warsaw.

The large apartments, brilliantly illuminated, quickly filled with bright and animated guests. One specially handsome young man sought out Hedwiga from the first with ardent admiration shining in his dark eyes.

At last he found a long desired opportunity of speaking to her alone. He noticed that a small room leading out of the saloon was deserted, every one having clustered around the piano in the large apartment, and, without delay, he led her into it.

"And so, Hedwiga, you are going to St. Petersburg?"

"Yes," she answered, "the day after to-morrow."

"And when do you return?"

"I cannot say, but I hope as soon as possible, for I hate going. I hate to leave my own dear, beautiful country to go to Russia. I hate to think we are to cringe before the oppressor of our race. Even to obtain the release of my father I would not so humble myself if I were a free agent—I, one of the last of the race of Wasilewski!" and her blue eyes flashed fire, while she clenched her hands nervously.

Andre watched her admiringly, then his face changed and a quick look came over it. He glanced anxiously around him, then, laying his hand on hers, he whispered:

"Hedwiga, do you really love Poland? Then will you do something to help on the cause? Hush! People are coming! We must do nothing to excite suspicion. Come, look at these photographs. There, they have passed! Hedwiga, can you think of some way in which you can conceal a paper and carry it to St. Petersburg? Can you do this for your country?"

"I can and will; come and see us to-morrow at 4 o'clock and I will find an opportunity of speaking to you alone. This is a good photograph of Paris!" she continued aloud; "but we have been looking at them long enough. We must join the others in the music room."

The guests had all left and the lights were out in every apartment but one, and there sat Hedwiga, deep in thought.

"They are sure to search us," she murmured to herself. "Where, oh where shall I hide the paper which Andre will give me?"

Suddenly her eyes lit up. "Yes, that will do!" she cried aloud. Then she undressed, combed out her long, magnificent hair and was soon fast asleep.

The next day Andre was to come, and all the afternoon the girl waited about in frightful anxiety, lest she should fail in obtaining a few minutes alone with him.

On his arrival he was shown into the room where her mother and sister were seated, and all hope of a private interview seemed at an end. Hedwiga was distracted. At last in desperation, she walked to the end of the long salon, stumbled, gave a little cry and fell.

Andre rushed, as she expected, to her assistance.

"It's nothing," she cried to her mother; "I have only twisted my ankle." Then, in a whisper: "Quick, give me the paper; I can do it!"

"You will guard it?"

"With my life!" And she thrust the roll into the front of her dress.

"It is not like you, my daughter, to be awkward. What was the matter?" asked her mother, from behind the tea urn.

"Nothing, indeed, mother, dear. I caught my foot in a rug, and in trying to save myself I twisted my ankle," Hedwiga answered, the color flying into her cheek at the lie she was forced to utter.

As soon as Andre had made his adieux, the Countess called her favorite daughter to her side.

"My dear child, Andre loves you. Is it not so? I like him very much, so I am pleased to see his affection for you; but we must wait till your father is once more safe among us. While he is pining in exile we canont be thinking of marriage. Is it not so, my child?"

At last she gained her own room. She drew down the blinds, and locked the door, and then she took out of a drawer of the dressing table a large pair of scissors. She let down her beautiful hair, and cut off with great care and discretion several gleaming tresses, which she laid each separately on her table till she had quite a row of long golden strands before her.

She drew the small roll from her breast, and cutting a piece of cambric from a fine handkerchief, she stitched the little parcel up in it. Then taking the hair she sewed one long strand after another upon the cambric, fastening the hair only at the ends and letting it hang down its full length over the packet, till at last it was completely hidden and enveloped in red shining tresses, which hung in her hand as she held it in natural varying lengths, like a false tail of hair in a coiffeur's window.

Then she took one last piece, and twisting it into a fine rope she sewed it strongly at the top of the improvised tail, and, with a sigh of relief at the completion of the first part of her troublesome task, she laid it on the table.

Her next move was to brush the hair which hung about her like a glory. She made a swift parting over her face and down the back; then taking up the tail of hair from the table she plaited the fine little rope into a small piece of that which grew on her head, just above the nape of the neck, letting the tail hang down several inches by the twisted strand. Then she turned back her own beautiful hair and rolled the whole glistening mass into a heavy knot behind her head. Her plan was accomplished; but would it succeed in escaping detection?

The next day they started on their journey, wrapped in furs from head to foot, and traveled comfortably till they arrived at a station about ten miles from St. Petersburg, where they had to wait an hour.

A young and good-looking Russian officer came up to their carriage, saying that he was too distressed, but that he was compelled to carry out most painful orders which he had received at headquarters. The fact was that the Government had received information from Warsaw that a dangerous paper was now on its way to St. Petersburg and that it was his most disagreeable duty to cause them to be searched.

"And do you suppose, young man," said the Countess, sternly, "that I, on my way to crave a boon from the Czar, would choose this occasion to be the bearer of a paper, which, if found in my possession, would ruin all my hopes and cause me to be forever separated from my husband? Do you think this is likely?"

The young officer bowed and remained silent, but fixed his keen eyes on Hedwiga's face.

The supreme moment had arrived and all the girl's courage came to her rescue. Her eyes met those of the young officer with quiet disdain. Till now she had started at every sound. She had even wondered why she had been so rash as to undertake such a mission at such a moment, but now she was the first to take the initiative.

"Come, dear mother," she said, calmly. "I am sure the gentleman will do the best he can to make this insult as little odious as possible. We must not, dare not, complain; and we have nothing to fear."

The three ladies were conducted into a private office where a female searcher awaited them.

The Countess, then Halina were subjected to a merely nominal examination; but when it came to Hedwiga's turn the woman allowed no article on her dress to pass unnoticed, even to unstitching the lining of her shoes and closely scrutinising each fold of her gown.

"I cannot understand why she is so much more particular with you," said Halina, impatiently, but Hedwiga understood—some one must have overheard her tete-a-tete with Andre, and hence this careful search. Just as she had finished dressing, the woman said civilly:

"Will you kindly take down your hair? I regret giving you the trouble, but it is an important part of my duty."

"Certainly," said Hedwiga courteously; "it is only done up with two large pins," and in one moment the rain of thick gold fell down her back. As it dropped she thought she heard distinctly the paper rustle, but, without moving a muscle of her face, she took one of the long tortoiseshell pins and handed it to the woman.

"You can see for yourself," she said, as she passed the other through her hair.

"There is no need," the woman answered. "I am quite satisfied; and, now, ladies, you must make haste, as the train will start immediately."

Hedwiga walked, leaving her hair streaming behind her, and was met at the door by the young officer, who saw them into the train with numerous apologies.

Just as Hedwiga was stepping into the carriage he bent forward to assist her, and a piece of her hair caught on one of the buttons of his coat. He stooped and disentangled it slowly.

"Forgive me again," he murmured, "but it is a pleasure to touch such hair as this."

Hedwiga bowed; her voice had deserted her.

Five minutes after they steamed out of the station for the only time in her life Hedwiga fainted.

Arrived at St. Petersburg one of the first men that she met in the hotel gave her the password that was written for her instructions on the cover of the packet—he was a tutor in an English family resident in St. Petersburg.

Hedwiga flew to her room. A pair of scissors quickly disclosed the packet; she thrust it into her dress, and in five minutes it was in the possession of the young Polish tutor.

"What have you been doing?" cried Halina, coming into the room; "cutting off your hair? And such a quantity, too!"

"Never mind, darling; I am happy now. I have had such a weight on my head of late, and now it is quite gone. I know I have been irritable and disagreeable the last few days, but it is all over now," and she threw her arms around her sister's neck.

"But your beautiful hair, dear?"

"Oh, never mind that," and opening the door of the stove, Hedwiga threw in the tail and let it burn.

Thus the paper safely reached its destination and the object of their journey, too, was successful. The Count was allowed, by the clemency of the Czar, to return to Poland with his wife and daughters, and it was a happy day when they regained their own home and were welcomed by their friends.

Hedwiga was radiant. Andre came at once to congratulate them on the release of the Count; and in the Countess' little sitting-room they found a quiet corner in which to talk.

"Oh, Hedwiga, my darling, I have been so miserable while you were away! I hardly closed my eyes. I cursed myself again and again for having placed you in such a position of danger. Had anything happened to you I had made up my mind to get myself arrested and sent into exile, too. Can you forgive me, Hedwiga? I was thoughtless, mad! I ought to have thought of you first."

"Not before your country, Andre."

"Yes, before everything! But now, my own, you will be my wife, and then I shall learn better how to take care of you," and Andre clasped her in his arms.

"Yes, I will marry you with my father's consent, Andre."

The consent was easily gained, the date of the marriage fixed, and the wedding trousseau was in preparation when one day the Count, with a very serious expression on his face, called Hedwiga to his study.

"My dear child," he said; "I have just had a visit from an English friend of mine. His wife wants a companion to accompany her back to England. Will you go with her?"

"Papa, I am to be married next week! What can you mean?" the girl exclaimed. "Are you mad?"

"Hush!" he answered. "Look at this," and he put a letter in her hand. It ran thus:

From a friend.—"Your daughter is to be apprehended for concealing and carrying a seditious paper to St. Petersburg two months ago. If she wishes to know who sends her this warning tell her it is the Russian officer who keeps a piece of golden hair always next his heart. She will understand."

Hedwiga read and understood.

Hedwiga in her exile—when her body lived but her soul dead—heard that on the very day of her departure for England Andre was arrested and sent to Siberia.

She still waits for him, but she knows she will never see him again but through the gates of death.

THE BLOOD

A Remarkable Cure

Dear Sirs,—My blood became impure on account of the hearty food I ate in the cold weather. Ambition, energy and success forsook me. My skin became yellow, my liver was lumpy and hard, my appetite was gone, and the days and nights passed in unhappiness and restlessness. For some months I tried doctors and patent medicines of every description, but received no benefit. Being advised by a friend to try B.B.B., I am glad to have the opportunity of testifying to the miraculous result. When the fifth bottle was finished my health was completely restored. I enjoy good health now, and have done so ever since the happy day I used B.B.B.

BISLEY MEN ON DECK

They All Want to Go to England This Year.

SIR DONALD SMITH AT OTTAWA

He Wants Magic Lantern Views to Exhibit in the Old Land to Show That Canada is Not a Wilderness—Militia Orders—Notes From the Capital.

Ottawa, April 1.—(Special.)—Out of the first twenty on the list for the Bisley team, 19 acceptances have been received. There is a great desire on the part of riflemen to go to Bisley this year. Possibly some of the men will be permitted to leave ahead of the regular sailing of the team. A militia general order contains a direction from General Gascoigne that when the ranges for the Morris practice are fitted up in drill halls, their use should be confined to militiamen.

Sir Donald Smith is again in the city conferring with the Ministers on matters of importance. Speaking to your correspondent to-day he said his request to the different cities to supply him with views was designed with the object of having lantern slides made of them in order that when exhibited in England they might prove to disabuse the minds of the people that this is but a backwoods country or a second Siberia.

The Capital seems to be the Mecca of mining promoters just now. Ald. Andrews of Winnipeg is here trying to dispose of valuable property in the Slocan, while George H. Campbell and D. F. Blackwood of Winnipeg have on exhibition at the Russell House a splendid collection of ores from Mine Centre, in the Rainy River District, which have attracted great attention. The specimens come from the Ferguson, Preston, Foley and other mines. The samples were brought here for the purpose of showing to the members of the Government the resources of that district, in connection with the deputation which waited on the Government with regard to the building of the Ontario & Rainy River Railway.

In the militia general orders issued to-day are contained regulations respecting examinations passed by the officers under the Queen's regulations for promotion; regulations respecting the character of a non-commissioned officer or soldier when discharged; regulations respecting uniform inspection of cavalry; amendments to the "Infantry Drill, 1896," "Musketry Instructions (Lee-Metford rifle and carbine), 1896," and "Rifle and Carbine Exercises (Lee-Metford), 1896."

The Department of the Interior has agreed to co-operate with the Manitoba Government in sending a couple of delegates to London to endeavor to settle with the British Government the difficulties arising out of the Crofter enlargements. It is likely J. Lawlor of Killarney and John Nicholson of the crofter settlement will be the delegates.

Mrs. Ed Gravelle of Cumberland-street threatens an action for damages against the city for the death of her husband, whom she alleges died from diphtheria owing to "the neglect of the Medical Health Officer to attend her husband when summoned, and to provide for his treatment in the hospital with the remedies usually employed in combatting this malady." Dr. Robillard states he had the patient removed to the hospital, as was his duty, and had nothing whatever to do with the man's treatment thereafter.

James A. Smart commenced his duties as Deputy Minister of Interior today.

When the papal ablegate, Mousignor Mery Del Val, visits Ottawa University he will meet with a grand reception from the faculty and students. Addresses in French and English will be delivered. It is not expected that the distinguished visitor will arrive here until Monday.

A writ was issued in the High Court to-day for Maclean, Roger & Co. against Lieut.-Governor C. H. Mackintosh. It is to recover $1433, claimed for printing office supplies and arrears in rent, and money paid for the benefit of the defendant.

Mr. Maclean will ask if the C.P.R. has yet commenced construction of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass and if the Government intends to allow them to begin work without first completing negotiations now going on for modifications in the clauses of the company's charter in the matter of construction of branch lines and regulation of rates and tolls charged by the company.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell and Mr. Le Riviere, M.P., addressed a meeting of Le Club Conservateur here to-night on political questions.

Dr. Sproule made his first appearance for the session to-day, and was warmly greeted by friends on both sides of the House.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Mrs. Davies entertained the following ladies and gentlemen at dinner to-night: The Speaker and Mrs. Edgar, Hon. A. G. and Mrs. Blair, the Solicitor-General and Mrs. Fitzpatrick, Mrs. (Justice) MacMahon, Mr. W. C. Edwards, M. P., and Mrs. Edwards, Mr. Bostock, M. P., and Mrs. Bostock, the Deputy Minister of Justice and Mrs. Newcombe, Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Barberton, M. L. A., and Mr. Rogers, M. L. A. (Charlottetown).

Mr. Edward Farrer is in town.

LIEUT.-GOVERNOR KIRKPATRICK.

His Honor Will Sail for Home on April 21 —Is Now at Brighton and Feels Much Better.

Brighton, Eng., April 1.—(Telegram cable.)—I saw Hon. George A. Kirkpatrick, Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario, to-day and he looks remarkably well. He is able to walk with the aid of a stick, and states that he feels much better for his sojourn in Brighton. He hopes to be able to leave for London on Monday or Tuesday next, where he will remain for a fortnight and then sail for home. During his stay here he enjoyed a daily airing in a Bath chair. He will take the journey to London in an invalid carriage.

Death of Lord Plunket.

Dublin, April 1.—The Most Reverend William C. Plunket, D.D. (Lord Plunket), Protestant Archbishop of Dublin, died here this morning after a brief illness.

William Conyngham Plunket was born in 1828, elected Bishop of Meath in 1876, and translated to the Archbishopric of Dublin in 1884. He was a member of the Senate of the Royal University of Ireland.

Since the article appeared by Dr. Ievers in the last issue, a large number of testimonials from outside and impartial sources, have been sent to us as to the value of "Quickcure." Eminent physicians express the same opinion from practical experience in its use in boils and wounds. We have had practical proof of its value in a burn, and repeated experience in its efficacy in exposed pulps, and various pathological conditions of the gums and the mouth. Dr. Ievers, of Quebec city, has for over eleven years had such invariable success with his preparation, that he had little trouble to persuade many of his colleagues to experiment in the same direction, and the general consensus of professional opinion has been decidedly in its favour.

THE DEBATE CLOSED

And the Address Passed Without a Division.

MR. FRASER WAS THE FIRST SPEAKER

Mr. McNeill Falls in Line With the Government's Policy on the School Question—Mr. McMullen Chaffs Mr. Wallace—Hon. John Costigan is Not Satisfied.

Ottawa, April 2.—(Special.)—The election for Winnipeg may be expected very shortly, the Speaker having today issued his warrant for a writ for a new election.

The debate on the address was continued by Mr. Fraser of Guysboro.

After routine in the House yesterday, Mr. Speaker announced that he had issued his warrant for the writ for Winnipeg, the seat having been vacated by judgment of the courts, unseating Mr. Macdonald.

Mr. Fraser (Guysboro) accused the Opposition of having coolled in their ardor for the Manitoba minority, and of being divided in their allegiance to former principles. The Conservative party having put themselves on the shoulders of the bishops, who failed to bring them to power, are now on the other tack, howling because a delegate has been brought from Rome, said he. For himself he believed it made little difference who brought the message so long as it was a correct message. It might be as well charged against the Speaker as a fault that he should appeal to the Presbyterian Assembly, supposing that church court sat outside of Canada. The talk of Papal aggression was unworthy and unmanly. He ridicaled the suggestion of a Federal law to punish clerical terrorism in political matters. Then he turned his attention to the Conservative benches and chaffed different members for the discordant position which in his judgment they occupied. He said that nine or ten years ago when the Grand Old Man of Ontario returned from England, flushed with triumph, and there was a great demonstration in his honor, Major Hughes rode a white horse and carried a banner. "What was inscribed on that banner?"

Bennett: Business is business. [Loud laughter.]

No, it was Mowat and Victory. Continuing, he said it was unseemly to discuss the tariff before it was brought down. [Cheers.]

Mr. McNeill said he was heartily glad to know that the school question was settled. Some details he did not agree with, but, taken on the whole, it was a most admirable one. From first to last he held the proper course was, "Hands off Manitoba." Dealing with the position of the Solicitor-General, he said that it might appear as if Mr. Fitzpatrick had broken faith with his bishop. But in justice to the Solicitor-General, he desired to say that if he had given a pledge to a bishop in return for political support, and that support was not forthcoming, he would certainly not feel himself bound by the pledge he had given.

Proceeding, Mr. McNeill demanded an explicit statement of the reasons for substituting Mr. Charles Russell as Canadian Solicitor in London for Bompar, Bischoff, & Co. Had the trip to Rome anything to do with it? Continuing, Mr. McNeill read from the appeal to Rome, to show that the relief desired was not spiritual but political. It pointed out that the existing state of affairs constituted a grave danger to the constitution of the country. "Was that not political?"

Mr. Sutherland: "They asked for civil liberty."

Mr. McNeill: And must we appeal to Rome for civil liberty? So far as civil liberty went, he believed the Liberal party in Quebec did at the outset of the campaign enter upon a fight for civil and religious liberty against ecclesiastical domination. They were very brave to begin with, those Liberals, but at the very first shot from the enemy, the suppression of a Liberal paper, the whole Liberal party turned tail and ran for shelter. And where did they run to? To the very chief of their ecclesiastical forces, and before him they grovelled, praying him for God's sake to intervene between the land and the captains of his hosts. In this they betrayed the liberties of the people, by calling in to their assistance the very power they professed to defy. In conclusion, Mr. McNeill said that when this action of the Liberals came to be understood by the people of Canada, it would be held worthy of their complete condemnation.

Mr. McMullen defended the appeal to the Pope, because it was a protest against the imposition of spiritual pains and penalties upon Liberals. He would like to see Mr. Wallace introduce a bill to provide that no Roman Catholic elector should, by reason of having voted for Mr. Laurier, be denied the sacraments of the Roman Catholic Church; and that such deprivation on the part of bishop or priest should be a misdemeanor. Would he bring in such a bill?

Mr. Wallace: "My bill would have but one clause. It would declare it to be a criminal offence for anyone in Canada to intimidate or threaten in any way an elector in the exercise of the franchise."

Mr. McMullen said that we had such a law already, but would the honorable gentleman enforce it, that law to oblige a priest to accord to the body of a Roman Catholic burial in consecrated ground?

Mr. Wallace: "That has already been decided in the Guibord case."

Mr. McMullen, continuing, said it was absurd to characterize the petition as a political appeal.

Hon. John Costigan, resuming the debate after recess, held that on every question upon which the people had been appealed to last election, the country had endorsed the Conservative policy. While he would be glad to see the Manitoba School question settled, with the record he had made for himself for consistency, at all events, he could not stand in his place in the House and declare that settlement a satisfactory one. The question was not dead and buried, nor would it be while the constitutional guarantees to minorities remained part of our charter of national existence, and yet rights under them were withheld. From the day that Parliament was seised with jurisdiction for redress, this power and obligation remained with Parliament. It was not as an old Conservative, or as a Roman Catholic, that he opposed this settlement, for he would solemnly assert that, were he a Protestant, he would take exactly the same ground. [Applause.] It was with reluctance he touched upon the mission from Rome, and because the House was not apprised of the object of that mission he thought too much had been said about it already. In signing the memorial to His Holiness, Mr. Tarte and his friends were quite within their rights, but with the discussion of this matter in advance of the report upon the investigation of Mgr. Mery del Val he did find fault. This talk, therefore, about a delegate coming here to run this country was a tempest in a teapot, a cry that was too silly for Canadians to indulge in in this advanced age. He took a fling at Mr. McMullen, whose sympathy, rather than his sneers, he fully expected. "I'm out," said Mr. Costigan, "after having been in. He's out, never having been able to get in at all." [Laughter.]

Going back to his early career in Parliament, Mr. Costigan said he first became a Conservative because of the policy of toleration, patriotism and equal rights to all as upheld by Sir John Macdonald and Sir G. E. Cartier. That was the policy of the Conservative party to-day, else he would not be Conservative. If the policy of the Conservative party was to make a dead letter of the constitution he would forsake such a party.

Then, addressing himself to Mr. Clarke, for whose open avowal of opinion he expressed admiration, Mr. Costigan asked how much more noble it would be in that honorable gentleman, although disbelieving in separate schools, to say, as one of the Protestant majority: I shall see to it that faith shall be kept with the Roman Catholic minority. As to clerical interference he could tell the House that in his province the English-speaking clergy of the Roman Catholic Church were mostly Liberal. Now, all the circumstances of the mandement taken into consideration, could it be said that the return of Mr. Laurier was a triumph over the clergy of Quebec? The mandement left all free to vote for whomsoever they would, provided the candidate was one who would promise justice to the Manitoba minority, and nearly all the candidates on both sides gave that pledge. He did not cavil at the exercise of citizenship by the clergy of all denominations, for they were surely better fitted to advise the people than many who at election times were sent to persuade the electorate.

On the subject of the Queen's Jubilee reference in the speech, Mr. Costigan grew truly eloquent. He endorsed all that had been said in recognition of the beneficence of Her Majesty's reign and the splendid growth of the Empire, and when the great monument to her Jubilee is to be erected, how it would add to the enthusiasm with which it would be hailed were it to be rounded off with a tablet subscribed to Home Rule for Ireland! Yet, were it not to be, none the less would Irishmen join heartily in the acclaim which would arise throughout the Empire in congratulation upon the event, still hoping that before her glorious reign was ended Her Majesty would sign a bill, and he knew it would be a pleasure to her to do so, giving to Ireland a measure of home rule enjoyed in this Dominion of Canada.

After giving contradiction to the numerous reports as to his early retirement, Mr. Costigan closed amidst applause from both sides of the House by trusting that he would continue to enjoy the courteous regard of members on both sides.

Mr. Britton disagreed with the idea of sending Canadian military representatives to London, fearing that they would be eclipsed in the parade beside the trained troops of England, and perchance of the warlike nations of the earth. He thought the attendance of Mr. Laurier would be sufficiently representative of this Dominion. He spoke at some length on the school question, holding that Manitoba was well within its right in passing the School Act. He trusted the question was now dead forever, so far as Parliament was concerned.

On the franchise question he believed that anything would be better than the present act, although he had his doubts about a varied franchise for the Dominion.

The address then passed without a division.

A committee was appointed to strike the usual committees.

On motion of Mr. Laurier the Debates Committee was appointed as follows: Messrs. Beausoleil, Bergeron, Charlton, Choquette, Craig, Davis, Earle, Ellis, Haley, LaRiviere, Monet, Richardson, Scriver, Somerville and Taylor.

The House adjourned at 10.40 o'clock.

COL. VASSOS' STORY

Says He Has Established Good Order in Crete.

HE BLAMES THE GREAT POWERS

And Says the Statement That He Had Declared War Against Europe Was Ridiculous—Wanton Waste of Provisions in Order to Keep Them From the Insurgents.

London, April 2.—The Canea correspondent of The Chronicle sends a despatch to that paper in which he says that the following incidents have occurred during the current week.

A force of British marines with guns went to Tripeti in Sphakia and searched the houses there for provisions, which, whenever they were found, were destroyed, lest they should be used by the insurgents. A similar expedition went to a village near Selino searching for flour and grain. Two warships, one of which was British, sent armed boats to Kolumbari to seize small mercantile craft that were lying at that place. The peasants refused to surrender the vessels, whereupon the marines threatened to destroy the village. Eventually the boats were yielded.

The most astounding incident reported, however, is the following: A British detachment which was sent to Kissamo Kastelli passed chains around the houses of certain Christians. Cables were then attached to the chains and these were passed to war ships, which pulled upon them until the houses fell.

The correspondent of The Standard makes mention of this affair, but adds that under cover of these houses the insurgents were attempting to undermine the fort.

Interview With Col. Vassos.

The Daily Telegraph will to-morrow print an interview had by the correspondent in Crete with Col. Vassos. The Greek commander declared that the protest recently sent by him to the foreign admirals would be the last document of the sort that would be sent. Col. Vassos does not regard the admirals as the true representatives of the European attitude. He claims that he has quieted the entire Christian population and repressed every form of crime, rendering life and property as secure as in England or France. He has established hospitals and prisons, built bridges and appointed judges and sanitary officers. Such a satisfactory state of things was never before known in Crete. Everything has been effected in seven weeks. Col. Vassos explains his success as being due to his knowledge of the people, who he declares recognise him and his troops as kin.

"If," said Col. Vassos, "the European forces had done in the towns what I have done in the country, perfect peace might reign until Greece completed the negotiations with Europe for a recognition of her claims to Crete and not a drop of blood need have been shed."

Proceeding, Col. Vassos indignantly related the incidents of the proceedings of the international forces here during the week. He added that the Bashi Bazouks, who were formally forbidden to carry arms, issued from Canea Wednesday evening and marched towards Vigla. Their advance was covered by the guns of the Turkish warships, but the progress of the Bashi Bazouks was slow. The international fleet came to their assistance, firing 52 rounds from their heavy guns.

The Christians retreated and the Turks entered the village and set fire to the houses, a church and a monastery. "This," Col. Vassos exclaimed, "is the work of Cristian Europe. The condition of affairs is now infinitely worse than ever before. The Admirals have made it so. I say deliberately and reluctantly that unless the European peoples listen to the voice of humanity before it is too late, this unhappy island will be deluged throughout with torrents of blood."

In conclusion Col. Vassos emphatically repudiated the absurd statement made in the British House of Commons that he made war on the powers.

Mountain Batteries for Crete.

London, April 2.—In the House of Commons to-day Right Hon. George N. Curzon, Under Foreign Secretary, replying to a question by Mr. J. G. S. MacNeil, anti-Parnellite member for South Donegal, stated that the admirals commanding the foreign squadrons in Cretan waters had asked their respective governments to send three mountain guns each to Crete. Mr. Curzon added that he was not aware of the character of the replies of the powers to the request, if indeed any answer had been made, except in the case of Russia, which Government, he said, was sending a mountain battery to Crete in accordance with the recommendation of the Russian admiral.

Turkey Tired of Delay.

Constantinople, April 2.—The reports of fighting in Crete which are being received here daily are having a very bad impression upon the Government and the people alike, and in consequence the Porte has informed the representatives of the Turkish Government abroad that the present position is no longer tenable. This information is accompanied by the declaration on the part of the Porte that, unless a settlement of the Cretan difficulty shall be speedily reached, the Porte will propose to the powers that Turkey take matters in their own hands. It is also feared here that a blockade of Greece by the warships of the powers will hasten a conflict between the Turks and the Greeks on the frontier of Thessaly.

MONTREAL BRICKLAYERS STRIKE.

A Difference Over Wages and Hours of Work is at the Bottom of the Trouble.

Montreal, April 2.—There is trouble between the union bricklayers of this city and their employers, and the result is a strike on the part of the men, which began this morning and threatens to become general. The cause of the difficulty is a difference on the subject of wages and hours of work. The men are at present receiving 30 cents an hour and working 10 hours a day, and they ask for a change to 35 cents an hour and nine hours a day, which they claim is the union rate in both respects. The concession has been refused by the builders and the threatened war has already begun.

REGARDING EGGS.

Canadians will have to Compete against Americans in Britain.

The sixth annual Egg Circular has just been received as follows from D. Gunn, Brothers & Co., Toronto:

There is every indication that an abundant supply of coarse feed stuffs in Ontario will lead to an unusually large production of eggs this season. Already supplies received in Toronto from various parts of the province are largely in excess of receipts at the same period a year ago, or of any past year, and the rate of increase will, in all likelihood, be continued. With a supply of eggs vastly in excess of requirements, more than usual interest must be centered in foreign markets. An import tax upon eggs of three cents a dozen under the McKinley tariff almost prohibited shipments to the United States, but the duty of five cents proposed by the Dingley Bill, must entirely close the American markets to Canadian egg producers. But even were eggs admitted to the United States free of duty, it is doubtful if profitable shipments could be made from Canada to the large centres of consumption in the Eastern States. The egg production of the United States, according to the estimates of most reliable authorities, will be enormous this season, variously estimated at 20 to 25 per cent. more than last year. At the recent convention of the Iowa Egg Dealers Association, buyers were advised that not more than 6c. should be paid for eggs for storage purposes. A number of dealers thought that eggs would be bought for less than six cents before the end of the season. From various other sources it was estimated that there would be fully twenty per cent. of an increase in the production of eggs in the United States this year over any other year. The farmers of the Middle and Western States are willing to sell their corn at from eight to twelve cents a bushel, while eggs at six cents a dozen, it is thought, would mean corn at fifteen or eighteen cents a bushel.

It seems inevitable that the egg dealers of the United States will actively compete with Canadian exporters in British markets. The immense area of territory from which egg supplies can be drawn will give American exporters a wonderful advantage. In the past ten years the surplus egg supplies of the United States have, in the spring months, been placed in cold storage to await a better market. Enormous sums have been lost in this trade for some years, and several large cold storage companies have signified their intention to very materially curtail their storage operations in eggs. This, along with the anticipated increase in the production of eggs, must compel the Americans to look for other markets to dispose of their surplus stock. Anticipating such competition we should double our efforts. We must meet quantity with quality. The united energies of farmers, merchants, packers and exporters interested in the egg industry must be directed to marketing eggs of the best quality at the least expenditure of money. The farmers should be encouraged to improve their breed of poultry, paying special care to take breeds that produce eggs of the best quality, size and general appearance, so essential for the British market. Many useful suggestions along this line will be found in the proceedings of the Ontario Poultry Association. Farmers and merchants alike must remember that immediate shipments are essential to success in the egg industry. The cellars of the farm house and the country store are poor storehouses for eggs. Delay in shipment means stale eggs, and stale eggs mean ruinous prices. In individual instances storekeepers may have realised better prices by waiting for a favourable turn of the market, and possibly these operations might be repeated, but for every successful holding reported there are a dozen unsuccessful ventures. Taking the whole season into account, or a series of seasons, profits are made in the egg industry by those who make their shipments or sales promptly.

The following table will show the prices of eggs at New York and Toronto on March 15th, during the past seven years. The comparison of values is interesting as showing the small difference in quotations in the two markets:

Toronto..	16c	14c	17c	14c	15c	16c	11c
New York	24½c	14½c	18c	14½c	12c	11½c	10½c

SMALL FRUIT CULTURE.

How to Secure an Ample Supply of Nice Berries for Home Use.

M. A. Thayer of Sparta, Wis., writes The Western Plowman as follows; Mature plans for the season; select your plants; order them early and let this be your first work in the spring. One-quarter acre of good land set with varieties and well cultivated, should produce from 20 to 40 bushels of nice berries every season. This would give an ordinary family fresh berries every day in the season and a liberal supply of canned, preserved or dried during the entire year. Plants for such a garden may be purchased direct from a reliable grower for $10 or $15, and should include the following varieties: 200 strawberry plants, early, medium and late; 100 blackberry plants, early and late; 50 black raspberry plants, early and late; 50 red raspberry plants, early and late; 75 currants, red and white, early and late; 25 gooseberry, early and late; 12 grapes, three varieties, early. Multiply this list by four for one acre, or by 50 for five acres, and you have the right proportion for a continuous supply of different varieties for market purposes. Good berries may be grown on any soil, sandy, clay, muck, loam, gravel, or a combination of each, provided the same be highly fertilized, well drained and thoroughly cultivated. Early fruits are usually most desirable, and light soils with southern exposure are best adapted for that purpose. Light soils, however, require heavy fertilizing, more mulch in summer, are more liable to injury by drought and produce lighter crops. Clay soil must be well drained, is more difficult to prepare, mature later crops and not so favorable for winter protection. The ideal berry ground should be (1) a rich sandy loam with clay subsoil; (2) a dark loam or gravelly loam mixed with clay, and a clay subsoil, all having a southerly or eastern slope. Any of these mixed soils will make good berry gardens by applying good barnyard manure, which contains all the essential elements required. When such manure cannot be obtained then commercial fertilisers rich in nitrogen and potash should be applied. Avoid low, flat land unless underdrained, it is usually cold, late and more subject to frosts. Avoid steep hillsides as being more subject to drought and wash of soil by severe rains.

AN ENGINEER'S STORY.

LIFE ON A RAILROAD CONDUCIVE TO DISEASE.

Mr. William Taylor, of Kentville, Attacked With Kidney Trouble—So-Called Cures Proved Useless, But Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Restored His Health.

From the Kentville Advertiser.

There are very few employments more trying to the health than that of a railway engineer. The hours of labour are frequently long, meals irregular, and rest and sleep hurriedly snatched "between runs." One of the troubles which very frequently attack railway trainmen is kidney disease, which up to a late period has been looked upon as a disease difficult, if not impossible to totally cure. Although there exist numerous remedies claimed to be cures, the truth is that nothing had been found to successfully cope with this terrible disease until the advent of the now world-famed Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Chancing to hear one day that Mr. Wm. Taylor, a resident of this town, had been cured of kidney trouble through the agency of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter called upon him at his home to hear from him personally what he thought of his cure. Mr. Taylor is an engineer on the Dominion Atlantic Railway, his run being between Halifax and Kentville, and he is one of the most popular drivers on the road. When asked by the reporter concerning his illness he said: "It was in the spring of 1896 that I had a severe attack of kidney trouble, brought on by continuous running on the road, and I supposed it is caused by the oscillation of the locomotive. It affected me but slightly at first, but gradually grew worse. I consulted a doctor and then tried two or three varieties of so-called cures. Some helped me for a time, but after stopping the use of them I grew worse than ever. I had noticed numerous testimonials in the papers concerning Dr. Williams Pink Pills and reading of one cure that was identical with my own I decided to give them a trial, and purchased four boxes at a cost of $2. But it was $2 well spent for I was completely cured by the use of the pills, and have not been troubled with my kidneys since. I can therefore recommend them to others similarly afflicted."

The experience of years has proved that there is absolutely no disease due to a vitiated condition of the blood or shattered nerves, that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will not promptly cure, and those who are suffering from such troubles would avoid much misery and save money by promptly resorting to this treatment. Get the genuine Pink Pills every time and do not be persuaded to take an imitation or some other remedy from a dealer, who for the sake of the extra profit to himself, may say is "just as good." Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure when other medicines fail.

FIVE PERSONS FOUND DEAD.

The Floods in Missouri Responsible for Their Death—A Terrible State of Affairs.

St. Louis, April 2.—A special from Cairo, Ill., states that a report reached there last night that five persons were found dead yesterday at a point about 30 miles below New Madrid, Mo. The information was brought to Roby, a commercial traveler, who states that a relief boat yesterday found the bodies of a young girl, an aged woman, and a child, in a flooded house on the Missouri side of the river, at a point about 30 miles south of New Madrid. The people had either starved to death or died of fright. The water was at the eaves of the house and the victims were in the attic.

A negro and a white man are also reported as having been found starved to death on the platform of a temporary refuge in the same locality.

THE ONTARIO HOUSE.

Considerable Business Got Through With Yesterday.

COLONIZATION ROADS DISCUSSED.

Also the Creating of Queen's Counsel—Extension of the Fire Ranging System—Five Thousand Dollars Granted to the Widow of the Late Hon. Mr. Balfour.

Toronto, April 2.—Contrary to the general expectation the House did not sit this evening and arising at 6 o'clock it adjourned until Monday afternoon. After Wednesday of next week it is the intention to hold morning sittings in order to hurry up matters so as to admit of prorogation before Easter.

The bill to confirm an agreement between the Hamilton, Grimsby and Beamsville Electric Railway Company and the City of Hamilton was read a third time.

The following bills were passed in committee:

Respecting land surveyors and the surveys of lands.—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

With reference to the registration of instruments in respect of unpatented lands and the valuations of mining lands, etc.—The Attorney-General.

The following bills were read a second time:

To amend the act respecting joint stock companies for the construction of piers, wharves, dry docks and harbors.—The Attorney-General.

To amend the act respecting joint stock companies for the erection of exhibition buildings.—The Attorney-General.

To amend the act respecting cemetery companies.—The Attorney-General.

The Attorney-General moved the second reading of the bill respecting the appointment of Queen's Counsel. He stated that the Privy Council had decided that the Provincial Government had the power to appoint Q. C.'s Since then correspondence had been held with the Dominion Government and an arrangement had been arrived at that legislation should limit the number of Queen's Counsel. It was proposed in the bill that the Lieutenant-Governor in Council should not appoint more Queen's Counsel than 20 in any four years, with the exception of those holding certain positions. No one was to be appointed who had not been a member of the bar for 10 years. He thought the bill was in the interests both of the profession and the public.

Mr. Whitney thought it advisable that the question of jurisdiction as to the appointment of Q. C.'s should be set at rest. He considered the bill a reasonable one with the exception of the provision that allowed special appointments in addition to the number limited.

Mr. Howland said the appointment of Q.C.'s had been abused to a scandalous extent and he was glad to see that the bill was conservative in its tendencies. It had been a means of political reward and many men of superior merit were placed at a disadvantage by it.

The bill was read a second time.

PRIVATE BILLS LEGISLATION.

The following private bills were adopted in committee:

To incorporate the Fort Francis and Pacific Railway Company.—Mr. Farwell.

Respecting the Town of Thorold.—Mr. German.

To confirm bylaw No. 241 of the village of New Hamburg.—Mr. Moore.

Respecting the village of Kempville.—Mr. Bush.

To amend the act respecting the highway and bridges over the Desjardins Canal.—Mr. Middleton.

To amend the act incorporating the South Essex Electric Railway Company.—Mr. Auld.

Respecting the marriage settlement of George Dickson and Mary Catherine Dickson.—Mr. St. John.

Respecting the Fort Erie Ferry Railway Company.—Mr. German.

The bills respecting the town of Port Arthur (Mr. Conmee), and to confirm and legalise a bylaw of the corporation of the town of Collingwood (Mr. Pattoo), were read a second time.

COLONIZATION ROADS.

The House went into Committee of supply and passed the item for colonization roads, $67,240. Hon. J. M. Gibson explaining that a considerable portion of the amount had been spent in the repair of old roads and bridges. In all cases where it was possible to make the settlers contribute a share of the expense it had been done, but in many districts the settlers were exceedingly poor and could not reasonably be expected to do so. He was only sorry that more could not have been spent in developing the roads in these localities.

After a few remarks from Col Matheson to the usual effect that the money was being expended with political objects, the item was adopted.

When the appropriation of $189,975 for Crown Lands was taken up, Hon. J. M. Gibson drew attention more particularly to the vote of $25,000 asked for fire ranging. Though this was only the same as last year's appropriation, the Government was considering whether this system which had been found so advantageous in lessening the losses from extensive forest fires should not be very considerably extended, so as to cover, not merely the timber limits under license, but a large extent of unsurveyed and unexplored territory. They had no matured scheme on the subject as yet to submit, but had such an extension in view. Reverting to the subject of colonization roads, he alluded to a statement made in a recent speech in Hamilton by Mr. Whitney in reference to overseers on colonization roads, in which he intimated that they did little or no actual work. He wanted it understood that the pay of colonisation road overseers represented actual labor performed.

Mr. Whitney said that when the item appeared in the public accounts as $3 a day for an overseer he presumed that he did not do any of the manual labor.

The Attorney-General said Mr. Whitney had gone back many years for his facts. The payments to overseers had been largely reduced and it had for some time been a regulation of the department that they must work along with the laborers.

The item passed.

The Attorney General drew attention to the item of $6000, under the heading of "Miscellaneous," as a special grant to the widow of Hon. W. D. Balfour, the late Speaker. He said that Mr. Balfour, having devoted all his time to public affairs, had left his widow and family destitute. He had not even had his life insured. The matter was in the hands of the House, and while he would urge that the case be dealt with in a liberal and generous spirit, the Government would not take a strong stand upon the question. It was proposed that the sum should be placed in the hands of three trustees, to be invested by them so as to raise $400 per annum, partly in interest, partly in instalments of the principal.

Mr. Whitney spoke briefly, favoring a grant of $5000.

Mr. Haycock said this was a special case and he did not see that any member of the House could object.

The item was passed without opposition, the amount being fixed at $5000.

Several other items were adopted, the committee rising, and the House adjourned until Monday.

After using it for a short time I feel now that the trouble is altogether removed." Its effects are magical. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

IT IS WAR TO THE KNIFE.

The Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Liable to have a battle over rates to the Kootenay.

Montreal, April 2.—(Special.)—The rush of Easterners to the British Columbia gold fields seems likely to be considerably accelerated very soon by low rates, via both the Canadian Pacific and Grand Trunk Railway. It is practically a case of war to the knife between the two roads—at least that was the impression created by the remarks made this morning by Messrs. McNicoll and Reeve, the heads of the passenger departments of the two railways.

As announced yesterday the Grand Trunk issued a new tariff of passenger rates to the Kootenay district, which places their rates at exactly the same figure as the C. P. R. The C. P. R. claim the right to a differential on this business, on account of their part-water route. The Grand Trunk claim that they have no such right—that is that they should not be allowed to quote a lower rate than the Grand Trunk do via their United States connections. That is where the difficulty hinges.

Mr. D. McNicoll, passenger traffic manager of the C. P. R., was seen this morning and asked what action they would take regarding the latest move of the Grand Trunk. In reply he said: "The Grand Trunk has done a very improper thing in issuing their new tariff. They want to take all our Canadian business and hand it over to their American connections. Their action is a violation of the rules of the Joint Traffic Association, of which both roads are members, and I understand the chairman of the Association has requested the Grand Trunk to withdraw their new tariff. We are entitled to differentials on account of our long water route on the great lakes. In cases where the Grand Trunk have a water route they claim the same thing. Now, in this case they do not admit the principle. However, the C. P. R., will very soon meet the Grand Trunk's action. I cannot say just at present what that action will be, but whatever decision is arrived at will be known very soon."

Mr. George B. Reeve, general traffic manager of the G. T. R., was next seen in reference to the question.

"So the Canadian Pacific people are annoyed at the Grand Trunk, are they?" he remarked, when informed that the C. P. R. was taking steps to meet their new tariff. He expressed himself as quite unworried as to the outcome, and said that the Grand Trunk was prepared to meet any action the C. P. R. might take. "To make matters clear," he said, "we might as well go to the bottom of the difficulty. The position of affairs is this: Eighty per cent. of the traffic for the Kootenay country originates on the line of the Grand Trunk. Our road runs through the most thickly populated parts of Eastern Canada, as you can see by the map. The blue lines are C. P. R. lines, and the red lines represent the Grand Trunk. Now, for the sake of peace and quietness, the Grand Trunk offered to divide business, giving each road 50 per cent. But the C. P. R. would not accept that offer, which I consider a very liberal one on the part of the Grand Trunk. They claimed 60 per cent. in addition to the differential, on account of their part water route. Now, when 80 per cent. of the traffic originates on our road, we do not consider that the C. P. R. should get the business, for that is practically what they want. The Grand Trunk is entitled to a share of it, and, what is more, we are going to get it."

Mr. E. P. Hannaford, late chief engineer of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, whose dismissal from the company's service on the advent of Mr. C. M. Hay's, as general manager, was the first of a series, has taken an action against the company, through Messrs. Carter and Goldstein, for $6000 damages. He complains that he was wrongfully dismissed; that, as a permanent official of the company, his commission could not be revoked in the summary manner adopted by Mr. Hays, and that he has suffered damages by reason of loss of salary, etc., to the amount claimed by him in his present action.

If we told you that your baby was starving, that it actually didn't get enough to eat, you might resent it. And yet there are thousands of babies who never get the fat they should in their food or who are not able to digest the fat that they do get. Fat is a necessity to your baby. It is baby life and baby beauty. A few drops of Scott's Emulsion for all little ones one, two and three years of age is better than cream for them. They thrive and grow on it.

Doctors Could Help, but Couldn't Cure—Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure Released the Prisoner, and To-day She is as Well as Ever—She Says it is a Great Remedy

"Yes, I am Mrs. Dobell," said a comely, pleasant-faced woman at her home on Horton street to a News reporter to-day, "and I will very gladly tell you what you want to know. About three years ago my husband was very ill, and I had frequently occasion to rise in the night and go for a doctor or to the druggist. In my hurry I often neglected to properly clothe myself, and contracted several heavy colds, which turned at last to chronic catarrh. I tried doctors, who helped me, but did not cure me, and several special catarrh medicines I was relieved but not cured. I was suffering intolerably when Mr. Shuff recommended me to try DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE, and it began at once to help, and in about two months had entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this remarkable medicine, and cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from catarrh." The blower included is a great help to sufferers.

WILL RECEIVE THE DEPUTATION

A Telegram Received This Afternoon From Hon. A. G. Blair.

Mayor Yelland received a telegram this afternoon from Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, to the effect that the Government would be pleased to receive the Trent Valley Canal deputation on Tuesday morning next, at 10.30 o'clock.

BOARD OF TRADE MEETING.

A Large Attendance—Mr. Burnham's Resolution Adopted—Mr. Rogers' Interesting Paper on Canal Transportation.

Promptly at eight o'clock (for a wonder) Mr. President Carnegie was able to call the Board to order. There was so large an attendance that it was impossible to distinguish between members and citizens in order to record names.

After routine was dispensed with,

Mr. Dumble said in view of the constitution of the board, so strictly defining the range of the discussion the board was empowered to deal with, there was no necessity taking any special action in the matter submitted to the special committee.

Mr. Shortly said the constitution of the Board permitted the discussion of the widest possible range of subjects.

Mr. Dumble referred to the letter of Mr. Laurier in reply to Mr. Burnham's letter, which welcomed expressions of public opinion. He went on to point out that the Board had a right to pass upon any subject affecting the public interests. In advocating the adoption of the resolution of Mr. Burnham, Mr. Dumble said that in dealing with trade questions we must adopt those means that were adaptable to existing conditions. A policy that would be all right in Mackenzie's time would be criminal in relation to industrial interests of the present day. Reference was made to the losses suffered by Canada in international negotiations with the United States, which rendered it impossible to deal satisfactorily and open-mindedly with the Americans. The natural market of a large number of our products was with the United States—but the Americans were bound we should not have that trade, and in view of the results of past efforts of the Canadian Government to carry on trade in natural channels, we should no longer truckle to the Americans. Retaliation was advocated as a proper way to meet the aggressions of the United States, and it was the province of this Board, to assure the Government that their course in meeting the Americans on their own ground, was in line with public opinion. He therefore moved the resolution introduced by Mr. Burnham at the last meeting.

After a pause Mr. R. Fair seconded the resolution, which was put to the meeting without further discussion and carried.

Mr. R. B. Rogers, C. E., superintending engineer of the Trent Valley canal, then gave his excellent paper on Transportation—really on the Trent Valley canal, which is reported fully in other columns.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Large Congregations Attend George St. Methodist Church.

The George street Methodist church was filled to the doors last evening, with a congregation desirous of of hearing Evangelist Ranton. After a short preliminary prayer and sing service had been concluded, and an excellent solo, "The Four Calls," had been sung by Miss Hendren in her usual pleasing manner, Mr. Ranton proceeded with his sermon. He took for his text 2nd Samuel, 9th chapter and 1st verse, "And David said is there yet any that is left of the house of Saul, that I may show him kindness for Jonathan's sake?" His subject was "Lame on Both Feet."

He said, in opening, that there were four characters introduced in this chapter, Saul, Jonathan, David and Mephibosheth. Every scholar in the Sunday school can, usually, tell one something of David, Johnathan and Saul,

BUT OF MEPHIBOSHETH

they know very little. He was a king, and Johnathan's son, and at the time in question he is away down in Lo-debar, living in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel. Lo-debar means "a place of low standing," and it was a place of no pasture and the rendezvous of wicked men and thieves. Then we come to the question, "How did Mephibosheth come to be in this place? We find that the house house of Saul had fallen and that of David was ruling. Mephibosheth met with an accident which destroyed the use of his feet when he was a child. David found out by inquiring of Ziba, a servant of Paul's, that he was the son of a king. We can apply this lesson to ourselves. In the first place we are all sons and daughters of God, our king, and away from home. Secondly, we have fallen, like the house of Israel, and God sends the chariot of salvation to bring us into safety. "I do not believe," continued Mr. Ranton, "that all unconverted persons are sons and daughters of the devil, as some people affirm. In the 9th chapter of John we read "And as Jesus passed by he saw a man who was blind from his birth." Notice, Jesus did not see a beggar. He saw a man. Jesus always looks on and He sees the best side of every person. When he saw this blind man he helped him. In the 4th chapter of John when Jesus was talking to the woman of Samaria, He did not call her a harlot. He called her a woman, and He said, "Woman, the hour has now come," etc. If you cannot reach a man by talking of his good qualities. I doubt very much if you can reach him at at all. Tell him "you are too good to let the devil catch you"; tell him to believe in the Lord Jesus Christ.

When a man becomes saved he does not create the power of atonement and pardon. He has merely brought into play some dormant faculty. It has brought him into conscious possession of that which God had endowed him with from the first. Therefore he cannot be a child of the devil. Then there is an idea prevalent amongst most people that to become a child of God, one must give up something. What one gives up is nothing compared with what God gives you in return.

Mr. Ranton in conclusion invited all to become Christians, and quite a few came forward.

A GOOD NATURED GROWL.

To the Editor of the Daily Examiner:

Dear Sir,—This beautiful April sunshine, will soon enable the orthodox tramp to put in his unwelcome appearance. And we may expect that the annual visitation of lacrosse and football will be here in due time. In these barbarous games the young man gets his first lessons in idleness, and in the habits of life which often lead to trampdom, or worse. And as vernal spring unfolds her robes, we may hear the long-haired, strolling vagabonds on the market square, vending his vile stuff to the unwary—his whole stock in trade—a brazen face and a shameless tongue. With these city attractions, a few burglaries and an odd elopment, now and then may be thrown in, and to enliven the scene, we only need the gay gondolier, or the Italian organ grinder to make life what it is.

It has been declared by scientists that every disease has a remedy. The difficulty is to always find the remedy. In rheumatism South American Rheumatic Cure has been found a certain antidote for this painful disease. It is always effective. Mrs. N. I tried everything, as I thought, and doctored for years without much benefit. I was induced to use South American Rheumatic Cure. The All-comers Once Again Win From the Curlers.

The annual pedro tournament between the curlers and "all-comers" was held last night in the club parlours, resulting in a victory for the town by two games.

It was intended to play forty players a side, but four tables failed to fill up. Those who were not present missed a most pleasant evening, as the majority of the games were closely contested and the "all-comers" had to watch their points carefully, although they won at ten of the tables. The scores were as follows:

TRENT VALLEY CANAL AND TRANSPORTATION.

An Illustrated Paper on the Subject

DELIVERED BEFORE THE BOARD OF TRADE.

The Superiority of the Route Set Forth — Transportation Facilities Superior to any Other Internal Route—The Days of Canals not Over —Interesting Facts and Figures— Arguments in Favour of the Completion of the Canal.

The following is a condensation of an excellent paper read before the members of the Board of Trade last night by Mr. R. R. Rogers, C.E., and will be of especial interest at the present time, when the question of canal extension is enjoying such active attention.

It was suggested to me, that as my profession and work called me more directly than others, into connection with the subject and transportation, that it might interest some, and strengthen the foundation for reasons why the Trent Valley Canal should be built, if I were to give my views upon the subject. The prevalent idea of navigation in this vicinity, and in fact all along the route, is mostly derived from what we see of navigation. For instance we know of the City of Peterborough, or North Star or Beaver from Rice Lake, the Golden City, Mary Ellen and a number of other boats on the upper lakes, running excursions here and there, and perhaps bringing a little freight, scow loads of wood, etc., with them, and with this limited knowledge of the benefits of navigation, we feel almost ashamed of ourselves in asking the Government to make this comparatively large expenditure for such a limited return. In fact most people are anxious for the construction of the canal solely on account of the benefits to be derived from the expenditure of money necessary for its construction. If I can give you any facts that will do away with this half-hearted demand for the construction of the canal, and replace it with the conviction that the canal should be built as a national work, because of its national benefits, I will be well repaid for any trouble I may have been put to in the preparation of this paper. What are the benefits derived from the construction of canals?

THE GREAT BENEFITS

are the cheapening and the regulation of freight. The great question of the day is the development of the country, especially the great country to the west of us, is cheap transportation. Every day we hear or read something affecting this great question. In the country to the south of us it is principally perhaps with regard to legislation relating to railways—their inter state laws, etc. In our own country the question relates to both railways and canals, especially at the present time to canals. This is because of our favourable geographical position, and from the natural features of our country. We know of the Welland Canal, the projected St. Clair Canal, the Georgian Bay Canal, the Rideau Canal, the Ottawa Canal and the St. Lawrence Canals, and last but not least, the Trent Canal. Few, if any other countries, have the same favourable and natural facilities for water transportation that Canada has. A glance at a map will show these facts. We see the short distance it is from the outlet of Lake Huron, which is the foot of the great lakes, by which the great produce of the west is brought to tide water at Montreal—and compare it with the country from Buffalo to New York through which, for the whole distance as far as Albany, artificial navigation is necessary. The cheapest transportation is obtained without any doubt by water, and the cheapest transportation by water, where great levels have to be overcome, is by means of tows of barges. If these are facts, and I think I can give you such data that will easily convince any one that they are facts, the superiority of the Trent Canal above all others can be seen at once.

Reference was made to the talked of deep waterway from the lakes to the seaboard, and it was shown that its immense cost, from 100 to 500 millions, precluded the idea of its practicability and profit. It would pay better for the Government to pay the freight on three times the amount of grain freight that comes to New York than construct this canal.

* * * *

While great improvements have been going on in order to cheapen the transportation by railway, and at the same time great improvements and developments have taken place in the transportation by means of large vessels on the upper lakes, till at the present time while standing at the entrance of the St. Clair River, we can get such a sight of shipping bearing down to the east as far as Buffalo, as can be seen at no other place on the face of the globe, yet in the face of these great improvements by land and water very little has till quite recently been done in the way of improvements in barge canals and barge transportation.

SUPERIORITY OF ROUTE.

After referring to various still experimental means of towing barges, Mr. Rogers continued:—On the Erie for 332 miles it is actual canal and along which it is necessary to go at the slow rate of from 3 to 3½ miles per hour, and the depth is so limited, about 6½ feet for the whole distance, that it is not possible to use powerful tugs owing to the wear on the bottom and sides of the canal. Compare such a canal with the Trent route. The Trent route for its whole length, with the exception perhaps of about 20 or 25 miles, will be through beautiful lakes and rivers, along which powerful tugs drawing tows of barges can be operated. This is a most important point in favour of the Trent route, which should not be lost sight of.

While speaking of the improvements in barge canals, you have no doubt heard of the large appropriation of nine million dollars voted year before last by popular vote by the citizens of the State of New York in order to improve the canals of the State, especially the Erie Canal. This does not look as if the State of New York thought that the days of canals were past.

* * * *

Of course a drawback to the Trent route is the amount of lockage. This is not an unmixed evil, as against the drawback of the time required for lockage, we have the the great benefit derived from the unlimited water power developed. This, with the prospect of the great development of electricity and its application to towing on canals, is by no means a small consideration. The lockage is altogether 850 feet. of this lockage 250 feet from Georgian Bay to Balsam Lake is up, and from Balsam Lake to Trenton 600 feet is down. But this drawback is gradually diminishing and is being satisfactorily overcome by means of hydraulic lift locks, by which vessels can be transferred from one level to another level for such great heights as as from 40 to 75 feet, in the same space of time that a vessel can pass through a lock of 4 to 7 feet lift. By this means the time which would be

this 850 feet of lockage by means of the ordinary lift locks has been so greatly reduced as to be no longer a prominent feature. For instance in the two divisions at present under construction there are to be two of these hydraulic lifts, the one at Ashburnham having a lift of 65 feet, and the other at Kirkfield having a lift of 50 feet, being a total of 115 feet, which alone does away at once with about one-seventh of the total lockage. The time required to pass from one level to the other by means of these hydraulic lifts is about 10 minutes each, so that instead of the time required to overcome this amount of 115 feet lockage by the ordinary locks which would be about two and one-half to three hours, it only requires about twenty minutes, and remember, this is not for one vessel alone but two vessels can be transferred at the same time namely one up and and one down. The great importance of this latter fact would be seen when vessels meet each other at flights of locks, that is where one or more locks are located together, then a vessel going up has to wait till the other has gone through the whole flight. This would delay a vessel from a half to three-quarters, or perhaps an hour,—whereas at the hydraulic locks a vessel would pass at once into one or the other of the troughs and pass immediately up or down as the case might be. The great advantages of these hydraulic locks are, the saving of time in lockage, the saving in the cost of repairs, the saving of water (though this with us is not a very great consideration seeing we have such an abundance), and the saving in the cost of operating. With regard to the saving of time in lockage I have already explained this. As to the cost of repairs, there is very little to get out of order, as everything is made of steel except the packing about the pistons and the rubber facings which are used at the ends of the locks in order to form water tight joints, but these are of very small account as they last for years. Three men are all that are required to operate these locks. One man from his cabin on the top of the locks and one man only is required to operate the gates on the upper level, and one on the lower level.

After a most interesting but too technical a description of the mode of construction of hydraulic lift locks to be popularly interesting, Mr. Rogers thus referred to the effect of the use of steel barges on barge transportation, quoting from a N. Y. government report:

"The past year saw an innovation in the manner of construction of canal boats.

"The Cleveland Steel Canal Boat Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, sent out early in August a fleet of steel canal boats, consisting of one steamer and five consorts, thus establishing a through line of transportation between Cleveland and New York, which was made possible for the reason that the insurance companies will insure these steel barges on the lakes, a risk never undertaken on the wooden boats now navigating the canal, and there is no reason why freight should not be carried on to Duluth from New York without breaking bulk in the same boats. Their seaworthiness was well tested."

The question of the practicability of such barges as will navigate the Trent Canal, being able to navigate the great lakes, and of being able to go through from Duluth, Port Arthur and Chicago to Montreal or Quebec, has been one of the great considerations that militated against the Trent route as a through route. Now this question has been settled in our favour.

In consequence of

of this experiment, a large transportation company (The Consolidated Lake and Canal Co.) has been formed of such men as Charles Pillsbury, the great flour king of Minneapolis, B. C. Church of Duluth, Erastus Wiman of New York, and many other large capitalists, to operate on the Erie Canal and upper lakes. They have ordered 7 lake steamers and 35 canal consorts.

The speaker quoted ample figures to show that with the improvements in progress on the Erie Canal, it would be possible to ship grain from elevators at Chicago or Duluth and place it in the holds of ocean steamers at 4 cents per bushel, and reasoned thus:

Now if such through rates as I have quoted can be obtained by way of the Erie Canal—to arrive at the head of which (Buffalo) vessels have to go round by the dangerous St. Clair river and Lake Erie, and then have to go through 353 miles of actual canal at a rate of not more than 3½ miles per hour—I say if such rates can be obtained under such circumstances, what rates can be obtained by the infinitely superior route of the Trent Canal. By this route the largest vessels afloat on the upper lakes, vessels carrying 180,000 bushels of grain can be brought to the head of the canal, at Midland, the harbour of which is the finest on any of the lakes, and that a natural harbour. These immense vessels can land grain from Chicago or Duluth at about 1 cent a bushel, and even less (7-8c.) and if they can take it by the Erie Canal from Buffalo to New York a distance of 500 miles for 1½ cents per bushels, then with our superior route, which is we can take it from Midland to Montreal for onecent, which with the cost of elevating it at Midland and again at Montreal into ocean vessels, of say 1½ cents per bushel, it would make a total rate from Duluth to Montreal of 3½ cents per bushel, or say 3 cents, not adding the trans-shipping into ocean vessels at Montreal—a rate unheard of up to this date.

When we realise that in the valley of the Trent is a population equal in number to the whole province of New Brunswick, that we grow more produce and in every way can equal or surpass that province—we can begin to realize the importance to this district of cheap transportation. There is raised in the valley of the Trent 16,000,000 bushels of grain, 300,000 tons of hay, and very large quantities of other produce to numerous to mention, but take those two commodities alone. The freight on grain from say Peterborough to Montreal is 8½ cents per bushel, from Kirkfield, which is on the Simcoe-Balsam Lake division, it is 9½ cents. I have, I think, shown you how we can take grain from Duluth to Montreal for 3 to 3½ cents, surely we can take it from Peterborough for the same rate. If so we save 5 to 6 cents per bushel. This saving on 16,000 000 bushels will give us $800,000. Say we save only one cent per bushel we save $160,000 per year to the farmer—for if his transportation is reduced he gets the benefit. If we save say 50 cents per ton on hay we effect a saving of $150,000 per year, or a total on these two commodities alone of $310,000 per year to the farmer. You may say that this is not all shipped out of the country but that makes no difference, of every commodity by its reduction of transportation to the ruling markets. We use about 50,000 tons of coal in the district. We can easily save $1 per ton in freight on coal, which would make a saving of $50,000 per year; if we can cheapen, as it will be possible to do, the freight on the imports and exports of our merchants and manufacturers by at least 25 per cent. each of you can figure out for himself what it will save him at the end of each year, and so on if we should take each commodity and see how much its value will be increased by cheap transportation, it will surprise you, to say nothing of the increased value of our forests of hard woods, which are becoming more valuable every day in the manufacture of furniture, for paving blocks, etc., but which cannot be moved at present owing to the great cost of transportation, and which we merely burn up at the present time for fire wood. Also the increase in wealth of our great mineral deposits in the back country.

WE ENHANCE THE VALUE

I might in passing draw your attention as a local industry, what this fact of the development of the use of steel barges would mean to this town. We have in this town a manufactory most suitable in location and in every way for the manufacture of these steel barges, it would mean that our present bridge works could develop into an industry of treble the size it is at present—in fact we have the most favourable location for an immense shipyard of any district in Canada.

Why, the charges imposed by the Montreal Transportation Company on grain from Kingston to Montreal alone is 2 1-2 to 3c per bushel. Now if grain can be carried from Duluth to Montreal via the Trent Canal for such a very small rate, surely then if the expenditure of enormous sums are justifiable in the deepening of the St. Lawrence canals, the expenditure of a comparatively trifling sum in completing the Trent canal is equally justifiable. They cannot carry grain any cheaper than 3c from Duluth to Montreal by the ship canal or by another canal.

The average rate per bushel from Chicago to Montreal for season of 1894 was	5c
The average rate per bushel from Kingston to Montreal was for season of 1894 was	2½c
The average rate per bushel from Buffalo to New York via Erie Canal for season of 1894 was	2½c
The Average rate per bushel from Chicago to New York via Erie Canal for 1894 was	4½c
The average rate per bushel from Chicago to Buffalo for 1894 was	¾ to 1c
The average rate per bushel from Duluth to Buffalo for 1894 was	1¼ to 2c

LOOKING TO THE FUTURE.

Comparing the extensive canal systems of France and Belgium, Mr. Rogers pointed out that the canals of both countries are connected with each other. The great bulk of the heavy freights are moved by water and you see at all times lines of barges on all the canals. You will observe that all the canals have a greater draught than the Trent. The shallowest of the canals have 6 feet 6 inches on the sills, and the largest canals (which have locks only about half the width of ours) have a draught of about 8 feet. The deepening of the Erie is also to be 9 feet on the reaches and 8 feet on the sills of structures—so that if instructions are not changed we will only have a depth of 6 feet on the sills of locks, which means that our canal will not be up to date. With a trifling extra expenditure, our canal can be made to have a depth of 8 feet, which means that the capacity will be increased by 33 per cent. If this is done after the canal is built it will be a costly thing to do, whereas now, it is a comparatively trifling matter.

[We understand that all the land purchased on the Peterborough-Lakefield division, and also on the Simcoe-Balsam Lake division, has been bought with a view of raising the water 2 feet higher. About all that is necessary, with a few exceptions, to have a draught of 8 feet on the works at present under construction, and I may say on all the works between Lakefield and Balsam Lake already constructed is to hold the water 2 feet higher on the reaches, i. e., if instructions are issued at once to lower the sills on all the locks yet to be built. This is a most important fact and one which should be pressed at once, by every means possible. It means that our canal will be one-third more efficient than it will otherwise be at a comparatively little extra cost.]

Mr. Rogers continued with a most interesting history of the Trent Valley Canal, interesting enough to be reserved for future publication without condensation. He then resumed:

MORE THAN A CANAL.

It is not altogether correct to speak of the Trent route as a canal. Take for instance the stretch from Healey's Falls to Barrie or Orillia, a distance of about 180 miles, and on only about 5 or 6 miles of this distance will a vessel be compelled to move at the ordinary canal speed of say 3½ miles an hour, the balance of the distance being through beautiful large lakes, rivers and flooded reaches, where vessels can move at any rate they choose. When the other divisions yet to be built have been re-surveyed, it is hoped that out of the whole distance, between Trenton and Georgian Bay, not more than 20 or 25 miles, or about 10 per cent., will be actual canal. This is perhaps the most favourable feature in regard to the Trent route. In consequence of this the cost of maintenance will be reduced to a minimum, owing to there being so little banks to repair, and the time of passage will be greatly reduced by vessels being allowed to go at any speed they like. The maintenance of the banks, the destruction of which is caused by the wash of passing vessels, is one of the most important items in the cost of repairs of canals. When we consider this fact in comparison with, say the Erie Canal with its 352 miles of continuous canal, with its constant growth of weeds on the bottom, which often well nigh stop the way of boats, and the fact that the Trent is 400 miles nearer tide water at Montreal, than by the Erie, the superiority of the Trent route shines forth. A glance at the map will show the great superiority of the Trent Canal above all others. As I said before a very small proportion of the route is actual canal, the remainder being through beautiful lakes of great depth and rivers, so that every facility is given for cheap towing by steam tugs drawing tows of barges, which is the cheapest method so for known for moving freight.

With a very interesting illustrated description of the mode of construction of concrete locks, Mr. Rogers concluded in these words:

Now in these remarks which I have made if I have given any facts that will tend to increase your appreciation of the Trent Canal and have given you any grounds for the more earnestly advocating the construction of this great water-way I shall feel well repaid.

Mr. Rogers added great interest to his lecture by lime light illustrations of maps of the route and works constructed and under construction, and scenery along the the route of the canal, which abounds in romantic beauty sufficient to make the canal, apart from its transportation importance, a pleasant route for pleasure seeking excursionists. Mr. Rogers paid a tribute to the public spirit of Mr. R. M. Roy, whose services and splendid instrument were placed at the service of the occasion free of charge.

A cordial vote of thanks was voted to Mr. Rogers and Mr. Roy for the former's address and the accompanying illustrations.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 50 years accumulated $40,000,000. His success-ors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $2,000 on on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at $1 or $20,000 on 10,000 bushels. FOUND DEAD.

Why did he do it? He had everything to live for,—happy home, wife, friends, money; but he shot himself through the heart. Why?

He couldn't have given a good reason himself. But everything looked gloomy to him. He was in a gloomy frame of mind. It was the way he looked at life that day. He had been living in too much of a hurry, rushing and driving at business, hustling through his meals, cutting short his sleep. His nerves got on edge; his stomach and liver got out of order; he grew dyspeptic and melancholy.

When the digestion is out of order there is little use trying to look on the bright side of things, practically there isn't any bright side. This is a dangerous condition to get into. Yet it is easy to get into and mighty hard to get out of it, unless you go about it in the right way.

There is a remedy that has pulled thousands of people right out of this depth of despair. It is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It acts directly upon the stomach and liver. It restores their natural capacity to nourish and purify the system. It purges away bilious poisons, feeds the nerve-centres with healthy, highly vitalized blood, and drives out the "blue devils" of melancholy and nervousness.

J. L. Warner, No. 1220 O Street, Sacramento, Cal., writes: "During the last five years I have been doctoring with as many as six different doctors here and in San Francisco for diseased stomach; but none of the doctors gave me even temporary relief. Two years ago I completely collapsed, and had to give up all work. I have felt many times that I would like to leave this world. In looking over the ads in the San Francisco Examiner I ran across yours, and I now owe my life and present good health to Dr. Pierce's medicines. I have taken fourteen bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and four little vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' and I am entirely well of my stomach trouble. Can sleep nine hours every night, and am now ready to go to work again."

SUFFERING WOMEN

Troubled with Weaknesses Peculiar to their Sex.

HOW THEY MAY BE CURED.

Dodd's Kidney Pills Act Upon the Female Organs as well as upon the Kidneys — Many Women Suffer Needlessly.

Women suffer more than men. From the time a girl-child turns the corner into womanhood, she has more troubles than men ever dream of. We look upon women as weak and fragile, but considering what they endure they are stronger by far.

Women suffer many times more than they need to. Partly because they don't know what ails them at first; then because they are ashamed to tell a doctor; latterly because they hate to be a continual source of expense to their husbands.

"Female Weakness" are what we term the diseases peculiar to the female sex. They are so often confounded with female Kidney troubles, and Kidney troubles are often mistaken for other troubles. All those delicate organs are closely connected. What affects one affects the others.

What cures one, cures the others, too. DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS which are a sovereign cure for all Kidney ills, act to regulate and control the female organs and to relieve their difficulties. This is worth while for every woman to remember.

Mrs. Lucy Crabbe, Chambers P. O., says:—"For years I was a sufferer from weakness peculiar to my sex, combined with kidney trouble from all of which I was completely cured by two boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mrs. Elmena Ady, Walkerton, Ont., says:—"For a long time I have suffered from a complication of Kidney Trouble and Female Disease; and am glad to say have no pain or ache since using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS cure Kidney Disease and Female Weakness. Try them. They are on sale at all druggists. Price 50 cents per box, 6 boxes for $2.50. Dodd's Medicine Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Auctions in Japan.

There is little chance for fraud or complaint in the matter of conducting auction sales in Japan. Although there are not nearly so many sales held as in this country, officials of the cities have a way of conducting them much similar to our method of voting.

When an auction is to take place the goods or property is advertised for two weeks ahead. On the day of the sale each bidder writes his name and address and the amount of his bid for each lot on a slip of paper, which he carefully places in a box. When all the bids are in the auctioneer opens the box in the presence of the spectators, and, after examining, all the goods are declared the property of the highest bidder. By this system the American custom of owners bidding in property or goods would almost entirely disappear.—New York Journal.

PRESIDENT GURNEY.

SKETCH OF THE NEW HEAD OF TORONTO BOARD OF TRADE.

Characteristics of This New York Family Which Settled in Canada—Wherein Father and Son Are Alike—A Well-Equipped Business Man.

In the year 1842 two brothers, Edward and Charles Gurney, came from the State of New York into Upper Canada and settled in the then town of Hamilton. In those days the lines were pretty strictly drawn between the Yankees and Canadians, and these men had reason to complain of the limitations under which they were placed because of their nationality. But soon the name came to be a synonym of thrift and industry, and their nice sense of honor commanded them to their neighbors. It was not long, therefore, before they took first rank as citizens of that burg. Although always interested in public affairs, they never became what might be called technically public men, rather shrinking from that designation. They could not be called colorless in relation to religion or politics, and they were dominant in business in the community in which they lived. Both of those men maintained a good name, acquired throughout long life, and have passed to their reward.

MR. EDWARD GURNEY.
President of the Toronto Board of Trade.

Mr. Edward Gurney, the subject of this sketch, says The Canadian Grocer, was the son of the elder of these two brothers, and claims special interest to-day because of his recent election to the responsible and honorable position of President of the Toronto Bard of Trade. Born in the town of Hamilton (for it was then only a town, in the year 1845), he was educated in the private schools of that town, which immediately preceded the establishment of the public school system, and speaks with some humor of the earnestness displayed by the masters of those days in their methods of discipline. He passed through the different forms of the common school, and, with a short interregnum amongst the Quakers of Prince Edward County, and another short period at the Phillips Academy of Hamilton, may be said to have finished his education in the common school.

On leaving the school Edward Gurney passed into the hands of another schoolmaster, namely, the manager of the business, who advanced him grade by grade until he in turn was fitted for the management of a business of this class.

Mr. Gurney always speaks in high terms of this man, who taught him to read, or, in other words, gave him a taste for the best literature, at a time when without such guidance he might have made a less valuable selection for himself.

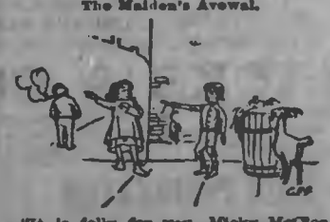
In 1869 the firm of E. & C. Gurney purchased the business of the late John McGee of Toronto, which business was placed in charge of the subject of this sketch, who has resided in the Queen City since that date. At the end of the first five years of business here the advance had been so marked as to require the erection of larger premises. The present site was selected on King-street west, and buildings erected, which indicated by their size a good deal of faith in the future of Canada and in the executive capacity of the man in charge, as measured by the judgment of the proprietors. From time to time these premises have been largely increased, until to-day they are easily the largest of their class in the Dominion, and take rank with the large concerns of the United States. In 1891 the firm was turned into a joint stock company, under the style of the Gurney Foundry Co., with Edward Gurney as president.

In 1887 Mr. Gurney established a branch of the business in Boston, Mass., where he spends a small portion of his time, that concern being so organized as not to require a very great share of his attention; the same remark might be applied to the Gurney-Massey Co. of Montreal, which was also established under his general direction.

The Toronto Board of Trade is to be congratulated upon its new president.

Many people, with the notion that nature ought to take care of herself, allow a cough to plague them for weeks and months. Whereas, if nature were assisted with a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, the cure might be effected in a few days.

The Maiden's Avowal.



"It is folly for you, Micky McCloskey, to throw your offerings at my feet. Yonder goes the one who has long won my heart from you. He has all the attributes of a man. He wears long pants, and chews as well as smokes."

Made a Good Impression.

"I think," said young Mrs. Tonkins, "that we will like the new servant better than we did the other."

"For what reason?" inquired her husband.

"She carries a smaller basket to and from her home."

PRINCESS OF WALES.

A DAY "AT HOME" AMID THE ROYAL SURROUNDINGS.

Where She Entertains Her Friends—Her Royal Highness Free From Almost All Worry and Care—Her Apparent Youthfulness Although a Grandmother.

"The Princess of Wales at home." Those words upon a card, when supplemented with the date and the phrase Marlborough House, are eagerly sought and greatly prized when obtained by London society. When the Princess is housed at Sandringham she is not, according to social etiquette, at all "At Home," although she is then more at home in the truest sense of that phrase than when at Marlborough House.

Any of the ladies of the diplomatic set or of that exclusive one in aristocratic circles who enjoy intimacy with the Princess of Wales, and who call upon her, must enter from the Pall Mall side, after touching the electric bell cap, and also giving to a knocker of the eighteenth century that aristocratic rat-te-tat used in all Mayfair districts. They next find themselves by a magical response waited upon by two royal flunkeys of the Thackerayan stamp of Rameses, and are by them ushered through wide portals to the reception room, and thence either into the main 65x25 drawing room, or into the India room or perhaps into the boudoir of the Princess; all accordingly as their transmitted cards may have seemed to require. There would be observed separate corridors leading to the business chambers that are set apart for the Prince for his own retinue and his own callers.

The main great drawing room has upon the walls paralleled hangings of crimson silk, and is carpeted with a whole piece of Axminster, together with an embarass de richesse of rugs. A tall and wide dazzling white mantel, surmounted by a plate glass bevelled mirror is the principal feature of the apartment, and then the eyes dwell upon the tasteful, high frescoed ceiling, or perhaps wander away to observe the two grand rosewood pianos, exquisitely carved, and next, in another corner, an Erard harp of stately proportions. The usual complement of sofas, divans, assorted chairs and fautueils are also observable.

If a caller be through intimacy shown into the private boudoir of the Princess, in which are various doors opening to the bedchambers of herself or the Prince and to their respective dressing and wardrobe rooms, she will step upon the velvet pile carpet of another and cosy looking room of square proportions, measuring 25 feet, furnished in Marqueterie, and with every possible pretext for rest, repose and abandon. On all sides are flowers of the season and globes of gold fish. There is an aviary for an assortment of singing birds. Perhaps, near to the wood fire that blazes in the ample chimney-place, may be seen one or two of the rare Persian cats that are favorites of the Princess; or one of her pet dogs that naturally, in the Marlborough House, might be of the Blenheim breed. These dumb favorites have their especial attendant.

Perhaps the arrangement of the flowers brought here from the nearby conservatory will be the most striking feature of the boudoir. An intense floral worship by the Princess has made her popular with the florists. Society copies all her floral fads.

When Prince or Princess gives a large banquet it is held in the dining room, but if there is a dinner to only a few then the India room is used. The 5 o'clock teas are given in the boudoir. A retinue of servants saves the ever-young face of the Princess from even one wrinkle of care or worry. In constituting the household service come the steward and the housekeeper, the groups of butlers, valets and footmen, dressers, wardrobe women and maids, and the chef with his kitchen cabinet. Inasmuch as the Prince is socially already King, and the Princess as socially a Queen-consort, she possesses small leisure for supervision of household duties. Probably she and the Prince live most of their time outside the walls of either Marlborough House or Sandringham estate.

No doubt the wardrobe room of the Princess is, as a chorus in the opera of the "Mikado" runs, "a wonderful sight to see." As the arbiter of fashion in dress the Prince has much to say and do in toilette matters. If the caller of intimate habit should find the Princess indisposed in her bedroom off the boudoir, this sleeping apartment would be found carpeted with a three-pile velvet fabric of British weaving, and of very [illegible] neutral colors. The bedstead and dressing tables are of Hungarian oak.

It is not to be wondered at that while now nearing her half century of life the Princess of Wales presents the appearance of a matron only 25 years old, for there is no other woman in the world so free from worry or cares and who leads so equable a life. Although the death of the Duke of Clarence proved a shock, yet she soon rallied from it. She does not suffer from responsibility, for these are few and not harassing in the slightest.

The grounds surrounding Marlborough House are capacious and well wooded, while there is a fine garden. Refreshment marquees and tents as rendezvous for guests are erected at the Marlborough garden parties, and the method of conduct at these becomes the model for those in other parts of London. To say "the Princess of Wales does so and so," precludes in the circles of Mayfair and Eton Square any argument to the converse.

Baby Prince George enjoys his daily drives. And one only realizes the apparent irony of calling the Princess of Wales a grandmother when her yet juvenile face and figure are studied.

A LOST ITEM.

A Piece For the Paper That the Editor Forgot to Insert.

When I was running the Geeville Beacon Light of Liberty, one of my patrons from a way back district came into the office one day late in the fall. Joy was beaming from his face like a candle shining through the holes in a jack-lantern.

"Tol de rol, de rol, de raddidy! Tol de rol, de rol, de ray!" was his first remark, as he cut a series of backwoods pigeon wings around the room. It was court week, during which event the Geeville taverns were wont to set forth to their eager patrons a tipple that had won much fame for the promptness with which it took dull care by the neck and tossed it out of the window, and I at first thought that my friend from way back had been in fond and too protracted dalliance with this insinuating bowl; but such was not the fact. After he had warbled and pirouetted off his first burst of glee, he plunked down in a chair and said:

"I'm goin' ter give yer a piece fer yer paper better'n stealin', or running off with somebody else's wife, or burning your neighbor's barn! Ye know the Widder Buggles, an' ye know the Widder Buggles' place, don't ye?"

I told him I did.

"How old d'ye s'pose the widder is?" he asked, and I told him I had no idea.

"Why, dod turn it! She's sixty-eight! Sixty-eight past. An' ain't she humly? She's so all-fired humly that she sot in her corn patch this season an' actu'ly sk-ered the crows away! That's pooty durn humly, ain't it? An' ain't she thin? An ash sap'in's got more meat on it than the widder has! Fact! She's deefer'n a post, too, an her off eye is out. An' you couldn't raise white beans on that clearin' o' her'n! For agricultr'l purposes, that clearin' ain't wuth nine shill'n an acre. But, do ye know, she won't sell the durn place for any price. She says if any feller wants that clearin' he's got to take her with it. An' who d'ye think's been edgin' round the widder, anxious to git the "clearin'" on them diskerigin terms? Actually willin' to marry the Widder Buggles to git that clearin'? Why, Pete Sykes! An' why is he so durn willing to git the clearin' on them diskerigin terms? 'Cause he's found out that the clearin' has got this here on it, that's why."

My friend from 'way back took a handful of glittering, heavy bits of ore from his pocket and handed them to me. Then he danced joyously, shouting:

"Gold! Tol de rol, de rol, de raddidy! Gold on the Widder Buggies clearin'! She's old, an' rattly as a dried gourd; an' deef, an' short an off eye, an' her clearin' ain't wuth nine shill'n an acre for agricultur'; but there's gold on her clearin'. Tons an' tons of it! An' Pete Sykes, he's found it out, somehow, an' is willin' to marry the widder! He told me so! But he don't know that the widder's dead sot on me. Pete's going up to ask her to-night! Tol, de rol, de rol, de raddidy. An' the widder don't know she's got gold on her clearin'! She's dead sot on me, an' Pete can't tetch her! She's old enough to be my mammy, but she's got gold! Say! Ain't this goin' to be a piece fer your paper that 'll make things rattle?"

I took the specimens my 'way back friend handed me. They were iron pyrites. I put them on a shovel and held it in the fire. Presently they vanished as if they had never been. The look on my visitor's face was a sight to see.

"That's what they call 'fool's gold,' Jaggers," I said. It's entirely worthless. You couldn't get a dollar for a thousand tons of it. You've had a narrow escape. You might have married the decrepit Widow Buggles and her worthless clearin'. Let Pete Sykes have the widow if he wants her."

My friend at last awoke to the true situation. He stamped and thumped and knocked things around the office, and yelled and swore until things looked blue.

"Let Pete have the widder?" he yelled. "Why, great crackin' heels o' Julius Caesar's ghost! There ain't no widder! The Widder Buggles, old an' rattly an' deef an' without an off eye, ain't the Widder Buggles! She's Jonathan Jaggers, by thumps, fer I stole a march on Pete, an' married her this mornin'!"

And my friend from 'way back dashed out of the office and away.

I never put his piece in the paper.

VICTORY FOR EAST SIMCOE.

Of One Thing Mr. W. H. Bennett the Conservative Standard Bearer in East Simcoe, is Sure—He Suffered From Catarrhal Trouble and Found Speedy and Fixed Relief in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

In the coming by-election it will not be settled until the votes are counted, whether Mr. W. H. Bennett, who has represented the constituency with ability for years, will again be the successful candidate. One thing Mr. Bennett is perfectly certain of, whatever turn the election may take: When attending to his duties in Ottawa two sessions ago he was taken down with catarrhal trouble in the head. He used Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder and over his own signature says that it worked like a charm, and quickly removed the trouble and made him fitted for his parliamentary duties. Sold by H. S. The Queerest Boat Afloat.

Here is the queerest boat afloat. It is the invention of a New York man and it will doubtless become a popular pleasure craft, as it has so many good features to recommend it. The inventor, H. D. Layman, describes the boat in detail. He says: "This boat is made of rubbered cloth, with continuous air chambers, made in two separate compartments, extending around the top of the boat, on which oar locks are buckled, as shown in the illustration. It also has an air tube running lengthwise under the centre of the boat, which serves as a rudder and bumper. The boats are capable of being deflated and packed into a small case or trunk with their seats and jointed oars, and may be carried under the seat of a buggy, or by hand if needs be, as an outfit. The boat complete, capable of carrying comfortably three or four persons, would not weigh more than 50 pounds. The boats are made in four separate compartments, are simple, durable, and absolutely safe against either capsizing or sinking, but if filled with water would then float several hundred pounds. They have been thoroughly tested both in rough and calm waters and are entirely seaworthy; at least this is the verdict of experienced boat builders, sea captains, life-savers, and other competent judges."

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Hilton, Md.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. Short Sketches of Great Men—No. 7.

St. Francis Xavier.

A few years after Columbus had discovered America, Vasco da Gama rounded the Cape of Good Hope, crossed the Indian Ocean and gave to Portugal commercial sovereignity in the East Indies. This nation of intrepid navigators was not long in conquering important cities and establishing trading posts along the whole coast from Mozambique to the farthest point of the Malay Peninsula. The opening of the East to commerce was also the opening of it to the Gospel of Christ. In the cities occupied by the Portuguese priests were stations and churches built, and Goa was made the see of the bishop. The time had arrived to extend the dominion of Jesus Christ among the natives, of whom some had been converted to Christianity, when John III, of Portugal, asked Pope Paul III to send missionaries to plant the faith among the various people of these vast regions.

About this time the Company of Jesus had been instituted by St. Ignatius of Loyola. Among the famous men who joined the founder of the Jesuit Order, at the very inception of the Society, was Francis Xavier. The members of this Society had bound themselves, besides the usual vows of a religious order, to serve on any mission among the heathen to which the Pope would send them. Francis of Xavier was chosen to be the bearer of the light to the nations of the far East.

This illustrious hero of the faith was born at the Chateau of Xavier in Navarre April 7th, 1505. His home education taught him piety, the fear of the Lord and purity of life.

WHEN EIGHTEEN YEARS old he was sent to the University of Paris, where at twenty-four he took the degree of Master in Philosophy. He then entered the course of theology at the Sorbonne, at that time one of the most renowned schools of the world. There he showed himself a persevering student of extraordinary ability and great energy. He was ambitious of worldly honour. It was in this institution that he first met Loyola and formed a friendship with him. Frequently did Loyola tell him the only glory worthy of his ambition was heavenly glory, that it was against reason not to prefer that which lasts forever, to that which vanishes like a dream. He would repeat to him again and again the words of the Savious, "What doth it profit a man to gain the whole world and lose his own soul." Reflecting on these words he recognized the vanity of earthly things and was soon led to join that band of sincere souls who had gathered around Ignatius Loyola, and followed his leadership. As soon as the Institutes of the Company of Jesus was approved by the Pope, and the Society established, Xavier received Holy Orders and began his work of preaching. He traversed Italy, and the good effect of his ministrations was seen in the improved morality of the cities he visited. In 1540 he was chosen to preach the faith to the nations of the East. In promising to go whither the Pope might send him, he realized in its fulness what the life of a true missionary should be. Like the apostles, he was to meet every difficulty, every trial, persecution and even death. For what is the life of a missionary faithful to his calling but a living death. It was not a question with St. Francis of exposing his life for a time, as it were, to the chances of war, as does the soldier on the battlefield, but a question of always dying. He fully understood that the zealous missionary must learn and practice, how to die to all things, everyday and everywhere. He must enter on a war in which there is no truce and no end, and against an unrelenting and implacable enemy, who can be overcome only by the strength of God. To engage in this combat it is necessary for the missionary to strip himself of all human affections. When he enters the fields of his labours, he dies to his family and friends. He must quit them. He belongs to them no longer and in all likelihood will never see them again. He dies to the brethren of his community, with whom he has daily offered his prayer and adoration to the Almighty, and with whom he had shared his work in the ministry of the Lord. He must leave this second home, the home of piety and brotherly love, probably to never enter it again. He dies to his country. He must bid it farewell. He will probably breathe his last in some far distant land, where neither the sky above, nor the earth beneath, nor the language nor the customs of the people will recall a single feature of his fatherland; where even the men about him have nothing in common with the men he had known, save misery, wretchedness and sin. And when this threefold separation, this threefold death shall be consumated, there is another death which shall not be finished at one stroke, but which will continue every instant until his last day on earth shall come. He must die to himself, not only to all the needs of life, but to the very necessities of heart and soul. There will be for him no fixed abode on earth, not even a passing shelter, not a stone whereon to lay his head. He will have no friend, no confident consols him in his sorrows or to encourage him

IN HIS WEARINESS.

He will travel through hostile countries and desert wastes to bring the Bread of Life to the scattered few, who have submitted to the yoke of Christ who form His flock. All this was present to the mind of Francis Xavier when he on his thirty-sixth birth-day he bade his last farewell to home, friends and country.

Full of zeal and ambitious for the glory of God, he embarked at Lisbon on the ship St. James for the Indies, April 7th, 1541. After a voyage of thirteen months he arrived at Goa, the capital of the Portuguese possessions in the East, May 6th, 1542. During this voyage, as on all other occasions, he interested himself in the welfare, spiritual and temporal, of the poor sailors. Where disease broke out among them, he nursed them and gladly gave up to them his own room. No work of charity that could help them or alleviate their sufferings, was left undone by him. In all his journeys, wherever he stopped he took up his abode in the hospital, if possible. His time, when not preaching was spent attending the sick, ministering to the dying, teaching the children, and recalling sinners to repentance. At Goa among the Portuguese, as among other conquering nations, avarice and ambition had done much evil. In their greed for wealth and honours, many forgot God and neglected their duty to Him. While there Francis, we are told, spent the greater part of his nights in prayer and penance, beseeching God to have mercy and spare his people, while during the day he gathered the children and slaves about him for instruction, and sought the souls of men to save them. His vigils and labours were not in vain, they brought forth good fruit in the changed lives of the people.

From Goa Francis came to Cape Comorin, where he began his missionary work among the natives, who were miserably poor, and depended upon the pearl fisheries for a scant subsistence. When he had laboured among these people for a time and Christianized most of them, he returned to Goa for assistant priests. The natives of the Island of Manar, off the coast of Ceylon, asked for a missionary. One was sent to them whose labours was blessed with many converts. These people were subject to the King of Jafanapatan, who hated the name of Christian whom he persecuted most cruelly. During his reign, over ten thousand, who confessed the name of Jesus, willingly gave up their lives in testimony of their faith in Him. Xavier left two priests at Cape Comorin and continued his missionary labours along the whole Coromandel Coast, and arrived September, 1545, at Malacca, a stronghold of the Portugese, where he met other Jesuits who who had been sent from Europe. With them he embarked for the Molucca Islands. Among the people of these and other islands of the Indian Archipelago, Xavier remained nearly two years. He then returned to Goa, visiting on his way the missions he had established at Ceylon, Cape Comorin, etc.

ITCHING ECZEMA

An Editor's Little Son Suffers Terribly. Itching Intense, Face Raw and Bleeding from Constant Scratching. Cured by Cuticura.

My little boy was afflicted with Eczema in acute form for nearly a year, during which time we tried without success every known remedy. The disorder appeared on the right cheek and was of a blistery and bloody form. His pillow, mornings, would bear the bloody imprint of the side of his face, while it was impossible to prevent the little fellow from scratching his face, owing to the intensity of the itching. I was advised to try CUTICURA. The first application was made before putting the child to bed, and the appearance of the affected parts showed a noticeable improvement the next morning. As a result of the continued use of CUTICURA my child has as fair and smooth skin as can be found anywhere.

THE GEORGIAN JUBILEE.

Some Pointers for the Local Victorian Diamond Jubilee Committee.

Yesterday the EXAMINER published an extract from the London (Eng.) Courier of Oct. 23, 1809, setting forth the naval form of celebration of King George's Jubilee year. Below will be found a programme of the procession and other items that were to signalise the important occasion:

THE JUBILEE.

On Friday His Majesty sat for between two and three hours, to Turnerelli, for his bust, which is to be called the Jubilee bust. It will represent His Majesty in the full dress Windsor uniform. The Queen and Princesses were present during the time Turnerelli was executing the bust, and, when finished, expressed their approbation of the striking likeness that had been produced.

The preparations going forward at her Majesty's Lodge, at Frogmore, for the celebration of the Jubilee, are on the grandest scale. Grand fireworks are to be let off for about an hour, from an island in the centre of one of the sheets of water. Round the walks of the gardens, are erecting temporary posts for the purpose of having variegated lamps for the illumination. The whole of the arrangements in the gardens are to be under the direction of Mr. Wyatt, the architect, whose son is preparing an immense number of transparencies for Frogmore and the town of Windsor.

On Friday his Majesty's Librarian issued one thousand tickets of invitation to the Nobility and persons of distinction, which had been engraved for the occasion, with the words "Jubilee, Oct. 25, 1809, Frogmore Lodge." A large number of tickets are issued for the inhabitants of Windsor and its vicinity, to see the fire-works and entertainments.

The Earls of Aylesford and Wilton arrived at Windsor on Saturday, on a visit to their Majesties.

On Saturday the Governors and Directors of the Bank of England came to a resolution to allow their clerks (927 in number) one guinea each, for a dinner, to celebrate the Jubilee.

On Saturday, the Directors of the Royal Exchange Insurance Fire-office agreed to give each of their clerks ten guineas, their messengers five guineas each, and their firemen one guinea each, on the 25th instant.

The Bachelors of Windsor, who will recover their ancient charter in consequence of the celebration of the Jubilee, will bait a bull on Thursday, upon their acre, by way of asserting their rights.

Her Majesty has invited 100 of the young Gentlemen of Eton College, to partake of the festivities at Frogmore.

The Admirals and other Officers commanding at ports have received directions to cause a royal salute to be fired by all his Majesty's ships, and other vessels under their respective commands, on Wednesday next.

There is a handsome subscription, we hear, in the parish of Greenford, Middlesex, for a dinner on the 25th, for the labouring people of that parish, to the number of 200, the overplus, if any, to be laid out for the relief of the poor during the winter. All children above five years old admitted. Young children taken care of by women appointed for that purpose.

Procession to St. Paul's.—The following is the Plan for conducting the Ceremony of the Corporation to St. Paul's Cathedral, on Wednesday next. The procession will leave Guildhall at eleven o'clock. First—

Constables with new staves.
River Fencibles in new uniforms.
West Regiment London Militia.
Twelve Trumpeters.
Band, playing "God Save the King."
Under Marshal.
Marshal's Men.
The Right Hon. the Lord Mayor in State, the Horses adorned with purple Ribbon.
Two Sheriffs, in State.
Under Sheriffs, with their Officers, two and two.
Aldermen, in their scarlet Gowns, according to seniority.
Common Council, in their Masarine Gowns.
Officers, &c., &c.

On their arrival at St. Paul's, the Procession will be met at the South door by Dean and Prebends, attended by the whole Choir. After service the whole will return in the same order, to the Mansion-house, where a most sumptuous dinner will be provided. In the evening the Mansion House will be superbly illuminated.

APPARENTLY A HOPELESS CASE.

A Kincardine Banker Who Suffered Distressingly From Indigestion—Apparently a Hopeless Case of Stomach Trouble Until South American Nervine was Used—His Words are: "It Cured me Absolutely."

What this wonderful remedy for all forms of stomach trouble can do is best told in the words of John Boyer, banker, Kincardine, Ont. "About a year ago, as a result of heavy work no doubt, I became very much troubled with indigestion; associated with it were those terribly distressing feelings than can hardly be described in any language. I had tried various methods of ridding myself of the trouble, but without success, until I was influenced to use South American Nervine. The result, and I gladly say it for the benefit of others—this remedy cured me, and I never hesitate to recommend it to any person affected with any form of stomach trouble."—Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

MGR. MERY DEL VAL

Was Received With Great Warmth at Ottawa.

THE BASILICA WAS OVERCROWDED

And Thousands Were Unable to Get In—The Premier With Other Ministers and Members Attended—Ottawa Clergy's Address Promised Obedience to the Pope.

Ottawa, April 4.—(Special)—According to arrangement, Mgr. Mery Del Val, the papal delegate, arrived here last evening and was welcomed by Archbishop Duhamel and the local clergy. The papal representative spent to-day quietly at his quarters in Waterstreet Hospital, and to-night was accorded a formal welcome by the Catholics of Ottawa. The event took place in the Basilica. There were thousands inside the church and thousands unable to get in. Among the notables present were the Premier, Messrs. Tarte, Scott, Fitzpatrick, Costigan, Landerkin and McMullen.

An address of welcome in Latin to His Excellency was read by the Archbishop, the one in French by Mr. Taillon, President of Institut Canadien, and one in English by Mayor Bingham, who was attired in his robes of office, and wore his gold chain. The English address, among other things, said: "We welcome you for your noble Spanish blood, with a dash of Irish in it, which renders your Excellency all the dearer to many Canadian children of St. Patrick." The address assured Mgr. Del Val of the loyal acceptance by the Canadian Catholics of any decision which might be given by His Holiness.

The delegate in his reply said he was glad to know that, while the Roman Catholics of Canada differed as to their language, they were one in faith and united in their loyal submission to the decrees of the Holy Father. He combatted the idea prevalent in some quarters that the Catholics were not loyal to their earthly sovereign. No one joined more heartily than the Pope in congratulating the Queen on her Diamond Jubilee.

The proceedings closed about 9 o'clock.

After the congregation had dispersed a flash-light photo was taken of the sanctuary with the ablegate in the centre, Archbishop Duhamel on one side and Archbishop Langevin on the other and surrounded by the local clergy.

Messrs. Laurier and Scott made a formal call on the ablegate this afternoon.

All the Archbishops Summoned.

Montreal, April 4.—Mgr. Mery Del Val is losing no time in getting to work. He has called a meeting of the Roman Catholic Archbishops of the Dominion, to be held in the Archbishops' Palace at Montreal at 10 o'clock next Thursday. Invitations or notifications of this meeting were sent out last night by Father Archambault, Chancellor of the Arch-Diocese of Montreal, to these prelates: Archbishop O'Brien, Halifax; Archbishop Cleary, Kingston; Archbishop Walsh, Toronto; Archbishop Duhamel, Ottawa, and Archbishop Langevin of St. Boniface, who is down here. Thursday's conference will be presided over by Mgr. Del Val.

U. S. AID FOR INDIA.

Vessels Will be Chartered by the Government, But Anglophobes Had Their Fling in the Debate.

Washington, April 3.—A message was received from the Senate, transmitting the joint resolution, authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to transport in American vessels, which he shall charter, contributions of the people of the United States for the famine stricken in India. At the request of Mr. Grout (Rep., Vt.), it was taken from the Speaker's table for immediate consideration.

The matter of the cost of the proposed transportation came up, but it could not be answered, because no estimate had been received.

Mr. Cannon (Rep., Ills.), stated that he believed the cost would not exceed $50,000, but if it should run up to $75,000 he thought the House would pass the resolution.

Mr. McMillin (Dem., Tenn.), called attention to the spectacle that would be presented by the passage of the resolution. The United States contributing to the relief of the starving subjects of Great Britain in one part of the world, while she was bombarding suffering Christians in another part of the world. [Applause.] He asked that the resolution be allowed to go over until Wednesday.

Mr. Dockery (Dem., Mo.), said that, without regard to the cost ($15,000, $20,000 or $75,000, he proposed to vote for the resolution and hoped it would pass. [Applause.]

To this Mr. McMillin responded that if he could he would add to the resolution a section condemning the policy of Great Britain in the Grecian question.

Mr. Cannon deprecated the throwing of stones in connection with the performance of a gracious act of charity. "If it ever comes to a question of policy," he continued, "between the United States and Great Britain, in which the honor and safety of this country is involved, I will join the gentleman from Tennessee or anyone else in throwing stones, when it means something."

Mr. Grout set before the House the statements of the Viceroy of India, the necessity for prompt relief to the people of that country, saying that unless conditions there were changed, deaths would be numbered by the hundreds of thousands, if not millions.

The contributions in this behalf, he stated, were large, already, one ship load having been despatched on private account.

Mr. Simpson made a suggestion that Mr. McMillin was right. "We ought," he continued, "to accompany our charity with a statement of the evil which had brought these people to starvation." It was, he said, the effects of absentee landlordism, which had reduced the people of Ireland and other parts of the British Kingdom to their conditions.

Mr. Walker (Rep., Mass.): Wasn't Ireland a prosperous country until Great Britain abolished the protective tariff system?

Mr. Simpson: It was a prosperous country until British landlords began eating out its substance.

The joint resolution was passed.

THE LATE CZAR'S BONDS.

He Had $600,000 Deposited in the Bank of England and Wires Were Pulled to Avoid the Death Duties.

New York, April 4.—Mr. Ballard Smith cables from London to The World:

When the present Czar's father died he left bonds valued at £170,000 ($850,000), deposited in the Bank of England, which, in the ordinary course, should have paid about £10,000 ($50,000) death duty to the British Treasury, but the Russian Minister applied officially to Lord Rosebery, then the Foreign Secretary, for exemption from duty to the Czar's personalty in this country. Sir William Harcourt, as Chancellor of the Exchequer, assented, after the matter had been discussed by the Cabinet, although he personally was averse to making this exception. The Cabinet really was induced to take that course by Lord Rosebery, on the representation that a refusal might jeopardise the initiation of better relations between the two nations.

Though this arrangement was effected two years ago, it was only discovered accidentally this week by Mr. Gibson Bowles, in the discharge of his duty as a member of the Public Accounts Committee of the House of Commons. Further investigations established the fact that the exemption made for the Russian Emperor is a new precedent, for when, on the death of the last King of Portugal, his Government applied for a similar concession on his English personalty, it was refused.

The Czar's case will be discussed in Parliament on motion of Mr. Labouchere, whose hostility to the exemption is not modified by the circumstance that it was made at the instigation of his bete noir, Lord Rosebery.

FOUGHT WITH ROBBERS.

A Railroad Man Attacked by Footpads in Rochester and Badly Beaten.

Rochester, April 3.—John McNeill of Portland, President of the Oregon Railway and Steamship Company, was taken to St. Mary's Hospital to-night, suffering from severe injuries sustained in a fight with robbers. McNeill was in a saloon when he was set upon by several men, one of whom struck him in the head and hand with an ax, rendering him unconscious. His valise, containing money and valuable papers, was stolen. He is in a dazed condition, and is unable to state where he was when assaulted.

DURRANT'S FIGHT FOR LIFE.

The Last Resort Fails as Far as the State of California is Concerned.

San Francisco, April 3.—The application of Theodore Durrant for a rehearing of his application for a new trial, previously denied, was refused by the Supreme Court of the State, settling the murderer's fate so far as the courts are concerned. The intervention of the Federal Courts will now be asked, and, failing in that, the clemency of the Governor will be invoked.

U.S. TARIFF AND CANADIAN CATTLE

All Animals Not Bought by Importers Before April 1 Will Have to Pay the Dingley Duty.

East Buffalo, April 3.—Mr. Charles H. Webster, publisher of The Mercantile Review, devoted to the live stock trade, sent the following message to Lyman Gage, Secretary of the Treasury, relative to the new tariff bill and its effect on Canadian cattle shipments: "What effect will the tariff bill passed by the House have upon shipments of Canadian cattle, before final disposition of bill?"

Mr. Gage promptly replied: "Cattle hereafter imported, unless purchased before April 1, may become subject to provisions of the new tariff."

This means that unless the Senate removes the date effective provision, the tariff schedule of the Dingley Bill will be in effect and will affect all receipts after April 1.

GONE BACK TO WORK.

Emperor Francis Joseph Wouldn't Accept the Resignation of His Ministers.

Vienna, April 4.—The Cabinet crisis that was brought about by the resignation on Friday of Count Badeni, the Prime Minister, and the other members of the Ministry, has been ended by Emperor Francis Joseph, who refuses to accept the resignations of his Ministers. After conferring with the Emperor Count Badeni and his colleagues decided to attempt to carry on the Government despite the fact that they had found it impossible to maintain a Liberal majority in the new Reichsrath.

COMING TO A CRISIS.

The British Foreign Secretary on the War Cloud.

HE DEFENDS THE GOVERNMENT

And Says Things Not Very Complimentary Regarding Mr. Gladstone—The Porte Notifies Greece to Get Out of Crete—Threatening Language by a Russian Newspaper.

London, April 4.—George T. Curzon, Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, addressed his constituents at Southport yesterday. He made an extended reference to the arbitration treaty, with which, he said, the name of the Marquis of Salisbury would be perpetually linked in history. If the motives and tactics, which were alien to the spirit of the proposals they apparently intended to wreck, succeeded in strangling that agreement in its cradle, they would not succeed in depriving its authors, either on this side or the other side of the Atlantic, of the credit of its parentage, and a later date would surely come when their treaty, if not completed now, would take its place as a part of the code of the Anglo-Saxon brotherhood, and perhaps a part of the international law of the world. The law givers who originated it would ever afterward be held in honored remembrance.

Speaking of the eastern question, Secretary Curzon said that a war cloud was daily growing on the horizon, but he was hopeful that prudent statesmanship and the unselfish aims of the powers might yet dispel the cloud before it breaks into a cyclone of universal destruction. He presumed that the British people had two objects in view, the welfare of Crete and the avoidance of European war. The speaker excepted the Radicals, who, he said, held, without regard for facts, that whatever Greece did was right.

Secretary Curzon then referred to the integrity of the Ottoman Empire, and said that part of the international law which had heretofore been modified by the powers would be modified again, but that the distribution of the empire as it gradually breaks up must be undertaken by Europe and not left to individual powers to grab what they thought was their share of the spoils. The only effect, he said, of Lord Kimberley's or Sir William Harcourt's proposals to tear up the treaties and repudiate the obligations of Great Britain would be to alienate our allies and leave vacant a place in the concert of Europe, which was a league of peace. At the present moment nothing could be worse for Crete and nothing so unfortunate for Greece as that the ancient liberties of the former should be imperilled, or that the financial difficulties of the latter should be aggravated by a strain which annexation would impose. A constitution for Crete would be ready soon, and peace would be restored. More important points than the forming of a constitution were the creation of a supreme governing authority and the pacification of the island. The new Governor should be a Christian, nominated by the powers.

In this connection the speaker said that he could not imagine a more impracticable suggestion than Mr. Gladstone's that the Cretans be allowed to select their own Governor. The withdrawal of the Turkish troops was a logical sequence after the withdrawal of Crete from the authority of the Sultan. England was taking all the steps possible to get rid of the Turkish troops on the island, but the responsibility for their remaining rests with the insurgents and the Greek troops who were encouraging them. Only a knave would make the suggestion that we are acting for the Turks in this matter, and only an idiot would believe, if Greece declared war, as we read with shame, she would do it in order to spite herself on the powers. She could not act from a pettier or meaner motive or commit a greater crime. Our duty lies with the concert of the powers, because it is in the cause of peace. It is a cabinet of nations, marking the greatest advances of international law and international ethics which the century has seen.

At the conclusion of Mr. Curzon's remarks he received an ovation, and a vote of confidence in the Government was taken and unanimously carried.

SHAMEFULLY AMBUSHED.

Bashi-Bazouks Went Out From Canea and Attacked Fleeing Families

Canea, April 3.—The insurgents in the hills about the town of Akrotiri, on the peninsula of that name, recently asked the foreign admirals for permission to leave their positions, as they desired to leave the peninsula. The authorization was granted, and the insurgents with their families descended from the hills, driving their cattle before them, and not suspecting any danger. They had scarcely reached the lower ground, when 2000 Bashi-Bazouks suddenly fired upon them at a range of only 220 yards. The Bashi-Bazouks had emerged from Canea last evening and made their way to the insurgent position, having apparently received information that they were about to evacuate the peninsula.

The Turkish force consisted mainly of refugees who had been brought to Canea from Selino by Sir Alfred Biliotti, the British Consul here. After their arrival in Canea they had been armed by the Governor, in defiance of the promises that had been made to the admirals. Their arms had been taken from them when they were compelled to evacuate, but they experienced not the slightest difficulty in procuring other weapons by direction of the Governor.

The insurgents were armed, and they soon recovered from the surprise occasioned by the sudden attack of the Bashi-Bazouks. They then returned the fire, whereupon the latter returned to Canea. As they approached the town they quietly deposited their arms and ammunition in places where they would not be seen by the foreigners here. Part of the weapons were placed in ditches in the outskirts, while the remainder were deposited in the Medjes barracks.

The international forces ashore did not take any measures to prevent the collision, and the warships in Suda Bay did not fire a shot to check the Bashi-Bazouks.

THE NEW FRANCHISE BILL.

The Montreal Witness says,—"Upon their return power the Liberals have hastened to embody their policy in a bill which provides for a return to the provincial lists for Dominion election purposes. Some necessary modifications of the provincial lists are provided for, but the modifications merely relate to such matters as providing that returning officers and a few other officials should not vote, more as matter of decent recognition for impartiality than anything else. The Dominion Opposition do not oppose the repeal of the Franchise Act; they know well enough that it places too much power in the hands of the government, and, placed as they now are, that is of course intolerable. But they do not relish the return to the provincial lists, which are prepared under the direction of provincial government officials, but officials of high and permanent position. Certainly, one principal government which took the franchise from Dominion Government employees for a time gave some cause for distrust of provincial franchise lists. But this exception, which is so loudly put forward, is remarkable because it is an exception, and therefore proves the rule that on the whole provincial lists are fair. The radical theory has always been manhood suffrage, one man, one vote, with a personal registration system which would come mechanically into operation a month or two before each election. This would be preferable, but the registration system is peculiarly open to fraud and lends itself to machine politics too readily. And in any case the cost which would probably be as great as that of the present franchise system, excludes it in practice."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

DIVORCES are manufactured in Chicago at the rate of five an hour. A divorce judge ran through twenty-five cases in five hours. That is faster a good deal than we can solemnize marriages in a civilized country.

MGR. MERRY DE VAL, the Papal delegate, objects to the pictures of him that have appeared in the daily papers. And with reason; it would take a large spirit of self-effacement and a large loss of self-respect to regard with indifference the wonderful artistic productions, called portraits, that confront public men.

WHO shall decide when doctors disagree? Why, in Champlain, the electors of course. The candidates in the bye election that takes place in that Quebec constituency are Dr. Trudel, Liberal, and Dr. Marcotte, Conservative. Their disagreement in diagnosis over what is the matter with the country, politically, will be decided by the electors on Wednesday.

THE debate on the address is over. The opposition has, the Ottawa Free Press remarks, caused a week to be wasted, covered themselves with confusion, showed themselves to be at sixes and all "broken up," and showed a leader who seems unable to hold them in hand. The discussion will, however, have the effect of placing them before the country "just as they are."

It is reported that Sir Charles Tupper is mentioned as a candidate for Imperial honours. It is said that he is to be elected to the peerage. Good. We much prefer that he should bore the Lords with resurrectionist operations on the defunct school question than our House of Commons. It is to be hoped that the rumour is correct. Sir Charles has pretty well wrecked the Conservative party, and politically few tears would fall over his departure.

THE Quebec Chronicle says:—"In many ways the growth of Canadian national sentiment is showing itself. Last week, during a public reception by the citizens of Pictou, N.S., in their large new public hall, the new national song, by H. H. Godfrey, entitled "The Land of the Maple," was sung. The local papers and the visiting delegates all say that the effect was electrical. The vast audience rose at the end of each verse, and almost prevented the progress of the song with their applause. Subsequently it was repeated by special request at the close of the entertainment, when the audience vigourously joined in the chorus. And it was down by the sea, where only a very few years ago they were talking of seceding from Confederation altogether."

U. S. FOREST RESERVES.

Several years ago, the United States Congress passed a law empowering the President of the United States to declare such parts of Federal territory to be "forest reserves" as he chose.

President Harrison under this law declared forest reserves, alias great public parks, in several of the states and territories, in all some eighteen million acres.

President Cleveland on the eve of relinquishing office a short time ago, followed suit. One of the last acts of his official administration was to declare a number of new reserves, aggregating twenty-one million acres.

The combined tracts, aggregating 39,000,000 acres or sixty thousand square miles, constitute a territory much larger than all England. The most recent reserves include the Central Black Hills of South Dakota, Wyoming's Big Horn mountain range, the basin of Jackson Lake and the Teton Mountains south of the Yellowstone Park in Wyoming, the Rocky Mountains of Northern Montana and forest lands in Idaho, Washington, California and Utah. These magnificent areas are set apart for all time, probably, for the preservation of natural beauty, of animal and bird life, of the forest and streams, of the pleasure of man, and the stability of climate.

It is an example well worthy of emulation by our own governments, whether Dominion or Provincial. Ontario and Quebec have each done well already. The other provinces have not, we think, taken any action. The Dominion government has made a small step in the reservation of Banff park, but it should do far more. Now is the time, ere the country begins to be settled to a more embarrassing extent. May it be hoped that the government will some time soon turn its thought to this matter.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

NORTH HARVEY SCHOOL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

SIR,—It has been the custom for many years to let by contract the cutting of the yearly supply of wood. Trustees, by law, are debarred from tendering, but one of them, it is said, wants the contract. He has standing timber almost at the school door, that he wishes to dispose of; has team and man to keep employed. A private tender to trustees is made by another person. It is awarded to him. Trustees employ this party at a remuneration; his hired man, team and himself deliver the wood. The grist comes to his mill and he evades the law by proxy. The trustees are all as culpable in the transaction as the one who benefits by the transaction. Truly the gullibility of North Harvey is astonishing.

Dr. Chas. E. Elliott, M. I am now using it in many forms of skin diseases, and ulcers with apparent benefit. For cuts and burns it makes a splendid dressing."

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys Baffled the World's Most Eminent Medical Authorities Until

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Came to the Rescue and Delivery of Mankind, Stopping Forever the Deadly Assaults of Life's Most Insidious Foes.

Men are dropping from the ranks everywhere. Cut down in the flower of youth or the fruitage of manhood by that ruthless destroyer—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

Only a few days ago Sir Hercules Robinson, the doughty Governor of Cape Colony, was forced to resign that post because of encroaching Bright's Disease.

Hardly had his successor been appointed when the wires brought tidings of the death of William P. St. John, a New York banker, and remembered by everyone as the treasurer of the National Democratic party during the last national campaign. Bright's Disease carried him off.

It has killed many better men than most of us. So has Diabetes, its twin curse. Yet there is one cure (and only one), that never fails in cases of Diabetes and Bright's Disease. Let these testimonials bear witness:—

MR. FRED. CARSTENS, Palmerston, Ont., says:—"After many years suffering with Bright's Disease, I am a new man, cured by using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MR. F. X. GROULX, Ottawa, Ont., says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a godsend to me as they have cured me of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys."

S. G. MOORE, King St., London, Ont., says: "After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am as well as ever in my life, after despairing of recovery from Bright's Disease."

MR. CHAS. T. BYE, Garryowen P. O., Ont., says: "For the past three years have suffered of Diabetes, but noticing cures published I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have perfectly cured me."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS are for sale by druggists everywhere, and by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. Price 50 cents a box.

BIG FIRE IN HAMILTON.

Bertram's Hardware Store and Stock Damaged to the Extent of $50,000.

Hamilton, April 4.—(From Our Staff Correspondent.)—The costliest fire that has occurred in Hamilton for about 15 years took place this morning. It started about 2 o'clock in Peter Bertram's hardware store, 65 King-street east, and was practically confined to that building by the excellent work of the fire department. Cellars of adjoining stores were flooded, and it is roughly estimated that the total loss by fire and water is $50,000. It was 3 o'clock when the firemen returned to their stations.

The fire, it is thought, originated in the oil house in the rear of Bertram's four-storey store. It crept up the elevator shaft to the upper flats, and the building was in flames when the department arrived. Five hydrant streams of water were soon playing on the building, back and front, and two streams from the steam engine were used to keep the roofs of the adjoining buildings wet. There were four big explosions, but no person was hurt. When the fire reached the magazine there was a loud report, and in a few seconds thousands of cartridges went off. Bullets flew around the store, but, strange to say, no one was struck. There being so much inflammable material in the store the water had little effect, and the fire simply burned itself out. All that is left of the building are the walls. About 50 bicycles were destroyed. Mr. Bertram's stock was valued at about $22,000, and he had only $14,000 insurance. The building is owned by T. H. Platt and was insured for $7000. His loss is almost covered with insurance.

R. Wilson's shoe store, next door east, was completely flooded and the stock in his store and cellar is damaged to the extent of $5000. Hundreds of pairs of shoes in boxes floated in four feet of water in the cellar. The cellars of D. B. Pratt's shoe store and E. A. Powell's shoe store, on the east, were flooded, and about $700 damage done to goods.

The plate glass window of the Canada Glass House, Nos. 61 and 63, was broken, and the roof was burned in two places. The cellar was flooded and about $50 worth of goods damaged. The damage to the building, which is owned by the Stinson estate, amounts to about $300. The fire burned through the walls of this building, but two firemen, standing in four feet of water, kept it from spreading by playing a stream from the chemical engine on it ever and anon.

McKay Bros., drygoods dealers, Nos. 55 and 57, estimate their loss by water at $5000. Bales of cotton, rolls of carpets and other goods in the cellar were completely submerged. The cellar of Wood, Vallance & Co., hardware merchants, Nos. 51 and 53, was also flooded to the depth of three feet, and about $500 worth of goods damaged. Other merchants' cellars were flooded. At noon hand engines were secured to pump the water out of the cellars, but Chief Aitcheson learned that there was a large sewer in the cellar of the Wood-Vallance building. He set several firemen to work with iron bars to locate it. With much difficulty—they had to work in several feet of water—the men found the sewer, which was of iron pipe, and broke a hole in it. The water then began to run away, and by evening most of the water had soaked through the walls from the adjoining cellars.

Chief Aitcheson and his department deserve words of praise for the work done. There was a high wind blowing, and only their hard work saved the block of stores. The firemen had a difficult task to raise the ladders on account of the network of wires in front of the buildings. While cutting a live electric light wire, James Gallagher, an employe of the Electric Light Works, got his hands burned. He stepped on another live wire and got a severe shock.

It may save you time and money to be informed that, when you need a blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the kind most in favor with the medical profession. It is the standard, as such, the only blood-purifier admitted at the Chicago World's Fair.

FAST ATLANTIC LINE

Is What is Taking Hon. Mr. Dobell to London.

SOME MODIFICATIONS ARE WANTED

Pretty Well Settled That Peterson, Tait & Co. Will Get the Contract—Hon. David Mills Gives His Views in Regard to Dingley Tariff Bill.

Ottawa, April 4.—(Special.)—It now transpires that the object of Mr. Dobell's mission to England is to see the Colonial Secretary with the object of reaching a definite understanding with the Home Government respecting the Imperial contribution to the fast line, and a modification of certain of the conditions. It has all along been understood that the Imperial Government would contribute one-third of the subsidy, so that, if the deal with the Allans last year had gone through, the British contribution would have been £75,000 and Canada's £150,000. Report has it that Peterson, Tait & Co. are willing to undertake the service for a less figure, but make certain stipulations, which the Dominion Government will assent to if the consent of the home authorities can also be procured. A high authority informs me that it is as good as settled that Peterson & Co. will get the contract.

Senator David Mills is well known throughout Canada as one of the ablest men in the ranks of the Liberal party. He reads the signs of the times in the United States, and has come to the conclusion that, in view of the adoption of the Dingley tariff by Congress, the chances are altogether against the successful negotiation of a treaty of reciprocity with that country. On being asked what he thought the Parliament of Canada should do in the event of a reciprocity treaty not being possible, he replied: "I notice that the Dingley bill now before Congress proposes many radical changes in the United States tariff, and that a great number of these changes are directly pointed against the trade of this country. In taking this course the United States legislators do not profess to be actuated by any ill-will towards us, but assert that they have wholly their own interests in view. Now, we may do the same thing. Let us carefully examine the proposed tariff; let us notice the special articles that Congress is legislating to exclude, and let us alter our tariff in respect to all these articles in such a way that Canada may become the field in which the purchases by individual consumers of the United States would be made. In my opinion, a very moderate Canadian duty on cutlery, West of England broadcloths, silks, gloves and a number of other articles, would give our Government a much larger revenue from these sources than they would derive from a very high tariff, because the wealthy classes of the Republic would purchase their goods in all our border towns and cities. During the American Civil War there was a very large trade in goods of these kinds in all our border towns and cities, and under the Dingley tariff precisely the same traffic would be again undertaken. I have no doubt whatever that the Canadian revenue would be much increased by this means."

Mr. Mills also believes that such action upon Canada's part would mean a good deal of smuggling of the low-priced goods from Canada into the United States. Considerable dissatisfaction would in consequence arise from prosecutions, and in that way public sentiment in the States would be influenced against the proposed tariff.

A CHURCH FIGHT.

The Bishop Did Not Want Lighted Candles and the Vicar Did—And the Vicar Came Out on Top.

New York, April 4.—Mr. H. R. Chamberlain cables from London to The Sun:

The whole Church of England has been horrified this week by the action of a Vicar who has dared to defy his Bishop before the congregation. The Bishop of Norwich attended the annual confirmation service at Gorleston Church. When he emerged from the vestry with the clergy and choir and entered the chancel he observed lighted candles on the altar and asked the Vicar, the Rev. Mr. Forbes Phillips, to remove them. The Vicar curtly declined, and asserted his supreme authority in his own church. The following colloquy occurred:

Bishop: I shall not proceed with the service unless the lights are removed.

Vicar: You may please yourself, but the lights shall remain.

The Bishop directed two church wardens to extinguish the candles, but these officials ranged themselves on the side of the Vicar, and one of them declared that: "We are not the servants of the Bishop and have no authority beyond the altar rails."

Bishop: I have great objection to lighted candles on the altar in the day time, and probably the congregation shares my views.

Vicar: I invite any such to declare themselves.

Bishop: I shall not conduct the service.

Vicar (taking out his watch): I shall give you one minute to make up your mind, and if you then still refuse, I shall conduct the service myself, ascend the pulpit, and declare the candidates members of the Church of England, throwing upon you the responsibility of rejecting them afterwards. Before the minute had elapsed the Bishop elected, as he said, for the sake of peace and to spare the feelings of the congregation, to proceed with the service. Now the ecclesiastical world is wondering what will happen to that Vicar.

WHY SUFFER WITH PILES?

Dr. Chase's Ointment Will Cure Them at a Cost of But 60 Cents.

Piles, scrofula, eczematic eruptions, scald head, salt rheum and all other annoying and painful skin diseases can be easily cured by Dr. Chase's Ointment. "I had protruding piles for ten years," writes H. H. Sutherland, commercial traveller, of Truro, N.S.; "tried many remedies, and had doctors operate. It was no use. Was completely laid up at times. Chase's Ointment was recommended to me by Mr. Brennan, of the Summerside, P.E.I., Journal. I tried it, and one box completely cured me."

Mr. Statia, the editor of the Streetsville, Ont., Review, gives this unsolicited testimonial under date of Nov. 6, 1895: "Half a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment cured my daughter of eczema. That was six months ago, and there has since been no reappearance of the disease."

T. Wallace, blacksmith, of Iroquois, Ont., was troubled with blind itching piles for 20 years. "I tried every remedy that came out in vain," he writes, "until I tried Dr. Chase's Ointment. It was a godsend. One box cured me."

No danger of the citizens of Peterborough starving for brain foods during the Lenten season, as long as we can keep up our present supply of Fish.

While the albuminoid matter in White Fish, Cod, Haddock and Halibut is in about the same proportion as in beef and mutton, the quantity of phosphorus is greater.

The active fish, such as Trout, Pickerel, Salmon, etc., contain a still greater amount of phosphorus, due no doubt to their quick movements.

Select Fish with firm flesh, clear eyes, red gills, scales bright and free from any unpleasant odor.

On Monday evening, April 5th, an entertainment will be held in the Catholic Association rooms when Rev. Father Fitzpatrick will deliver an address on the subject, "Why Young Men Fail." In connection with this an excellent programme will be presented. Admission 10 cents. 4d

The Concert of the Season.

St. Paul's choir has completed arrangements for holding its annual anniversary concert and Harold Jarvis has been engaged to take the solo work. These concerts of St. Paul's choir are always well patronized on their merits and this year should be marked by a very large attendance, as Jarvis is a great favourite in Peterborough, where his magnificent work is always appreciated. The date of the concert has been fixed for May 11th.

Dissolution Stock-clearing Sale.

As will be seen by advertisement elsewhere, the partnership represented by the firm of Hall, Gilchrist & Co. has been dissolved, Mr. Gilchrist retiring. The business will be conducted by Messrs. Richard Hall and Dickson Hall. The change in the personnel of the firm will necessitate the immediate clearing of the entire stock which is in splendid condition and will be certain to afford opportunities for decided bargains, which the public should make every exertion to take advantage of.

Two Out-going Missionaries Incoming.

Mr. Buchanan, who is about leaving for South America, and Miss Quinn, who expects soon to leave for China, will hold meetings in the Bethany Mission, Water street, Tuesday, 6th inst., Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Sabbath next. They will speak on missions and Christian life. There has been no intention or desire to conflict in any way with the meetings now being held in town, as the arrangements were made in Toronto to address meetings in different places before they left for their respective fields of labour.

The Curfew Bell.

The ringing of the Curfew Bell, at five minutes to 9 o'clock, as a warning to vagrant juveniles to retire from the streets, has been resumed. It is to be hoped that that the law will be rigidly enforced, as the streets at night are the places where the initiatory consequences in vice are continually conducted after the hours of darkness. As our police force is required on duty in the central portion of the town, it is suggested by a lady who has a deep interest in the enforcement of the Curfew bylaw, that a special constable be sworn in on each residential street to assist in seeing that the provisions of the bylaw are observed.

New Millinery Store.

Mrs. Cassidy, who has been engaged in the millinery business in Peterborough during the past six years has retired from active work, and given up the business to her daughters, the Misses M. and L. Cassidy. Both young ladies are well qualified by their experience and skill to continue a successful business, and they start out under the most favourable circumstances. By reference to their announcement in another column, the ladies will notice that they have fixed the date for their first millinery opening for Thursday, April 8th, and following days of this week, and give a cordial invitation to the ladies to call and inspect their rich display. Their millinery show rooms will be in the same premises as formerly occupied by Mrs. Cassidy, No. 423 George street, but great improvements have recently been made in the interior of the store, which the ladies will be pleased to note. The premises have been completely remodelled and brightened, the walls and ceilings beautifully papered, the show cases and counters grained in light oak; and a handsome gilt-lettered sign adorns the show window. The Misses Cassidy will show a large and attractive stock of everything new in millinery novelties. All old stock has been removed, and nothing but the latest styles will be displayed. Miss Lillian Cassidy, who will be in charge of the trimming department, has attended the wholesale openings in several of the leading cities, including Detriot, where she has gained a personal knowledge of the leading styles of the season.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION.

A Big Delegation Invades the Capital.

This afternoon a special train consisting of six coaches left the C. P. R. station carrying over 200 passengers, including the delegation that visits the capital to-day to interview the Government at 10.30 o'clock to-morrow in respect to continuing work on the Trent Valley Canal. A large number must have joined the deputation en route as an extra coach was attached to the special at Havelock.

THE "DEVIL'S FUNERAL."

Police Court Investigation Into the Matter.

There was on Saturday a rumour in general circulation to the effect that the Salvation Army authorities were to be arraigned at the police court, charged with breach of statute in holding a funeral before the death was registered, and this morning a large crowd filled the police court in expectation of the hearing of the charge.

But there were no court proceedings over the matter. The rumour arose from the joke of a town official, who, with a sly sense of humour consistent with April 1st, summoned Adjutant Wiseman the day before the announced funeral of the devil, to appear at his office. The adjutant did not receive the message or ignored it till the next day, when he was informed that the staff of the army were liable to be brought before the Cadi for transgressing the statute that requires the registration of the death before a funeral takes place. But his Santanic majesty having received an All Fool's day funeral and being securely buried, it was considered prudent not to disturb the status quo, and the breach of the law was, in the interests of morality, overlooked.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

Plans for its Beautiful Interior Decorations—Ceilings and Walls to Be Thoroughly Beautified—New Flooring and New Seating—The Interior to be made to Correspond with the Elegant Exterior.

Mr. F. E. Meloche of Montreal, fresco artist and church decorator, has prepared elaborate plans for the renovation and beautifying of the interior of St. Peter's Cathedral. This fact was announced yesterday in the church, and the work will proceed immediately after Easter.

It is generally known that when the church was rebuilt some years ago that the chief work was expended in producing the beautiful exterior that make the Cathedral church of the Diocese of Peterborough so prominent and attractive a feature in the view from Hunter street and other points of vision. For structural reasons it was found impossible to treat the ceilings in a manner to produce satisfactory results, but the plans of Mr. Meloche, now accepted, are well intended to overcome the disadvantages which resulted in connection with the interior. Necessity compelled the keeping of the ceilings too low to correspond to the dignity of the edifice. The execution of the present plans will tend to produce the desired appearance of loftiness, and the subdued light caused by the beautiful stained glass windows will be intensified by the adopted.

The ceiling of the church is divided by heavy mouldings into 39 panels and these are to be frescoed in a very elaborate and beautiful manner. Four of the panels in the ceiling space over the sanctuary are to be filled with life-size medallions representing the Four Evangelists, and the ceiling spaces to the southward in the median line are to be filled in with similar life size medallions representing St. Peter in Chains — the patron saint of the church—and St. Jean Baptiste. The cruciform disposition of these medallions will be in harmony with the sacred character of the edifice. There are thirty-nine panels in the ceiling altogether and the remaining thirty-three will be treated in a uniform manner, that is to say, every alternate panel will be filled with a religious emblem with suitable accompanying decoration or elaborate ornamental design of an ecclesiastical character. The colours will be cheerful but subdued in tone, relieved by gilding, and, with the mouldings enclosing the panels picked out in gold in conformity with the panel decorations, the effect will be superb.

The northern or sanctuary wall will be divided into panels, and in the central panel will will be placed the superb paiting, "St. Peter in Chains." Three new statues and paintings will be provided and statues will be placed on consoles over the doors leading to the vestry. A new altar of great beauty will be provided.

The side walls under the galleries will be embraced in the scheme of ornamentation, and the gallery railings and organ loft will share in the splendid renewal to which the entire interior will be very thoroughly and elaborately subjected.

New hardwood flooring will be laid down and new pews provided. The new pews will have fine ornate live oak ends; the backs are to be of ash and the seats of elm.

The beautified interior will be illuminated by electric light, and the same system of lighting will be extended to the high alter.

With the proposed plans carried out, which will be done, the clergy and congregation of St. Peter's may be congratulated upon being both without and within one of the most beautiful, if not the largest churches in the diocese, and one creditably sustaining the dignity of the Cathedral church of the Diocese of Peterborough.

Grand Military Concert.

This is not the now notorious "concert of the Powers," but a grand military concert to be given under the auspices of the officers and under the management of the Sergeants' mess of the Rangers, in Bradburn's Opera House on Easter Monday. The occasion will be a great one, for which preparations have been going on for some time. Among the distinctly military features will be the presence of Sergeant-Major Morgans, late of the Scot's Guards, and champion fencer of America, and Sergeant Instructor Boutellier, of the Royal Military College Kingston, a most accomplished swordsman. These two will give brilliant exhibitions in bouts with foils against foils, sword against sword, bayonet vs. bayonet, single stick, etc., etc. With two such eminent experts pitted against each other, we may expect a most brilliant exposition of the use of these several weapons answering to the nature of the contest "when Greek meets Greek," etc. In addition there will be a fine miscellaneous programme, consisting of physical drill by the non-coms and a large number of choice musical selections. The 57th Battalion Band will be attendance. Watch for further particulars of this delightful concert and entertainment.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Afternoon and Evening Meetings Addressed by Evangelist Ranton—Earnest Addresses to Great Audiences.

There was a mass meeting held yesterday afternoon in Bradburn's opera house, at which Mr. A. H. Ranton presided. Long before the hour which had been announced for the commencement of the meeting had arrived there were crowds of persons standing at, or trying to jostle their way up to, the doors of the building. So great was the crowd that immediately upon opening the doors every seat was taken on the platform and in the body of the hall. At a few minutes past four Mr. Ranton commenced to deliver his address, the substance of which is given below.

He said he would speak of the young man who fell among the saloon-keepers, and was robbed of all that he had and then thrown out and left by the wayside and was picked up by a Christian and taken to his home, where he was tenderly treated; who also ministered unto his family and got him to take the pledge. Mr. Ranton said his subject would be "The Devil's Best Friend." His address would be a general temperance one. On this subject there has been a great deal said in all the pulpits of this town at various times, and also from platforms during the Scott Act and Dunkin Act agitations. Mr. Ranton spoke very earnestly upon the liquor question and also touched upon the revenue which was gained in connection with it. He showed how the influence of drink upon a confirmed drunkard weakened his will power and made a wreck of him socially, financially and spiritually. Throughout Mr. Ranton's entire address he held the audience spellbound with interest, and the best of order prevailed.

EVENING SERVICE.

Evangelist Ranton preached in George street Methodist church to as many people as the church could possibly hold. Chairs had to brought up from the Sunday school room and it was with the greatest difficulty that one could get standing room. There were as many remained for the after meeting as there has been in attendance at a regular service previously to Mr. Ranton's arrival here. He took for his text:

Come now and let us reason together, saith the Lord; though your sins be as scarlet they shall be as white as snow; though your sins be red like crimson, they shall be as wool.—Isaiah 1 and 18.

Mr. Ranton said that he wanted to review some of the sins the people of Israel had committed against God, as suggested in this chapter. When stern justice says, "Cut Him down," one can hear the sweet voice of our Saviour's saying, "Come now and let us reason together." "The Bible," said Mr. Ranton, "is a book of invitation. One can find nowhere in the Bible an invitation which is clothed with the dignity and majesty of the "Come" of the text. Among the sins the people of Israel had committed was to be found that of ingratitude. "I have nourished and brought up children and they have rebelled against me," says the Lord through his prophet.

The sin of ingratitude is one of the basest a man can commit. "Perhaps some of you parents have known what it is to have a thankless child. Men magnify the Fatherhood of God, and yet they live as though they thought He had no heart. The father-heart of God longs for some evidence of gratitude. Give God the best service you can, which is that of gratitude. Men and women accept the mercies and gifts which God showers on them without a word or sign of thankfulness, or acknowledgment. Then there is the great sin of uncleanness. We are all wrong and astray and we need salvation, and until we accept God we are all doomed to the same destruction. There is a great stream of uncleanness in our midst. Profanity is one form of uncleanness. "Come, let us reason together saith the Lord, and I will take all the uncleanness of blasphemy out of your life." See the great change which came over Bunyan, who previous to his conversion was a very vile man. He came to God's great gold cure for sin.

There has been a great deal of discussion as to who was the author of the poem "Beautiful Snow." The present editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer claims to have the original manuscript in his possession. A young woman of the street, only twenty one years of age, was taken to a Cincinnati hospital to die. After she died the manuscript of the poem was found among her effects. As part of it was so appropriate to the text, Mr. Ranton said he would give some of the stanzas:

"Once I was pure as the snow, but I fell—
Fell like the snowflakes from heaven to hell,
Fell to be trampled as filth on the street—
Fell to be scoffed, to be spit on and beat,
Pleading, cursing, dreading to die,
Selling my soul to whoever would buy;
Dealing in shame for a morsel of bread,
Hating the living and fearing the dead.
Merciful God, have I fallen so low!
And yet I was once like the beautiful snow.

Once I was fair as the beautiful snow,
With an eye like a crystal, a heart like its glow;
Once I was loved for my innocent grace,
Flattered and sought for the charms of my face.
Father, mother, sister, all,
God and myself I have lost by my fall;
The veriest wretch that goes shivering by
Will make a wide sweep lest I wander too nigh,
For all that is on or about me I know,
There is nothing so pure as the beautiful snow.
How strange it should be that this beautiful snow
Should fall on the sinner with nowhere to go;
How strange it should be when the night comes again,
If the snow and the ice struck my desperate brain,
Fainting, freezing, dying alone,
Too wicked for prayer, too weak for a moan,
To be heard in the streets of the crazy town,
Gone mad in the joy of snow coming down,
To live and die in my terrible woe,
With a bed and a shroud of the beautiful snow.

Helpless and foul as the trampled snow,
Sinner despair not. Christ stoopeth low
To receive the soul that is lost in sin,
And raise it to life and enjoyment again;
Groaning, bleeding, dying for thee,
His accents of mercy fall soft on thine ear.
Is there mercy for me, will he hear my weak prayer?
O! God, in the streams that for sinners flow,
Wash me and I shall be whiter than snow.

The Christ of that dying young woman is the Christ of to-day, and he is ready to welcome all who will come to him. Backsliding is another terrible sin. It is very seldom that a man who is truly converted to God becomes a backslider. The only remedy for backsliding is to come to God and reason with him.

Miss Clara Belleghem sang a solo "The Man of Galilee," with fine effect, and a quartette composed of Mrs. Seward and Miss L. Pascoe, and Messrs. Chambers and Miller, sang "Somebody's Boy," which was very much appreciated by all.

Dr. Andres, Beaver Hall, Montreal, writes: "For burns and sores it is really far better than any remedy I know of; it is mild and safe to use, and it makes a splendid plaster. Where an Anodyne is required, and when Aconite or Belladonna might be dangerous, a 'Quickcure' plaster gives relief in fifteen minutes."

CHURCH CHIMES.

Mrs. Mein took the solo work admirably last evening in the anthem "Eventide," which was rendered by St. Paul's choir.

"Praise ye the Father" was the title of a harmoniously sung anthem in St. Paul's church yesterday morning.

Rev. O. C. Elliott, the new pastor of the Park street Baptist church, took the service yesterday, speaking on "The Commission" in the morning and in the evening, basing his sermon on the text "Wilt Thou be made whole?"—John v., 6. The choir sang the anthem "Standing by the Cross" in a manner deserving of especial praise.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes manager Thomas Dawson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

The rapidity with which croup developes calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

THE WHEEL.

London is after the C.W.A. meet, and a circular just issued reads as follows:

It is generally conceded that any place aspiring to get the annual C.W.A. meet, should possess all of the following requisites, viz.: Ample hotel accommodation, good railway facilities, first class track, with extensive seating capacity, comfortable quarters for the riders, the best possible prospects for returning a handsome sum to the coffers of the C.W.A., and last, but not least, the best means of entertaining the visiting wheelmen and their friends.

HOTEL ACCOMMODATION.

London has greater and better hotel accommodation than any other city in Ontario—excepting only Toronto. This is not mere assertion nor a flight of the imagination, but is based on actual facts. Every year during the Western Fair we have at least twenty thousand visitors daily, the number often reaching thirty-five thousand—counted at the gate. The majority of the hotels are within five minutes walk of the track, and special rates are being arranged for during the stay of visitors. What more do you want?

TRACK AND GROUNDS.

Our track is a third of a mile long, and cost, together with the stands, between five and six thousand dollars. The banking and corners embody the very latest ideas, and are built on scientific principles. It is surfaced with brick dust, screened gravel and coarse salt, and with a fine finishing touch will be one of the fastest in the country.

The seating capacity is seven thousand—three thousand of which is under cover in the grand stand. Under the grand stand are twelve large dressing rooms for the riders, furnished with shower baths and every necessary convenience.

It might be mentioned that in order to secure the elegant track and grand stands for the benefit of cycling the London Bicycle Club is under bonds to pay a large yearly rental for a term of years. The track is only three short blocks from the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets—the very heart of the city—and is accessible from all parts of the city by electric cars. Should there unfortunately be rain it will make little or no difference to the success of the meet.

The seats are so arranged in amphitheatre form, that the rider is under the eye of the spectator from start to finish.

The list of attractions offered is something stupendous and are enumerated as follows:

We have already shown you that you will be comfortably housed. What will you eat and ——? Water; well, we have the best spring water supply in the province. This will satisfy the great majority of the boys, but for the few—the very few of us—there are three breweries, the proprietors of which have already extended an invitation to all wheelmen and their friends to visit. Boys, think of Carling's and Labatt's! Between these two extremes we have two firms that manufacture all kinds of soft drinks, besides numerous dairies.

The master of the London Hunt and Country Club, the headquarters of which are about two miles out of town, has extended a cordial invitation to all visiting wheelmen to avail themselves of the privileges of the club, and will arrange to have a run with the hounds during the meet.

In Springbank we have an ideal rural retreat four miles down the Thames, a double-tracked electric railway, steamboat connections and splendid road for wheeling. On the evening of July 1st we will arrange for an open air concert, at which special attractions will flow liberally. Waterloo's bush entertainment won't be in it.

The Canoeing and Rowing Club have, through their President, intimated their desire to do everything in their power to entertain the visiting wheelmen. Their club house is adjacent to the track. There is also several up-to-date boat houses near by, and splendidly equipped White Sulphur Springs and Bath near by for the benefit of the members of the C.W.A.

An opportunity will be offered by the Golf Club for visitors to see this interesting sport, and an invitation to participate in the game to those who know how to strike from the shoulder.

Besides these there are bowling, fishing, tennis, etc., organizations, which will be only too glad to lend their assistance in the way of entertaining the wheelmen.

The Military Camp of the Western District will be in full swing on Carling's Heights, and a grand display will take place likely on the morning of the first, and the volunteers will attend the races in the afternoon.

Many of our public buildings are well worth visiting, especially the churches, Y.M.C.A. Building, Free Library, Western University, Military Barracks, Asylum, etc.

For the benefit of wheelmen excursions will be run to Niagara, Detriot, Cleveland by boat from Port Stanley, and other places if they so desire.

Come and see the Falls, the world's greatest wonder. In short our means of entertainment are vastly superior to those of our rivals, and should we be successful in getting the Meet no pains or expense will be spared to give the boys a good time.

DAILY TEMPERATURE RECORD.

The following are official readings of the thermometer for this afternoon, as well as the highest and lowest yesterday—shade temperature:—

The Surgeon of 8th Royal Rifles, Quebec writes: "I have used, with much success, 'Pheno-Baaum' (or 'Quickcure') in dressing wounds, which suppurated even under the dressing of Iodoform; the effect was remarkable, all discharge ceasing, and healing granulation setting up at once, after first application of 'Quickcure.' I consider its antiseptic action as valuable as its marvellous pain relieving properties."

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 40 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before he advertised. He conducted his stores and sold for future account at other times; reduce cos and he exercised his genius for big decisions. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 86 or $6,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 25 cts. for July. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.25; it will sell on $10 before it does at $9. A Padlocked Heart.

How many women lock their troubles and sufferings in their own hearts and silently endure misery and pain which would cause strong men to cry out in agony.

The sufferings of women are more than half unknown and unappreciated. The refined sensitiveness of their organism lays them liable to a thousand exquisite tortures which a coarser nature can never experience or comprehend.

The least derangement or disorder of the delicate special organism of their sex overwhelms the whole physical and mental being with weakness and wretchedness.

But it is a mistake to suffer these troubles in silence. They may be cured in the perfect privacy of home, without the repugnant ordeal of examinations and "local treatment," which the family doctor is sure to insist upon.

No phy[illegible] or more successful experience in the treatment of woman's diseases than Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y. His "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most obstinate and complicated feminine difficulties.

It is the only medicine of its kind prepared by an educated, skilled physician.

Mr. J. F. Saeed, of Omen, Texas, writes: "My wife was badly afflicted with female weakness. We tried three of the best physicians in the country without benefit, but at great expense. My wife grew worse, and we gave up in despair. She could not get in and out of doors without help; was not able to stand on her feet long at a time, complained of dragging down pains in abdomen. Nothing but an untimely death seemed awaiting her, when — happy thought! — the name of Dr. Pierce came to my mind. I wrote to Dr. Pierce; received his advice, followed it, my wife improved perceptibly from the first two week's treatment, continued the treatment six months, and pronounced the cure complete, at a cost of less than one month's treatment by the last physician we employed before consulting Dr. Pierce. She used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and the lotions recommended by him. It has been two years since, and the good effect is permanent."

OTTAWA GENERAL NEWS.

Proposal to Make the Queen's Birthday a Holiday for All Time—Notes From the Departments.

Ottawa, April 2.—(Special.)—Senator W. J. McDonald of British Columbia has struck a popular note in his bill to make the 24th of May a permanent annual holiday in commemoration of the glorious reign of Her Majesty. Canadians would miss their great spring holiday, and when a successor is on the throne of Great Britain, which one may fairly hope may not be for many years hence, the 9th of November will not be a very suitable day for a public holiday.

The preamble recites that, whereas the reign of Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria is the longest and most distinguished in peace, civilization, art, commerce and the perfecting and adaptation of scientific discoveries to the interests of mankind in the history of the Empire, it is befitting that the same should be marked in every way that may do donor to Her Majesty and perpetuate her reign. Therefore it proposes to enact that the interpretation act be amended so as to constitute the 24th of May a holiday for all time in the Dominion.

A numerously-signed petition from British Columbia on the subject of Japanese immigration was presented to Parliament to-day. It starts out with the statement that a large influx of Japanese is a serious menace to the prosperity and material development of this country, that the Japanese are accustomed to a low standard of living, and are therefore willing to accept a lower scale of wages; that they are seriously competing with white labor, and indeed in many cases leading to the exclusion of white laborers. The petition goes on to say that there is danger of the province becoming orientalised. It is urged that the term of residence in Canada for Japanese before they can become naturalized should be increased from three to five years; that the evidence of residence shall be given in open court and that it shall be verified by production of the passport which is issued by the Japanese Government to all its subjects on leaving for foreign countries. Consul-General Nosse's visit to Ottawa has anticipated this petition. Mr. Nosse says the statements of the influx of Japanese are grossly exaggerated, there being only 300 Japanese in the whole of Canada.

Another petition from British Columbia asks for an increase in the capitation tax on Chinese immigrants from $50 to $500.

There are many rumors in circulation with reference to the fast Atlantic steamship service, and it is said that immediately after Mr. Dobell's arrival in England, which will be to-morrow, an announcement will be forthcoming of a provisional arrangement for the establishment of the service.

The commissioners appointed to investigate the management of the Kingston Penitentiary have completed their labors. St. Vincent De Paul Penitentiary is next to be tackled. The Canada Gazette to-morrow will announce the appointment of J. B. Noxon, Toronto; O. K. Fraser of Brockville, and D. A. Lafontaine of Montreal as commissioners.

The commission was appointed as the outcome of protests of Mr. Fortin, M.P. for Laval. Mr. Fortin is anxious to work Warden Ouimet out of his job, and has a successor designated in the person of Capt. Chartrand, who is to be secretary of the commission.

The Canadian Yukon is a veritable eldorado. The Minister of the Interior has just received reports from William Ogilvie, the Dominion Land Surveyor, who wintered at Fort Cudahy. Mr. Ogilvie says that at Cloudy Ke, which is some 60 miles southeast of Fort Cudahy and further into British territory, some men are making from $1000 to $2000 per day. This is done by placer mining. The report is altogether a most remarkable one, showing gold to be found in abundance.

Col. Burland of the 6th Fusiliers has generously offered to contribute the sum of $10,000 towards the expenses of the proposed provisional regiment to represent Canada at the Queen's Jubilee celebration in London.

There were some very nervous clerks in the money order branches of the Postoffice Department a few days ago. Each clerk who opens the accounts had to undergo a private examination as to his knowledge of commissions on money orders. The examination was conducted by Mr. Fred Everitt and it is understood the clerks examined all passed with flying colors.

An order has been issued to public departments prohibiting the reading of newspapers during office hours. The order has been a difficult one to enforce, as during the past years a majority of the clerks devoured the daily news before beginning the duties of the day. A few mornings ago the Postmaster-General walked into one of the offices under his department and noticed a clerk sitting reading a paper. The clerk did not see Mr. Mulock and read on. "I thought that newspapers were not allowed to be read in here," remarked the Postmaster-General. The clerk looked up, dropped his paper and went to work in double quick time.

Mr. Foster will question the Government further respecting the proposed grant to the Grand Trunk Railway for the enlargement of Victoria Bridge. The promoters of the Montreal bridge scheme are not discouraged by the Government's contribution to the G.T.R. bridge.

Prefontaine, one of the chief promoters of the bridge to Longue Island, asserts that if the Government can bonus the G.T.R. undertaking, they can do as much for the other. It is understood that one of the stipulations of the Government in agreeing to aid the Victoria bridge widening, was to obtain the consent to other roads having running powers over the structure, which wish to enter Montreal.

An Order-in-Council has been passed renewing the modus vivendi license for this year. It contains the significant statement that negotiations on trade relations and other matters between Canada and the States are still pending, and therefore it is advisable to continue this arrangement for another year.

A report is in circulation that the bar in connection with the House of Commons' restaurant is to be re-opened this session. This is not true. The Internal Economy Committee of the House has come to an understanding with Mr. Barnett, the restaurateur, by which he will be indemnified for the loss to his business.

The Senate to-day had another crack at the address, Senators Power and Primrose doing the talking. Mr. Bernier, the Catholic champion of Manitoba, speaks on Monday.

Ald. W. T. R. Preston of Toronto, is in town. So is Mr. G. B. Smith.

Mr. Quinn gives notice of a bill to amend the Interest Act providing that no greater rate than 6 per cent can be recovered.

Mr. Harry P. Macdonell of the House of Commons staff has been promoted to a second-class clerkship.

New York, April 2.—A special to The Herald from St. Petersburg says: Troops are ready to start from Odessa in the same numbers as the arrangements with the other powers, and if these are not sufficient there will be more ready to go if the admirals think it necessary.

It is looked upon here as almost certain that Greece will make a show of fighting; otherwise the dynasty must fall. The only way out of the troubles is deemed here to be disciplinary measures towards the Cretans and their Greek instigators. Turbulence can only be replied to by firmness. Mr. Gladstone's Advice.

London, April 2.—Philip J. Stanhope, M.P. for Burnley, has received a letter from Mr. Gladstone, in which the ex-Prime Minister says he hopes that Parliament will firmly resist the claim of the powers to choose a ruler for the Cretans. The powers, Mr. Gladstone adds, are entitled to claim that whoever shall be selected as Prince of Crete shall be disposed and able to fairly recognise Ottoman suzerainty in the island, but beyond that the selection of a ruler is purely a Cretan affair.

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a speedie for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

THE OPENING OF JACOB'S EYES.

Jacob Berry leaned on his plow handles as he watched the retreating form of his wife as she made her way over the newly-plowed ground.

"Maybe," thought he, "I oughter hev hitched up the colt and carried her over to the station. But them 'taint more'n a mile an' a half by the road an' goin' cross lots shortens the distance some. If I hed, it would 'a taken the best part of two hours and put back the plowin' that much. Gee, Dusk!" shouted he with a start and an inward reproach for wasting time in foolishness, as he termed his little reveries.

The morning sun cast its slant beams over field and meadow. It glorified even the dull clods of yesterday's upturning, over which in irregular patches the busy spider had woven her snares and the dew had spangled them with liquid jewels. Jacob saw no beauty in dew spangled cobwebs, they were simply a sign of good weather to him. He knit his brows and leaned more heavily on his plow handles as his thoughts recurred to the little woman almost stumbling in her haste over the rough field. He thought she stooped a little more than usual and felt aggrieved that she was beginning to show signs of age.

"Women ain't like they was in mother's time," thought he. Jacob forgot that his mother's work was confined to the care of the little deserted log house which stood a few rods back of his pretentious brick dwelling, and flocks and herds had increased bringing more and more work every year for one pair of tired hands.

Little Mrs. Berry reached the unpainted shed called by courtesy the depot, almost breathless from excitement and fatigue. She had barely time to buy her round-trip ticket and board the train. She sank into the nearest seat. Her face was anxious and tense; she could not get over the hurried feeling. She had prepared breakfast and hastily performed other household duties long before light, and had milked before the sun had fairly risen. Her thoughts were in a curious jumble. As she climbed the rail fence she had noticed the wild roses in the fence corners were coming into leaf and the sturdy trumpet vine had thrust its rootlets into the decaying riders. "I must remember just where they are, and maybe I'll have time to pick some when they bloom. Let me see it was 20 yards of muslin I'm to get for Jacob's shirts and I'd better get it all fixed in my mind." She examined the memorandum which Jacob had made with a little blunt pencil on the back of an old envelope by the aid of a chance copy of a city paper.

"I tell you, Marthy, we've got to economize like sixty, now we're in debt for the Cummins farm. I reckon we'll save two or three dollars buying in the city and old Skinner at the crossroads store'll find it don't pay to wrangle with me about accounts."

Finally Mrs. Berry settled back into her seat and began to rest and her thoughts turned into a pleasanter channel. "Maybe I can manage to go to the art museum," thought she, "and see the pictures Miss Long told me about."

She finished her shopping sooner than she expected and had a trifle left for car fare. Jacob had not provided for this luxury. "You'll be tired settin' still so long and need the walk," said he. In a sudden spasm of generosity he continued: "You might git a pair of them dollar and a half shoes they advertise. You don't really need 'em, but you kin put 'em by till you do and here's a quarter for your dinner. I got a good one for 15 cents." Jacob neglected to state that his meal was eaten at a lunch counter patronised exclusively by men.

When Mrs. Berry's accustomed dinner hour arrived, the excitement had taken away her appetite and she started to feast her eyes upon the beauties of the art museum, which her summer boarder, Miss Long, had dilated upon, after the work was done and Mrs. Berry had a few moments to rest on the porch before bedtime. When she arrived at the entrance of the museum, to her consternation, an admittance fee was demanded. The doorkeeper courteously explained that it was a pay day. She gladly tendered her precious quarter of a dollar. It seemed to her as if the gates of Paradise had unclosed as she entered the domain of art, and to her great joy she found Miss Long, who was copying a picture. Miss Long kindly laid aside her brushes to guide the visitor. She conducted her to the choicest paintings and statuary and explained the stories they sought to tell. Many times she was surprised at a low interruption: "Oh, yes, I know. I read about that years ago, before I was married. I haven't had time to read much since."

The hours sped all too fast and Mrs. Berry found she had barely time to reach the train. As she was claiming her parcels at the check counter the gates closed and there was nothing to do but wait a long three hours for the next train. As she took her seat, a dizzy, faint feeling came over her and she knew nothing more until midnight, when she opened her eyes too weak to ask where she was. She had never been in a hospital before, but when she had collected her thoughts, she knew that she was in an institution of that kind.

A white-capped nurse administered medicine occasionally and in the morning a grave old doctor made his appearance.

"I didn't eat anything all day," she whispered, "and I wanted to see the pictures and it was pay day."

"Oh, yes, yes," exclaimed the doctor, hastily, "don't waste your strength talking."

Jacob Berry finished his day's work and sat waiting for his wife to come and cook him a good, hot supper to make amends for his cold dinner. The hours passed and finally his indignation gave way to real alarm, which was increased the next morning by the reception of a telegram summoning him to the hospital. He entered the huge building with awe and trepidation, but when he saw his wife alive and looking as usual, only a trifle paler, he felt himself a much-abused man and as she told him of her visit to the art museum a frown gathered on his face, and the alert nurse, seeing her patient was becoming worried, ended the brief interview.

"Just as I expected," began Jacob, in an aggrieved tone, as he entered the doctor's office. "She brought all this on traipsing around after foolishness, and here's farm work coming on and I don't suppose she'll be able to do much for a couple of weeks."

The doctor, busy compounding medicine, ignored Jacob's complaints. After a moment's silence he remarked; "Your wife is a hard working woman, her hands show it." For the first time in Jacobs life he felt ashamed of his wife's toil-stained hands.

"Well," replied Jacob, somewhat confused, "me and my wife both work hard and will have to as long as we are in debt."

"Aren't your children old enough to be of some help?" queried the doctor.

"We haven't any," replied Jacob.

"Then what's the use of working so hard?" continued the doctor.

"Because we're in debt," reiterated Jacob. "The Cummins farm joins on mine and I bought it last spring."

"Ah, indeed!" exclaimed the doctor, peering over his gold spectacles and giving his medicine bottle a shake, "so you had one good farm clear before you bought this last one, and I'll warrant money in bank, too. I know the way of these valley farmers. I was brought up on a farm not far from yours. I know all about the digging and pinching and saving; and you say you have no children to work for, so it just amounts to this: You are wearing out your wife's life and your own, too, and out of every dollar you both save, possibly you may enjoy six cents a year and before long some one will have your money to spend. This trouble of your wife's has been coming on a long time and was brought on by hard work. It is fortunate for you both that this break-down occurred here where she can be cared for properly. It will be a good while before she gets up and she will never be able to work hard again."

Jacob left the hospital, feeling very uncomfortable. Evidently the doctor considered him responsible for his wife's condition.

Time hung heavily on Jacob's hands in the long week that ensued. He had plenty of leisure to think over the doctor's lecture. The next Sunday he was in his accustomed place in the little brick church. A stranger filled the pulpit, and his text was: "Lay not up for yourselves treasures on earth." He portrayed the character of the hard-working congregation and Jacob concluded that he, like the doctor, spoke from personal experience. He pondered upon the doctor's talk and the sermon on his way home. There was a long Sunday afternoon to be passed and Jacob looked over his small collection of books with a view of selecting one to while away the time. He took up the "Pilgrim's Progress." There was a leaf turned down at the chapter where the man with the muck-rack was described; there were a few blistered places that showed some one had been crying over it, and with a sudden pang, Jacob remembered that Martha had been reading this book the Sunday afternoon he had told her of his purchase of the Cummins farm and that the furnishing of the parlor, delayed so many years, must be postponed indefinitely.

The next week he paid his wife a visit. He was beginning to see himself in a new light and consequently he felt more tenderly toward her. He had a vague feeling that he did not understand her. He knew she did not share in his love of money; he wondered what enjoyment she could find in looking at pictures, and, with a view to making that discovery, he visited the art museum. He could not help but acknowledge that he was interested himself in the novel sight, and train time came too soon. On the way to the depot, he stopped to look at a picture in a window; the proprietor of the store, espying him, and ever on the alert for a customer, accosted him, saying:

"I just let you have dot picture cheap, only ten dollar."

"No, no," responded Jacob, hastily. "That cow in that field looked so like my old Brindle I noticed it."

"Vell, I tell you what I will do," urged the dealer, "I will let you have him for seven dollars."

The negotiations continued until Jacob left with two pictures, gorgeous with the bluest of skies and the greenest of verdure.

"A mighty good bargain," said Jacob to himself. "I'd as lieb hev these as that picture of a drove of cattle at the museum that they said was worth $25,000." Jacob carried his purchases home and hung them in the sitting-room. Then he feared the light and smoke might injure them, and so he transferred his new treasures to the bare, unfurnished parlor. He opened the shutter of the west window, which commanded a view of his woodland. This possession was particularly dear to him.

"It would be kinder nice to set in here Sunday afternoons," he thought, "if only it was fixed up."

Tilda Stubbs was coming next week to take charge of the work. Jacob made a mighty resolve to change his manner of living.

Some weeks later, he carried his wan little wife into the parlor and seated her in one of the gorgeous rocking chairs. Somehow he felt the moisture gather in his eyes as he witnessed her almost childish delight.

"Oh, Jacob!" gasped she, "it seems like a dream—and—and—can we afford it? Now you're in debt?"

"We ain't in debt, Marthy," replied Jacob. "You know old man Cummins was sick of his bargain and wanted to back out, so I let him hev the farm again and he's just as happy as a child and says he's getting some sleep now, and he hadn't had a good night's rest all the time he was away from his old home—and, Marthy," he continued, "you ain't never going to work hard even if you do git well, Tilda Stubbs is going to live here all the time and some day we'll go traveling—jest think of that! I'm going to take you to see the ocean and mountains and all, like as in them pictures at the museum."

Martha looked up, smiling through her tears, and Jacob bent down a little confusedly and kissed her.

Peanuts in Europe.

Peanuts grow in large quantities on the northwest coast of Africa, but are known there as ground nuts. They are dug up by the natives and bartered with the European traders for merchandise, tobacco, etc., at many places on the Gambia River, and afterward shipped in steamer loads to European ports, principally to Marseilles. The nuts are not roasted for retail sale, as in this country, but crushed and a fine oil extracted, which is valuable commercially.

Imitation Calfskin Goods.

A good deal of interest has been aroused in England by a display of photo-frames, blotting paper pads and paperteries, made up of material colored in extract imitation of the skin of a calf, as taken from the animal and before being scraped, the red patches of hair on a white ground showing up in most natural style. These goods represent the novelty of the season in fancy stationery and photo-frames.

"Not Exactly Right."

Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

COMING TO A CRISIS.

The Mussulmans lost heavily in the engagements. Fifty dead and wounded were brought to Canea. Some of the Moslems, presumably refugees, attempted to bring their arms into the town, but they were stopped at the gates or fortified lines by Italian sailors and disarmed by the officers of the gendarmerie. The Mussulmans are very much incensed by this action, and are assembling in great numbers at Splazza. It is stated this evening that British sailors were landed on the peninsula ostensibly to restrain the Bashi-Bazouks, but only when it was too late to do anything.

Foreign Admirals to Blame.

London, April 3.—Several of the correspondents of London newspapers, telegraphing from Canea, represent that the foreign admirals were seriously blameable for the fighting that occurred to-day between insurgents and Turkish irregular forces on the peninsula of Akrotiri. They state that Admiral Caneavero, the Italian officer who is in command of the combined fleets of the powers, had given his assent to the request of the insurgents that they be allowed to leave the peninsula and pass through Canea to the interior of the island. They evidently trusted that Admiral Caneavero would give them safe conduct, but it seems that no measures were taken to protect them.

When the admirals learned that the Bashi-Bazouks were barring the way of the Christians, they ordered that detachments of sailors and marines be sent to disarm them and compel them to return to Canea, but it was then too late for the detachments to carry out their orders. It does not appear why the foreign warships did not seize the Bashi-Bazouks.

BOTH AGAINST BRITAIN.

Germany and Russia Agreed—The Latter to Make for Constantinople.

New York, April 4.—James Creelman cables from Berlin to The Journal:

Germany has now reached a full understanding with Russia, and the Czar is the leader in the policy of coercing the Greeks. I am informed by very high authority that if the powers find it impossible to preserve the status quo Germany will not object to a Russian advance on Constantinople. Bismarck has told friends that he was willing to let the Russians take Constantinople in 1876, but the Iron Chancellor was afterwards Russia's most determined opponent.

It is all changed now. Germany recognizes England as her chief rival in commerce, and is resolved to make war on her everywhere, hence the sudden friendship which has sprung up between the Czar and Kaiser. English pretensions in Africa have alarmed Germany, and the whole adjustment of European power is rapidly changing. No details of the new Russo-German alliance further than those cabled recently are obtainable.

Having forced the powers to blockade Crete, the German Emperor has decided to temporarily retire from the leadership of the present international diplomacy and let the great struggle for supremacy between England and Russia go on. Germany has eagerly urged Austria to occupy Sand Jak at once under the terms of the Berlin treaty, so that if the Greeks declare war on Turkey the Austrian army can march across the heart of Macedonia, seize Salonica, and so control the situation, but the Emperor of Austria bluntly refused to act. Austria is already so overloaded with inharmonious population that she does not dare to add new elements to her confused domestic politics. This refusal has completely upset Emperor William's plans for enforcing peace in Central Europe.

GLADSTONE TO ZEIMIS.

The G. O. M. Says Discretion and Firmness Will Win the Day.

Athens, April 4.—M. Zeimis, President of the Boule, the single Greek legislative body, recently sent to Mr. Gladstone a message of gratitude for the stand he has taken in behalf of Greece and the Cretan Christians. In this message M. Zeimis said: "All your glorious life has been full of combats for justice and liberty. Now that the ellenic nation has risen to fight in favor of Crete, which is bedewed with blood, you come to uphold anew the rights of an oppressed race."

Mr. Gladstone's reply to this message was made public here to-day. He says: "My tract was not written to confer a favor on Greece, but to discharge a solemn duty, contributing to redeem my country from any risk of dishonor which would have been incurred by placing ourselves in antagonism to the high interests of justic and freedom. My opinion is that if the Greeks continue discreet and the Cretans firm their reasonable self-assertion wil carry the day and the powers, if they should be so unwise as to take a hostile part, be both discredited and efeated."

Ominous Threat of Russia.

St. Petersburg, April 4.—The semi-official Journal de St. Petersburg says that the aggressive, provocative attitude that Greece continues to maintain with such deplorable obstinacy, forces the powers, much against their wish, to have recourse to a blockade of the Gulf of Athens. The paper denounces the retention of Col. Vassos in Crete, and says it refuses to believe it possible that Greece will indulge in such an extraordinary act of folly as a declaration of war would be.

Continuing, The Journal says: "In the event of such a thing happening, Greece undoubtedly would be the aggressor. She would also be answerable for and would certainly have to endure the most serious consequences. She could count on nobody's support."

THE PORTE NOTIFIES GREECE.

King George Told to Get His Troops Out of Crete.

Constantinople, April 4.—The Porte has prepared a note to Greece, demanding the withdrawal of the Greek troops in Crete. The note declares that in the event of the demand being refused the Porte will hold Greece answerable. It is stated that the note has already been presented to the Government at Athens.

It is reported here that disorders have occured at Kurji, in the Villayet of Bitlis. It is stated that several Armenians were killed, but no further details are given.

The ambassadors have called the attention of the Porte to the fears that are entertained that there will be a massacre of Armenians at Hadjin, in Anatolia, which place escaped the fury of the Turks and Kurds during the previous massacres.

Will Hold a Demonstration.

Athens, April 4.—The guilds and other public bodies here and at the Piraeus have arranged to hold a big demonstration on Tuesday next, the Greek independence day. They have offered to turn over to the Government all their funds, amounting to nearly 1,000,000 drachmas. They have invited the other towns of Greece to make a similar display of patriotism and to give all the financial aid possible to the authorities in order to enable the latter to continue their preparations to maintain the rights of Greece.

Apply a little 'Quickcure' to a pimple, or any blemish of the skin, and cover with thin paper, and it will disappear in twenty-four hours, leaving the skin natural and healthy, as it destroys the germs which enter the skin and cause pimples, boils, etc., especially if one is unwell, or even run down from overwork."

Shiloh's Cure

Is sold on a guarantee, it cures Incipient Consumption. It is the best Cough Cure. Only one cent a dose. 25 cts., 50 cts., and $1.00. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George street.

OUR ICE SUPPLY.

Why Care Should be Exercised in Looking After its Purity.

The question as to the purity of natural ice taken from our rivers has often been raised, and as the germ theory of disease becomes better understood by the people, more care is exercised than ever before. The bacteria which are common to the soil and to the atmosphere are ever present also in water. The water bacteria live near the surface, and are taken up by the ice at freezing time, and through this medium there is danger to those who put such ice in direct contact with food stuffs in the hot season, and especially use it in iced drinks. Typhoid fever is a water-born disease, and physicians affirm that freezing has no effect whatever upon the typhoid germ. Yet many specimens of river and lake ice, supposed to be tainted with city sewage, have been examined, without any of these germs being found in them.

No chemical analysis has been made lately of the ice taken from the river and lake and commonly supplied to our citizens. Why is this not as necessary to be done each year as to analyse other commodities that enter into the food of the people? This is done in Chicago. The ice may look all right, clean and enticing, yet be very far from pure. This is a very important subject, on which there cannot be too much light. The time is ripe for some systematic safeguard to be introduced for the public ice supply, the same as for the water, milk or meat supply. Any of these things found impure are barred from public sale. The ice that is sold for use in private families should also be subject to an analytical inspection.

It is true that it would require an expenditure of ten dollars a year to have this regularly done by a Dominion analyst, but would not the local Board of Health be justified in following out such a course of action?

Dr. Clarke local Medical Health Officer, states that in his opinion, the ice as cut for the use of the citizens is perfectly pure, as their is no source of contamination, yet in these days of bacteria and germs and the consequent nervousness engendered by the statement made concerning their presence in almost everything, would it not be as well to have an occasional thorough analysis of the ice?

Every druggist in the city of Quebec, without exception, testifies to the universal satisfaction expressed by their customers, as to the merits of "Quickcure" for all kinds of pain.

STONY LAKE.

From our own Correspondent.

The Fowld's brothers have just completed their measurement of timber they have purchased around here the past winter, and their measurement has given entire satisfaction.

John Newal intends to commence driving Jack's Creek on Monday next for the Fowld's Company. John is a hustler on the creek.

The past week has been a busy one here in the sugar woods. There has been an extra flow of sap.

No births, marriages or deaths to record this week.

Surprised his Doctor.

"A little over a year ago I was laid up with bronchitis," says Stanley C. Bright, clerk, of Kingston. "My doctor's bill came to $42, and altogether my illness cost me $125. This fall I had another attack. I came across an advertisement in a newspaper for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for throat troubles. I thought I would risk a quarter and try it. It cured me. After this I intend to treat my own ills."

—By the old Saxon law a maiden and a widow were of different value. The latter could be bought for one-half the sum which the guardian of the maid was entitled to demand. A man, therefore, who could not afford to buy a maiden might, perhaps, be able to purchase a widow.

C.S. Parke, M.D., Quebec: "I certify that I have employed with marked success the 'Pheno-Banum' ('Quickcure') in burns and certain wounds, and can thoroughly recommend its employment."

W.H. CUDNEY, Port Barwell, Ont., says: "I was afflicted with rheumatism and tried all cures. I did not get relief until I tried Miller's Compound Iron Pills, and before I had finished two boxes I was completly cured, and now feel like a different man." Only 25 cents per box. Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

RAILWAY MATTERS UNDER DEBATE

Mr. McInnes Attacked the B. C. Southern Company and the Canadian Pacific and Mr. Bostock Followed On —Col. Prior Also Had Something to Say.

Ottawa, April 5.—(Special.)—The boy orator of the Pacific coast consumed the greater portion of the time of the House to-day by lambasting the British Columbia Southern Railway Company, the C.P.R. and the Government of his own province.

Mr. McInnes' speech raised the whole question of the railway through the Crow's Nest.

Among the measures introduced was Mr. Casey's bill of last year, respecting drainage on and across lands of the railway companies.

Mr. Foster was told that Senator King had not received any salary as postmaster in Marsh Hill, Ont.

Mr. Maclean had the following questions on the order paper: Has the Canadian Pacific Railway yet begun the construction of their line through the Crow's Nest Pass?

Does the Government intend to allow that company to begin the work of construction without first completing the negotiations now going on for the modification in the clauses of the company's charter in the matter of the construction of branch lines and the regulation of the rates and tolls charged by the said company?

Mr. Speaker asked that the questions stand, as they contained an allegation of fact, respecting which he desired to speak to the hon. member.

Mr. Blair, answering Mr. Maclean, said he could not yet announce the name of the successful tenderer for sections 4 to 7 of the Soulanges Canal, as the matter had not yet been decided. The contract for section 13 had gone to M. J. Hogan of Montreal, who was the lowest tenderer.

Mr. Laurier told Mr. Foster that it would be premature to say anything about the granting of a sum of money to the G.T.R. for enlarging the Victoria Bridge at Montreal, as the negotiations were not yet concluded.

Mr. Laurier told Mr. Davin that Mr. F. L. Cartwright had been appointed inspector of Northwest Mounted Police on the 15th February last. He was a son of Sir Richard Cartwright. [Opposition cheers.] Inspector Cartwright is 23 years old, and had certificates of proficiency from infantry and cavalry schools.

A message from His Excellency announced that Sir Richard Cartwright, Messrs. Davies, Fielding and Tarte, together with Mr. Speaker, had been appointed an Internal Economy Commission of the House.

Mr. McInnes moved a resolution setting forth: (1) That an Act passed by the Legislature of British Columbia in the 59th year of the reign of Her Majesty Queen Victoria, entitled "British Columbia Southern Railway Aid Amendment Act, 1896," extends the grant formerly made to the British Columbia Southern Railway Company of an enormous amount of public wealth and extraordinary privileges; (2) That in the opinion of this House (a) the grants and privileges so extended are unwarranted and grossly extravagant, they are made without the interests of the public being properly safeguarded, and include rights the alienation of which from the control of the people will retard the development of the country and prevent a general enjoyment of its advantages, (b) the said Act if continued in force would create such a monopoly in land, coal and transportation as would prove dangerous to the development and prosperity of the said province and to the interests of Canada generally; and praying therefore that His Excellency will be pleased to disallow the said Act.

He said that this motion, coming from a Liberal, might be regarded as somewhat peculiar, but circumstances were such as to warrant action which he suggested in his motion. Liberals in the past had defended the rights of the provinces, but the people of British Columbia were not appealing to Parliament to ask them to defend the rights of British Columbia.

Col. Prior: No.

Mr. McInnes: I am well aware that the hon. gentleman would say "No," because rumor says he has an egg in this nest which they will hatch out.

Continuing, he said that the British Columbia Government would probably cry out "Hands off British Columbia!" but he unhesitatingly said that the people of British Columbia were asking for disallowance of this Act.

Col. Prior: No.

He doubted whether the Legislature of British Columbia would re-enact this Act if it were disallowed by Federal authority. He was well aware that many Liberals believed in the principle of non-disallowance of provincial legislation, but there were many questions of more importance than the comparatively insignificant little principle of non-disallowance. [Derisive Conservative cheers.] He proceeded to give a history of the British Columbia Southern Railway from the time it was chartered in 1888 until last year. That company received a tremendous land subsidy (20,000 acres per mile), but by careless legislation 3,000,000 more acres was given to the company than was intended.

Sir Charles Tupper: Before the hon. gentleman leaves that point I would like to ask whether the Act has not been amended so as to correct that mistake?

Mr. McInnes admitted it had. Proceeding, he said the holders of the charter hawked it all over to sell it, but without success. The total land subsidy which the company held was about 6,500,000 acres, most of it being in a valuable mining region. Dr. Selwyn made a cursory examination of the Pass and estimated the coal area at 144 square miles, or 50,000,000 tons of coal. Mr. Ferney, the engineer of the Crow's Nest Coal Company, gave the coal area as covering 35 miles by 10 miles, which in his judgment contained the enormous quantity of 17,500,000,000 tons of coal, the thickness of the seam being 132 feet. The calculation made by the C.P.R. engineers was still greater. By the estimates of thickness of seam given by Mr. Ferney, the total quantity of coal was 39,370,000,000. At one cent a ton this would give $39,370,000,000, or a sum equal to the national debt of Canada, and sufficient to build a railway around the earth. At the more reasonable estimate of $1 per ton the value would amount to $39,370,000,000, which the company would get. [Laughter.] Well, the British Columbia Southern syndicate had at last been successful in the hawking of the charter, and had sold it to the C.P.R. There was no greater monopoly anywhere than the C.P.R., and he objected to the hands of that company being strengthened. In the matter of freight rates the C.P.R. had drawn the last cent from the struggling settlers and farmers of the Northwest. Their action in regard to the British Columbia Southern charter showed their inordinate greed. Notwithstanding their strong position, they were asking for more assistance from the Dominion Government. Could anyone imagine anything bespeaking more gall? British Columbia was demanding an independent line to the coast. He trusted the Government would see to it that the interests of British Columbia were properly safeguarded; and even if the C.P.R. built from Alberta into the Kootenay, the Government could build a line from the coast to the Kootenay district. The tremendous subsidy he had mentioned would be got by the C.P.R. building a narrow gauge road 75 miles long through from Lethbridge to the Kootenay.

In conclusion, he said that the Government could well afford to build the road for British Columbia, for in ten years that province had paid $5,000,000 to the Dominion Treasury in excess of what she had received from Federal sources.

Col. Prior agreed with the statement of British Columbia's strong claims upon the Dominion. But as to the provincial charter to the British Columbia Southern, neither the speaker nor any other member of the company had anything to be ashamed of. The charter had been regularly and fairly obtained. This House had nothing to do with the charter; it was incorrect to say that the charter had been hawked round. The company had done its best to get capital, but it was only since the opening of the mines that the C.P.R. had seen fit to take up the charter. Neither was it true that the company controlled all the coal lands in that section, there being abundance of coal in the Alberta section, while the reports of the Government Engineer were to the effect that there was room in the narrowest part of the pass for four lines of railway. There was therefore no possibility of a monopoly being created. British Columbia certainly expected the Government to assist in the construction of an independent line from the coast. The Premier having already stated it was not the Government's intention to disallow the Act, he would let the matter rest at that.

Mr. Bostock continued the debate in favor of the resolution, speaking up to 6 o'clock.

Continuing after recess, Mr. Bostock argued that it would be a serious matter for the C. P. R. to be placed in a position to dictate terms to the whole country in the matter of freight rates. Neither was it a purely provincial matter. The manufacturers of Ontario and Quebec were beginning to send in machinery and other mining supplies in larger quantities, and the only question to be solved in that connection was that of transportation.

Mr. Davin said the Territories were deeply interested in securing as low freight rates as possible. When it was announced that arrangements had been made with the C. P. R., by which the company was to make valuable concessions, the Northwest rejoiced; but, if that had fallen through, then the Government ought to build the road through the Crow's Nest Pass, and, if it were necessary to bring this about, that the charter in question should be disallowed. The Government should not hesitate to act.

Mr. Morrison pointed out that the B. N. A. Act guarantees the right to each province of the Dominion of local self-government, and the power of disallowance should be sparingly used. His constituency, while feeling strongly on this subject, was composed of broad and liberal-minded citizens, and would be satisfied with his course in opposing the resolution before the House, provided a good case were made out against disallowance. After a careful argument upon the constitutional aspect of the case, Mr. Morrison concluded by commending the case to the careful consideration of the Government.

Dr. Sproule reminded the House of trouble that arose in Manitoba some 10 years ago over the disallowance of the Railway Act of the Manitoba Legislature. He had no doubt there would be an outcry in British Columbia if the Government acted on the suggestion of the resolution. Still, the country was greatly worked up over this question and the charge was made that The Globe had been mesmerized in the interests of monopoly. He thought the Government could effect the object sought by preventing the amalgamation of the B. C. Southern and the C. P. R.

Mr. Oliver protested in the interests of Alberta against the monopoly by the C P. R. of the valuable franchises of the B. C. Southern.

Hon. Mr. Davies, who during the evening had been leading the House, said he did not seek to minimize the importance of the question Mr. McInnes had brought up when he confessed that he had not heard the latter part of his speech. All would agree that where there had been a clear invasion of Dominion jurisdiction by a Provincial Legislature, a fair case is made out for disallowance. It was established that, even in cases in which the subject matter is within the jurisdiction of provincial legislation it then was a clear interference with Dominion interests, interference ought to take place, but it was a matter which ought to be looked closely into. Improvident legislation was not necessarily to be interfered with. It must be shown that Federal interests were imperilled. This motion was the first request the Government had received for disallowance. He, therefore, asked that the matter be allowed to rest for the present, inasmuch as the Government would shortly bring down its policy in the Crow's Nest Pass Railway. He moved the adjournment of the debate and the motion carried.

On Hon. Mr. Davies' motion to adjourn, Sir Charles Tupper arose and asked what the Government proposed to do about his suggestion to drop the franchise bill. There was no pressing necessity for it. Moreover, a question awaited solution which is of the most vital importance to the country. "We have now," continued the Opposition leader, "reached that season of the year when it is of vital importance to the commercial classes of this country that they should have a basis of certainty for their transactions. They must make purchases for the season and they are losing valuable time and being greatly embarrassed. It is consequently of the first necessity to the country that the Government should at least take the House and the country into their confidence as to what was going to be the fiscal policy of this country. Sir Charles asked, therefore, that the franchise bill be postponed at least until after the tariff had been disposed of.

Mr. Davies denied that the Government had connived at dalliance and delay. The Government was simply proceeding with due caution, and he had no hesitation in promising that the Government would shortly bring down its tariff policy. The franchise bill would be moved to the second reading to-morrow, but he could certainly give no assurance that the leader had changed his mind about proceeding with the bill.

Mr. Speaker suggested that hon. gentlemen on both sides should hereafter refrain from discussing simple questions of policy upon a motion to adjourn.

The House adjourned at 10.50 p.m.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

A GRATUITY of $5,000 to the widow of the late Hon. W. D. Balfour passed the House on Saturday without a dissenting voice. Both the Conservative and Patron opposition leaders endorsed the gratuity with a generosity and magnanimity which shows that even in high pressure politics the sentiments of chivalrous recognition of an opponent's virtues are not lost sight of.

WINNIPEG goes Laurier. Mr. Hugh Macdonald, retiradon petit ion, is to have no successor. The Conservatives haven't enough fight in them to contest the seat, and the Liberal candidate, ex-Mayor Jameson, will be elected by acclamation. Sir Charles Tupper's leadership is a great thing—for the Liberals.

THE Ottawa Free Press says: "Notoriety hunters are now apparently going to pester the Premier for his opinion on this, that and the other thing. Some one in Peterborough has obtained a letter from him conveying the assurance that "the government will always consider it a favour to receive the sincere and honest expression of opinion of all those who take an interest in the welfare of our common country." In view of the great pressure on the Premier's time and his heavy duties it is decidedly inconsiderate to put him to this kind of trouble." The fact that the Premier so promptly and courteously, in spite of his "heavy duties," answered the letter in question is a tribute to his courtesy and his recognition of responsibility to his constituents which his thousands of admirers will appreciate.

TECHNICAL SCHOOLS.

Hon. Mr. Ross' new bill respecting Technical Schools provides that a High School board may by resolution establish a Technical school and may change any High school already established into a Technical school, the resolution to be ratified by the municipalities comprising the High school district, and by the county council where the council has to contribute to the maintenance of such institution. It enables the trustees of every High School to provide instruction in the arts and sciences usually taught in Technical Schools, and particularly in the arts and sciences which relate to the industries of the province, the marketable value of material used in manufactures, chemistry of food, diet and minerals, agriculture and domestic science, architecture, mechanical drawing, decorative design and other related subjects as may be found to render the labours of the farmer, labourer and artizan more productive. The buildings used for Technical School purposes shall be separate and apart from the building used for High School purposes and the persons entitled to admission shall be the persons entitled to admission to High Schools. The municipal corporation of any city or town may establish Technical Schools for adults, and schools so established may share in the High School grant. The management of the school is to be vested in a board to be appointed in the same way as Public Library Boards, and in cities and towns where there is a public library, the Technical Schools for adults are to be under the management of the Public Library Board. Qualifications of teachers, matters relating to the course of study, and equipment of schools, are to be under the supervision of the Education Department.

THE COBOURG POST OFFICE.

Mr. Guillet Dismissed—Alexander Pratt Gets the Appointment.

The long-expected change in the Cobourg post office has at last been made. Mr. Charles Guillet has been dismissed from position of postmaster and Mr. Alexander Pratt has been appointed in his place.

It will be remembered that the late Conservative Government, after having been defeated at the polls made a deliberate attempt before giving up the reins of government to fill all public offices with their friends. And they not only filled, or attempted to fill, vacancies that occurred in the ordinary course, but created vacancies, and according to the disclosures made in the two investigations that took place in Cobourg, created vacancies by corruptly purchasing resignations, offences which are against public policy and contrary to the Criminal Code of the Dominion. It is perhaps wrong to state that the late Government created the vacancies, but individual members of the party made the vacancies by corruptly obtaining the resignations and then the Government filled the vacancies. The timely intervention of the Governor-General prevented all these appointments that had to go before him for ratification from being carried through, such as for instance the Cobourg Custom House deal. But the appointment of postmasters being a departmental appointment and one that it was not necessary to take before the Governor-General, was easily put through. When the action of the Governor-General was made public there was a general expectation that Mr. Guillet's appointment would be cancelled, and this opinion was general long before the investigation was thought of. But when the investigation brought out the corrupt and scandalous circumstances by which Mr. Sykes resignation was obtained and the vacancy made, there seemed to be not the slightest doubt in the public mind as to what the Government would do in the matter. In fact we do not see how the Government could do otherwise. The result of the investigation fully justified the course of the Government in prosecuting such investigation, and it would be farcical for the Government after going to the expense of the investigation to condone the conduct of the parties concerned by permitting Mr. Guillet to retain an office obtained under such circumstances.—Cobourg World.

THE WAR SITUATION

Talked Over Again in the Imperial House of Commons.

LIBERALS ASK FOR INFORMATION

But Mr. Balfour Declines to Act According to Their Ideas—The Aggressor to be Held Responsible to the Powers in Case of an Outbreak.

London, April 5.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. G. N. Curson, Under Foreign Secretary, stated, in answer to a question by the Right Hon. John Morley, that all of the European powers except Germany had landed troops in Crete. Germany, he added, had not explained why she had refrained from sending troops as the other powers had done.

Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, said that Great Britain would not hesitate to participate in a blockade of Greece if such action should become necessary in the interests of peace.

Sir William Harcourt, the leader of the Opposition, said it was his desire that the country should know the policy of the Government more definitely than it was known at present, and he, therefore, gave notice that he would move an address to the Queen, praying that the forces of the Crown shall not be employed against the kingdom of Greece or the people of Crete. [Liberal cheers.]

Mr. Balfour said that the Ministerial majority would give a day to be devoted to the debating of a motion, directing a vote of censure against the Government, but he would not promise whether they would grant a day for debating a motion put in the form indicated by the notice given by Sir William Harcourt.

Sir William Harcourt asked whether the Turkish troops would be withdrawn from Crete and whether the British forces would take part in a blockade of Greece. Upon these matters he desired the Government to make a definite statement, and also to announce the policy of the Government in regard to Greece and Crete.

Mr. Balfour said the date of the withdrawal of the Turkish troops from Crete had not yet been fixed. In the meantime the powers were making a joint declaration to the Government at Athens and to the Government at Constantinople, as the result of which it was hoped that peace would be maintained. This declaration was that in the event of a conflict upon the Greek frontier the aggressor would be answerable for all the consequences of a disturbance of peace, to which the powers attached the greatest importance, and also that, whatever might be the result of a struggle between Greece and Turkey, the powers would not consent that the aggressor should derive the slightest advantage therefrom.

Greece's Strength.

New York, April 5.—The Herald's correspondent at Arta says: I have visited the frontier of Epirus from Coprena to Arta. The total strength of the Greek troops amounts to 22,000, as follows: Infantry, four regiments, 14,000 men; two battalions of light infantry, 2000 men; one regiment of artillery, 8 batteries and 48 guns, and one regiment of cavalry, 600 men; one battalion of pioneers, 1200 men.

The Greeks hold a strong position at Arta and Peta. There are a great many insurgents, commanded by former deputy Skatzonikos, concentrated at Agrinium, ready to invade Epirus at short notice.

The feeling among the troops and the insurgents is very warlike. All are impatiently waiting the signal for the struggle, and it is generally believed here that April 6, the anniversary of Greek independence, will see the beginning of hostilities.

The Turkish troops near Arta are calculated at 20,000. At Preyesa there are 3000 men, with 23 guns, and near Arta there are 10,000 men, with about 45 guns.

Clamoring for War.

London, April 5.—The Times will tomorrow publish a despatch from Athens saying that the popular impatience with the present condition of affairs is increasing and that demands are made from various quarters for an immediate declaration of war by Greece against Turkey. The King's inaction is denounced by those who are anxious for the opening of actual hostilities.

THE ONTARIO HOUSE

Mr. Middleton's Departmental Store Bill Withdrawn.

NO TIME FOR ITS CONSIDERATION

The House Was Generally Sympathetic—The Premier Suggested a Committee of Inquiry and the Bill Stands Till Next Session—Proposal to Prorogue in a Week.

Toronto, April 6.—Business was put through very rapidly at the Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon. The Premier stated that the Government hoped to close all business this week, so that prorogation might take place on Tuesday or Wednesday next. The principal debate was on the departmental store question, which resulted in the withdrawal of Mr. Middleton's bill for their regulation, on the ground that the time at their disposal was too short to permit of so important and many-sided a question being fully considered.

The bills amending the Act incorporating the South Essex Electric Railway Company, Mr. Auld, and respecting the Fort Erie Railway Company, Mr. German, were read a third time.

The Attorney General moved that after Wednesday there should be two sittings of the House each day for the remainder of the session, the first to begin at 11 o'clock, the Speaker to leave the chair at 1. The motion was adopted, the Attorney-General, in reply to a question from Mr. Whitney, stating that he hoped the House would get through business this week, so as to allow of prorogation on Tuesday or Wednesday.

MINING REGULATIONS.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) moved that this House approves the regulations to govern payments out of the iron mining fund, approved by order-in-council on April 21, 1896, and presented to this House on Feb. 17 last.

The resolution was adopted.

TIMBER CONTRACT ABANDONED.

Mr. Gibson (Hamilton) moved that a select committee be appointed to enquire into the facts and circumstances connected with the purchase by the late Alexander McArthur of the timber berth consisting of the Township of Lumsden, in the District of Algoma, and the application of the estate of the deceased for a rescission of the purchase, with power to send for persons and papers and to report to this House; such committee to be composed as follows: Messrs. Gibson (Hamilton), Whitney, Charlton, Campbell, Stratton, Miscampbell and Haycock.

It was explained that Mr. McArthur, who died in an insane asylum, owing to mental alienation, had been unable to carry out his contract with the Government. Under the circumstances, the Government did not desire to hold his estate responsible for breach of contract. The motion was adopted.

ADOPTED IN COMMITTEE.

The following bills were adopted in committee:

To amend the Mechanics' and Wage-earners' Lien Act, 1896—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

Setting apart certain wild lands of the Crown for the use of the University of Toronto—Mr. Ross.

To amend the Act respecting joint stock companies for the construction of piers, wharves, dry docks and harbors—The Attorney-General.

To amend the Act respecting joint stock companies for the erection of exhibition buildings—The Attorney-General.

To amend the Act respecting cemetery companies—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the appointment of Queen's Counsel—The Attorney-General.

To regulate maternity boarding houses, and for the protection of infant children.—Mr. Davis.

Respecting shops and places other than factories—Mr. Dryden.

SECOND READINGS.

The following were read a second time:

To provide for the revision and consolidation of the statutes of Ontario—The Attorney-General.

To make further provision respecting the interpretation and construction of statutes—The Attorney-General.

Respecting evidence—The Attorney-General.

In relation to Rondeau Park—The Attorney-General.

The last-named provided for an addition of 500 acres to the park.

LOCAL MEASURES WITHDRAWN.

Mr. Richardson moved the second reading of his bill to amend the Assessment Act by extending to the officials of other townships in York County the special powers in regard to tax sales given in some of the townships adjoining Toronto. Hon. J. M. Gibson characterized the measure as objectionable. There were special reasons for the legislation in regard to suburban townships, which did not apply to those more distant from the city. The Attorney-General also opposed the bill, which was accordingly dropped.

Mr. Richardson's bill to amend the Municipal Act in regard to agreements to maintain aged people was opposed by Hon. J. M. Gibson and Mr. Whitney as a needless measure, and one embodying a dangerous principle. It was withdrawn by the mover.

POLICE MAGISTRATES' SALARIES.

Mr. Haggerty moved the second reading of his bill respecting police magistrates, giving municipalities power to refuse to pay the police magistrate's salary or to decrease the amount. He explained that the bill was the outcome of dissatisfaction felt in Hastings County with the police magistrates.

Mr. Stratton opposed the resolution as unfair to the police magistrates and likely to lead to abuses.

The Attorney-General regarded the bill as one which ought not to pass. It was not advisable that officers who fulfilled judicial functions ought not to be under the control of local bodies.

Mr. Whitney thought there were altogether too many police magistrates. In many counties there was no more use for these officials than the fifth wheel of a wagon.

At the request of the Attorney-General, the bill was allowed to stand.

DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

Mr. Middleton moved the second reading of his bill to regulate departmental stores. He alluded to the change in business conditions caused by the departmental stores, which had resulted disastrously to both wholesale and retail trade. They also tended to build up the trade in certain central localities at the expense of other parts of the country. The departmental store cleaned up the refuse from mills and factories and threw it on the market to the detriment of honest and healthy trade. They were essentially a monopoly, and, as such, should be legislated against. Special legislation, such as was proposed to meet the evil, was not unknown or ungrounded, and it was to the interest of the public that it should be applied. The departmental store, with its wide range of territory, was not subject to the same checks and securities for honest dealing as applied to the small dealer. The bill only applied to four cities in the province, and he hoped it would be adopted.

Mr. Haycock did not know that the bill was radically wrong in principle, but it had been introduced at a late day in the session, and the question was a very complicated one, involving many side issues. As the change proposed was so radical it would be better to lay the matter over until next session.

Mr. Howland said that in Vienna (Austria) all trades were licensed and licenses to carry on disconnected trades were refused, which had, of course, the effect of preventing departmental stores. There were some advantages in the way of system and economy in connection with departmental stores. It was a question, however, whether these advantages were not secured at the expense of their employes, as well as of the manufacturers and those dependent on the latter.

Dr. Meacham said that if such a bill was introduced at all it should be as a Government measure. Large factories were as great an evil as large stores. The bill did not define what was a distinct class of business and was a crude and unworkable measure.

The Attorney-General said it was natural to sympathize with those whose businesses were being destroyed, but it was a different thing to interfere with the laws of demand and supply and the conditions of trade. Something, perhaps, might be done to modify the advantages which these stores were getting over the ordinary man. The bill involved many considerations, to the full discussion of which time could not now be given. There should be some well-devised scheme presented before they could undertake to interfere and the bill hardly answered that condition. Something might possibly be done in the future after a special committee had been appointed to take evidence and lay the facts before the House.

Mr. Whitney regretted that the little time remaining for the business of the session made it impossible to deal with the subject this year. He realized the extent of the evil and trusted that some means of checking it would in the near future be found.

Dr. Willoughby spoke in the same strain, saying that the departmental stores of Toronto were ruining business in Manitoba.

Mr. Cleland did not think it was a matter for the interference of the Legislature, or that the small storekeepers were objects of sympathy. If there was any grievance in the matter it was on account of the cheap postal rates, which enabled the departmental stores to fill mail orders at the expense of the general public.

Messrs. McNicol Matheson, Stratton and St. John spoke, after which Mr. Middleton closed the debate and hoped that, though the bill might be withdrawn, the members would not lose sight of the matter, but be ready and deal with it next session.

The bill was withdrawn.

Dressing Handsomely and Well at a Small Cost.

A lady friend, a user of Diamond Dyes, writes as follows:

"With Diamond Dyes I changed my husband's faded gray suit to a rich dark brown shade, and a blue one was made black, while the children never knew what had become of their old clothes, and wondered where all the new ones came from.

"My experience proves that any woman who can read the plain directions on the Diamond Dye envelope can not only save a large amount of money in clothing her family, but will wear as handsome and fashionable clothes as before. Diamond Dyes are indeed the true preventives of hard times."

Doctors Could Help, but Couldn't Cure—Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure Released the Prisoner, and To-day She is as Well as Ever—She Says it is a Great Remedy

"Yes, I am Mrs. Dobell," said a comely, pleasant-faced woman at her home on Horton street to a News reporter to-day, "and I will very gladly tell you what you want to know. About three years ago my husband was very ill, and I had frequently occasion to rise in the night and go for a doctor or to the druggist. In my hurry I often neglected to properly clothe myself, and contracted several heavy colds, which turned at last to chronic catarrh. I tried doctors, who helped me, but did not cure me, and several special catarrh medicines. I was relieved but not cured. I was suffering intolerably when Mr. Shuff recommended me to try DR. CHASE'S CATARRH CURE, and it began at once to help, and in about two months had entirely cured me. I cannot speak too highly of this remarkable medicine, and cheerfully recommend it to all sufferers from catarrh." The blower included is a great help to sufferers.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 78 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. A Neglected Street.

At about the middle of the junction of King and Aylmer streets a post is sticking in a hole extending from the surface of the street to a drain beneath. This opening has existed, this staked out and emphasized, since Saturday night. It should receive attention. It is neither ornamental nor conducive to facilitation of travel.

The Ottawa Excursion.

Last night the midnight train took down between seventy-five and one hundred additional excursionists to Ottawa. These included the deputation of about thirty from Cobourg, which will meet en route a similar delegation from the north. The object is to get assistance to the Cobourg, Northumberland & Peterborough Railway. Several from the country and surrounding villages, as well as several from Port Hope went down on the excursion.

Ladies' Bicycle Carrier.

Many a lady who has felt inclined to go wheeling some distance from home has said "Well, I would like very much to go, but as I have so many parcels which I want to take, and as women have no pockets in which to carry anything, or any other way of conveying them, I consequently cannot go." Mr. M. J. Galvin has at last solved the problem of "how is a lady going to carry small parcels on her wheel." By means of his invention of a small, neat and compact "carrier" for a lady's wheel. It consists of a small "carrier" or satchel, which is placed on the guard in rear of the saddle, immediately behind the rear forks, and which is firmly clasped to the guard and forks, and this firm clasping gives it great steadiness, and does away with all shaking or rattling of the "carrier." As this invention will prove to be a grand thing for the ladies, they will feel greatly indebted to Mr. Galvin for the outcome of his inventive faculty.

Fire at Grafton & Co.'s Dundas Clothing Establishment.

We take the following from a Dundas paper:—"We have again to note the excellent way in which fires are handled in Dundas. About eight o'clock Saturday night fire broke out in one of Grafton & Co.'s cutting and trimming rooms, the fire having considerable headway before it was noticed by someone on the outside of the buildings. Grafton & Co.'s well equipped and efficient fire apparatus was placed in order and a heavy stream was playing on the fire in one minute after the alarm had been given, having the fire under control in a few minutes. The Dundas fire companies, No. 1 and 2, also hook and ladder company, were on the spot three minutes after the alarm had been sent them, ready to give additional aid if required. Too much praise cannot be given our brave firemen for the quick way they responded to the alarm. We may also say that Grafton & Co's fire apparatus is one of the most perfect we have seen in any factory, not only fifty feet of water being always at hand all over the building, but on every flat a heavy 2 1-2 inch hose ready at any moment to turn directly on the fire. The damage in a short time might have been many thousands, but we are pleased to state that about $1500 will cover the loss.

VISITING OFFICERS FROM HAMILTON.

Three Officers From the Gallant 13th Battalion—A Foraging Expedition—They Want to Spend the Queen's Birthday in Peterborough—Shown About the Town and Hospitably Entertained.

Yesterday three officers of the 13th Battalion, Hamilton, Major Mason, Capt. Labatt and Captain Herring, came from the East by the 4.45 express. They had been at Brockville and Kingston looking over the attractions of these cities with a view of deciding upon a suitable place in which to spend the annual outing of the Battalion. Peterborough was visited for the same purpose, and Lt.-Col. Bell, of the 57th, took them in hand and drove them about the town. Among the places visited were the Agricultural Grounds and the Driving Park, which they were informed could be obtained as the site of their encampment. The visiting officers were greatly pleased with Peterborough and expressed their preference to it before either of the two other places visited.

The task of entertaining the battalion will not be a light one financially. The cost may be placed at about $1,000. The Thirteenth, if arrangements are completed, will come down 550 strong and spend Sunday and Monday in town. This will mean six meals or $1.50 each —$775, and the balance to make up the $1,000, will include incidentals, fitting up the grounds, pitching tents, etc. The 13th are accustomed to having all expenses of their outing paid except that of railway fares. Heretofore the 57th on their annual visits have been in the habit of paying their own expenses, but they have a decided inclination in favour of adopting the plan of the 13th.

After the inspection of the town and the sites available a conference of the visiting comrades in arms with the officers of the 57th was held and the visitors were hospitably entertained and the trip talked over. Judging from the impression made by the visitors a visit from the Thirteenth would be a great enjoyment. However, no definite arrangements were made. The matter is left open and the site of the annual outing camp will be between Kingston and Peterborough. Brockville is understood to be out of the running. Kingston has made an offer of $800 to entertain the visitors, and if Peterborough does as well, this town will be selected, for the visitors plainly expressed their preference for Peterborough in the matter of site, etc. It would be a fine thing for the town if arrangements could be arrived at whereby the town would be favoured with a visit of the gallant Thirteenth on Queen's Birthday.

Military Clothing.

A very full and effective display of all that is new and official in the way of military clothing is on exhibition in Oak Hall's window. The handsome outfits were designed and executed by the Sandford Manufacturing Company, of Hamilton, who have a record as military clothiers for many years past, having enjoyed the confidence of the Canadian Government for turning out intrinsically good military clothing. The various garments were designed and cut by experienced artists of the firm, and no detail in the execution of the work but what is of the most exact and accurate description. The figures shown represent suits for the regular volunteers, Hussars, artillery, infantry, cavalry and mounted police, equipped with regulation boots for each. A very handsome new officer's mess jacket is also shown. We are pleased to learn that the cloth is of Canadian manufacture, which was pronounced by an English commissioner to be equal if not superior to any British manufactured cloth. A very effective banner is displayed as a background to the display, having the words "Military Clothing" emblazoned thereon, the elongated letters being skillfully formed with military brass buttons on red bunting. Mr. W. J. Watham, Oak Hall's manager, is naturally proud of his military window.

THE ODDFELLOW GRAND OFFICERS LAST NIGHT

VISITED THE OTONABEE AND PETERBOROUGH LODGES.

Competition Between Lindsay and Peterborough Degree Teams—The Local Team Wins in the Competition—Reception of Grand Lodge Officers—Banquet at the Snowden House—Addresses by the Distinguished Officials.

Last night will long be a memorable one in the annals of Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows. It was distinguished by the official visit of Grand Master White and Grand Representative Hoyle. The presence of the Lindsay Lodge initiatory degree team to give what might be called "the return match" on floor work to that which took place in Lindsay last November.

The grand officers were met at the station by a deputation of the members of the local lodge and escorted to their lodge rooms. After tea at the Snowden House, the Grand Master was met by Bros. John Nugent, P. G., Jas. McGill, P. G., W. M. Patterson, P. G., W. J. Green, P. G., and Bro. Dr. Rose. J. Thompson, D. D. G. M., Sunderland, was also present.

The Grand Master was shown over the lodge rooms, and he expressed his pleasure at their excellent adaptation to the purposes for which they were intended.

When the Lindsay members, who came by special train, arrived they were met at the station and escorted to the lodge room. The lodge was opened in due form and the Grand Master was received with the usual grand honours.

Grand Master White in his official address, began by referring to the legislation of the order at the last Grand Lodge meeting and explained the legal effect of several questions affecting the order. He congratulated the local lodges on their good financial condition and large membership, and said they were regarded as the two best in the order. After dealing with several society items in connection with the benevolent work of the order, he pointed out the necessity of the establishment of an orphanage, and cited several instances where orphan children of Oddfellows had, from lack of such an institution, been thrown on the cold mercies of the world, and referred to the probability of some towns in the province providing a free site for the building in case the order furnished the endowment. Peterborough would be a good locality.

At the conclusion of the Grand Master's capital address

Judges—H White, G.M., W. H. Hoyle, P.G.M., representing the Sovereign Grand Lodge, and J. Thompson, D.D.G.M., District No. 21, Sunderland.

The judges decided in favour of the Otonabee team. The score was, out of a possible 600—Otonabee team, 444 marks; Lindsay team, 332; majority for Otonabee, 112.

Though the Lindsay team failed to score the highest points, yet their work was well done. They are whole-souled, broad-minded Oddfellows, full of the true spirit of the Order, and the fact of their not having gained the degree of proficiency of the local team is explained by the devotion of the members of the Lindsay team to the noble game of curling, and the success won on the rink shows that they have the material of winners, and if, in the future team competitions which are spoken of, the Lindsay team buckles down to their work they will make the local team look to their laurels.

After the competition was decided Grand Representative Hoyle spoke. He hoped the fraternal work of the Order—visiting the sick and relieving the distressed—would not be forgotten in their efforts to maintain a sound financial standing. He referred to the work of the Ontario representative at the Sovereign Grand Lodge at Dallas, Texas, where they secured acknowledgment that the Order was not merely national as regarded the United States, but international and world-wide. He referred to the question of age for admission, and said that in all probability the age of 21 years, was fixed for all time. He also referred to an Oddfellows' orphanage and its desirability.

THE BANQUET.

After the lodge was closed in due form, the brethren repaired to the banqueting hall of the Snowden House, which had been beautifully decorated for their reception. The walls were gay with flags and bunting, and at frequent intervals Oddfellow emblems met the eye.

The chair was occupied by Bro. J. W. Miller, N.G., who had on his right Bro. Hoyle and other Grand and Past Grand officers.

"The Queen" was enthusiastically honoured.

This was followed by the toast of "The Sovereign Grand Lodge, to which ample justice was done by Grand Representative Hoyle.

"The Grand Lodge of Ontario and our Grand Master," brought an eloquent response from Grand Master White. Dr. Ball, P. G. M., and Mr. R. Morrow, Grand Outside Guard, also spoke briefly to this toast.

"Our Sister Lodges" brought eloquent responses from Bro. Fowlds, of Hastings; Mr. Fred Foote, of Peterborough Lodge, and others.

During the evening songs were sung by Mr. W. J. Squires, Walter Wesley; and Messrs. Talbot and Roper gave an excellent banjo and guitar duet. Mr. Geo. Schneider presided at the pianoforte and the evening was one of great enjoyment and fraternal conviviality.

The banquet provided by the Snowden House was conspicuous for its superior quality and it was served with a tastiness and perfection characteristic of this excellent hotel.

AS TO POLICE MAGISTRATES.

Attempt to Interfere with them by Legislation—The Bill Withdrawn.

In the Ontario Legislature on Monday, Mr. Haggerty moved the second reading of his bill respecting Police Magistrates, which provides that County Councils may by by-law declare that the Police Magistrate appointed for any such county shall hold office without salary, or may by by-law fix any amount as a salary of such Magistrate.

Mr. Stratton objected that the bill threw it open if the Police Magistrate did not quite please the members of the Council they might pass a resolution not to pay him his salary. If the Magistrate is not doing his duty the Council can apply to the Government for relief. It would not be right or fair to the Police Magistrate to put it in the power of the Council to withdraw his salary altogether.

The Attorney-General pointed out that the present law placed the matter entirely in the hands of the various counties. The Councils could apply to have a police magistrate with a salary or without a salary. Provision was also made for a County Council to take steps to make a change after one year has expired if deemed advisable. If there are special objects which the hon. member desired to achieve, if the country is paying too high salary, even that might be amended in some other way than that proposed by the bill.

Mr. Haggerty had introduced the bill at the instance of the County Council of Hastings to enable them to deal with the police magistrate who had been appointed in that county. The council desired to cease paying him a salary. They did not want to dismiss him by any means.

Mr. Whitney thought there might be something in the contention of the mover of the bill. His observation had led him to the conclusion that the Police Magistrates are not a success, and he knew of a county where such an official had been appointed without any real necessity existing. He supported the principle of the bill.

The Attorney-General said the county council apparently wanted to keep the Police Magistrate. He was a good man, but they did not want to pay him. They wanted him to do the work, but to do it without pay. He suggested that the matter stand, as there are only a few Police Magistrates who have been in each case appointed at the special request of the County Councils

The bill was withdrawn.

WHY YOUNG MEN FAIL IN LIFE.

REV. FATHER FITZPATRICK'S SCHOLARLY ADDRESS.

Delightful Evening's Entertainment in the Catholic Association Rooms—Large Attendance and an Excellent Programme Presented.

Those who were present in the Catholic Association lecture room last evening were treated to an eloquent address by Rev. Father Fitzpatrick on "Why Young Men Fail," an address replete with hard facts, and good common sense, and logical reasoning, and one that cannot fail to be beneficial to those who heard it.

Mr. L. R. Keogh occupied the chair, and an excellent musical programme was opened by a brilliant instrumental duet by Misses Maggie Doherty and Maggie McCabe. This was followed by Masters Simons and Guerin in a catchy musical specialty. Mr. Erale Hodgson in his piccolo numbers added greatly to the evening's programme by his faultless playing. Mr. L. R. Keogh next gave a reading, "Marco Bozzaris," in an excellent manner, and Misses Maud and Fox, two talented violinistes, rendered two numbers with excellent taste and expression.

Rev. M. F. Fitzpatrick in his address started out with the fact that both God and nature intended and fitted every young man for some calling in life, for some position where he could be of use both to himself and others. To know what that calling is and how he should prepare himself to discharge his duties aright should be the first object of every young man. But how could he know his calling? How know for what he is best suited both by nature and attainments? Could he rely always on the choice made for him by ambitious parents, who are generally the last to see any defects in their own children, and who think that for honour and respectability the learned professions must be embraced. Some, to satisfy this desire, this vaulting ambition, have gone to college; have, as Matthews says, been pitchedforked through a course of Greek and Latin, attended lectures, crammed for an examination, got a diploma, and with all their blushing honours thick upon their vacant heads, settled down to kill people scientifically, to pour drugs, of which they knew little, into the bodies of which they knew less, or, if a lawyer, come out of college like necessity—knowing no law. The idea that every young man of brilliant parts, is necessarily intended for a lawyer, doctor or divine, has done incalculable damage both to young men themselves, and to society at large.

Many a young man has regretted his unwise choice when it is too late to turn back, and more, who might have been happy and prosperous behind the counter or plough, have died broken-hearted in the learned professions.

"Our wishes are presentments of our capabilities," is a truer and more encouraging rule to follow in choosing our calling in life. We must love our work, else there is no success. No one ever yet succeeded who was forever haunted with the idea that in any other path of life, but the one he had chosen, he would have risen to opulence and fame.

The speaker then gave many examples, from experience and history, of young men, who even as children, gave positive proofs of what they would become in after life. Once having chosen their calling, guided by natural tendency and inborn aptitude, and not by the whims or fancies of others, they must stick to it with the greatest tenacity. Fickleness has ruined more young men than want of talent, means or manners. They should have the courage to leave a great many things unknown, for the sake of knowing, at least one thing well. In our age of keen competition and vast knowledge, only the specialist can hope to succeed. Be able to say with Charles Dickens, "This thing I know well, can do well." Here again the speaker cited examples of men who rose to eminence through concentration of aims, singleness of purpose, united to a determination to reach the top. Difficulties, hardships and opposition only served as a spur to "prick the sides of their intent." Instead of discouraging, such obstacles only increased their power and courage for renewed efforts.

Then came the necessity of self-dependence. The bolstered and the pampered, the hot-house plants of society, the heirs to large legacies rarely succeed, and never make their mark. They began with crutches and they ended with crutches. Only those who have fought stubbornly and buffeted the billows of fate, relying on God's mercy and their own energy, have come to the front.

The speaker then dwelt at considerable length on the necessity of good manners, kindness, politeness and courtesy towards other, as the best means in every path of life to ensure success. We are depending one upon another for support and comfort, and only he who knows how to treat a fellow-mortal kindly and politely can hope to win his support or sympathy. The closing remarks of the speaker were devoted to economy of time and money. How to save both was as necessary a thing to know, as any young man could learn. Time means money, and too much leisure was the devil's blessing. Those who took too much leisure time, as a general rule took too much of something else, not the best thing in the world for them. In conclusion he exhorted the young men to lay out this plans for the future. Try to be something or you are sure to be nothing. Let that something be in accordance with your natural inclinations and tastes. Let it be the uppermost thought in your minds. Swerve neither to right nor left, but go straight to the goal. Be courteous and obliging, rely upon your own strength and energy, be honest, sober and industrious, use your time and money to advantage, and there is no position in life which you may not fill, and fill honestly.

At the close of his able address Rev. Father Fitzpatrick was loudly applauded, and a hearty vote of thanks was tendered him, on motion of Messrs. L. M. Hayes and Jno Corkery.

Rev. Father O'Sullivan also addressed the gathering expressing his pleasure at being present, and assuring the directors of the assistance of his hearty co-operation in their work.

The programme concluded with the the National Anthem. The directors desire to thank those who contributed to the evening's programme.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Immense Attendance Last Night—An Earnest Address—Fruits of the Services.

George street Methodist church was again crowded to the doors last evening by persons who were anxious to hear Evangelist A. H. Ranton deliver his address on the subject of "Wild Oats." Upon the conclusion of the service of song a testimony meeting was held. Mrs. Robt. Hamilton sang a solo, "Shall I be saved to-night," in a very pleasing manner. Galatians 9th chapter was read for the first lesson, and 99th Psalm and 8th verse was taken for his text:

Thou answerest them, O Lord, our God; thou wast a God that forgavest them, though thou lookest vengeance of their inventions.

"The word 'vengeance,'" said Mr. Ranton, "needs a little explanation. Its biblical meaning is different from its ordinary meaning. Ordinarily it means malice; biblically, infliction of penalty upon the transgressor of God's law. Some people think that because God is good, loving, etc., that a man may go on sinning and defying God's law all his life and when he dies God will take him home to heaven and not punish him everlastingly. We ought to grasp the idea of God's father-government. God removes the penalty from a man who becomes a Christian. In this world there is the physical law, organic law and moral. The transgression of anyone of these laws means death to the transgressor. Adam did not physically die for a long time after sentence had been passed upon him. He died morally, spiritually; to holiness, happiness and heaven, and then comes the eternal death. I do not think that any man will be in heaven what he would have been had he not sown his wild oats of sin. When a man commits sin he can have the consequence removed, but the fact remains that he has committed the sin. So God can forgive a sinner, but the fact remains that he sinned, and that man will not be so happy in heaven when he has sinned away nearly all his life and become converted on a death bed, as he would otherwise have been had he been converted when a boy.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

THE WHEEL.

The bicycle is gaining a place in the domain of politics, thus indicating its claim to be considered a political factor. It has invaded the Ontario Legislature through the medium of Mr. Stratton's bill to give the wheel the right of the road, and the Wheelman's Association is making a move to trundle it into the Dominion Parliament. Writing on the subject, the Montreal Star, speaking of "Bicycle Laws" says:

The Ontario Legislature is endeavouring to lay down "rules of the road" for the guidance and protection of bicyclists. This is a timely recognition of the importance of the new vehicle. It is all very well to say that mutual courtesy and common forbearance will enable cyclists to get along without interfering with each other or coming into collision with the older possessors of the roadway—the driver and the pedestrian—but then common courtesy and brotherly love would obviate the necessity of laws against burglary and theft. Laws are made for the exception in every case, for no law can be enforced that attacks the practices of the majority. Now there are wheelmen who are not careful enough of the safety of others; and there are drivers who rather prefer than otherwise to compel the cyclist to take his part of the road on the top of a picket fence. For such it is well to define by law just what the rights of such persons are, so that the sufferer in a bicycle accident may not be aggravated by being told that he is merely the victim of a lack of courtesy.

Mr. Stratton's bill now before the Ontario House, simply declares that waggons must give wheels sufficient room to pass on the road; that on the "devil's strip" cyclists going east and south will have the right of way; and that a cyclist coming from behind must pass to the left and give warning. This is merely common practice put into law, and might easily be made universal.

Mr. Casey, moved thereto by the Canadian Wheelman's Association, is trying to do some more law making for the wheelmen at Ottawa. He has introduced a bill requiring railway companies to carry bicycles as baggage, which is in line with legislation demanded by the L. A. W. throughout the United States. As Chauncey Depew blithely put it, he wants Parliament to declare that "a bicycle is a trunk." It would appear that some arrangement of this kind is necessary and inevitable; and it would be a graceful thing if the railways were to bow to the public wish without awaiting the compulsion of a formal law. "All the world's awheel" in these latter days, and it will not be very long before a man—or a woman—would as soon think of setting out on a journey without his umbrella as without his bicycle. Where arrangements are made for hanging wheels from the top of baggage cars, they are very little trouble and do not greatly interfere with other baggage. Then if parties could ride their wheels to the railway station, get them "checked" without trouble or expense, and find them ready to ride off on when they reached a neighbouring city or a delicious bit of country, trips for a day or two of this kind would become common and the railways would receive an increased revenue the reward of their voluntary courtesy. An example of this was seen on a small scale last autumn in Montreal when the "elevator" carried wheels free to the top of the mountain. Many a wheelman rode up in the car for the pleasure of "coasting" down on his wheel. Then the railways need not be jealous of the wheel. It is in no sense a rival of theirs, but rather a supplement and an incentive to railway trips. "Wheeling excursions" to picturesque bits of country, traversed by good roads, may become a feature of the summers of the future.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 53 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents. It afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on each 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 96 or $3,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now I advise the purchase of Corn around 35 cts. for July. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.55; it will sell at $10 before it does at $9. Railroad stocks and bonds bought on the New York Stock Exchange for investment or on liberal margins. Call me up on long distance 'phone and I can execute your order while you wait in New York, Boston or Chicago.

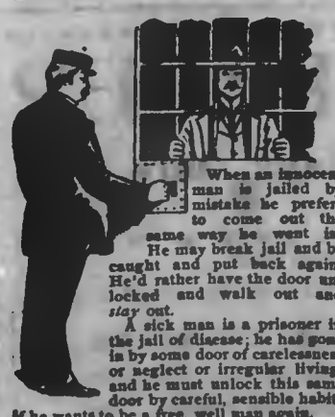
WE HAVE MADE A SPECIALTY OF PRETTY LACES.

Get Your Job Printing Done at The Examiner.



When an innocent man is jailed by mistake he prefers to come out the same way he went in. He may break jail and be caught and put back again. He'd rather have the door unlocked and walk out and stay out.

A sick man is a prisoner in the jail of disease; he has gone in by some door of carelessness or neglect or irregular living, and he must unlock this same door by careful, sensible habits if he wants to be a free, well man again.

If dyspepsia and biliousness or constipation is the way he got into disease, he has got to overcome just those troubles before he can get out.

The majority of diseases begin with some trouble of the digestive organs or of the liver, which prevents the supply of proper nourishment to the system. The best remedy for these troubles is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, because it gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to assimilate food and transform it into pure, nourishing blood, vitalised with an abundance of red corpuscles.

It acts directly upon the liver and gives it capacity to filter all bilious impurities out of the circulation. It builds up solid, muscular flesh and healthy nerve-force.

In obstinate constipation the "Discovery" should be used in conjunction with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the most natural and thoroughly scientific laxative ever devised. The "Pellets" regulate and invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One is a gentle laxative; two act as a mild cathartic.

"My wife had suffered for seven years with dyspepsia, sick headache and costiveness," writes Mr. Alonzo D. Jameson, of Dunbarton, Merrimack Co., N. H., "we tried many doctors and many kinds of medicine, but all were of no avail. We purchased six bottles of your 'Golden Medical Discovery,' which together with the 'Pleasant Pellets' has entirely restored my wife's health, and we cannot say enough in thanks to you for these valuable medicines."

ONIONS FROM SEED.

A Profitable Crop If Properly Planted and Cared For.

The largest and best onions are grown from seed. While they can hardly be considered a certain crop, yet when anything like a fair crop is secured they are a profitable crop to you. On account of the work and cost of keeping the crop clean it is quite an item to select a piece of clean land and for the same reason only well rotted and thoroughly fined manure should be used. To get the best results the land must be rich. It is almost a waste of seed to try to grow onions in anything but a rich soil.

Wood ashes, poultry manure, guano or thoroughly rotted stable manure can be used as fertilizers, taking pains to work it thoroughly in with the soil. There is little danger of getting the soil too rich.

It is important that the seed be sown early. Securing the seed and manuring of the land should be done in good season, so that at the first favorable opportunity in the spring the seed can be sown. Have the soil as fine as possible when the seed is sown in order to secure a good germination of the seed and a vigorous start of the plants to grow. Be sure that the seed is of good quality. If the seeding is to be done by hand, work out the rows about eight inches apart and make the drills about one inch deep. Sow the seeds as early as possible, two or three seeds to the inch. It is quite an item to get the seed distributed evenly in the drills.

The advantage in using the drill is that the seed can be sown and covered more evenly with less work.

Some growers, in order to get the plants started earlier and to some extent at least lessen the work of keeping the crop clean at the start, sow the seed thickly in a bed or frame, and, after they are well up, transplant them into rows where they are to grow.

As when the seed is sown it is important to have the soil in a good tilth. Work out the rows and then lay the rows not over two inches apart. It is better to use plenty of plants and thin out than to have vacant places in the rows.

If the land is not so rich as it should be it will be a good plan to scatter a good dressing of wood ashes or commercial fertiliser over the surface. The onion feeds very near the surface, and the necessary cultivation will work the fertilizer sufficiently into the soil.

A fine, sharp-toothed steel rake is one of the best implements with which to begin the cultivation. Properly used it will thoroughly fine the surface and destroy the weeds. It is important to begin the cultivation as soon as possible, for in this way the weeds will be easier kept down. It will be an exceptional case, however, when hand-weeding will not be necessary. But a careful use of the rake and cultivator in good season will greatly lessen the work of hand-weeding. With this, as with many other crops, it is best to commence in a small way, and increase the acreage after experience has been acquired.—St. Louis Republic.

The rapidity with which croup developes calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

Karl's Clover Root will purify your blood, clear your complexion, regulate your bowels and make your head clear as a bell. 25c. 50c. and $1.00.

WITH A RAZOR HE DID IT.

Dr. J. H. Walton of Dubuque Killed Himself in View of Many People in Lincoln Park, Chicago.

Chicago, April 4.—Dr. J. H. Walton, a well-known physician of Dubuque, Ia., committed suicide in a sensational manner in Lincoln Park this afternoon. He was walking along one of the driveways with a friend, when suddenly he drew a razor from his pocket and cut his throat, dying in a few minutes. Dr. Walton arrived in the city this morning in company with Dr. Lindsay, also of Dubuque, both men registering at the Palmer House. Shortly before noon they walked out together to view the points of interest in the city, and about 1 o'clock arrived at Lincoln Park. The driveways were thronged with vehicles and bicycle riders. Many persons were walking and the seats throughout the park were filled. Almost up to the very moment Dr. Walton took his life he had been talking pleasantly with his companion. Suddenly he walked rapidly ahead, and as the razor flashed in the sunlight a scream went up from many throats. The act was witnessed by a large number of persons who had gone to the park to enjoy the beautiful spring weather, but almost before Dr. Lindsay or any of the horrified spectators could reach him the physician expired. Dr. Lindsay knows no cause for Dr. Walton's act. He believes, however, that the man was seized with insanity.

LONG RIDE ON HORSEBACK.

New Yorkers Did the Trip From Gotham to Philadelphia in Less Than 7 Hours.

Philadelphia, April 3.—Harrison K. Caner and his brother-in-law, Tristram C. Colkett, both of Philadelphia, rode from New York to this city on horseback in six hours and fifty-two minutes, establishing what is considered a remarkable record for the trip. The feat was accomplished with relays of horses, each of the riders using four different steeds for the journey. The finish was made several hours ahead of the time expected, and, with the exception of a slight fall which Mr. Colkett experienced in the streets of New York, the trip was entirely without accident to either of the riders or their horses. The distance from start to finish was in round figures one hundred miles, and an average gait of over fifteen miles an hour was maintained.

THE SOUTHERN FLOODS.

Less Rain at St. Louis Than Was Anticipated—The Situation Shows Some Improvement.

Washington, April 4.—The following reports have been received to-day from the Department of Agriculture Weather Bureau officials in Chicago of the river districts:

St. Louis, Mo.—Less rain has fallen than has been anticipated and the rise will be slower. More water will come out of the Missouri River by Tuesday.

Cairo, Ill.—The river has risen 1-10 of a foot since Saturday morning. It is now on a stand at a 50.4.

Memphis—The flood situation shows no improvement, and in the vicinity of Helena it is hourly becoming more critical. Owing to heavy rains in this section, the river at Memphis shows a slight rise, but no marked change is expected at present.

Helena, Ark.—River 51.85 feet, rainfall 30-100 of an inch. Levee broke four miles below town and will flood the city. Damage in the country will be great, but in the city slight.

Vicksburg, Miss.—Crevasse reported at Flower Lake, Miss., six miles below Austin, Tunica County.

New Orleans—River rising, 17.8. This is within 1-10 of a foot of the highest water ever previously reported. Heavy rains have occurred in the past 24 hours in the water sheds of the Arkansas, Cumberland and Tennessee Rivers, and along the Mississippi, heavy rains or snows in the Upper Missouri and light rains in the Upper and Lower Mississippi and the Ohio Rivers.

The Mississippi has risen from St. Paul to the south, except a fall of 1-10 of a foot a Keokuk, St. Louis and Vicksburg. It is above the danger line at St. Paul and La Crosse.

Flying to Higher Ground.

Sioux City, Ia., April 4.—Residents of the Floyd River bottoms here are again flying to higher ground. At Merrill, James and Hinton, points above here, the stream is out of its banks and flooding the valley. Here the bank is higher and a three-foot rise will be necessary before the floods of a fortnight ago can be repeated. The rise still progresses, however, at the rate of two or three inches an hour.

While repairing flood damage on the Milwaukee Road, John A. Bushnell, a brakeman, was drowned last night. He is the fourth victim in this locality of this season's high water.

Sixty-Two Years an M.P.

To represent one constituency for sixty-two years in the House of Commons is somewhat of a record. Mr. Charles Pelham Villiers, who is called the "Father of the House of Commons," has represented Wolverhampton for that time without interruption. He recently celebrated his 95th birthday at his London residence, and received the congratulations of a large circle of friends of both political parties. The right honorable gentleman takes a great interest in public affairs and spends much time reading and attending to his correspondence.

The First Man Dressmaker.

As far back as 1730 there was in Paris a man dressmaker, and probably the first of his kind. His name was Rhomberg, and he was the son of a Bavarian peasant from the neighborhood of Munich. He owed his success to his genius for concealing and remedying defects of figure. He drove a beautiful carriage on the boulevard, and had an escutcheon in the shape of a pair of corsets and an open pair of scissors painted on the panel of each door. He left a large fortune to his heirs.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia—Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So Says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

THE TEST OF ROSE PEMBERTON.

"Oh, dear! I wish I could be a heroine myself," pouted Rose Pemberton, tossing aside the novel which she had just finished with a deep sigh of discontent. "I'm pretty enough, I'm sure"—casting an appreciative glance at the mirror opposite, in which her piquant face and curling golden hair were pleasingly reflected—"but nothing ever happens—nothing ever will happen, either, so far as I can see—that has the least bit of romance in it. Just this same old humdrum life; I'm tired and sick of it. If something startling would only occur! If I could even fall desperately in love with some one—"

Here the low, discontented murmur of Rose's voice ceased, and a faint blush crept into her pretty cheeks as her thoughts drifted away toward a certain "some one" who had never formed a part of that humdrum life of which she had so often and so bitterly complained.

Rose had numberless admirers, as the prettiest girl in the village always will have, and she could recall an almost equal number of flirtations which had served to brighten the monotony of her village life.

But they were tame affairs; her heart had never been really interested for a moment.

As for the grande passion Rose knew nothing of it save her day dreams and in the pages of her favorite novels.

She had laughed at her would-be lovers, and declared her conviction that there is no such thing as love in real life.

But of late pretty Rose had begun to entertain a somewhat different opinion on that subject.

A handsome, intellectual face and a pair of laughing brown eyes were the direct cause of her change of heart.

Yet their owner seemed in no haste to enroll himself on the list of her admirers. Indeed Rose knew him only by sight, for Wilbur Severance was a stranger in the village; she had seen him in church two or three times, and occasionally on the street; but he had never sought an introduction to the belle of the place, and, beyond a passing glance of admiration, had not evinced any special notice of her attractions.

Perhaps that was the very thing which had awakened Rose's interest in him. At all events, she often caught herself dreaming of those handsome brown eyes, and wondering what she should say if Mr. Severance were ever to tell her the story of love which she had often heard from other lips.

But there was little danger of that, apparently. Rose bit her lip in chagrin as that thought forced itself upon her, even while she was contemplating her graceful image in the mirror; and, catching up her wide-brimmed garden hat, she suddenly quit the room and the house, and went hurrying down the path with a kind of desperate determination in her heart to get away from the dullness of everyday existence and bring in adventure of some sort from the unwilling hands of Fate.

"I'll go down to the river," she said, after a moment of indecision at the gate, "and if I can find a boat, I'll row about in the most dangerous places I can find. And I hope something will happen; but it won't," she added sarcastically, "unless I upset the boat on purpose."

Turning into the winding road that led out of the village, she soon came to the river and found a fragile shell of a boat dancing at anchor on the waves, as if left there by fate for her especial use.

Rose unfastened the chain and was soon shooting swiftly down the stream, keeping time with her oars to her own restless thoughts.

All at once a sound, breaking the stillness of the scene, drew her attention to the shore; and with that glance Rose's heart gave a mad bound, and then seemed to stop beating, for there on the bank, only a few feet distant, busily arranging a pile of fishing tackle, sat the hero of her present thoughts—the handsome stranger with the laughing brown eyes.

And they were quietly laughing at her now, Rose thought, as a blush of confusion dyed her cheeks.

The sudden start she gave jostled one of the oars out of her grasp, and, reaching to recover it, the "something" which she had so recklessly wished for happened; for the next instant, to her disgust, she found herself overboard, and floundering about in the water, looking as little like her ideal heroine as could well be imagined.

Mr. Severance hastened at once to her rescue, and when he had brought her, pale and exhausted, to the shore, Rose, glancing shyly upward, saw those brown eyes, no longer laughing at her, but full of grave anxiety that filled her heart.

"I am not at all injured," she said, replying to the look, "and I hope my boat isn't, for I must try my luck again with it by starting home at once."

"But your strength is quite exhausted," he said, decidedly, as she rose slowly to her feet. "I shall row you back to the point from which you started, and then, if you will permit me, I shall accompany you to your home. I really think it unsafe for you to go alone," he added, seeing the tide of crimson that swept back suddenly to her white cheeks.

Rose offered but faint objections; and thus began the acquaintance which was destined to prove so eventful to both.

And Rose was happy.

It was just in the flush of her happiness that Rose met at a village hotel, whose landlady's daughter was one of her friends, a lady who had come there hoping to regain her lost health.

Pale and delicate, but still very lovely, was Caryl Stewart, and very soon she and the village belle were fast friends.

"My physicians say that my ailment is consumption," said Caryl Stewart one day, smiling a slow, sad smile that went straight to Rose's heart; "but I know better than they, Rose. I know that I am dying of a broken heart. Some day I will tell you. You will come in again to-morrow?" she questioned, lifting her dark eyes with a wistful look.

"Oh, yes," returned Rose, with a bright smile. "I will come in any day—every day, Miss Stewart."

She was thinking of that conversation when Wilbur Severance came to see her later in the evening.

But she could not remain melancholy long in his presence now, particularly as he had come for the express purpose of asking for her heart and hand.

Rose had often pictured this moment to herself, and she had honestly resolved to be all sweetness and sincerity to this man whom she loved with all her soul.

But—how it was she could never tell—somehow her old wilful spirit of coquetry seemed to take possession of her all in a moment, and she laughed, teased and evaded her lover's questioning with a persistent willfulness that amazed herself.

"I will answer you to-morrow evening," was the reply he finally coaxed from her saucy lips. "I must have a little time to reflect upon so dreadfully serious a matter, Mr. Severance."

But there was that in the happy blue eyes that belied the wilful lips, and Wilbur Severance went away with a cheerful heart in spite of all.

The following day Rose paid her promised visit to Miss Stewart, and it was then that the invalid made her a confidante.

Caryl Stewart had been betrothed when scarcely more than a child, to a youth but little older than herself.

The arrangements had been made entirely by the parents of the two.

But as they grew older, with a better understanding of the situation, Caryl realized that her whole heart was involved in the matter, while her fiance proved indifferent, and finally rebelled outright against the bonds which he had no part in creating.

In her pride Caryl had granted him his freedom, though she broke her own heart by doing it.

Other suitors she had had, but she would never love again to her dying day.

"And that will not be far off," she ended, pathetically, "unless I can win his love. And I don't quite despair of doing that yet, Rose. Away from all rivals, and free from the business-like fetters that once prejudiced him more than all, when he realizes, at last, that his love, and only that, can save my life—do you think, dear little Rose, that my hope of yet winning him is such a wild one, after all?"

"No, indeed, I do not, Miss Stewart," she earnestly replied. "I don't think he could help but learn to love you, did he know all the truth. If he could be here to see you—"

"He is here, and I have met him several times, though he doesn't know the mad hope that brought me here—as yet, I have merely told him that I came here for my health. I think you know him, also, Rose," she added, slowly, watching the girl's face from beneath her long, dark lashes. "His name is Wilbur Severance."

"Wilbur Severance!"

One moment Rose's little hand was pressed tightly over her heart, and her very breathing seemed to cease.

Then she spoke, almost in her usual steady tones.

"Yes, I know Mr. Severance; we are quite good friends," she said. "And I think he will come back to you yet, Miss Stewart; indeed I am—am almost sure he will."

And rising quickly, she murmured a few parting words, then touching her cold lips lightly to Caryl Stewart's brow, hastened from the room.

"Oh, why didn't I tell him 'Yes' at once last night, when I loved him so!" cried Rose, in anguish of heart, as she hurried home. "Then it would all have been settled, and nothing could have changed it, but now—"

Her resolve was already taken; and when Wilbur called that night, she gave him his answer promptly enough. It was "No."

"You cannot mean, Rose, that you have deliberately intended to deceive me?" he cried. "Surely no woman under heaven could have a heart so hard and false as that! Do not trifle this time, Rose. Whatever your answer is now, it must be your final one."

"It is final," she answered, steadily. "I shall regret the loss of your friendship, but I can never be your wife, Mr. Severance. That is my deliberate final answer."

"And I hurled back the lie in the teeth of all those who tried to warn me against you for what you are—a soulless coquette," he said, with a bitter laugh. "I might have saved my happiness, but I would not, and—well, I deserve my fate for being such a fool."

He turned on his heel to go, but Rose stepped quietly before him.

She had a small basket of fruit and flowers in her hand.

"I should like to ask you to do me one little favor," she said, coldly, not seeming to have noticed his bitter words.

"I have a friend at the hotel which you will pass as you go home. She is ill, very ill, indeed, and I wish to send her these. I promised, but as I could not go myself, I must ask you to take them for me—and this note," she added, offering it. "Don't refuse, please, she will be so disappointed. And if you will kindly take them up to her parlor yourself—I never trust these things to the careless servants there. It is the only service I shall ask of you," she added, with a half-pleading little smile, as she saw him hesitate.

Of course he had no choice but to accept the trifling task, and, with a cold, distant bow, he took both basket and note from her hand and went his way.

And when the door had closed behind him, Rose sank back into her chair and sobbed until her heart was ready to burst.

"I have sent him to her, and surely she can find some way to win him back again," she moaned, as she thought of the desolation she had brought upon her own happiness.

How long she sat there weeping Rose never knew. But ages after, so it seemed, a step sounded beside her, and Wilbur's own voice was tenderly calling her name.

"Look up, my Rose, and let me tell you what has happened," he was saying sadly, yet with a deep undertone of joy in his loving voice. "I executed your errand, and before I could leave Caryl in some way made me understand the state of her feelings toward me. You know the whole story, Rose, so I need not repeat it. Then, in my pity for her and my bitter anger toward you, I was weak enough to offer to renew that old engagement. I need not tell you that she eagerly accepted, and then, in her joy or the agitation of the moment, she fell to coughing severely, and ruptured a blood-vessel. Yes—" in answer to Rose's horrified cry—"she is dead now, my darling, but not before she made me understand the sacrifice you tried to make for her. She knew that you loved me, Rose. And now I shall not ask you for that answer, dear; I shall take it thus;" and he kissed her quivering lips. "My love—my heroine!" he added, proudly.

Rose had never once thought of it in that light; but no one now ever hears from her sweet lips that old-time, foolish wish:

"Oh, if I could be a heroine!"—Dublin World.

HEART HEART

WEARY DAYS AND SLEEPLESS NIGHTS.

Many men and women toss night after night upon sleepless beds until near dawn. Their eyes do not close in the sweet and refreshing repose that comes to those whose heart and nerves are right. Worry or disease has so debilitated and irritated the nervous system that it cannot be quieted. Or again, you have heart palpitation and sensation of sinking, a feeling you are going to die; or perhaps you wake up from your sleep feeling as though you were about to choke or smother, and rest leaves you for the night. Allow these conditions to continue and you will feel your health declining. It is the nerves and heart that are not acting rightly. They can be set right by the use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They soon induce healthful, refreshing sleep, not by deadening the nerves, but by restoring them to healthy action and removing all symptoms of heart trouble, which is often the cause of nervousness and sleeplessness.

"Better to Live Than to Die."

The following from Mrs. E. Jones gives no uncertain sound as to her opinion regarding the virtue of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in cases similar to her own. Writes Mrs. Jones: For some time my nervous system has been weak and unstrung. I was easily excited, and any sudden start would set my heart fluttering and beating at an excessive rate. Sometimes I would tremble all over. The smallest exertion excited me and made me almost breathless. This condition affected me so much that I became mentally morbid.

"My troubles gave me constant worry and grief, thus reducing me to verge of complete despondency. Last November I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills at W. T. Strong's drug store and commenced to take them.

"I am now entirely cured, and every symptom of nerve trouble has left me completely. These wonderful pills have restored my nerves to a healthy condition, given me a brighter view of life, and restored to me the feeling that it is better to live than to die.

[Signed], "MRS. E. JONES."

WESTWOOD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Mr. Joseph Coughlan, Hastings, is visiting Mr. M. Walsh this week.

Mr. Will Emmerson, Otonabee, was the guest of his sister, Mrs. M. Breckenridge this week.

Mrs. Campbell, Port Hope, is visiting her brother, Mr. D. Drummond.

Mrs. Jas. Barry, Sarnia, is visiting friends in the village and vicinity.

Miss Susie Bennett was visiting friends in the village last week.

Mr. Robert Dickson, Otonabee, is the guest of his brother, Mr. Will Dickson.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. A. Metcalfe is about to leave us for the west. Bon voyage, Joe.

At the regular business meeting Friday evening, 2nd inst., the Y. P. S. C. E. held a social, it being occasioned by the resignation of the president, Mr. J. A. Metcalf. After the routine of business, the following resignation was read:

DEAR BROTHERS AND SISTERS:—I hereby tender my resignation as president of your society. It is with sincere regret that I am compelled to cease these pleasant labours among you. It has been one of the happiest and most profitable seasons of my life to ask and think with you. My position as president has only made stronger ties and more lasting attachments to the C. E. of Westwood. If my humble efforts have been of any real service in doing God's work, it will be only my delight. I shall ever hold dear in my mind the brothers and sisters of this society, and I shall ever pray that you may have God-speed.

Hoping that you will ever grow and continue to prosper, both in numbers and in the Holy Spirit, and that we may all join at the last in singing the song of Moses and the Lamb for ever and ever.

I remain, yours in the work,
J. A. METCALF.

This vacancy necessarily brought about an election and Mrs. Wright was chosen to be the succeeding president. After the president-elect had taken the chair the ex-president was made the recipient of a handsomely mounted clock and presented with the following address:—

To Mr. J. A. Metcalfe,

DEAR SIR,—It is with feelings of regret that we assemble this evening to bid you farewell on the eve of your departure from among us, and we take the present opportunity of expressing our approval and appreciation of your services as president in our Y.P.S.C.E. By your sterling qualities, your excellent character, and your untiring energy and perseverance for our welfare, you have become attached to and beloved by us all. (From Our Own Correspondent.)

The repairs to the Squaw River dams are finished, at least for the present. Owing to the water rising so rapidly they were unable to finish the last dam, but just repaired it enough to do this season. The work was in charge of A. Mills, foreman for Mr. Walters and A. Fee. The section of the work that was in Mr. Mills charge is completed and is a first-class job which will last for years to come. It is to be regretted that the water rose so fast, else we should have had all complete. However, it can be finished when the water goes down in the latter part of the summer and can then be done more cheaply, as there will be no frost to contend with.

Kennedy Davis & Son have commenced to drive their logs out of Norie's Creek. The ice is all out to the bay, but it will take some time yet for the bay to open.

Mr. W. D. Ventress is engaged in making maple sugar and syrup; he reports a very good run of sap, better than any for the past two or three years.

W. Brumwell has gone to Lakefield for the summer.

C. Kruger who was visiting friends at Bridgenorth has returned home.

Mr. R. Crowe has sold his farm to John Beasley and purchased another farm from John Crowe, near to his father's farm. He expects to remove to his new farm this week.

The roads are drying up nicely and if no rain comes by the end of the week they will be as good as in summer. In some places the dust is flying now.

Miss Aggie Crowe is home from Peterborough on a visit to parents.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A special meeting of the council of the council of the township was called by the Reeve on Saturday, April 3rd, at the office of the township treasurer, Peterborough. All the members were present, the reeve, Mr. J. McIntosh, presiding.

The reading of the minutes of last meeting was deferred until the next regular meeting. Mr. R. Davidson and Mr. W. H. Moore appeared for the Peterborough Hardware Co. complaining of the action of the council of 1896 in removing the fence along the south side of their property, park lot 6, township lot 13, concession 11, and asking the council to stay further proceedings until such time as the proper location of the fence can be determined.

Moved by Messrs. Hunter and Madill, that the reeve and Councillors Bradburn and Yelland be a committee to act with the Peterborough Hardware Co. to procure all evidence possible for the purpose of establishing the correct width of the road allowance between part lots 5 and 6, tp. lot 13 on con. 11., and this committee are empowered hereby to employ such legal talent or a surveyor, as they think necessary to assist them, and to report the result of their investigation at the next meeting of this council.—Carried.

Mr. A. P. Poussette appeared for the Peterborough and Ashburnham Railway Company, asking the council to extend the franchise permitting the said company to construct and operate their line from its present terminus to the river along Lock street extension, until August, 1897, and presenting a bylaw and agreement to be executed for that purpose.

Moved by Messrs. Yelland and Madill, that the request of the Peterborough & Ashburnham Street Railway Co. be received, and laid over for consideration until Friday, April 19th, when final action will be taken.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Hunter and Bradburn, that Mr. W. Payne be employed to level the gravel and fill in ruts on portion of roads gravelled last fall in that part of township in which statute labour is commuted.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Madill and Hunter that Mr. Bradburn be empowered to have a culvert put in near Poulson's gate on con. 13.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Bradburn and Yelland, that an order be drawn for the sum of $3.75 in favour of Messrs. Dennistoun, Peck & Stevenson in payment of fees and account re suit Green vs. Monaghan.—Carried.

Moved by Messrs. Bradburn and Hunter that an order be drawn upon the township treasurer for the sum of $30 to defray part of the expenses of the representatives of this township to the deputation to Ottawa re Trent Canal.—Carried.

On motion the council adjourned until Friday, April 9th, to meet in the town hall at 2 o'clock p. m. sharp.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes manager Thomas Dewson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

THREE WRITS ISSUED.

Nominations on April 20th and Polling on the 27th—General News From the Capital.

Mr. Casey gives notice of a bill which is being promoted by the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, and is of interest to the bicycle fraternity throughout the Dominion. The bill is to compel railway companies to carry bicycles as personal baggage. Wheelmen regard it as a grievance that, while the ordinary traveler is entitled to the free transportation of 150 pouns of baggage and the commercial traveler to 300 pounds, the bicyclist is charged freight on his 25-pound wheel.

The writs for Winnipeg, Macdonald and West Prince, P.E. Island, were issued to-day. Nomination takes place on April 20 and polling on the 27th in each case.

Mr. C. J. Smith, special agent of the United States Treasury, has had an interview with the Minister of Trade and Commerce, the Controller of Customs and the Solicitor-General on behalf of Hon. Lyman Gage, Secretary of the Treasury at Washington. The result of the interview is that important international arrangements have been made so as to protect the revenue at the boundary line on behalf of both Governments. At the present time there are a large number of stores, partly in Canada and partly in the United States, carrying heavy stocks, and the duty is said to be evaded in many cases, smuggling being carried on to a large extent. In future joint action will be taken by both Governments to prosecute offenders. The Canadian officers will assist American ocers and vice versa.

Mgr. Mery Del Val, papal ablegate, put in a busy day to-day. In the morning Mr. Tarte called upon him, and spent some time in close converzation with the papal representative. Subsequently, Mgr. Mery Del Val visited Gloucester-street Convent, where he received a hearty welcome from the pupils.

The faculty, professors and students of Ottawa University gave Mgr. Del Val an enthusiastic reception this afternoon. Convocation Hall was crowded, among those present being Archbishop Duhamel, Archbishop Langevin, Canon Deguire, Canon Michel, Father Beausoleil, Father Forget and Father Lecompte. The theological students from the university scholasticate and juniorate were also present. The faculty wore their academic robes.

When the delegate was seated he was presented with an address in Latin from the faculty. It was read by Rev. Father Lacoste, who was a fellow student of Mgr. Del Val in Rome, and who is regarded as one of the ablest theologians in Canada. An address was then read in English by Mr. E. Gleason and one in French by Mr. Leo Payment, both on behalf of the students; and also one in Latin by Rev. Father Bazinet on behalf of the theological students.

Mgr. Del Val replied briefly in English, French and Latin, exhorting the students to be loyal to the Church, and when going out in the world to put to effective use the knowledge they were acquiring in the university.

Many of the clergy and others were introduced to His Excellency, and he afterwards left, being accompanied to his carriage in waiting by Archbishop Duhamel and the priests of the university.

Mr. George A. Donet, secretary of the Jamaica Agricultural Society, writes the Trade and Commerce Department regarding an opening for the shipment of Canadian live cattle. It appears that cattle from the United States and South America are prohibited from entry, and, probably learning of the excellent quality of the Canadian herds, he suggests that arrangements be made for sending them via Halifax, as their sale would be managed on very profitable terms. Particulars might be sent as to our herds and prices.

The superannuations in the civil service during year ending Dec. 31 involved an addition to the annual burdens of the country of $23,319. Altogether 40 civil servants were shelved.

The Speaker of the Senate and Mme. Pelletier gave a dinner party to-night, to which the following guests were invited: Hon. W. and Mme. Laurier, Sir Oliver Mowat and Miss Mowat, Hon. R. W. and Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Fletcher, Hon. S. A. Fisher, Hon. J. D. and Mrs. Edgar, the Misses Edgar, Miss Van Horne, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Neilson, J. P. B. and Mrs. Casgrain, W. C. and Mme. St. Pierre, Senators Allan, Masson, Gowan, Power and Snowball.

The quarterly report of the Canadian Commercial Agent in British Guiana states that although trade on the whole has been very much depressed there on account of the low prices for staple products, the business of Canada has been well up to the mark and Canadian goods have realized good prices on the whole.

THE DOMINION HOUSE

A Very Brief Session for the Commoners Yesterday.

THE OPPOSITION OBSTRUCTED

And the Premier Moved to Adjourn the House—Bill to Keep the Rate of Interest Down to Six Per Cent. Introduced and Read a First Time.

Ottawa, April 6.—(Special.)—The Liberals are ready to admit that honors were easy in the House this afternoon. Mr. Quinn, introducing a bill entitled, "An act further to amend the act respecting interest," explained that it was to provide that whatever the rate of interest agreed upon, no higher rate than 6 per cent. shall be recoverable. At present, he said, the law allowed the recovery of any rate, no matter how exorbitant, which might be agreed upon. Only a few days ago in Montreal interest was collected in court at a rate of about 3000 per cent. per annum. The borrower gave a note for $150 on the agreement to pay $50 a week after maturity. The amount was sued for and the enormous sum of $5000 recovered by judgment. If the bill became law and a lender of $100 wanted to charge say 25 per cent. he would have to deduct it from the face of the note, making the latter $75, and then, after maturity, if the note were not paid, he would have to sue for 6 per cent. on his $100.

Hon. Mr. Laurier asked if it were proposed to restrict collections to 6 per cent?

Mr. Quinn: "Yes, after maturity."

Mr. McMullen rather disfavored the passage of a usury law in Canada. He said they had them in several of the States, and they were disgracefully disregarded. The motion then carried and the bill was read a first time.

And now began the "scrap" of the session. Like most others, it arose in quite a simple manner. It was Government day, and Government orders being reached, the Postmaster-General moved the second reading of his bill to abolish the Civil Service Superannuation Act.

The rules of the House provide that before a bill can be proceeded with to its second reading, it shall be printed in both languages, and Mr. LaRiviere accordingly arose and objected that this bill, as well as the franchise bill, following it, was not printed in French.

Mr. Speaker thereupon ruled that the objection was well taken, and he would, therefore, have to declare the motion for a second reading out of order.

The Premier remonstrated, urging the member for Provencher not to persist in his objection. Mr. LaRiviere, not replying, the Premier, observed that the Opposition were of course technically within their rights if they wanted thus to be obstructive. "I did not raise this objection on behalf of the Opposition," replied Mr. LaRiviere, "but as a private member, standing on his rights and prerogative as such."

Mr. Foster took a hand in. He turned up the record of 1894, when the last revision of the tariff took place, and showed that the estimates had been laid on the table the very day after the address was disposed of, and the new tariff eight days after. The Government was, therefore, to blame for the backwardness of public business.

The Premier replied that but for the illness of Dr. Borden, Minister of Militia, the estimates would have been down already. He had returned as far as Boston, but was too ill to travel farther. However, the estimates would be down to-day or to-morrow."

Mr. McMullen got back at the ex-Finance Minister by reading the record of budgets and estimates since 1889, giving the period on which they were brought down each session.

Mr. LaRiviere, persisting in his objection, Mr. Laurier arose and somewhat sharply said, "Then, Mr. Speaker, I move the adjournment of the House."

It was then 3.30, the House having been barely 15 minutes in session.

Mr. Taylor suggested that, instead of adjourning, the House proceed with the discussion of his alien labor bill, one of the first on the list printed in both languages.

Hon. Mr. Laurier replied that if the honorable member had shown the same zeal for that bill while his friends were in power there might be some cogency in his present suggestion. He had promised Mr. Taylor last session to help him through with his bill this year, but as there were several bills on the order paper of the same tenor the House had better be in possession of them all before proceeding to pass an alien labor law. Moreover, this was "Government Day," and the Government was being prevented from going on by a mere technical objection of the Opposition.

Sir Charles Tupper observed that Mr. Laurier had been so long in Opposition he seemed to forget now that he was leading the Government. His proposal to adjourn at this hour was an unprecedented act, and the House should know the reason for it. He had himself joined in urging Mr. Taylor last session to postpone his bill, in the hope that Mr. Laurier might in the meantime, through diplomatic intercourse with Washington, render such a law unnecessary. He concluded by asking the Premier to withdraw his motion and go on with the business of the House.

Mr. Davies followed. He got as far as to say that this was a deliberate attempt of Mr. LaRiviere and his leader, when Mr. Foster arose to a point of order. He wanted to know if the Minister of Marine could accuse honorable members of a deliberate attempt to obstruct.

The honorable gentleman was too fast, retorted the Minister, he had not allowed him to finish his sentence. "I didn't say anything about obstruction, and I wasn't going to. I was going to say, a deliberate attempt to prevent the Government going on with the business it had in hand."

This nice distinction convulsed the House, the Opposition joining merrily in the appreciative applause that followed Mr. Davies' remark.

Mr. Devin gave the leader of the House the choice of either horn of the dilemma on which he had impaled himself. Either Mr. Laurier was of opinion that the rule requiring bills to be printed in French was useless and ought to be rescinded, or else he had moved the adjournment in a fit of irritation.

Mr. Foster said that he desired in the interests of the country to enter a strong protest against the action of the Government. The position assumed by the Premier was a most lamentable one for any Premier to be in. It was a position not creditable to the dignity of the House. He proceeded to read the rule of the House, which requires that before a bill can be considered it must be printed both in English and French, and he mentioned that during the time the late Government was in power the Opposition repeatedly invoked the rule, as Mr. LaRiviere had done to-day. Now, it appeared that Mr. Laurier, when he found that his desires could not be carried out, wanted the rule broken. Then, when the House rightly objected, he became angry and in effect declared, "Well, we won't do any business." Mr. Foster said Her Majesty's loyal Opposition were anxious to do business. The faces of the gentlemen around him were instinct with activity. (Cheers and laughter.) Adverting to Mr. Davies' remarks he said that gentleman had evidently cleared the hedge before he got to it. He seemed to imply that the delay in the translation was due to an officer appointed by the Conservative Government. The truth was, however, that the translator was Mr. Courcelles, an appointee of Mr. Mackenzie. (Opposition cheers.) There was an abandonment of truth about the honorable gentleman's statements which should not have been exhibited.

Mr. Speaker said he thought the honorable gentleman ought not to use such language.

Mr. Foster: I was picturing an honorable gentleman who was taking a leap in the air. I will take it back most certainly; it was not a disregard of the truth, it was a letting go of an unusually vivid imagination. (Opposition laughter.) He thought the Government had acted in a very foolish way.

After some observations from Mr. Casey, Mr. Taylor challenged the accuracy of Mr. Laurier's statement, in which he seemed to imply that he (Mr. Taylor) had not been in earnest in pressing his alien labor bill.

The motion for adjournment carried, and the House adjourned at 4.20 p.m.

CHICAGO GOES DEMOCRATIC.

Carter H. Harrison, son of the Assassinated Mayor, Carried the Mayoralty by a Great Sweep.

Chicago, April 6.—The Mayoralty election resulted in a decisive victory for the Democratic party, its candidate, Carter Harrison, having more votes than all the other candidates together.

The candidates for Mayor were: Carter Harrison, son of Chicago's famous Mayor, the Democratic nominee; Nathan L. Sears, regular Republican nominee; Washington Hesing, business administration of municipal affairs ticket; John Maynard Harlan, on citizens' ticket.

At midnight the available figures gave Sears (Rep.) 60,000, Harrison (Dem.) 148,000, Harlan (Ind.) 72,000, Hesing (Ind.) 18,000.

The Democrats made a clean sweep of all the town offices in the West Town and North Town, and probably in the South Town also.

Of the 34 aldermen, the returns point to the election of 26 Democrats, 4 Republicans and 4 Independents.

BABY'S EYES BURNED OUT.

Little Russell Freer With a Red-Hot Poker Blinded His Infant Brother, and the Latter May Die.

Chicago, April 6.—Edwin Freer, the 10 months old child of Richard Freer, had both its eyes burned out last night by a 2 1-2 year-old brother named Russell. The children were playing together in the basement. Russell procured a poker, and holding it in the stove until it was red hot poked it into the infant's eyes. The baby cried aloud in pain. The mother, hearing the cries of the infant, ran into the basement, where she found Russell standing over the baby with the red hot poker in his hands laughing. On the floor lay the infant with both eyes burned out. The little one will probably die from the injuries.

Another Effort to Settle.

Constantinople, April 6.—It is reported here that the British Minister at Athens, H. H. Egerton, has been instructed by his Government to make overtures to Greece on behalf of the powers, with a view of enabling the latter to honorably withdraw from her present position and put an end to the existing deadlock. If Greece should reject the proposition made to her, it is believed the foreign warships will at once establish a blockade of the Piraeus.

A protracted Cabinet conference was had at the Yildis Palace last evening, at which it was decided to send 40 additional battalions of redifs (reserves) to the Greek frontier.

King Christian as Arbitrator.

Paris, April 6.—A rumor is in circulation here that the King of Denmark at the instance of the Czar has been asked to arbitrate the Cretan question.

Value of the Garden.

A garden, properly conducted, will furnish everything to sell every day in the year, and one need never go to town without taking something to barter for his groceries.

A MAJORITY OF 30.

The Engledue Mining Agreement Endorsed

BY THE ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

There Was a Lively Debate Over It—Mr. Gibson's Clear and Satisfactory Explanation—The Patron Leader Went With the Government—Vote Taken at 1 a.m.

Toronto, April 6.—Almost the entire day was occupied by the Legislature yesterday in discussing the Engledue mining agreement.

Mr. Whitney moved an amendment condemning the transaction, and Mr. Pattullo followed with another strongly approving it as a means of introducing British capital.

Mr. Haycock, the Patron leader, to the surprise of many, supported the Government.

THIRD READINGS.

Mr. German moved the third reading of a bill respecting the Town of Thorold, authorizing the bonusing of industries.

Mr. Howland moved in amendment that the bill be referred back to the committee for the insertion of an amendment to the effect that no bonus bylaw should be valid until ratified by a vote of three-fourths in number of the electors qualified to vote on money bylaws, representing a majority of the assessment.

Mr. Howland's amendment was withdrawn, and the bill read a third time.

The following bills were also read a third time and passed:

Respecting the marriage settlement of Robert George Dickson and Mary Catherine Dickson—Mr. St. John.

To incorporate the Fort Francis & Pacific Railway Company—Mr. Farwell.

To confirm bylaw No. 341 of the Village of New Hamburg—Mr. Moore.

Respecting the Village of Kemptville—Mr. Bush.

Respecting cheese and butter manufacturing associations—Mr. Taylor.

THE ENGLEDUE MINING DEAL.

Hon. J. M. Gibson moved that this House doth ratify and approve of a certain agreement and license of occupation granted to Col. W. T. Engledue of Byfleet, Surrey, England, and others, of certain locations in the Rainy River District, bearing the date of the 17th day of February last.

In speaking to the motion, he said that all the papers and correspondence had been submitted to the House. The question had been made a political issue, otherwise he would not have spoken upon it at any length. The negotiations which led up to the arrangement were commenced in July last and concluded in October. The object was to introduce English capital into Ontario, and in this respect it had been successful. There was no foundation for the idea that there had been anything like jobbery or favoritism to parties in Ontario, as could easily be seen by anybody who took the trouble to read the correspondence. It was entirely with the view to encourage the introduction of British capital into the Rainy River District that the agreement concluded with Col. Engledue was even considered. The first time at which Mr. Kerr had anything to do with the negotiations was when he was casually met with by the gentlemen concerned in England. He was not connected in any way with the matter until after the negotiations had been entered into. Col. Engledue was known as a man of high honor and integrity, of considerable means and great influence with mining capitalists. At his request, the negotiations were carried on in August and September, and the agreement was finally closed in October. The arrangement having a special object in view was not intended as a precedent. The blanketing system was one which the Government had set their faces against. Other things being equal, the Government gave the preference to the discoverer, and the man who intended to develop. The method proposed to be adopted by the syndicate was to expend large amounts in thorough exploration, such as had not as yet been set on foot in the Lake of the Woods and Rainy River Districts. They proposed to run lines north and south and clear tracts, making a thorough search for veins. Large numbers of men would be engaged in the work, in charge of leading mining engineers. Such tests, followed by development, would enable them to judge of the value of the country. The extent of these locations had been over-stated. The two locations together amounted to 46,000 acres, equal to a tract of land seven miles one way and between six and seven the other. This was just about half the size of King Township. Many of the townships on the north shore of Lake Huron were twice the size of these locations put together, so that the outcry of the Opposition press about locking up large areas of the public domain was totally unfounded. They required in ordinary cases that $4 per acre should be spent in development in the course of seven years. The Engledue agreement required that $3 per acre should be expended in three years. After all the exploration and development had taken place, the land would still have to be purchased or leased from the Government. There were ample precedents for their course in the action of the Imperial Government, which had often granted large areas to chartered companies for development in South Africa, Borneo, etc., resulting in the building up of great monopolies. Had similar powers been given to the Engledue syndicate there might have been some reason to the objections raised. In Michigan, Virginia, Nova Scotia, New Zealand, etc., lands had been set apart for exclusive development. All over the world precedents would be found for the course they had taken. The members of the Engledue syndicate refused to come to this Province unless they could work under like privileges to those they had in South Africa. Gold mining in this Province was still in the experimental stage. So far only some two million acres of mineral lands had been prospected out of a total area of 35,000,000. Surely there was room in the remaining area for the enterprise of those who wished to engage in prospecting. He gave many further details to show that there were still ample opportunities for all to secure locations in the Rainy River and Lake of the Woods districts. In answer to Mr. Cosmos he stated that the arrangement with the syndicate bore date Feb. 17, and that the interests of all those who had applied for locations within the area set apart before that time would be duly respected. The opinions of Dr. Edmundson, Mr. Hammond and Capt. W. S. Dench, three practical explorers in that part of the country, were quoted, all of them being strongly in favor of the grant. The effect of the agreement was that the Engledue syndicate had become a centre of Canadian mining information in London, England, and as the direct result an impetus had been given to English investment. The Government had been berated by the Opposition for doing nothing for mining. The opportunity of enlisting the co-operation of British capital came. They had seized it. [Applause.] They would have been unworthy the confidence of the people had they not done so. [Renewed applause.] The great need for the development of the northern section of Ontario was capital

Boils

It is often difficult to convince people their blood is impure, until dreadful carbuncles, abscesses, boils, scrofula or salt rheum, are painful proof of the fact. It is wisdom now, or whenever there is any indication of blood, to take Hood's Sarsaparilla, and prevent such eruptions and suffering.

"I had a dreadful carbuncle abscess, red, fiery, fierce and sore. The doctor attended me over seven weeks. When the abscess broke, the pains were terrible, and I thought I should not live through it. I heard and read so much about Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I decided to take it, and my husband, who was suffering with boils, took it also. It soon purified our built me up and restored my health so that, although the doctor said I would not be able to work hard, I have since done the work for 20 people. Hood's Sarsaparilla cured my husband of the boils, and we regard it a wonderful medicine." MRS. ANNA PETERSON, Latimer, Kansas.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1897.

CHAMPLAIN BYE-ELECTION TO-DAY.

Polling in the bye-election in Champlain, Que., took place to-day, but the polls did not close till after THE EXAMINER went to press. Considerable interest is centred in this contest. The vacancy was created by Dr. Marcotte, elected last year, resigning his seat rather than face the election court, which would reveal the questionable methods by which his election was won. The riding has been a Conservative preserve for thirty years. Only once before the present contest since Confederation has a straight Liberal candidate had the courage to face almost inevitable defeat in this truly Bleu constituency. The prospects of the return of the Liberal candidate, Dr. Tradel, are encouraging, and if he is returned his election will be a notable Liberal triumph.

THE area of human rights is becoming very much circumscribed. A man has no right to put his feet on the seats of a railway coach. This was the decision of the Divisional Court in Toronto on Monday. An Ottawa man got $500 damages for being ejected from an electric car because he refused to take his feet from a seat. The case was carried by appeal to the Divisional Court, Toronto, and the court decided that a man's feet on the seat of a car were out of place, and that he forfeits his right to ride if he persists in using car seats as a door mat. Now give us a decision about the "railway hog" that occupies two seats of a coach and allows ladies to stand.

THE GOOD ROADS CRUSADE.

Good roads and comfortable cycling are very closely related, and the bicycle boom if it has, according to some, its disadvantages, has the merit of giving an impetus to the movement for good roads, that will be of universal public benefit. For if the country roads are so constructed as to meet the purposes of the farmers in every sense they will suit the bicyclist and vice versa. At a meeting of the Wheelmen's Association in Toronto on Monday night several pointed speeches were made, among them was one given by Mr. Andrew Pattullo, M. P.P. for South Oxford, and chairman of the Roads Improvement Committee of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, who said that we had hardly emerged from barbarism in making our highways. In Great Britain and France the roads were as smooth in some places as marble, and Italy had roads that would put Canada to shame. Why was it we had poor roads? We had good weather in summer for roadmaking, and while the mileage of roads was larger than in the old country, still this could be got over. The radical defect in the system of roadmaking was that those who had the construction of roads under their care utterly failed to apply intelligence to roadmaking. People were put to make roads who did not understand roadmaking. While some of the pathmasters knew their business, others did not, and, in the opinion of Mr. Pattullo, an intelligent farmer who would put his mind to the making of roads would do better very often than an engineer. Mr. Pattullo thought that there should be a more careful selection of pathmasters. He admitted that considerable progress had been made in the agitation for good roads in recent years, and paid a warm compliment to the press. He said that he could testify to the good work done by the press in the cause of good roads, and this irrespective of the politics of the papers. Papers who had differed from him in politics had come forward to assist Mr. A. W. Campbell, the Provincial Road Instructor, in improving the condition of the roads. While, in their first efforts to obtain good roads, they had met with apathy and hostility, there had been a great change in public opinion in the past year or so. Many municipalities, said Mr. Pattullo, had changed their methods as a result of Mr. Campbell's work. A great deal of interest was now taken in the country on the subject of good roads, they had been endeavouring to educate and interest the people, and with this better understanding would come better legislation. Mr. Pattullo also addressed a word to wheelmen. He did not believe that farmers should make roads for wheelmen and he would not advise them to do so. But the farmers and the wheelmen were bound up together. The wheelmen should cultivate an interest in the farmers, and when they got the farmers to make roads for themselves those roads would be good enough for wheelmen.

SHATTERED NERVES.

THE MOST PREVALENT TROUBLE OF THE CENTURY.

It Attacks People of Both Sexes and all Ages—A Complete Breakdown Follows Unless Prompt Measures for Relief are Taken.

From the Newmarket Era.

Probably the most prevalent trouble on this continent to-day is nervous prostration. How frequently we hear this term and yet how few appear to realize its full deadly import. Nervous prostration is to be found among people of all walks in life, and among children as well as adults. Among young children it is often the result of our high pressure system of education. Among those of mature years it may be due to the cares of business, or to overwork or worries in the home. But whatever the cause, the inevitable result is a breaking down both mentally and physically unless prompt measures are taken to stay the ravages of the disease and restore the shattered nerve forces to their normal condition. One such sufferer who has regained health gives her experience for the benefit of those less fortunate. Miss Edith Draper, who resides with her parents at Belhaven, Ont., is a young girl who is very popular among her circle of acquaintances, and they will rejoice at her restoration to health. To a reporter who called upon her she gave the following particulars concerning her illness and cure.

"You know, said the young lady, "how ill I was last winter when my friends feared that I was going into a decline. In the early part of the winter both father and mother were attacked with la grippe, and I had to look after them as well as attend to the household work. The strain was more than I could stand, and the result was I fell ill. The doctor who was called in said my trouble was nervous prostration and that it would take considerable time for me to recover. Under his care I was after a short while able to leave my room and go about the house, but my nerves did not seem to regain their strength. My limbs would twitch as though I had St. Vitus' dance, I was subject to headaches, had a very poor appetite and was so weak that I could scarcely go about. I had been advised to try Pink Pills and one day spoke to the doctor about them, and he said he believed they would do me good. I got three boxes, and by the time I had used them I felt they were helping me and I got a further supply. By the time I had taken six boxes I was feeling stronger and better than I had for years. All the twitchings in my limbs had disappeared and my nerves seemed as strong as ever they had been. I still took the pills for a little while longer to make certain that the cure was complete, and since the day that I discontinued them I have not felt the slighest return of the trouble. I feel that my present excellent health is due to Dr. William's Pink Pills, and I am glad to be able to recommend them to anyone whose nerves are in a shattered condition.

Dr. William's Pink Pills are a tonic medicine. By their use the blood is renewed, and the nerves made strong and vigorous, and in this way disease is driven from the system. As a spring medicine Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed. If feeling languid or "out-of-sorts" a box or two will restore you to vigorous activity. Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and take nothing else.

Men are dropping from the ranks everywhere. Cut down in the flower of youth or the fruitage of manhood by that ruthless destroyer—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

Only a few days ago Sir Hercules Robinson, the doughty Governor of Cape Colony, was forced to resign that post because of encroaching Bright's Disease.

Hardly had his successor been appointed when the wires brought tidings of the death of William P. St. John, a New York banker, and remembered by everyone as the treasurer of the National Democratic party during the last national campaign. Bright's Disease carried him off:

It has killed many better men than most of us. So has Diabetes, its twin curse. Yet there is one cure (and only one), that never fails in cases of Diabetes and Bright's Disease. Let these testimonials bear witness:—

MR. FRED. CARSTENS, Palmerston, Ont., says:—"After many years suffering with Bright's Disease, I am a new man, cured by using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

MR. F. X. GROULX, Ottawa, Ont., says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a godsend to me as they have cured me of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys."

S. G. MOORE, King St., London, Ont., says: "After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am as well as ever in my life, after despairing of recovery from Bright's Disease."

MR. CHAS. T. BYE, Garryowen P. O., Ont., says: "For the past three years have suffered of Diabetes, but noticing cures published I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have perfectly cured me."

A MAJORITY OF 80.

and the progress of that section would benefit the whole of the Province.

Mr. Whitney said that in opposing the grant to the syndicate he had done what the Province expected of him, and his course was endorsed by the public. There was practical unanimity throughout the country on the subject. They had been charged with making political capital out of the question. Even if they did that there was no reason why they should not take the right course. The public should have been taken into the confidence of the Government at an earlier date instead of the people being so long kept in the dark. The policy of the Crown lands Department had been directly against Col. Engledue until Mr. J. K. Kerr appeared upon the scene, but just so soon as he did appear that policy was changed in Col. Engledue's favor. The Commissioner of Crown Lands said this concession was not to be considered as a precedent for dealing with others. But if it was so good a thing for the country why should it not be a precedent, and why should not others be equally well treated as this wormout and effete syndicate from South Africa? He read an application dated March 18 on behalf of a Canadian joint stock company asking for the same terms as had been given to Col. Engledue, which had been refused.

Hon. J. M. Gibson said the application had not been refused, as it had not yet been considered.

Mr. Whitney withdrew his statement. He went on to say that the precedents quoted by the Commissioner in support of his action, such as South Africa, etc., showed the straits in which he found himself. Great Britain granting land in South Africa which did not belong to her was a very different thing to our granting land in our own country.

The House rose at 6 o'clock.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. Whitney resumed his speech, reading extracts from several newspapers published in the mining districts condemnatory of the grant to the syndicate. A statement in The Rat Portage Miner was denied by the Attorney-General as a slander and falsehood, and Mr. Whitney was obliged to admit the incorrectness of some of its observations. The Globe, he went on to say, had attempted to belittle the importance of the grant. He read a letter which he said was from a gentleman well acquainted with the district to show the wealth of the tract and the number of prospectors anxious to operate upon it. The Engledue syndicate did not go into the matter ignorantly, but with the full knowledge that the best mineral lands were included in the concession. He proceeded to analyse the correspondence leading up to the agreement, contending that at first the Government were evidently reluctant to tie up so large an area of land, bu subsequently yielded and effected an arrangement which was an injustice to every poor miner in the Province. The new mining law apparently shut out the possibility of any similar concession in the future. If that was to be the policy of the Government it was an admission that they had done wrong in establishing a monopoly.

MR. WHITNEY'S AMENDMENT.

He moved in amendment: "That it is not in the interests of the mining industry nor in the public interest that large tracts of lan dshould be locked up for long periods in the hands of individuals or syndicates."

Mr. Pattullo dwelt on the necessity of doing something to atttract the attention of the outside world to the Ontario mining region. There was a danger that the population of our own Province would be drawn away to British Columbia. The Government were called upon continually to take decided action—English capitalists had no difficulty in getting enormous concessions from Governments in Venezuela, Argentine Republic and even the United States. The American mines had largely been developed by British capital. He denied that the Government had kept the matter secret. On the contrary they had taken an early opportunity to make everything public. The correspondence showed that at every stage the Government had safeguarded the interests of the province. The reading of letters from persons whose names were not given by Mr. Whitney indicated that he had a poor cause. The only practical question at issue was as to the size of the grant. That matter must be judged by local conditions. As the gold mining belt extended over a thousand miles, the concession was simply a drop in the bucket. The prospector over whose woes so much sympathy had been expended, was usually an Indian whose information was sold to some white man for a few dollars. He would have more faith in the professions of the Opposition if they had not as Conservatives endorsed all the concessions made to the C. P. R. and to colonization companies in the Northwest. If they had had possession of the territory of New Ontario there would not be a stick of timber or a mine in it that would not have been given away long ago. In the past this country had been the graveyard of British capital and the advertising Canada received from the scheme would counteract the bad impression English investors had received of this country. He was induced to doubt the earnestness and sincerity of the Opposition and believed that if the Government had lost its opportunity of completing this transaction they would have been strongly condemned by those who now censured them for closing it. He moved an amendment to the amendment,

MR. PATULLO'S AMENDMENT.

"That there be added to the original motion the following words. And while approving of the said agreement this House is of the opinion that in view of the vast extent of Crown lands in this province, which are wholly or in part unexplored and whose value notwithstanding that large tracts lie within the boundaries of the mineral-bearing formations is almost altogether unknown, and having regard to the desirability and skill in bringing to light and developing the latent mineral wealth of the province and the substantial benefits which the discovery of new gold fields and the speedy establishment of a permanent gold mining industry would confer upon the agricultural manufacturing and commercial interests of the province, the arrangement entered into between the Government and Col. Engledue and his associates is one which while furnishing adequate safeguards for the public interests will bring about the thorough exploration of a considerable area of Crowns lands at no expense to the public and lead to important and beneficial results to the mining industry and the province at large."

Mr. Preston followed in opposition to the agreement, which he said could not be a good one or it would not have required so much to be said in its justifications. He went on to speak at some length concerning the grievances of Mr. Caldwell in connection with the Sultana mine in the Rainy River district, contrasting the treatment he received from the Government with that accorded to Col. Engledue. The deal was unfair and unjust to Canadians.

PATRON LEADER SUPPORTS

Mr. Haycock said the question was not so much as to the practice in South Africa, Australia or elsewhere as whether the contract with Col. Engledue was in the interests of the people of this province. He reviewed the terms of the agreement and approved of its main features, but suggested that in future agreements of this kind the Government should only give every alternate mile. With this provision he thought opportunities should be given to any person or syndicate to secure land on the same terms. He only wished 500 Col. Engledues would come alongs and make such terms with the Government. He was prepared to support the Government's action.

Mr. McPherson supported the agreement as calculated to introduce not only capital, but population into the province and by building up mining industries to afford a home market for agricultural products. Even if not rich mines were discovered it would be no loss to the country.

Mr. Beatty of Parry Sound spoke at length in opposition to the agreement, urging that those who had received the concession were much more familiar with Algoma than the mines of South Africa.

Mr. St. John asserted that the agreement smacked of political favoritism and was vicious in its terms. It was one of the greatest frauds ever perpetrated by a responsible Government and was intended to provide funds for political purposes. He did not wish to charge the Government with personal wrong-doing.

The Attorney-General: "Oh, go right ahead, it won't make any difference; you're too well known."

Mr. Whitney asked if the Attorney-General's remark was in order.

The Attorney-General said it was perfectly in order when a speaker went on for half an hour making untrue statements on matters of which he had no personal knowledge to say that such statements would have no effect because he was too well known.

Mr. St. John resumed his criticism of the Syndicate, contending that they had no capital and that they were merely speculators and had put very little money into the deal.

The debate was continued until 1 a.m., when a vote was taken and the bill was passed by 56 to 26.

ITALIAN PARLIAMENT OPENED.

King Humbert and Queen Margherita Were There at the Opening.

Rome, April 5.—The new Italian Parliament was formally opened this morning by the King in person. Queen Margherita was also present, and four hundred deputies and one hundred Senators were in attendance, but the Republican and Socialist deputies were absent. The speech from the throne announced the institution of a number of social and political reforms, and stated that the Government was in full accord with all of the other European powers in a determination to maintain the peace of Europe. The political program, as outlined by the speech, was received very coldly, but the reference to the efficiency of the army and navy was loudly applauded. The King and Queen were cheered by the Senators and deputies, but the populace viewed the royal procession to and from the Chambers with indifference.

THE PRIEST HONORED HIMSELF.

Filthy Lucre Could Not Tempt Him From a Morally Honest Course.

London, April 5.—The Westminster Gazette says that Father Smullen, the Roman Catholic priest, the friend and legatee of Isabel Murphy of California, who died from alcoholism on March 24, has refused to accept the fortune of £60,000 left to him by Miss Murphy's last will and has requested that a former will dividing the money among Mis Murphy's relatives be acted upon. Miss Murphy was a daughter of the late Daniel Murphy of San Francisco and a sister of Lady Wolseley and of the wife of Don Florencio L. Dominguez, First Secretary of the Argentine Legation in London. She lived in the same house with Father Smullen, who seemed to be her only friend.

THE PINK TEA

Under the Auspices of the Baptist Young People Proves a Great Success.

The Pink Tea which was held in the basement of the Murray street Baptist church last evening was attended with great success. The Sunday school room was prettily decorated in pink for the occasion, as were the library and small class room, where the tea was served by pretty little waitresses attired in white dotted swiss and wearing pink caps.

Amongst those contributing to the excellent programme were Miss Mark and Miss Aldridge, who gave readings; Mrs. Dr. Scott, Mrs. Dr. Hunter and Miss Grace Stanley, who rendered vocal selections, and Miss Pascoe and little Aggie Patterson, who recited.

The chair was occupied by Rev. A. T. Dykeman, the pastor, and the evening proved a most enjoyable one. The funds will be used to assist in defraying the expenses of furnishing a room in the Y. W. C. A. Home.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Another Large Congregation Assembled in the George Street Church.

Evangelist A. H. Ranton addressed another large audience in the George street Methodist church last night. Miss L. Pascoe's voice was heard to advantage in the solo, "She only touched the hem of of His garment."

Mr. Ranton's subject was, "A Point Blank Question." He took for his text the 15th verse of the 10th chapter of II Kings: And when he was departed thence, he lighted on Jehonadab, the son of Rechab, coming to meet him; and he saluted him and said to him, Is thy heart right, as my heart is with thine heart? and Jehonadab answered, It is. If it be give me thine hand. And he gave him his hand; and he took him up with him into the chariot.

Mr. Ranton dwelt on the clause, "Is thine heart right?" He pointed out the many different things which indicated that the heart was not right with God.

Pride is a terrible evil, and we are told that pride goeth before destruction. A person with an unforgiving heart is not right with God. For some person it is very hard to forgive an injury which has been done them. They will keep the grudge against the offender for a long time. A hard procrastinating heart is not right with God. The kind of heart which everyone should possess is a believing and loving one.

To-night Mr. Ranton will speak on "Judas Iscariot and his modern imitators."

Surprised his Doctor.

"A little over a year ago I was laid up with bronchitis," says Stanley C. Bright, clerk, of Kingston. "My doctor's bill came to $42, and altogether my illness cost me $125. This fall I had another attack. I came across an advertisement in a newspaper for Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for throat troubles. I thought I would risk a quarter and try it. It cured me. After this I intend to treat my own ills."

R. Watkin Mills.

The Toronto Saturday Night, of the 3rd inst. has the following to say regarding the renowned artist who appears in Peterborough on 21st April: "Equally popular with the audience and as reliable and genuine in all his work, as he has ever proven himself in Toronto, was Mr. Mills. This splendid artist sang as he always sings, with a heartiness which at once commanded attention. His interpretations are models of ease and grace in singing, and it is never necessary to apologize for any vocal indisposition on his part. Needless to say his sterling work aroused the greatest enthusiasm, and he was repeatedly recalled and compelled to respond with encore numbers." The plan will be opened after the guarantee list has been filled, subscribers having first choice of seats. Watch this paper for further particulars.

THE CANTATA "RUTH."

Successfully Presented to a Good Audience Last Night.

A fair-sized audience assembled in the school room of St. Andrew's church last night to listen and enjoy the presentation of the Cantata Ruth, by soli and a chorus under the baton of Mr. G. W. Mulligan.

Rev. J. G. Potter acted as chairman and after prayer, made a full explanation of the significance of the cantata, which was the beautiful and familiar scripture story of Boaz and Ruth set to music.

Before referring to how the chorus of about fifty acquitted themselves, it will be fair to explain that the majority of the members were new to musical life; many of them three months ago had no idea of trying to sing. They largely composed Mr. Mulligan's singing class and last night they acquitted themselves with credit and, with a few experienced an trained vocalists to steady them, at times developed very satisfactory effects. Mr. Mulligan has reason to be well pleased with the outcome of his efforts as instructor, trainer and conductor.

Some of the choruses were rather trying in their pitch, but the others were not so exacting.

The solo selections were taken by Miss Hendren, whose rich contralto was used to fine effect in the solos assigned to her in her character of Naomi. Mrs. H. Jones in her character of Ruth deserves special mention, and also Miss Clara Belleghem as Orpha. The trio in which Miss Annie Belleghem took part was creditably rendered, and altogether the production of the cantata was a pleasant one. Mr. Mulligan as Boaz sang his numbers with fine effect.

Though the audience was evidently well pleased, the sacred character of the production and surroundings—practically connected with a church—restrained, except on one occasion, the manifestation of approval by applause.

THOSE WHO CONTRIBUTED.

The following are the names of the soloists and the members of the chorus:—

SOLOISTS—Ruth, Mrs. Jones, soprano; Naomi, Miss Hendren, contralto; Orpha, Miss Clara Belleghem, soprano; Boaz, Mr. Mulligan, baritone.

Poisonous Plasters.

Plasters that contain the powerful poisons Aconite or Belladonna should be used only when your physician permits, as your system might be poisoned by absorbtion of the drugs. Doctors, now use plasters made with 'Quickcure' spread on canton flannel, linen or cotton, which give more prompt relief from pain an any other means; the effect is almost beyond belief.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

Never before were the prospects of the completion of the Trent Valley Canal, as shown by the visit of the deputation, so promising as at the present time. It now seems to be removed entirely from the arena of discussion, leaving the question of the time of construction the only problem to be confronted. The hearty and straightforward manner in which the Premier, Hon. Mr. Laurier, spoke to the deputation was an assurance that the Government had, after mature and deliberate consideration, adopted the completion of the Trent Valley Route as a part of their policy. A notable feature is the removal of the hostility of Toronto and vicinity to the enterprise and its prosecution. Hon. Wm. Mulock, Postmaster-General, the representative of North York, whose northern boundary forms about forty miles of the south shore line of Lake Simcoe, spoke strongly of the national benefits that would flow from the completion and operation of the canal. Hon. Geo. A. Cox, the leading spirit in financial circles, not only in Toronto but in the province, showed that he was an ardent believer in the canal, both by his remarks made during the interview of the deputation with the Government, and also in the delightful personal interest he manifested in promoting in every possible way the chances of the success of the delegation. When a public man of his responsible representative position, financial weight and practical grasp of economic questions unhesitatingly adopts and endorses such a work, proof is afforded that it is feasible and to the advantage of the country at large. The result of the deputation is eminently satisfactory to the members who visited Ottawa. The Government's adoption of the scheme and the fact that they are assured of the support on this question of members who do not agree with the Government on their general policy shows, that the political, or at least partisan, character of the enterprise is very largely eliminated, and that the question is to be dealt with on its merits—which merits are frankly recognised, and, in the instance mentioned, in quarters from which only hostility has heretofore been expected and received.

Dr. Andrea, Beaver Hall, Montreal, writes: "For burns and sores it is really far better than any remedy I know of; it is mild and safe to use, and it makes a splendid plaster. Where an Anodyne is required, and when Aconite or Belladonna might be dangerous, a 'Quickcure' plaster gives relief in fifteen minutes."

THE JOURNEY.

A special train left Peterborough at two o'clock on Monday afternoon taking down the first half of the deputation including thirty or forty ladies. The remainder of the delegates took the midnight train for the capital. Although accustomed to accommodating big crowds the size of the Trent Valley Canal deputation brought consternation to the hearts of the Ottawa bonifaces. The Russell House, Grand Union, Windsor and Brunswick were filled to overflowing, the proprietors claiming that the visitors comprised the largest deputation which had visited Ottawa within their memory.

In the evening through the kindness of Messrs. James Kendry and John Lang, the delegates were provided with tickets admitting them to the galleries of the House of Commons, where a short debate on the merits of the Crows Nest Pass was in progress.

In the morning the deputation assembled in the rotunda of the Russel House, where arrangements were made as to who should address the Minister and the order of speaking. At half past ten the delegates marched in a body from the hotel to the buildings, and by the time the advance guard reached the Buildings the last of the procession was just falling into line at the Russell House door.

The Minister was prepared to receive the delegates in the largest of the committee rooms but not over half of them could gain admission, so arrangements were hastily made for the reception to take place on the floor of the House of Commons, and in a very few minutes the chairs of the members were all occupied by the delegates, the galleries accommodating the overplus.

Hon. Mr. Mulock, Postmaster-General, joined the Minister of Railways and Canals, in receiving the deputation, and just as the speaking began the Premier entered amidst enthusiastic applause.

Mr. Blair, before inviting the deputation to declare itself, stated that Mr. Geo. McHugh, M.P., had first called his attention to the desire of the residents of the municipalities along the route of the canal to wait upon him as a deputation, but when he had expressed his wish to meet the delegates in April, he had no idea that it would assume such gigantic proportions.

Mr. McHugh stated that to him fell the privilege of introducing the representatives of the municipalities along the route of the great waterway. They came to the Capital to impress upon the Government the advantages which would accrue to the country through the completion of the work. All along the shores of the lakes and rivers connected with the canal were thriving towns and villages, which would all become great feeders to the system once it was perfected. To these municipalities the canal would be a great boom, greatly lessening the cost of transportation and being of other commercial advantage, but it was not merely for the local benefit derived that the deputation was anxious to have the work go ahead but for its national importance as well, for it would prove the natural outlet for the grain trade between the west and the seaboard.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox was received with loud applause. He stated that the canal had for many years engaged the attention of the district through which it was proposed to pass, and lately the work had begun to be recognized as one of national importance. He understood that the proposed system extended over two hundred miles of territory, through a chain of inland lakes and rivers. Considerable work on the canal had already been completed, and now the entire system could be opened up if the remaining twenty miles were placed under contract. An immense territory would thus be opened up through the ever-increasing products of the west seeking the markets of the east. Representatives were present from a dozen interested ridings to impress the Government that so important a scheme should not now be abandoned. The Government need have no fear but that the ridings interested would all give their support to the Ship of State in this matter. (Applause.)

Hon. Mr. Mulock—"I hope we may be able to provide a way of floating the Ship of State on the Trent Valley Canal waters."

Mr. John Carnegie stated that in rising to speak he felt that he represented both sides of the House. As Hon. Mr. Blair had had an opportunity of looking over the greater portion of the route during the past summer, he must have been impressed with the importance of the work, and the speaker was confident that he was heart and soul in accord with the deputation.

The scheme would naturally present itself to the Government in several aspects—"Of what local benefit would it be?" "What has the Dominion to do with a work of this character?" and "How many votes will it bring the Government in the future?"

The speaker referred to the Trent Valley "route," not "canal," as in its entire length of 200 miles only 60 would be constructed, the remainder being composed of natural waterways. Look at a map of the continent, said he, and you will at once perceive that the one great line from the wheat fields of the west to the sea is through just such a canal as it is proposed to construct. Long before the white man invaded the country the native Indians made this chain of lakes their highway from the east to the west. Nature has done so much for us that a waterway is now almost completed of over 180 miles from Healey's Falls to Barrie on Lake Simcoe. Cannot we have the other 18 miles to complete the system? Even if the canal was a big undertaking for a young country to take in hand, take it as it stands to-day and what should a government do under existing circumstances? Any doubts as to the wisdom of building the waterway should be now removed as so much had already been completed and so little remained to be done. We have 180 miles of navigation practically open and only two stretches of eight and ten miles, respectively, to be completed to open the whole system through to the seaboard. The harbour of Midland can be reached by the largest vessels and and the route to the seaboard is 100 miles shorter than by the Welland route. Is the government going to withhold its hand now or is it going to come to us and say we will complete the work and ask you for your votes to sustain us in our action?

"We have a population of over 300,000 residing within ten miles of the canal route, exceeding the population of Manitoba, British Columbia and the North-West Territories united, three times greater than Prince Edward Island, and larger than any of the Maritime provinces. We are a large deputation and we represent considerable people. No province can bring a more representative deputation. Only one post office in the whole of New Brunswick exceeds Peterborough in revenue, and the revenue derived from the many prosperous village post offices is proof of the business which is being done, in the face of the great handicap imposed through the monopoly enjoyed by the railroads in respect to freight. The manufacturers had therefore great difficulties to contend with. The freight on iron alone was $4.00 a ton to Peterborough. If the canal was completed the shipping of the country would be greatly built up and the inland lakes would swarm with small craft encouraging the growth of hundreds of villages and towns. (Applause).

MR. BENNETT, M.P.,

for East Simcoe, introduced the deputation from his riding, stating that if the government thought the scheme needed the endorsement of the people surely they had it in the large representation present. He promised the ministers his support in regard to the vote on the matter, and reserved further remarks until the estimates were brought down.

Warden Sneath, of Simcoe, dwelt upon the point that the county was largely interested in lumbering and agriculture. The fact that there was no competition in the matter of transportation was still acting as a hinderance to the development of those interests. He urged the completion of the work on the above stated grounds.

MAYOR SANDERSON, of Orillia, stated that his town was so far interested in the scheme as to send the whole council to join the deputation. Orillia suffered greatly from lack of competition in freight rates and looked to the government to complete the canal in order that the town might not be kept at this disadvantage. He quoted present rates, showing the freight on coal to Orillia to be $3 65 a ton. Other figures were given in which it was proven that the hardships to the merchants was very great under the existing circumstances, through having no competing line of transportation. The canal, he thought, would remedy this difficulty.

Mayor Horrell, of Midland, heartily endorsed the utterances of the previous speakers. The town which he represented, he stated, was looking forward to the day when through the efforts of the present government Midland would be the terminus of this great waterway.

MAYOR RADENHURST, of Barrie, impressed upon the Ministers the fact that the deputation represented a very large population which was unit on the question of urging upon the Government the completion of the canal. Their influence would be thrown to support the Government which completed the work.

Reeve Newton of Tay, stated that the municipality which he represented was suffering greatly through the monopoly in freight possessed by the Grand Trunk. He appealed to the Government to push forward the work in order to assist the lumbermen and agriculturists, who at present were greatly hampered through the reason stated.

Mr. George Thompson of Orillia representing North Ontario's lumber interests, pointed out how this industry would develop once cheap transportation was afforded them through the medium of the canal.

MR. S. HUGHES, M.P.,

of North Victoria, was well received when introducing that portion of the delegation which was supplied by his constituency. All present, he stated, knew his views on the matter, and as the time of the ministers was limited at this season of the year, he forebore making any remarks on the question further than pledging the Government his support in the event of a sum being placed in the estimates to complete the work. On that occasion he would be pleased to speak to the members of the House on the matter.

Dr. Wood, Warden of Victoria County, stated that the people of his county were very much alive to the question of the completion of the waterway. He claimed that the country was committed to the scheme inasmuch as in deference to the repeated petitionings of deputations which had been appealing to the Government since the thirties, a commission had been appointed to look into the feasibility of the scheme, and had reported upon it favourably. This being the case, he thought there was nothing left to be done but push on the work to completion.

MR. GEORGE M'HUGH, M.P.,

South Victoria, introduced representatives from his constituency, but reserved any further remarks until the estimates were brought down.

Mr. M. M. Boyd, of Bobcaygeon, spoke to some length on the benefits which the timber industry would reap through the early completion of the work. When so much was already under contract he did not see how the Government could nullify the work already done by not completing

WILL THE CASE OF GRAY VS. WEIR BE RE-OPENED?

An Application for a New Trial Made To-Day at Osgoode Hall.

Application is being made in the Divisional Court, Osgoode Hall, Toronto, by Mr. D. O'Connell, solicitor for the plaintiffs, for a new trial in the case of Thomas and Hessie Gray against John Graham Weir, for $1,000 damages each for slander.

The application is being made on the ground of mis-direction and non-direction in the charge of the judge to the jury, improper admittance and improper rejection of evidence, and the discovery of entirely new evidence.

This case, it will be remembered, was tried at the spring assizes before Chief Justice Meredith, and the jury was not unanimous, two favouring a verdict for the plaintiffs and ten against. As the case aroused almost as much interest as when the Grays were on trial for their lives, charged with murder, the result of the application is awaited with considerable interest in the country.

Out into the Darkness.

What mother would turn her young daughter out alone unprotected into the stormy night? Yet many loving mothers allow their daughters, who are just coming into the time of womanhood, to proceed without proper care and advice all unprotected and alone into the perils of this critical period.

Young women at this time often suffer from irregularity and weakness which may afterwards develop into dangerous disease and fill their whole lives with wretchedness.

It is a mother's duty not to pass over such matters in silence, but to promote her daughter's womanly health and regularity by every reasonable means.

These delicate ailments are easily overcome in their early stages by judicious self-treatment without any need of the obnoxious examinations which doctors uniformly insist upon. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive specific for all diseases of the feminine organism.

It restores perfect health and regularity to the special functions, and vital vigor to the nerve-centres. It is the only medicine of its kind devised for this one purpose by an educated, experienced physician.

During nearly 30 years as chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N. Y., Dr. Pierce has acquired an enviable reputation. His medicines are everywhere recognized as standard remedies. His "Golden Medical Discovery" alternated with the "Favorite Prescription" constitutes a thorough and scientific course of treatment for weak and impoverished conditions of the blood.

A headache is a symptom of constipation. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation, promptly and permanently. They do not gripe. Druggists sell them.

THE DRUMMER'S LATEST.

In the Theatre He Had More Fun Than Was Intended.

The drummer always brings the latest trick. Here it is:

Take a spool of white basting cotton. Drop it into your inside coat pocket, and, threading a needle with it, pass it up through the shoulder of your coat. Leave the end an inch or so long on the outside of your coat and take off the needle. Four men out of five will try to pick that whole thread off your shoulder, and will pull on the spool until it actually does seem as though your clothes are all bastings and that they were unraveling not only your clothes, but yourself.

"I was to see Wilson Barret in Claudian in Boston last week," said the traveling man. "It was the most interesting and pathetic portion of the play. Everybody was rapt. I was sitting bolt upright and didn't know or care to know a soul around me, when suddenly I felt some one tugging at the basting cotton that I myself had clean forgotten. I didn't say a word and did not move. Foot by foot it unrolled. Half glancing around I saw a man—a total stranger—yanking at the thread. His face was scarlet. He had pulled out about ten yards and was now hauling in hand over hand. He didn't care to stop, because he had decorated my back and the whole aisle was basting cotton. He hardly dared to go ahead, for he didn't know what portion of my domestic interior economy he was trifling with. Rip! rip! went the thread. Hand over hand he yanked it in. The aisle was full of it. 'For heaven's sake! will it never end!' said he above his breath.

"I sat perfectly still and ran the spool while he pulled. How I wanted to yell! I never saw anything half so funny. The whole section of the house got on to it. They didn't know whether to laugh at me or him, but sat and looked on, amazed at the spectacle. At last the stranger gave one frantic rip and yanked out about eleven yards in one bunch, and as the cotton got twisted around his watch-chain, over his eyeglasses, in his hair and filled his lap, I turned around, and producing the spool from my pocket, said: 'I am sorry I misled you. You see, I have about 124 yards left, but I presume that you don't care for any more to-night. I am honestly sorry, but I can't help smiling.'

"The man was a modest sort of gentleman in appearance. His face was as red as fire even to the ears. He looked at me and then at the spool. He changed color once or twice, and when the crowd caught on a big laugh went up."—American Commercial Traveler.

The Wind That Raised the Wind.

Mr. Pew-Warmer—Around after money again to pay the church debt? Why, I thought you had a jubilee last Sunday and burned the mortgage?

Deacon Sniffle (indignantly)—So we did; but we had to borrow the money to pay off the mortgage, didn't we?

"WE ARE SEVEN."

The Very Veracious Story of Hanson's Humiliation.

A fearful flirt was Leofric J. Hanson. He became so notorious for the way he didn't propose that a general lock-out was organized against him by all the maidens of his acquaintance, and he would have been left to solitude, which he wouldn't have liked, and to remorse, which he wouldn't have felt had he not met with a fresh victim in the person of Irene Colquhoun.

Irene was the youngest of seven sisters, all engrossed in fads. Alicia's hobby was photography, Drusilla's stenography, Dora, Cora and Flora occupied themselves with various departments of science, while Curriganda spent all her time in studying some unknown branch of knowledge.

Irene's fad apepared to be Leofric J. Hanson.

He called every evening, dropped in every afternoon and happened around every forennoon, revolutionizing Irene's habits to such an extent that she not infrequently dined at breakfast time, lunched at dinner time, and had 5 o'clock tea at 2 in the morning.

Nevertheless, one custom of hers remained invariably the same.

She always would sit over the register, and insisted upon using a stiff, uncomfortable chair beside the register, with another exactly like it for the unreliable Leofric J.

But Irene liked it—oh, bless you, but she liked it!—and there she would sit and smile upon him for for hours and hours.

At last Leofric's ardor began to cool. His visits became rare

One day he dropped in, with the manifest intention of dropping out again as soon as he conveniently could. But he didn't.

Irene was awaiting him, surrounded by her six sisters and an atmosphere of repulsion.

"Leofric J. Hanson," said she, "you have counted upon the unsuspicious innocence which is my principal characteristic to woo and win me, and now you do not intend to take away the goods. But I knew the perfidy of your nature, and took all needful precautions when first you began to pay me your fanciful addresses. Listen! My sister Alicia, concealed in the next apartment, has obtained a fine series of snap-shot pictures, showing you on your knees at my feet in twenty-seven different and distinct poses, indubitably offering your heart and hand. Drusilla has a complete stenographic report of every word you have uttered. Moreover, Dora, Cora and Flora, utilizing their attainments in electricity and acoustics, have transformed into a phonograph the register over which we have sat so long, and have so arranged these two chairs that whenever they came in contact they closed a circuit which made accurate tracings of all the osculations and embraces, of which you have been so prodigal, upon a scale graduated from zero up to 100. Finally, each and every one of these noble girls has deposed to the truth of her observations before Curriganda, who is a justice of the peace, and who is prepared to begin suit for breach of promise!"

The atrocious Hanson, utterly done up, only murmured hoarsely:

"I acknowledge the corn!"

"Then let us hear it pop!" cried the seven implacable sisters.

For the first time in his life Leofric J. Hanson made a formal proposal.

He was contumeliously rejected by Irene Colquhoun, which served him jolly well right.

The rapidity with which croup developes calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

High-Handed.

"I don't like a friend to domineer over me," said the young man with the patient disposition.

"Who has been doing that?"

"My room-mate. He borrowed my evening clothes."

"That's a good deal of a liberty."

"I didn't mind it. But when he asked for my umbrella, I told him I might want to use it myself. But he got it just the same."

"How?"

"He simply stood on his dignity, and said: 'All right; have your own way about it. They're your clothes that I'm trying to keep from getting spoiled; not mine.'"—Washington Star.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

BEET SUGAR MAKING.

SOME CONSERVATIVE WORDS BY A CAREFUL OBSERVER.

The Essentials Requisite to Secure a Paying Crop of Sugar Beets—The Necessary Conditions For Success From the Manufacturing Side.

The profitable production of beet sugar in this country is a much discussed topic at the present time, says Samuel Johnson in The Detroit Free Press. Those who claim to see in this prospective industry a measure of relief for the general agricultural depression are earnest and active in their advocacy of state and national bounties to encourage capitalists to invest in the plant and fixtures needed in the process of manufacture. It is urged with great emphasis that such action, too, would be of most decided benefit to the farmers (who live near enough the factory so that they can deliver their beets at reasonable cost) who might engage in the growing of the crop and ease up somewhat the overproduction of the staples which has reduced prices below the line of profitable production. A factory with an equipment first class and up to date in all particulars would probably cost not much short of $400,000 to $500,000, and it is not an easy matter to interest men who have money in such enterprises and to such an amount when it is largely in the nature of an experiment. It is not to be expected that in such an emergency they will do less than to demand some bonus to insure them against possible losses. From this point of view and the chances they must take in such an investment, this is not unreasonable. The benefits growing out of the establishment of two or three beet sugar factories in our state would only be general and incidental, so far as the great masses of farmers are concerned. Those who were near enough to grow and furnish the raw product to the factory at a fair compensation would be benefited directly. It certainly would be a good thing for them. But is it not an open, at least a debatable question, whether the direct influence upon the brightness of farming in th estate, away from the neighborhood of the factories, would be perceptible? It is claimed that a plant cannot be run profitably with less than the product of 3000 acres, and that contracts must be signed by the farmers to furnish that amount annually for five years at a certain price per ton. Suppose that 20,000 or 25,000 acres of our improved lands now devoted to the production of the cereal crops were taken to grow beets used in four or five factories; it would not be likely to have any material effect on prices. We devote annually in this state some 2,000,000 acres to producing wheat, corn and oats, nearly 2,000,000 acres to hay and 20,000 acres to potatoes and some 200,000 acres to other crops. We certainly will have to draw on our imagination if we can find any reason for believing that the devoting of 20,000 acres of our more than 3,000,000 acres of improved land to the production of a new crop is going to revolutionize our business and bring back the prosperity of former years to our almost discouraged farmers.

CROSS SECTION OF A SUGAR BEET.

A section of cutting down through the middle showing the alternate rings or cylinders of compact portions and those more translucent, the former containing rather more sugar, and the latter more salts and albuminoids. The lower or smaller part of the beet generally has a larger percentage of sugar than the larger upper part.

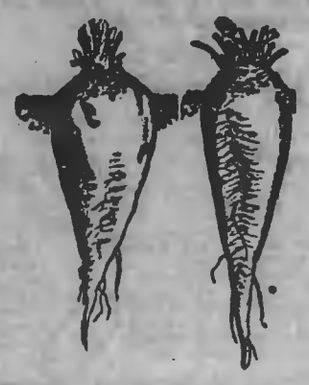
The essentials to getting the best quality of beets are, according to Farm and Home: First, proper climate,



WHITE SILESIAN AND VILMORIN IMPROVED.

The White Silesian is the original superior sugar beet from which have been obtained all the best varieties. This variety, greatly improved by selection and "breeding up," is still much the most largely used in Europe. The Vilmorin is one of the best, if not the best, grown. It is the result of many years of selection and breeding. The usual size used for sugar making is only 1 and 2 lbs. in weight.

neither too hot or dry, nor too cold or damp. Second, the right kind of soil. Only a part of the soils in the right climatic belt will grow good sugar beets. Third, when manures are required, the proper manures, or special fertilizers for individual soils. Fourth, highly improved varieties of "bred up" beets. Fifth, thorough and right preparation of the soil in advance. Sixth, sowing at proper distances, not too far apart to allow of large "woody" roots or too close to prevent moderate development. Seventh, absolute clean cultivation. Weeds both rob the soil of elements needed by the beets, and of the sunlight indispensable to sugar development.

C.S. Parke, M.D., Quebec: "I certify that I have employed with marked success the 'Pheno-Banum' ('Quickcure') in burns and certain wounds, and can thoroughly recommend its employment."

Nitrogen Free.

The subject of green manuring was discussed recently at a New York farmers' institute. During the progress of the discussion Mr. J. H. Hale, the noted Connecticut peach grower, said:

The soil is a factory and in that old factory there may be a little raw material on hand, but to turn out a finished product in any considerable quantity we must furnish fresh raw material and an abundance of well-directed labor. Now, to get that raw material at the lowest possible cost is the question that has confronted me, and will confront any farmer who is working on a business basis. If we were going into the open markets to buy stable manure, as is talked of here, we would get the most valuable plant food there is; but it is bulky and expensive to handle compared with what we make on the farm. The greenest of all manuring I ever practiced was when I purchased stable manure here and took it up to Connecticut on barges. It cost fifteen dollars a cord to get it onto my farm. But when we come to the use of chemical fertilizers, we run upon a snag. They do not furnish the organic matter we need to lighten up our soils and improve its mechanical condition. In buying these fertilizers you must remember that the fertilizer men are shrewd, sharp fellows, as they ought to be. But when they take $10 worth each of phosphoric acid and nitrogen and potash, they say 'three times ten make forty dollars,' and the poor old farmer has to pay it. Now, if we will grow some of the leguminous crops, we can get our nitrogen for nothing. The potash costs four to five cents a pound. By turning some of these green crops under, we can get the most of our nitrogen for nothing.

☞A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood. It forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

Tomato Culture in Europe.

Notwithstanding the fact that tomato sauce has been known and appreciated for many years as one of the great delicacies of an Englishman's table—as the readers of the writings of Dickens may well remember, in the case where mutton sauce and tomato sauce played such an important part in a breach of promise case—it is only during the last few years that this fruit has come into general use something akin to its popularity in America. It is said that large glass houses are erected expressly for their cultivation. The plants are grown in large pots, and are said to be raised very successfully in this way, the plants producing much more abundantly than when grown in benches, as with us. They are, however, abundantly supplied with manure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to be an honest medicine, and it actually cures when all others fail. Take it now.

One Dose Relieves—A Few Bottles Always Cure.

"For ten years I have suffered greatly from heart disease. Fluttering of the heart, palpitation and smothering spells have made my life miserable. When dropsy set in my physician said it must progress my family for the worst. All at once I had seen Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure advertised. As a last resort I tried it and think at the end of the first month I could rise from my chair. One bottle cured my dropsy, and brought me out of bed, and five bottles have caused every symptom of heart. If you are troubled with any heart affection, and are in despair, as I was, use this remedy, for I know it will cure you."—MRS. ADDIE ADAMS, Syracuse, N. Y. Sold by H. S. McDonald.

Woman in a Novel Profession.

Marian S. Parker enjoys the unique distinction of being the only practical woman civil engineer in America. She is a slight young girl, apparently about 20 years of age, and has a womanly, gracious manner, that makes her very charming. Miss Parker seems quite unconscious of the fact that her peculiar position as the one woman in her profession makes her interesting.

"Really, there isn't anything to tell," she replied to an inquiry. "I made up my mind to be a civil engineer, studied for it, and am now working hard for promotion. It was the most natural thing in the world, for I just followed my inclinations. I wouldn't do anything else."

Miss Parker is now earning as much

MISS MARIAN S. PARKER.

money as a man for the same work, and just now is engaged and absorbed in work on the "Mills Model Tenements." For eight and sometimes nine hours a day her brain is busy with confusing problems on strength and resistance of material and a bewildering complexity of girders, trusses, bolts, screws and rivets. Just to know what these things are would drive a woman with an "unmathematical brain" well-nigh crazy.

And so scientific education is helping women to "find their places," as Huxley put it.

TORONTO PETERBOROUGH

TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION TO OTTAWA.

the very small portion which remained to be done.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, spoke briefly but to the point. He thought that the fact of the whole Midland district being interested needed no stronger evidence than that to be seen in the great deputation. Mr. Blair had been over the route in the fall and must have realised the immense advantages which would accrue to the locality directly affected and the country at large through the early completion of the work.

Mr. James Graham, commissioner of Lindsay, and member of the Victoria County Council, and Mr. R. Bryans, of the same body, also spoke along the same lines.

MR. JAMES LANG, M.P.,

for East Peterborough, in introducing his portion of the deputation, urged that the work should be carried on as fast as the resources of the country would allow. The people didn't want the matter continually hanging fire. The constant delay in proceeding with the work had kept the late government in power for many years, but had also been a strong factor, he believed, in putting them out. (Applause.)

Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., ex-M.P. of East Peterborough, stated that he supposed he was an example of the case which Mr. Lang had just made out. (Laughter.) The undertaking in question had been begun some fifty years ago, and if it had been completed then the population of the Midland district would have been 1,000,000 and not 300,000. (Applause.) The present deputation was the result of a spontaneous uprising of a people, not asking for the completion of the canal as a local work, but for the good of the whole country.

Warden Anderson, of Peterborough County, spoke very briefly in endorsing Mr. Burnham's remarks.

MR. JAMES KENDRY, M. P.,

for West Peterborough, reserved his remarks until the matter came before the House, and briefly introduced the representatives who were in attendance from his riding.

Mayor Yelland of Peterborough, in his remarks expressed the opinion that the deputation had made a favourable impression, as the Minister of Railways and Canals had constantly worn a smile of approval on his face as the respective speakers had made their points. The advantages of the route need not be enlarged upon, as Mr. Blair, in viewing the portion of the work completed last fall, must have realised the importance of the work and what it meant to the surrounding district as well as to the entire Dominion. The huge deputation, he was pleased to be able to state, did not represent any particular party, but rather the entire district through which the canal passed. He hoped when the question of voting a good round sum for the completion of the work came before the House that the gentlemen who occupied the seats on that occasion would be as united in their opinion as those who were now holding them.

Mr. W. H. Maldrum, councillor of Peterborough, spoke strongly and to the point from the manufacturers' standpoint, calling the attention of the ministers to the disadvantages which the town laboured under when importing its raw material, through lack of competition in freight rates. The two railways set a rate and would not compete, whereas once navigation was opened the rates would at once be cut. The building up of the grain trade was also greatly hampered through the same reason.

MR. H. CORBY, M.P.,

for West Hastings, stated in introducing the representatives from that county, that while he was not in the habit of supporting the Premier on any question, yet on the matter now being considered he would promise him his vote and support.

Those speaking from Hastings were Mayor Morrison, W. H. Austin and James Bigelow, all of Trenton.

Mr. E. Cochrane, M.P., of East Northumberland, pledged the government his support in the appropriation of money for the completion of the canal. He introduced Reeve Powers, of the township of Murray, who also spoke briefly.

Mr. Geo. Gullet, M.P., of West Northumberland, also promised the government his co-operation in passing that portion of the estimates allowing a sum for the completion of the work.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, of Belleville, hoped that the canal would be completed at as early a date as possible, as a direct route was much needed from the great wheat fields of the west to the European markets. If the money was to be found he had no doubt but that arrangements would be made for the work to go on at once.

Senator Cox now addressed the Ministers stating that the evidence was now all in' the case made out and a verdict asked for.

HON. G. J. BLAIR,

Minister of Railways and Canals, in rising to address the members of the deputation, stated he thought they scarcely anticipated that a verdict would be rendered before the jury had an opportunity of conferring amongst themselves. He wished there had been a larger representation of the members of the Cabinet present, not so much as to hear what had been said, as nearly all were acquainted with the points of the case, but to see the complexion and character of the immense deputation. It was only fair to acknowledge that the size of the deputation afforded strong evidence that the people of the district through which the route passed were deeply impressed with the idea that the work was one of great importance to them.

Ottawa possessed many attractions which presented themselves to the ordinary mind and doubtless a fraction of the deputation was drawn to Ottawa for the purpose of sight-seeing (cries of no, no), but making the largest possible allowance for this fact, he felt forced to recognize, as must his confreres, that so representative—so influential—a deputation of business men coming to Ottawa, afforded reasonable, nay, certain, evidence that they had at heart the early completion of the undertaking.

It was quite true that he did enjoy a visit to the district and had been accompanied on a trip through the beautiful natural waterways that constituted the basis of the canal. He had been the recipient of the most generous hospitality on that occasion, and had been much impressed by the generosity shown. He was bound to say that from the stand point of local interest he was much impressed, but he had not yet studied the matter deeply enough to be prepared to state that benefit would extend to the whole country through the completion of the work.

He had been bombarded with arguments as to the superior importance of this canal or that. There was the project of deepening the St. Lawrence canals—a scheme on which seven or eight times as much money had been spent as on the Trent Valley Canal. Then there was the Ottawa canal, the claims of which had been pressed only a few days ago by a deputation that was almost as large as the present one.

In the face of all these representations he had to steer a wise course, as judiciously as possible, and if he had not been able to give the deputation any convincing proof that theirs was the greatest work, he hoped that the members would not feel that the Government was in any way prejudiced against it. He also hoped that if he could not undertake to render a verdict, or if the Premier did not express himself decisively they must not infer that the Government was not prepared to give the project full and careful consideration. (Applause.)

was received with a storm of applause when he rose to speak. He stated that, although he was somewhat late in arriving, he did not have to be pressed to be convinced that the country was greatly interested in the rapid completion of the work. It was not a question of the completion of the canal; that was now a foregone conclusion and past discussions, but of when it could be done (loud applause.)

The members from the constituencies through which the canal passed had all promised him their support on this matter and they appeared so interested that he believed they would support the scheme even if it was wrong to do so. Would they, he asked, give him their support on other matters? If the estimates totalled up to such a sum on account of an appropriation to the canal, that the taxation had to be increased, would these members support him then? (laughter.)

The question of the completion of the work was now simply a matter of finance. If the Government had the money to do it, it would be done at once, if they had not, it must wait.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox interjected a remark at this juncture to the effect that if the Government had not sufficient money to carry on the work, he would be glad to let them have it, and in the laughter and applause that followed he was heard to add—"at 2½ per cent."

"I can promise you," said the Premier in conclusion, that the work will go on as rapidly as the finances of the Government will allow. (Continued applause.)

HON. WM. MULOCK,

Postmaster-General, stated that coming from Ontario, as he did, he had some knowledge of the circumstances which brought the deputation to Ottawa, and the enumeration of the various advantages which would be enjoyed through the completion of the work, was not anything novel to him. As a representative of the county which was interested in the enterprise, he endorsed the utterances of the previous speakers, who argued that the carrying forward of the work would be a benefit not only local but national, and he would would have an opportunity as one of the jury in casting his influence in favour of the requisite sum being placed in the estimates (hearty applause).

Before the deputation retired Senator Cox thanked the Ministers for their cordial reception and attention and for the encouragement which had been given the deputation.

A large number of those present then availed themselves of the opportunity of being introduced to the First Minister and his colleagues.

The great success of the visit of the deputation, its large proportions and the success of the excursion are largely due to Mayor Yelland and the joint committee of the Council and of the Board of Trade, and of the excursion part especially Mr. John Carnegie, president of the board, and Mr. H. S. Macdonald are entitled to a large share of the credit. No more successful nor numerically impos ng deputation was ever engineered from Peterborough, and no larger deputation ever visited Ottawa on such or a similar mission.

Dr. Chas. E. Elliott, M. D., Quebec, writes: "I have used 'Pheno-Banum' (or 'Quickcure') with much success in many cases of foal and suppurating wounds; especially in one case following vaccination, which resisted all treatment for three months, that was quickly cured by four dressings of the above. I am now using it in many forms of skin diseases, and ulcers with apparent benefit. For cuts and burns it makes a splendid dressing."

ECZEMA ON HANDS

Completely Covered, and Between the Fingers Skin Perfectly Raw.

Husband Had to Dress and Undress Her Like a Baby.

Physicians' Medicines Drove Her Almost Crazy.

Hears of CUTICURA. Husband Goes Twenty Miles for It.

First Application Gives Perfect Ease in Five Minutes, and a Night's Sound Sleep.

My hands were completely covered with Eczema, and between my fingers the skin was perfectly raw. I had to sit with both hands held up, and away from the fire. My husband had to dress and undress me like a baby. I tried the best physicians, but their medicines gave me no relief, and drove me almost crazy. I was advised to try CUTICURA REMEDIES, and did so, although my husband had to go twenty miles to get them. As soon as he got back, I used the CUTICURA (ointment), and five minutes after the first application I was perfectly easy, and slept soundly all that night. Before I commenced using CUTICURA REMEDIES I could get no ease night or day. I could not bear to get warm, it would put me in a rage of itching. I always keep CUTICURA REMEDIES in my house now, and recommend them to everybody, because of their wonderful effect. Yours gratefully,

A SPECIFIC

La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

BEET SUGAR MAKING.

SOME CONSERVATIVE WORDS BY A CAREFUL OBSERVER.

The Essentials Requisite to Secure a Paying Crop of Sugar Beets—The Necessary Conditions For Success From the Manufacturing Side.

The profitable production of beet sugar in this country is a much discussed topic at the present time, says Samuel Johnson in The Detroit Free Press. Those who claim to see in this prospective industry a measure of relief for the general agricultural depression are earnest and active in their advocacy of state and national bounties to encourage capitalists to invest in the plant and fixtures needed in the process of manufacture. It is urged with great emphasis that such action, too, would be of most decided benefit to the farmers (who live near enough the factory so that they can deliver their beets at reasonable cost) who might engage in the growing of the crop and ease up somewhat the overproduction of the staples which has reduced prices below the line of profitable production. A factory with an equipment first class and up to date in all particulars would probably cost not much short of $400,000 to $500,000, and it is not an easy matter to interest men who have money in such enterprises and to such an amount when it is largely in the nature of an experiment. It is not to be expected that in such an emergency they will do less than to demand some bonus to insure them against possible losses. From this point of view and the chances they must take in such an investment, this is not unreasonable. The benefits growing out of the establishment of two or three beet sugar factories in our state would only be general and incidental, so far as the great masses of farmers are concerned. Those who were near enough to grow and furnish the raw product to the factory at a fair compensation would be benefited directly. It certainly would be a good thing for them. But is it not an open, at least a debatable question, whether the direct influence upon the business of farming in th estate, away from the neighborhood of the factories, would be perceptible? It is claimed that a plant cannot be run profitably with less than the product of 3000 acres, and that contracts must be signed by the farmers to furnish that amount annually for five years at a certain price per ton. Suppose that 20,000 or 25,000 acres of our improved lands now devoted to the production of the cereal crops were taken to grow beets used in four or five factories; it would not be likely to have any material effect on prices. We devote annually in this state some 3,000,000 acres to producing wheat, corn and oats, nearly 2,000,000 acres to hay and 20,000 acres to potatoes and some 300,000 acres to other crops. We certainly will have to draw on our imagination if we can find any reason for believing that the devoting of 20,000 acres of our more than 8,000,000 acres of improved land to the production of a new crop is going to revolutionize our business and bring back the prosperity of former years to our almost discouraged farmers.

CROSS SECTION OF A SUGAR BEET.

The lower or smaller part of the beet generally has a larger percentage of sugar than the larger upper part.

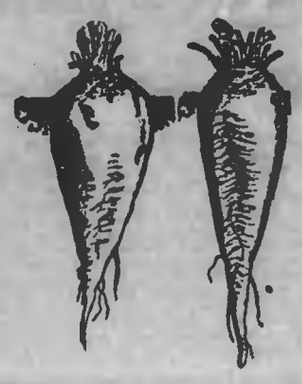
The essentials to getting the best quality of beets are, according to Farm and Home: First, proper climate,



WHITE SILESIAN AND VILMORIN IMPROVED.

The White Silesian is the original superior sugar beet from which have been obtained all the best varieties. This variety, greatly improved by selection and "breeding up," is still much the most largely used in Europe. The Vilmorin is one of the best, if not the best, grown. It is the result of many years of selection and breeding. The usual size used for sugar making is only 1 and 2 lbs. in weight.

neither too hot or dry, nor too cold or damp. Second, the right kind of soil. Only a part of the soils in the right climatic belt will grow good sugar beets. Third, when manures are required, the proper manures, or special fertilizers for individual soils. Fourth, highly improved varieties of "bred up" beets. Fifth, thorough and right preparation of the soil in advance. Sixth, sowing at proper distances, not too far apart to allow of large "woody" roots or too close to prevent moderate development. Seventh, absolute clean cultivation. Weeds both rob the soil of elements needed by the beets, and of the sunlight indispensable to sugar development.

C.S. Parke, M.D., Quebec: "I certify that I have employed with marked success the 'Pheno-Banum' ('Quickcure') in burns and certain wounds, and can thoroughly recommend its employment."

Nitrogen Free.

The subject of green manuring was discussed recently at a New York farmers' institute. During the progress of the discussion Mr. J. H. Hale, the noted Connecticut peach grower, said:

The soil is a factory and in that old factory there may be a little raw material on hand, but to turn out a finished product in any considerable quantity we must furnish fresh raw material and an abundance of well-directed labor. Now, to get that raw material at the lowest possible cost is the question that has confronted me, and will confront any farmer who is working on a business basis. If we were going into the open markets to buy stable manure, as is talked of here, we would get the most valuable plant food there is; but it is bulky and expensive to handle compared with what we make on the farm. The greenest of all manuring I ever practiced was when I purchased stable manure here and took it up to Connecticut on barges. It cost fifteen dollars a cord to get it onto my farm. But when we come to the use of chemical fertilizers, we run upon a snag. They do not furnish the organic matter we need to lighten up our soils and improve its mechanical condition. In buying these fertilizers you must remember that the fertilizer men are shrewd, sharp fellows, as they ought to be. But when they take $16 worth each of phosphoric acid and nitrogen and potash, they say 'three times ten make forty dollars,' and the poor old farmer has to pay it. Now, if we will grow some of the leguminous crops, we can get our nitrogen for nothing. The potash costs four to five cents a pound. By turning some of these green crops under, we can get the most of our nitrogen for nothing.

A man's health is the rope by which he climbs to success. If he can keep his health he will go on to success. Yet his health is the very thing he neglects more than anything else. It is easier to keep health than it is to regain it. When a man feels himself running down, when he realizes a loss of vitality and energy, he must call a halt. The strands of his rope are parting rapidly. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery has helped thousands of men in just this condition. It makes health, it makes pure, rich blood, it forces out impurities and kills germs. It does not make any difference what name you call your trouble by—dyspepsia—kidney disease—rheumatism—consumption—skin disease, the "Golden Medical Discovery" will cure it absolutely. None of these diseases can retain hold on the body when it is full of rich, pure blood.

Tomato Culture in Europe.

Notwithstanding the fact that tomato sauce has been known and appreciated for many years as one of the great delicacies of an Englishman's table—as the readers of the writings of Dickens may well remember, in the case where mutton sauce and tomato sauce played such an important part in a breach of promise case—it is only during the last few years that this fruit has come into general use something akin to its popularity in America. It is said that large glass houses are erected expressly for their cultivation. The plants are grown in large pots, and are said to be raised very successfully in this way, the plants producing much more abundantly than when grown in benches, as with us. They are, however, abundantly supplied with manure.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is known to be an honest medicine, and it actually cures when all others fail. Take it now.

One Dose Relieves—A Few Bottles Always Cure.

"For ten years I have suffered greatly from heart disease. Fluttering of the heart, palpitations and smothering spells have made my life miserable. When dropsy set in my physician said I must prepare myself for the worst. All this time I had seen Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure advertised. As a last resort I tried it and think of my joy when I received great relief from one dose. One bottle cured my dropsy, and brought me out of bed, and five bottles have cured entirely my heart. If you are troubled with any heart affection, and are in despair, as I was, use this remedy, for I know it will cure you."—MRS. ADAMS Syracuse, N. Y. Sold by H. S. McDonald

Woman is a Novel Profession.

Marian S. Parker enjoys the unique distinction of being the only practical woman civil engineer in America. She is a slight young girl, apparently about 20 years of age, and has a womanly, gracious manner, that makes her very charming. Miss Parker seems quite unconscious of the fact that her peculiar position as the one woman in her profession makes her interesting.

"Really, there isn't anything to tell," she replied to an inquiry. "I made up my mind to be a civil engineer, studied for it, and am now working hard for promotion. It was the most natural thing in the world, for I just followed my inclinations. I wouldn't do anything else."

Miss Parker is now earning as much money as a man for the same work, and just now is engaged and absorbed in work on the "Mills Model Tenements." For eight and sometimes nine hours a day her brain is busy with confusing problems on strength and resistance of material and a bewildering complexity of girders, trusses, bolts, screws and rivets. Just to know what these things are would drive a woman with an "unmathematical brain" well-nigh crazy.

And so scientific education is helping women to "find their places," as Huxley put it.

Mr. Casey Introduces a Bill in That Connection

AND IT PASSES THE FIRST READING

The Canadian Pacific and the Crow's Nest Road Again Brought Up Some Lively Passages Between Mr. Fielding, Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, April 7.—(Special.)—The grievances of the Canadian wheelmen were aired by Mr. Casey, M. P., this afternoon in introducing a bill to amend the Railway Act, which is designed to compel the railway companies to carry bicycles as personal baggage. He severely scored the railways for imposing a tax on wheels. The bill was read a first time and questions were then taken up.

Mr. Maclean asked: Has the Canadian Pacific Railway yet begun the construction of their line through the Crow's Nest Pass? Does the Government intend to allow that company to begin the work of constructing without first completing the negotiations now going on for modifications in the clauses in the company's charter in the matter of the construction of branch lines and the regulation of the rates and tolls charged by the said company?

Mr. Blair: As to the first clause of the question, I may say the Government is without information as to whether the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has yet begun the construction of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass, except that it was understood that some grading had been done a couple of years ago in or adjacent to the Pass. As to the second clause of the question, I am afraid I shall be obliged to ask the honorable gentleman to modify or amend the question so as not to contain a statement which I should have to either accept or challenge in answering. If the honorable gentleman will put the question again without the objectionable clause I shall be pleased to answer it.

The Minister of Railways and Canals: In any case, I would ask the hon. member to allow his question, even if he were to modify it, to stand until to-morrow.

Mr. Maclean: I consent to that.

Dr. Sproule was informed by Mr. Sifon that the services of John Dyke, agent in Liverpool, and Thomas Graham, agent at Glasgow, had not been dispensed with. John W. Down was no longer agent at Bristol, but no successor had been appointed. The following gentlemen had been appointed for emigration work: A. F. Jury, to work in England, salary $150 a month; W. L. Griffith, Wales, $100 a month; H. M. Murray, Scotland, $2000 a year; Thomas Duncan, Scotland, $100 a month; C. R. Devlin, Ireland, $2000 a year; Edward O'Kelly, Ireland, $150 a month; John Webster, Ireland, $75 a month.

Mr. Foster moved the adjournment of the House to call attention to the statement of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson at the G. T. R. shareholders' meeting in London yesterday that the Dominion Government had consented to defray the cost of enlarging the Victoria Bridge at Montreal. It appeared that Parliament was to be dependent for the first intimation as to the arrangement when completed by seeing the announcement in the newspaper press. He thought such a course was not treating the House properly.

Mr. Blair said the arrangements with the G. T. R. had not been concluded. It was a matter within the discretion of the President of the G. T. R. to tell shareholders how far the negotiations had proceeded, but if Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson felt warranted in assuming that negotiations would reach the final results it did not at all follow that they had gone so far as to warrant the Government in so advising the House. It might be that the arrangements would come to nothing, but certainly he did not feel justified in making a partial statement on the subject. Nothing would be done which would not be absolutely subject to the sanction of Parliament.

Dr. Montague: Much obliged for that. [Laughter.]

Sir Charles Tupper said this was a very grave point which had been raised. The Government had no right to give information to private individuals or representatives of companies which was withheld from Parliament. Probably £100,000 had changed hands on G. T. R. stocks as a result of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson's statement. Supposing these negotiations came to naught, in what position would Canada be placed? A statement of that kind could not be made without involving the credit and good standing of the Government of Canada, and what affected the Government affected the whole of Canada. If the Government was in a position to recede, then the statement of the G. T. R. president was unwarranted. If they were not in a position to recede then Parliament should have knowledge of the negotiations. Evidently it was becoming the rule with the Government to give to private individuals and corporations information which they refused to the House. It was treating Parliament with contempt. Proceeding, Sir Charles referred to Mr. Fielding's action in calling a private meeting of certain coal owners and acquainting them with his views on the tariff. The meeting at the Windsor Hotel on March 13 was a deliberate attempt to take an unfair and dishonorable advantage of the position which the Government occupied in the interests of the party. Mr. Fielding's declarations should not have been made in a private parlor of a hotel, but on the floors of Parliament. Then his statement would have been given to the press, but why was it that when changing the tariff the Government took possession of the telegraph wires from the moment the tariff resolutions were tabled until they were passed? It was to prevent anyone obtaining undue advantage from the knowledge which they might acquire here. Gigantic fortunes could be made within an hour if the information were known. He charged that the meeting of Parliament had been postponed from the 11th to the 25th for the purpose of delaying the bringing down of the tariff and hastening on the Nova Scotia elections. This action on the part of both Governments was a disgraceful conspiracy. They were playing with loaded dice and marked cards. [Loud Opposition cheers.]

Mr. Fielding said it was evident news must have come to Sir Charles Tupper that his friends in Nova Scotia were again realizing the cause of Toryism and Tupperism in that province was dead or dying. [Liberal cheers.] If the hon. gentleman had any idea of carrying the provincial elections he would not have made his ill-natured speech to day. Adverting to the G. T. R. matter, he repeated that the negotiations were not yet completed. If the statement of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson had affected the stock markets the Government had nothing whatever to do with it.

Mr. Foster: Well, how about Mr. Dobell?

Mr. Fielding: Mr. Dobell took care of himself and he is well able to do it. [Laughter.] Continuing, he said the statement he had made in Montreal would be the statement when the budget speech was made The Opposition had it before them and could make use of it if they pleased. The hon. gentleman (Sir Charles Tupper) was one of those represented at the meeting, because he was a director of the General Mining Association.

Sir Charles Tupper: The day I accepted a position under the Government I resigned that office.

Mr. Fielding: Well, the point is of no importance. [Opposition laughter.]

Sir Charles Tupper: May I ask was more than one company represented?

Mr. Fielding: I believe there were.

Sir Charles Tupper: Mr. Button of the International Coal Company said not.

Mr. Fielding, continuing, said there were good and sufficient reasons for the course he had taken, reasons which would commend themselves to the country when they were made known. Proceeding, he pointed out that Sir Charles Tupper was responsible for abolishing the coal duties in 1871 and strangling the National Policy.

Mr. Foster: Eight years before it was born. [Much laughter.]

Mr. Fielding then charged the Opposition with having when in power condemned the Liberals for advocating reciprocity in coal and yet the Government of which Sir Charles Tupper was a member had authorized the writing of a letter to Mr. S. J. Ritchie of Akron, Ohio, to take to Washington, promising reciprocity in coal.

Sir Charles Tupper: Will the hon. gentleman allow me to correct him again? I was not a member of the Government at that time. [Opposition cheers and laughter.]

Mr. Fielding: Well, the hon. gentleman has been slipping in and out so often that it is difficult to follow him. [Laughter.] However, he is out now, and is going to stay out. [Liberal cheers.] In conclusion, he said that it was a scandalous exhibition of duplicity and double dealing on the part of the Conservatives in their policy regarding coal. With regard to the Nova Scotia elections, he had had no communication with the members of that Government in reference to the elections, but he had no doubt that on 20th April Nova Scotia would again show her adhesion to Liberal principles. [Ministerial cheers.]

Dr. Reid moved a resolution in favor of bonusing the export of creamery made butter trade to the extent of one cent a pound, the bonus to be paid only to those farmers sending in regular supplies. In support of his resolution, he urged the necessity of thus encouraging the butter industry in view of the probability of the cheese production of the Northwest being largely stimulated. He congratulated the Government upon carrying out the late Administration's cold storage scheme. If the Government could find millions for the Crow's Nest Pass Railway and for canals, it could surely find the twenty or thirty thousand dollars it would take to give this small bonus to the farmers.

The Minister of Agriculture replied at length. He said the experience in Canada and abroad was against the principles of a butter export bonus. During the six years it was given in Victoria, Australia, the export throve, but so soon as the bonus was stopped the export ceased. For years Quebec gave a similar bonus, but it did not increase the output as largely in proportion as it increased in Ontario without a bonus, although Quebec was better adapted for dairying than Ontario. Moreover, the bonus went to the buyer and not to the farmer. Mr. Fisher also believed that Canada had passed the bonus stage in her dairying industry. For the past three years, successively our expert of butter to England had doubled each year, and he believed next season would double the last. During the winter butter had gone to England weekly from Canada. He announced that the cold storage scheme had now been perfected and completed. [Applause.] He concluded by requesting Dr. Reid to withdraw his resolution.

Mr. Davin, however, moved the adjournment of the debate, and so the discussion went over, it being 6 o'clock.

Mr. Casey, after recess, moved the second reading of the bill for the better protection of railway employes. He said it provided for compulsory use of automatic air brakes, continuous running boards, outside ladders on freight cars and iron rails on top of each car. He said railway employes all over the country endorsed the bill. The bill was read a second time.

Mr. Casey then moved that it be referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Maclean, McGregor, Ingram, Choquette, Stubbs, Belcourt, Powell, Ellis and Casey.

Col. Tisdale though no good could come of referring the bill to a special committee. The Railway Committee was the proper body to handle it.

Mr. Maclean said in the past no headway could be made with a bill of this kind before the Railway Committee. He wanted the measure to be considered by a special committee as well as his own.

Mr. Ives and Sir Charles Tupper favored a reference to the Railway Committee, but Mr. Ingram, as an old railway man, supported the special committe idea. With the addition of Mr. Blair's name, Mr. Casey's motion carried.

Mr. Maclean then moved the second reading of his bill, the purport of which is somewhat similar to Mr. Casey's. The motion was carried, and the bill was referred to a special committee.

Mr. Cowan moved the second reading of his alien labor bill. He said the time had arrived when an honest effort should be put forth to protect the Canadian laborer and artisan at home. To his personal knowledge Canadians entering the United States had their personal effects ransacked and their letters read by the myrmidons of the United States Government. The national honor of Canada demanded that the ends of justice should be met by the adoption of similar legislation. The Canadian artisan needed no protection in the open field of competition, but if any country was going to debar Canadians from enjoying the fruits of honest toil, then the Canadian laborer should be protected at home. [Cheers.] His bill might smack of retaliation, but he could not help that. If he could prevent it no American was going to slide down the cellar door of Canada unscathed while they put "tax" in theirs. [Laughter.] "No coercion" was his motto, and he trusted there would be unanimous suport to his bill.

Mr. Taylor said it was refreshing to hear the speech of the hon. gentleman. In 1890, he (Taylor) had first introduced this bill into Parliament, but it had then met with a vastly different reception from the Liberals. Mr. Cowan's bill, eight clauses of it at any rate, was copied from his (Taylor's). He was glad to know that through his effort the country had been educated upto adoption of a measure of this kind. He objected, however, to the clause added by Mr. Cowan, that the bill should only become law on proclamation of the Governor-in-Council. He would also move to insert a clause that all public contractors must be residents of Canada. In conclusion, Mr. Taylor explained that although he was on deck a day before the House opened and gave notice of his bill the first day of the session, Mr. Cowan got ahead by sending down his bill by mail two weeks in advance. However, whether it was called the Taylor bill or the Cowan bill, he cared not, as long as it passed and the workingmen of Canada were protected.

Dr. Sproule congratulated Mr. Cowan upon having become a protectionist, and promised him a cordial suport.

E. F. Clarke held that while such legislation was in a measure degrading, yet if Parliament failed to pass it Parliament would lose the respect of the workingmen of Canada.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) said that whatever might be his doubts as to the jurisdiction of this Parliament to put such a bill into operation, he certainly approved of the principle of the bill and its being enacted into legislation.

Messrs. McGregor and Ganong supported the principle of the proposed measure.

Mr. Wallace, in the course of a practical speech, showed the inconsistency of allowing American contractors to compete for Canadian public works, while Canadians could not get any sort of contract in the United States, and the Government, he said, were allowing a foreign company to come here and do the bank note and stamp printing for the Government.

Mr. Davies: "And committing the further crime of erecting a $60,000 building here."

Mr. Wallace: "And of having work done by foreigners that should go to Canadians."

Mr. Davies: "Oh, no."

Mr. Wallace: "Oh, yes. But I am not going to discuss that now as the bank note contract will come up before the end of the session. In Toronto, when many men were out of work the contract for re-building a large store had been given to a Buffalo architect, and he had brought his Buffalo artisans with him. Such a thing would not be tolerated in the United States and should not be allowed in Canada.

Mr. Henderson also favored an alien labor law.

Mr. Laurier, in closing the debate, explained that he had not spoken at an earlier stage, because there could be no doubt of the position of the Government in regard to this measure. The Unanimous feeling of the House appeared to be that no alternative was left to the people of Canada but to enact similar labor laws to those in force in the United States. [Cheers.] The Government was reluctant to come to the conclusion that no option was left but apply to our neighbors the same measure of justice, or injustice, that they apply to us.

But he was not in favor of going a step farther than was necessary to uphold the dignity of the country, and do what was necessary to have the obnoxious United States law removed. The prospect, therefore, was for us to adopt the framing of the present American legislation, word for word, and that had been done in the bill before the House. The Corliss bill having been vetoed by the late President, was not now the United States law, and he was therefore of opinion that it should not be made the law of Canada, but rather that we should limit our law to a copy of the United States law as it is to-day. He would suggest, therefore, that the bill be referred to the Senate Committe, and that would be conducive to the carrying out of the general sentiment, if that committee were clothed with the power of investigation. In effect the operation of the United States law was confined to Windsor, Niagara Falls and the 1000 Islands, and not in Maine or Vermont, so the committe might ascertain to what extent the Canadian law might be made applicable to certain districts.

The bill of Mr. Cowan having been read a second time the Premier moved that it be referred to a committee composed of Hon. Messrs. Davies, Sifton, Langelier, Wood and Messrs. Cargrain, Taylor and Cowan, with power to send for persons and papers and report from time to time.

The motion carried and Mr. Taylor's bill, having been read a second time, was duly referred to the same committee.

Mr. Chaney asked if in this way the bill was likely to become law this session, to which the Premier replied with the asurance that the Government had no intention in referring it to the committee to have it killed by that committee.

TORONTO PETERBOROUGH

TRENT VALLEY CANAL DEPUTATION TO OTTAWA.

the very small portion which remained to be done.

Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, spoke briefly but to the point. He thought that the fact of the whole Midland district being interested needed no stronger evidence than that to be seen in the great deputation. Mr. Blair had been over the route in the fall and must have realized the immense advantages which would accrue to the locality directly affected and the country at large through the early completion of the work.

Mr. James Graham, commissioner of Lindsay, and member of the Victoria County Council, and Mr. R. Bryans, of the same body, also spoke along the same lines.

MR. JAMES LANG, M.P.,

for East Peterborough, in introducing his portion of the deputation, urged that the work should be carried on as fast as the resources of the country would allow. The people didn't want the matter continually hanging fire. The constant delay in proceeding with the work had kept the late government in power for many years, but had also been a strong factor, he believed, in putting them out. (Applause.)

Mr. John Burnham, Q. C., ex-M.P. of East Peterborough, stated that he supposed he was an example of the case which Mr. Lang had just made out. (Laughter.) The undertaking in question had been begun some fifty years ago, and if it had been completed then the population of the Midland district would have been 1,000,000 and not 300,000. (Applause.) The present deputation was the result of a spontaneous uprising of a people, not asking for the completion of the canal as a local work, but for the good of the whole country.

Warden Anderson, of Peterborough County, spoke very briefly in endorsing Mr. Burnham's remarks.

MR. JAMES KENDRY, M. P.,

for West Peterborough, reserved his remarks until the matter came before the House, and briefly introduced the representatives who were in attendance from his riding.

Mayor Yelland of Peterborough, in his remarks expressed the opinion that the deputation had made a favourable impression, as the Minister of Railways and Canals had constantly worn a smile of approval on his face as the respective speakers had made their points. The advantages of the route need not be enlarged upon, as Mr. Blair, in viewing the portion of the work completed last fall, must have realized the importance of the work and what it meant to the surrounding district as well as to the entire Dominion. The huge deputation, he was pleased to be able to state, did not represent any particular party, but rather the entire district through which the canal passed. He hoped when the question of voting a good round sum for the completion of the work came before the House that the gentlemen who occupied the seats on that occasion would be as united in their opinion as those who were now holding them.

Mr. W. H. Maldrum, councillor of Peterborough, spoke strongly and to the point from the manufacturers' standpoint, calling the attention of the ministers to the disadvantages which the town laboured under when importing its raw material, through lack of competition in freight rates. The two railways set a rate and would not compete, whereas once navigation was opened the rates would at once be cut. The building up of the grain trade was also greatly hampered thtough the same reason.

MR. H. CORBY, M.P.,

for West Hastings, stated in introducing the representatives from that county, that while he was not in the habit of supporting the Premier on any question, yet on the matter now being considered he would promise him his vote and support.

Those speaking from Hastings were Mayor Morrison, W. H. Austin and James Bigelow, all of Trenton.

Mr. E. Cochrane, M.P., of East Northumberland, pledged the government his support in the appropriation of money for the completion of the canal. He introduced Reeve Powers, of the township of Murray, who also spoke briefly.

Mr. Geo. Guillet, M.P., of West Northumberland, also promised the government his co-operation in passing that portion of the estimates allowing a sum for the completion of the work.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell, of Belleville, hoped that the canal would be completed at as early a date as possible, as a direct route was much needed from the great wheat fields of the west to the European markets. If the money was to be found he had no doubt but that arrangements would be made for the work to go on at once.

Senator Cox now addressed the Ministers stating that the evidence was now all in the case made out and a verdict asked for.

HON. G. J. BLAIR,

Minister of Railways and Canals, in rising to address the members of the deputation, stated he thought they scarcely anticipated that a verdict would be rendered before the jury had an opportunity of conferring amongst themselves. He wished there had been a larger representation of the members of the Cabinet present, not so much as to hear what had been said, as nearly all were acquainted with the points of the case, but to see the complexion and character of the immense deputation. It was only fair to acknowledge that the size of the deputation afforded strong evidence that the people of the district through which the route passed were deeply impressed with the idea that the work was one of great importance to them.

Ottawa possessed many attractions which presented themselves to the ordinary mind and doubtless a fraction of the deputation was drawn to Ottawa for the purpose of sight-seeing (cries of no, no), but making the largest possible allowance for this fact, he felt forced to recognize, as must his confreres, that so representative—so influential—a deputation of business men coming to Ottawa, afforded reasonable, nay, certain, evidence that they had at hear the early completion of the undertaking.

It was quite true that he did enjoy a visit to the district and had been accompanied on a trip through the beautiful natural waterways that constituted the basis of the canal. He had been the recipient of the most generous hospitality on that occasion, and had been much impressed by the generosity shown. He was bound to say that from the stand point of local interest he was much impressed, but he had not yet studied the matter deeply enough to be prepared to state that benefit would extend to the whole country through the completion of the work.

He had been bombarded with arguments as to the superior importance of this canal or that. There was the project of deepening the St. Lawrence canals—a scheme on which seven or eight times as much money had been spent as on the Trent Valley Canal. Then there was the Ottawa canal, the claims of which had been pressed only a few days ago by a deputation that was almost as large as the present one.

In the face of all these representations he had to steer a wise course, as judiciously as possible, and if he had not been able to give the deputation any convincing proof that theirs was the greatest work, he hoped that the members would not feel that the Government was in any way prejudiced against it. He also hoped that if he could not undertake to render a verdict, or if the Premier did not express himself decisively they must not infer that the Government was not prepared to give the project full and careful consideration. (Applause.)

was received with a storm of applause when he rose to speak. He stated that, although he was somewhat late in arriving, he did not have to be present long to be convinced that the country was greatly interested in the rapid completion of the work. It was not a question of the completion of the canal; that was now a foregone conclusion and past discussions, but of when it could be done (loud applause.)

The members from the constituencies through which the canal passed had all promised him their support on this matter and they appeared so interested that he believed they would support the scheme even if it was wrong to do so. Would they, he asked, give him their support on other matters? If the estimates totalled up to such a sum on account of an appropriation to the canal, that the taxation had to be increased, would these members support him then? (laughter.)

The question of the completion of the work was now simply a matter of finance. If the Government had the money to do it, it would be done at once, if they had not, it must wait.

Hon. Geo. A. Cox interjected a remark at this juncture to the effect that if the Government had not sufficient money to carry on the work, he would be glad to let them have it, and in the laughter and applause that followed he was heard to add—"at 2½ per cent."

"I can promise you," said the Premier in conclusion, that the work will go on as rapidly as the finances of the Government will allow. (Continued applause.)

HON. WM. MULOCK,

Postmaster-General, stated that coming from Ontario, as he did, he had some knowledge of the circumstances which brought the deputation to Ottawa, and the enumeration of the various advantages which would be enjoyed through the completion of the work, was not anything novel to him. As a representative of the county which was interested in the enterprise, he endorsed the utterances of the previous speakers, who argued that the carrying forward of the work would be a benefit not only local but national, and he would would have an opportunity as one of the jury in casting his influence in favour of the requisite sum being placed in the estimates (hearty applause).

Before the deputation retired Senator Cox thanked the Ministers for their cordial reception and attention and for the encouragement which had been given the deputation.

A large number of those present then availed themselves of the opportunity of being introduced to the First Minister and his colleagues.

The great success of the visit of the deputation, its large proportions and the success of the excursion are largely due to Mayor Yelland and the joint committee of the Council and of the Board of Trade, and of the excursion part especially Mr. John Carnegie, president of the board, and Mr. H. S. Macdonald are entitled to a large share of the credit. No more successful nor numerically impos ng deputation was ever engineered from Peterborough, and no larger deputation ever visited Ottawa on such or a similar mission.

Mr. Casey Introduces a Bill In That Connection

AND IT PASSES THE FIRST READING

The Canadian Pacific and the Crow's Nest Road Again Brought Up Some Lively Passages Between Mr. Fielding, Sir Charles Tupper and Mr. Foster.

Ottawa, April 7.—(Special.)—The grievances of the Canadian wheelmen were aired by Mr. Casey, M. P., this afternoon in introducing a bill to amend the Railway Act, which is designed to compel the railway companies to carry bicycles as personal baggage. He severely scored the railways for imposing a tax on wheels. The bill was read a first time and questions were then taken up.

Mr. Maclean asked: Has the Canadian Pacific Railway yet begun the construction of their line through the Crow's Nest Pass? Does the Government intend to allow that company to begin the work of constructing without first completing the negotiations now going on for modifications in the clauses in the company's charter in the matter of the construction of branch lines and the regulation of the rates and tolls charged by the said company?

Mr. Blair: As to the first clause of the question, I may say the Government is without information as to whether the Canadian Pacific Railway Company has yet begun the construction of a railway through the Crow's Nest Pass, except that it was understood that some grading had been done a couple of years ago in or adjacent to the Pass. As to the second clause of the question, I am afraid I shall be obliged to ask the honorable gentleman to modify or amend the question so as not to contain a statement which I should have to either accept or challenge in answering. If the honorable gentleman will put the question again without the objectionable clause I shall be pleased to answer it.

The Minister of Railways and Canals: In any case, I would ask the hon. member to allow his question, even if he were to modify it, to stand until to-morrow.

Mr. Maclean: I consent to that.

Dr. Sproule was informed by Mr. Sifton that the services of John Dyke, agent in Liverpool, and Thomas Graham, agent at Glasgow, had not been dispensed with. John W. Down was no longer agent at Bristol, but no successor had been appointed. The following gentlemen had been appointed for emigration work: A. F. Jury, to work in England, salary $150 a month; W. L. Griffith, Wales, $100 a month; H. M. Murray, Scotland, $2000 a year; Thomas Duncan, Scotland, $100 a month; C. R. Devlin, Ireland, $2000 a year; Edward O'Kelly, Ireland, $150 a month; John Webster, Ireland, $75 a month.

Mr. Foster moved the adjournment of the House to call attention to the statement of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson at the G. T. R. shareholders' meeting in London yesterday that the Dominion Government had consented to defray the cost of enlarging the Victoria Bridge at Montreal. It appeared that Parliament was to be dependent for the first intimation as to the arrangement when completed by seeing the announcement in the newspaper press. He thought such a course was not treating the House properly.

Mr. Blair said the arrangements with the G. T. R. had not been concluded. It was a matter within the discretion of the President of the G. T. R. to tell shareholders how far the negotiations had proceeded, but if Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson felt warranted in assuming that negotiations would reach the final results it did not at all follow that they had gone so far as to warrant the Government in so advising the House. It might be that the arrangements would come to nothing, but certainly he did not feel justified in making a partial statement on the subject. Nothing would be done which would not be absolutely subject to the sanction of Parliament.

Dr. Montague: Much obliged for that. [Laughter.]

Sir Charles Tupper said this was a very grave point which had been raised. The Government had no right to give information to private individuals or representatives of companies which was withheld from Parliament. Probably £100,000 had changed hands on G. T. R. stocks as a result of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson's statement. Supposing these negotiations came to naught, in what position would Canada be placed? A statement of that kind could not be made without involving the credit and good standing of the Government of Canada, and what affected the Government affected the whole of Canada. If the Government was in a position to recede, then the statement of the G. T. R. president was unwarranted. If they were not in a position to recede then Parliament should have knowledge of the negotiations. Evidently it was becoming the rule with the Government to give to private individuals and corporations information which they refused to the House. It was treating Parliament with contempt. Proceeding, Sir Charles referred to Mr. Fielding's action in calling a private meeting of certain coal owners and acquainting them with his views on the tariff. The meeting at the Windsor Hotel on March 13 was a deliberate attempt to take an unfair and dishonorable advantage of the position which the Government occupied in the interests of the party. Mr. Fielding's declarations should not have been made in a private parlor of a hotel, but on the floors of Parliament. Then his statement would have been given to the press, but why was it that when changing the tariff the Government took possession of the telegraph wires from the moment the tariff resolutions were tabled until they were passed? It was to prevent anyone obtaining undue advantage from the knowledge which they might acquire here. Gigantic fortunes could be made within an hour if the information were known. He charged that the meeting of Parliament had been postponed from the 11th to the 25th for the purpose of delaying the bringing down of the tariff and hastening on the Nova Scotia elections. This action on the part of both Governments was a disgraceful conspiracy. They were playing with loaded dice and marked cards. [Loud Opposition cheers.]

Mr. Fielding said it was evident news must have come to Sir Charles Tupper that his friends in Nova Scotia were again realizing the cause of Toryism and Tupperism in that province was dead or dying. [Liberal cheers.] If the hon. gentleman had any idea of carrying the provincial elections he would not have made his ill-natured speech to day. Adverting to the G. T. R. matter, he repeated that the negotiations were not yet completed. If the statement of Sir Charles Rivers-Wilson had affected the stock markets the Government had nothing whatever to do with it.

Mr. Foster: Well, how about Mr. Dobell?

Mr. Fielding: Mr. Dobell took care of himself and he is well able to do it. [Laughter.] Continuing, he said the statement he had made in Montreal would be the statement when the budget speech was made. The Opposition had it before them and could make use of it if they pleased. The hon. gentleman (Sir Charles Tupper) was one of those represented at the meeting, because he was a director of the General Mining Association.

Sir Charles Tupper: The day I accepted a position under the Government I resigned that office.

Mr. Fielding: Well, the point is of no importance. [Opposition laughter.]

Sir Charles Tupper: May I ask was more than one company represented?

Mr. Fielding: I believe there were.

Sir Charles Tupper: Mr. Button of the International Coal Company said not.

Mr. Fielding, continuing, said there were good and sufficient reasons for the course he had taken, reasons which would commend themselves to the country when they were made known. Proceeding, he pointed out that Sir Charles Tupper was responsible for abolishing the coal duties in 1871 and strangling the National Policy.

Mr. Foster: Eight years before it was born. [Much laughter.]

Mr. Fielding then charged the Opposition with having when in power condemned the Liberals for advocating reciprocity in coal and yet the Government of which Sir Charles Tupper was a member had authorized the writing of a letter to Mr. S. J. Ritchie of Akron, Ohio, to take to Washington, promising reciprocity in coal.

Sir Charles Tupper: Will the hon. gentleman allow me to correct him again? I was not a member of the Government at that time. [Opposition cheers and laughter.]

Mr. Fielding: Well, the hon. gentleman has been slipping in and out so often that it is difficult to follow him. [Laughter.] However, he is out now, and is going to stay out. [Liberal cheers.] In conclusion, he said that it was a scandalous exhibition of duplicity and double dealing on the part of the Conservatives in their policy regarding coal. With regard to the Nova Scotia elections, he had had no communication with the members of that Government in reference to the elections, but he had no doubt that on 20th April Nova Scotia would again show her adhesion to Liberal principles. [Ministerial cheers.]

Dr. Reid moved a resolution in favor of bonusing the export of creamery made butter trade to the extent of one cent a pound, the bonus to be paid only to those farmers sending in regular supplies. In support of his resolution, he urged the necessity of taking encouraging the butter industry in view of the probability of the cheese production of the Northwest being largely stimulated. He congratulated the Government upon carrying out the late Administration's cold storage scheme. If the Government could find millions for the Crow's Nest Pass Railway and for canals, it could surely find the twenty or thirty thousand dollars it would take to give this small bonus to the farmers.

The Minister of Agriculture replied at length. He said the experience in Canada and abroad was against the principles of a butter export bonus. During the six years it was given in Victoria, Australia, the export throve, but so soon as the bonus was stopped the export ceased. For years Quebec gave a similar bonus, but it did not increase the output as largely in proportion as it increased in Ontario without a bonus, although Quebec was better adapted for dairying than Ontario. Moreover, the bonus went to the buyer and not to the farmer. Mr. Fisher also believed that Canada had passed the bonus stage in her dairying industry. For the past three years, successively our export of butter to England had doubled each year, and he believed next season would double the last. During the winter butter had gone to England weekly from Canada. He announced that the cold storage scheme had now been perfected and completed. [Applause.] He concluded by requesting Dr. Reid to withdraw his resolution.

Mr. Davin, however, moved the adjournment of the debate, and so the discussion went over, it being 6 o'clock.

Mr. Casey, after recess, moved the second reading of the bill for the better protection of railway employes. He said it provided for compulsory use of automatic air brakes, continuous running boards, outside ladders on freight cars and iron rails on top of each car. He said railway employes all over the country endorsed the bill. The ... was read a second time.

Mr. Casey then moved that it be referred to a special committee, consisting of Messrs. Maclean, McGregor, Ingram, Choquette, Stubbs, Belcourt, Powell, Ellis and Casey.

Col. Tisdale though no good could come of referring the bill to a special committee. The Railway Committee was the proper body to handle it.

Mr. Maclean said in the past no headway could be made with a bill of this kind before the Railway Committee. He wanted the measure to be considered by a special committee as well as his own.

Mr. Ives and Sir Charles Tupper favored a reference to the Railway Committee, but Mr. Ingram, as an old railway man, supported the special committe idea. With the addition of Mr. Blair's name, Mr. Casey's motion carried.

Mr. Maclean then moved the second reading of his bill, the purport of which is somewhat similar to Mr. Casey's. The motion was carried, and the bill was referred to a special committee.

Mr. Cowan moved the second reading of his alien labor bill. He said the time had arrived when an honest effort should be put forth to protect the Canadian laborer and artisan at home. To his personal knowledge Canadians entering the United States had their personal effects ransacked and their letters read by the myrmidons of the United States Government. The national honor of Canada demanded that the ends of justice should be met by the adoption of similar legislation. The Canadian artisan needed no protection in the open field of competition, but if any country was going to debar Canadians from enjoying the fruits of honest toil, then the Canadian laborer should be protected at home. [Cheers.] His bill might smack of retaliation, but he could not help that. If he could prevent it no American was going to slide down the cellar door of Canada unscathed while they put "tax" in theirs. [Laughter.] "No coercion" was his motto, and he trusted there would be unanimous suport to his bill.

Mr. Taylor said it was refreshing to hear the speech of the hon. gentleman. In 1890, he (Taylor) had first introduced this bill into Parliament, but it had then met with a vastly different reception from the Liberals. Mr. Cowan's bill, eight clauses of it at any rate, was copied from his (Taylor's). He was glad to know that through his effort the country had been educated upto adoption of a measure of this kind. He objected, however, to the clause added by Mr. Cowan, that the bill should only become law on proclamation of the Governor-in-Council. He would also move to insert a clause that all public contractors must be residents of Canada. In conclusion, Mr. Taylor explained that although he was on deck a day before the House opened and gave notice of his bill the first day of the session, Mr. Cowan got ahead by sending down his bill by mail two weeks in advance. However, whether it was called the Taylor bill or the Cowan bill, he cared not, as long as it passed and the workingmen of Canada were protected.

Dr. Sproule congratulated Mr. Cowan upon having become a protectionist, and promised him a cordial suport.

E. F. Clarke held that while such legislation was in a measure degrading, yet if Parliament failed to pass it Parliament would lose the respect of the workingmen of Canada.

Mr. Wood (Brockville) said that whatever might be his doubts as to the jurisdiction of this Parliament to put such a bill into operation, he certainly approved of the principle of the bill and its being enacted into legislation.

Messrs. McGregor and Ganong supported the principle of the proposed measure.

Mr. Wallace, in the course of a practical speech, showed the inconsistency of allowing American contractors to compete for Canadian public works, while Canadians could not get any sort of contract in the United States, and the Government, he said, were allowing a foreign company to come here and do the bank note and stamp printing for the Government.

Mr. Davies: "And committing the further crime of erecting a $60,000 building here."

Mr. Wallace: "And of having work done by foreigners that should go to Canadians."

Mr. Davies: "Oh, no."

Mr. Wallace: "Oh, yes. But I am not going to discuss that now as the bank note contract will come up before the end of the session. In Toronto, when many men were out of work the contract for re-building a large store had been given to a Buffalo architect, and he had brought his Buffalo artisans with him. Such a thing would not be tolerated in the United States and should not be allowed in Canada.

Mr. Henderson also favored an alien labor law.

Mr. Laurier, in closing the debate, explained that he had not spoken at an earlier stage, because there could be no doubt of the position of the Government in regard to this measure. The Unanimous feeling of the House appeared to be that no alternative was left to the people of Canada but to enact similar labor laws to those in force in the United States. [Cheers.] The Government was reluctant to come to the conclusion that no option was left but apply to our neighbors the same measure of justice, or injustice, that they apply to us.

But he was not in favor of going a step farther than was necessary to uphold the dignity of the country, and do what was necessary to have the obnoxious United States law removed. The prospect, therefore, was for us to adopt the framing of the present American legislation, word for word, and that had been done in the bill before the House. The Corliss bill having been vetoed by the late President, was not now the United States law, and he was therefore of opinion that it should not be made the law of Canada, but rather that we should limit our law to a copy of the United States law as it is to-day. He would suggest, therefore, that the bill be referred to the Senate Committe, and that would be conducive to the carrying out of the general sentiment, if that committee were clothed with the power of investigation. In effect the operation of the United States law was confined to Windsor, Niagara Falls and the 1000 Islands, and not in Maine or Vermont, so the committe might ascertain to what extent the Canadian law might be made applicable to certain districts.

The bill of Mr. Cowan having been read a second time the Premier moved that it be referred to a committee composed of Hon. Messrs. Davies, Dillon, Langelier, Wood and Messrs. Casgrain, Taylor and Cowan, with power to send for persons and papers and report from time to time.

The motion carried and Mr. Taylor's bill, having been read a second time, was duly referred to the same committee.

Mr. Chancey asked if in this way the bill was likely to become law this session, to which the Premier replied with the asurance that the Government had no intention in referring it to the committee to have it killed by that committee.

THE WAY THE MONEY WENT.

To our good Conservative friends, especially those of the extreme type, the head of a government official is a sacred affair, that is, when it is on Conservative shoulders. The present Dominion Government cannot make a dismissal, no matter how greatly justified, without incurring the vituperative condemnation of the journals of the straitest sect of Conservatives—for there are now many sects of the party. We all will agree that under the late Government the public service was greatly overmanned, and what the present Government is doing is to simply restore a decent balance between the work to be done and the number of men necessary to do it. The Customs Department seems to have been one of the favourite fields for pap poachers, though the post office department has pretty well demonstrated the extent and character of the methods employed to make the public service subservient to the promotion of political profit. Hon. Mr. Paterson, the Controller of Customs, in answering a boomerang question by a member of the House, was able to show numerous examples of how the public service has been milked for the benefit of political parasites through the connivance or, at least, with the knowledge of the late Conservative Government. Prince Edward County may be given as a specimen brick. Mr. Paterson stated in the House that eight officers in this county had been dismissed since the present Government came into power, and that as many outports and preventive stations attached to the Port of Picton had been abolished. And any honest man will agree that this course was justifiable. The figures of receipts at these stations and the salaries paid bear a disgracefully absurd proportion. For instance, Geo. J. Chadd, a sub-collector at Weller's Bay, got a salary of $400 a year, and it is almost incredible in view of this salary, though it is the truth, he did not collect a single cent of revenue in the fiscal years of 1892-93 and 1893-94. In view of such facts, which, of course, existed with the knowledge of the late Government, it is an outrage that such a valuable officer should be dismissed—"another head in the basket"—and that such an office, paying so magnificent a revenue, should be closed. It is an application of the evil principle of the "spoils system" that our Conservative friends very properly condemn. In 1894-95 this same useful official collected 40 cents, and in 1896 the extraordinary sum of $9. That is, in four years he collected in customs duties $9.40 for the Government and collected for himself, by way of salary, $1,600. Therefore, for every dollar of salary paid the large sum of about half a cent of of revenue was collected, or to put it another way it cost $170 for every dollar of revenue collected. Another valuable official whose "head went into the basket" and his office with it, was John Black, a preventive officer, who drew $300 a year, and in the past three years he has not collected a single cent; and though as a preventive officer he may have done a little preventive work, yet the palpable fact is that he didn't come within any reasonable distance of earning his salary. Mr. Patterson promptly dismissed these officials, and he deserves credit instead of blame. Public treasury leeches are not required. There are legitimate wages enough for spending the public funds without paying political pets of the late government handsome salaries for doing nothing.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

THE Mail and Empire hints that Mgr. Merry de Val, the Papal delegate, would go on a boozing expedition with Mr. Tarte in the "Cumberland," on which the organ stretched the truth into exceedingly thin layers. The organ's refinement of thought and exaggerated respect for ecclesiastical dignitaries is a little too too, for this work-a-day age.

THE Mail introduces a remark upon the silence of Mr. James McMullen in the House by the finely humourous question, "where is Jim?" Mr. McMullen hasn't it is true, had much to say in the House this session. He has been co-operating with the House in giving the Opposition orators rope enough to hang themselves.

ON May 15th Toronto, the good, again wrestles with the Sunday car question vote. In the vote taken in January, 1892, there were cast 24,036 votes, of which a majority of 3,986 was against the Sunday car proposal. In August of next year the vote on a similar subject resulted in a majority of 1,003 against cars with 27,311 votes cast. Politics are bad enough for arousing partizan bitterness, but judging by the past there is danger of the coming vote on a semi-religious subject stirring up acriminously strong feelings.

RIGHTS OF MINORITIES

No Longer Guaranteed by the Constitution of This Country, Argues Senator Scott.

Ottawa, April 6.—(Special.)—Hon. R. W. Scott made an interesting speech in the Senate to-day on the school question.

Previous to resumption of the debate Sir Oliver Mowat introduced a bill to provide for trials before jury in certain cases in the Territories. The object of the measure, he explained, was to remove any doubt which might exist as to the jurisdiction of the Territorial Assembly in passing a bill of the same title, which was passed at its last session.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell: Will it give a larger jurisdiction in the matter of such legislation?

Sir Oliver Mowat: The bill only provides for the special act referred to, and does not go into the larger field of general jurisdiction.

The debate on the address was continued by Senator Scott. Coming to the Manitoba school question, he expressed the conviction that the minority had been guaranteed Separate schools under the Act of the Union. It might sound paradoxical, but he now believed that that right had been swept away by the judgment of the Privy Council, and was no longer a part of the constitution. He had all along believed the Schools Acts of 1890 should immediately have been disallowed by the Federal Government. That was the kind of legislation Mr. Blake's resolution exempted from the operation of the principle enunciated in his resolution. Had the Dominion Government, acting on the principle, affirmed in that resolution, immediately submitted the question to disallow any of the Acts of 1890 to the Supreme Court, we now know that it would have been declared that that legislation was ultra vires of the Local Legislature, which opinion would have vindicated the action of the Government in disallowing the Acts. And there would have been no appeal from that decision or opinion to the Privy Council, for it was only in the following year that the law was passed allowing an appeal from the judgment of the Supreme Court in cases referred to that court by the executive for a reasoned opinion. The delay in submitting the question to the courts, however, resulted in the overruling of the unanimous judgment of the Supreme Court declaring the Acts of 1890 ultra vires of the Provincial Legislature. That judgment of the Privy Council was clear cut and definite, and resulted in a terrible failure of justice.

He then went on to show that the judgment of the Privy Council in declaring the School Acts of 1890 unconstitutional was tantamount to a declaration that the rights of the minority had been taken away. The Supreme Court in giving judgment in the subsequent appeal recognized this, and Mr. Justice Taschereau's utterances on this point declared most explicitly that since the Acts of 1890 had been declared constitutional by the Privy Council the constitution was changed so far as the rights of minorities were concerned, and the Federal Government had no power to interfere or hear an appeal from the minority. This judgment was of course overruled by the subsequent appeal to the Privy Council, but the second judgment of the Privy Council, he maintained, was merely permissive—an expression of opinion. This was proven, inasmuch as it could not be executed or enforced. It was merely a declaration, and not a judgment.

MAINTENANCE EXPENSES REDUCED

The License Bill Debated in Committee and Passed After a Few Changes Had Been Made—Report of the Bureau of Mines for Ontario.

Toronto, April 7.—In the Ontario Legislature to-day the Attorney-General presented the report of the special committe appointed to inquire into the maintenance of Government House, which recommended that the present building and property should be sold within five years, and another secured at less expense, the balance of the purchase money to form a fund for maintenance, the expenses to be reduced to $3500 per year with the exception of the first year after the appointment of a lieutenant-governor, when $1000 additional shall be allowed; one of the secretaries of the Lieutenant-Governor to be dispensed with and the pay of gardeners, etc., to be reduced to $1500.

The Attorney-General introduced a bill relating to Government House and property, carrying into effect the recommendations of the report, which was read a second time.

Hon. J. M. Gibson introduced a bill to amend the Ontario Game Protection Act.

THIRD READINGS.

The following bills were read a third time:

To amend and consolidate the Acts respecting the administration of justice in those portions of the province outside county organization—The Attorney-General.

To incorporate the Seine River, Foley and Fort Francis Telegraph and Telephone Company of Ontario—Mr. Charlton.

Respecting certain lands forming part of the property of the University of Toronto—Mr. Ross.

With reference to the registration of instruments in respect of unpatented lands, and the valuation of mining lands, for the purpose of assurance under the Land Titles Act—The Attorney-General.

To amend the Wills Act of Ontario—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the Village of Kemptville.—Mr. Bush.

Setting apart certain wild lands of the Crown for the use of the University of Toronto—Mr. Ross.

THE LICENSE LAW.

The House went into committee on the Liquor License Act, with Mr. Stratton in the chair.

Mr. German moved an amendment striking out the latter part of the first section of section 3, which gives the municipalities power to regulate the hours of sale. He said that with the consent and approval of the temperance people, the power of licensing had been transferred from the municipalities to the Government. It would be a mistake to go back in any degree to the former system or to give the municipalities any power in the matter, as it would be a continual source of trouble and disturbance.

Dr. Meacham pointed out that while the bill gave the municipalities power to shorten the hours, they had no power to extend them longer than fixed by the bill. If the Government would further shorten the hours he would gladly support the amendment, but not otherwise. Mr. Haycock supported the amendment, and considered that to give the municipalities the power to fix licenses would be a retrograde step. It was desirable, moreover, that there should be uniformity in the matter.

Mr. Cleland was of opinion that the municipalities should have the opportunity to reduce the hours if they saw fit. If they injured their business and gave other towns the advantage that was their own affair.

Mr. Marter thought the Government alone should be responsible both for the number of licenses and the hours of sale. There were differences of opinion among temperance men on the subject. The Dominion Alliance were satisfied with the clause as it stood.

Mr. McLean regarded the clause it was proposed to strike out as one of the best in the Act.

Mr. Crawford did not think it would be a good thing to have municipal elections run on temperance lines and other issues overlooked.

After some further discussion the Attorney-General said that the Government thought the solution arrived at by the Government was the best, and suggested that the amendment of Mr. German should be withdrawn and the whole section as it stood voted upon. If it were voted down it would take away from the municipalities all powers in regard to licenses.

Mr. Miscampbell advocated the striking out of the whole section.

Mr. Howland in an address, the rhetorical sentences of which suggested an article in The North American Review or some similar publication, deprecated placing any further power in the hands of the municipalities. He expressed his satisfaction that the Government realised that a well-administered license law was preferable to prohibition, and deprecated the habit of treating as the principal cause of intemperance.

In view of the expressions of opinion of the House, Mr. German withdrew his amendment, and at Hon. Mr. Harcourt's request the whole section relating to the powers of municipalities stood over for further consideration.

Dr Willoughby opposed the clause relating to druggists, contending that any druggist should be at liberty to fill any prescription which a doctor might write. He suggested that the restriction of the section be made to apply only to cities.

The Attorney-General did not think that druggists sold liquor in large quantities.

Dr. McKay of Oxford proposed an amendment to make the section applicable to doctors who sold drugs.

Hon G. W. Ross said the idea of the clause was to prevent tippling in drug stores and to bring the trade out of the disrepute into which it had fallen.

After some further discussion Dr. McKay's amendment was adopted.

Section 10, in reference to the sale of liquor to minors was considered. Hon. Mr. Harcourt introduced an amendment to sub-section 2, applying to clubs, changing the word "supplied" to "sold."

Mr. German thought the section relating to the sale of liquor to minors should be struck out entirely. He considered that youths who were accustomed to liquor in their father's homes were less likely to become drunkards than if they grew up without it. The amendment forbade young men buying liquor in clubs, but it did not prevent their being treated by others.

Mr. Haycock sarcastically asked Mr. German why he did not introduce a bill in the interests of temperance, compelling parents to keep liquor in their homes. [Laughter.]

Sub-section 1 of section 10 was amended so that the prohibition of supplying liquors to minors does not apply to liquors supplied on the written order of parents, guardians or employers.

Some minor changes were made in other clauses and the committee rose.

Hon. J. M. Gibson presented the sixth report of the Bureau of Mines, which stated that, compared with the transactions in mineral lands in 1894, there was an increase last year in the number of locations sold and leased of 218, in the areas of lands sold and leased of 13,833 acres, and in the receipts from sales and rentals of $22,644. The total collections on account of lands sold and leased last year was $35,581 (not including $5006 of rent money paid on lands previously leased), and during the last few weeks of the year there was paid in a further sum on lands applied for of $26,436.

The nickel and copper mines and works gave employment last year to nearly the same number of men as in the previous year.

The petroleum statistics do not show marked change from those of former years, but prices for crude have been well maintained.

The gypsum mines and works and the salt works continue to be conducted upon a moderate scale to supply the home market.

The production of natural rock and Portland cements is well maintained as compared with previous years.

Hon. J. M. Gibson's bill respecting loan companies was referred back to committee in order to make a number of minor changes.

The bill respecting land surveyors and the survey of lands (Mr. Gibson) was read a third time and passed.

The bill respecting shops and places other than factories (Mr. Dryden) was adopted in committee.

Hon. Mr. Gibson introduced a bill respecting the incorporation of mining companies.

BRISK FIGHTING IN CRETE

Insurgents Advanced on the Turkish Outposts at Candia, but Were Repulsed.

Canea, Island of Crete, April 7.—Brisk fighting took place to-day outside of Candia. The insurgents, in considerable strength, advanced from four points, and attacked the Turkish outposts. The latter maintained their position, with the loss of two men killed and eleven wounded.

Threatening Kisamo.

Canea, Island of Crete, April 7.—The insurgents of the vicinity of Kisamo, at the western end of the island, have written to the foreign admirals, notifying the latter that they are projecting an attack upon the fort at Kisamo. The Turkish garrison there has asked for assistance.

Two thousand insurgents have gathered around Sitka, at the eastern end of the island, and a French warship has landed five guns in anticipation of an attack upon that place.

Fire at Candia.

Canea, April 7.—A fire has broken out at Candia, near the cathedral, and a number of houses are now in flames. The British and Italian troops are demolishing the adjacent buildings in order to check the spread of the conflagration.

Rear-Admiral E. H. Harris of the British fleet was shot at by a Moslem irregular, while crossing a field near Suda. The bullet plowed the grass at his feet. This is his second escape.

DEATH IN THE LODGE ROOM.

Robert Kirk, an Old and Respected Orangeman, Expires in Douglas Hall.

Toronto, April 8.

While in the act of rising to make a speech at the meeting of Rev. George Walker L.O.L., 701, in Douglas' Hall, Bloor and Bathurst-streets, last night, Mr. Robert Kirk fell forward unconscious. Medical aid was summoned, but Mr. Kirk expired a few moments after he was taken ill.

Deceased was a member of McKinley L.O.L., 275, and was visiting Walker Lodge. He was for many years an employe of the Toronto Postoffice, having resigned his position some time ago. He resided at 28 Borden-street.

It may save you time and money to be informed that, when you need a blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the kind most in favor with the medical profession. It is the standard, as such, the only blood-purifier admitted at the Chicago World's Fair.

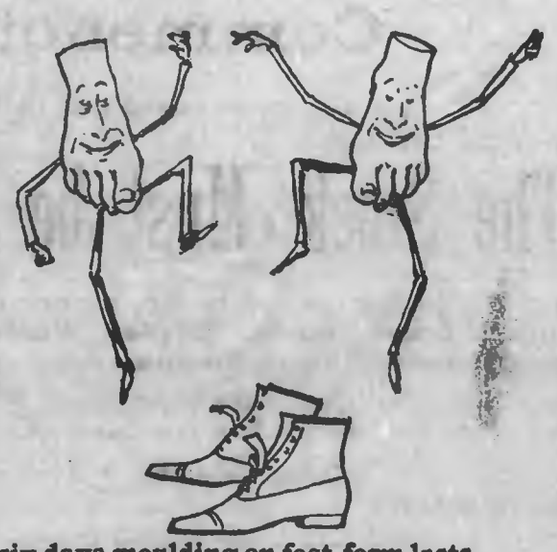
Joy for your feet



A Slater Shoe Agency opened, to bring them comfort at the common price of pain.

Shoes to wear, which are curved into kindness around corns and tender spots. All the little peculiarities of feet considered in the making—all the "pinch" (which is really Shrink) taken out of the leather through six days moulding on foot-form lasts.

Made to fit real feet not ideal feet.

Made in the only Canadian factory which devotes its whole efforts to the production of one single line of Shoes.

Made too by a staff trained solely to bring out the niceties of that best process on earth—the Goodyear—which is exactly the same as the hand-made, with more uniformity, at half the cost.

Shoes with a character—each pair signed by the makers, and their fixed price, (based on value, not on appearance only) —stamped on the soles.

A tag on each pair tells the leather it is made of—the wear it will give—the service it is adapted to—and its effect on the feet.

Fine Herd of Cattle.

Mr. George Webber of North Monaghan, brought a fine herd of cattle, composed of twenty head, to town yesterday, to be weighed on the market scales. The herd is to be shipped to the European markets for Easter beef, and as the animals averaged 1,400 pounds each they are in fine condition. One cow alone weighed 1,560 pounds. A good price has been realised for the lot. Mr. Webber knows how to feed as well as buy.

The Watkin Mills Recital.

The subscription list for the joint recital to be given by Mr. Watkin Mills and Mr. George Fox, in Bradburn's Opera House, on Wednesday, April 21, is rapidly filling. Those desiring first choice of seats should at once have their names put on the list as the plan will positively not be open to the public until after all subscribers have marked their seats. A list has been opened at Ormond & Walsh's drug store and the public are cordially invited to subscribe.

The Apple Shipment.

At least 1,200,000 barrels of apples have been shipped this year in excess of any previous season from Canadian and United States ports. The total figures aggregate some 2,780,000 barrels, while the best previous year was 1891-92, when 1,450,000 barrels were shipped. The figures, however, for the present year are only up to March 20th, and before the season is over will be increased to a considerable degree. During 1895-96 the total shipment from all North American ports amounted to only 751,255 barrels.

Communication Road.

There is a spot on the Communication Road near its junction with the third line, where a heap of snow lies in the middle of the road compelling people to take to the ditch. A man with a shovel would in a few minutes remove this obstruction and make one of the most generally travelled roads in the vicinity of the town fit to be travelled. It is to be hoped that the pathmaster who has charge of this beat will look into the matter and have the obstruction referred to removed.

Mr. R. M. Roy's Suit Against the G. T. R.

The following is from the report of Osgoode Hall proceedings on Wednesday: Roy vs. G. T. R. Co.—Poussette, Q. C., for plaintiff, appealed from judgment of MacMahon, J., who tried the action without a jury in Peterborough and Toronto, dismissing it with costs. The action was brought for wrongful dismissal of plaintiff from the service of defendants as tie inspector. The plaintiff contended that he was engaged upon a contract of yearly hiring, and was entitled to more than a month's notice of termination of the contract, which was all that he received. He also complained of the improper admission of certain documents in evidence. W. M. Douglas, for defendants, contra. Appeal dismissed with costs, on payment to plaintiff's solicitor of amount of plaintiff's salary up to 16th June, 1896.

LENTEN SERVICES

As Conducted in St. John's Church Last Night.

Rev. Geo. Warren, rector of Lakefield, delivered the sermon at the special Lenten service in St. John's church last evening, speaking from the text, "What shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul."

The speaker delivered a very thoughtful address on the question of "What shall a man give in exchange for his soul," arguing at the beginning rather from the intellectual standpoint than from the Gospel on the permanency of the real man—the soul as opposed to the shell or body. He afterwards applied his reasoning to the Gospel side of the question, showing that whilst one was mortal the other was immortal.

The services were conducted by Rev. E. V. Stevenson.

EVANGELIST RANTON.

"A Good Thing: Pass it On" is the Subject For This Evening.

The interest in the special services conducted by Evangelist Ranton continues unabated, and each evening the seating capacity of the George street Methodist church is severely taxed to accommodate those who flock to hear the earnest young speaker. Professions are numerous at the close of each service, where after meetings are conducted with great fervency.

An effort was made to secure the drill shed for a special service on Sunday afternoon, when Mr. Ranton intended giving his views on dancing, but it was found that the expense of seating it would be too great and the idea was abandoned.

Last evening the subject of the evangelist's address was "Judas Iscariot, and his Modern Imitations." To-night he will preach on "A Good Thing—Pass it on."

PHOTOGRAPHS OF CANADA.

What is Peterborough Doing in the Matter?

Sir Donald Smith, Canada's High Commissioner at London, is making a collection of photographs to be used for lantern slides and in other ways in the work of setting worth the desirability of Canada as a home for the emigrant, and thus getting desirable settlers for the Dominion. Sir Donald Smith has sent letters to all the principal cities and towns, including Peterborough. What action is our council taking, or proposing to take? It is an important matter. Not only will the country at large be benefitted, but the town, which has so many advantages to offer, will also stand to derive direct benefit from such an enterprise. The town of Ingersoll has already taken action in the matter, and in view of our own town council having yet to do its duty in this regard, it will be excusable to bring to its notice the following excellent hints given by Mayor Elliott of Brantford to a newspaper reporter:

"I have not as yet had the photographs taken, and will not do so until the trees are in full leaf and the city looking at its best. In England they have so many snow scenes from Canada that you can scarcely wonder at Canada's reputation across the water of being a cold and bleak country. I am strongly of the opinion that good summer scenes would go far to correct this most erroneous idea. The views I will select will show our best manufacturing establishments, such as Waterous', Massey-Harris, the Cotton Mill, etc. Then I think a birds'-eye view of the city from the hospital, and one of the parks would look well with the others. It will be some little time yet before the views will be taken."

Something in this line would suit Peterborough admirably. A bird's eye view of this town taken from the surrounding hills, which present splendid points of vantage, would show Peterborough's extent and solidity to excellent advantage. We need population and additional manufactures and we shall not get either by hiding our light under a bushel. It would not perhaps be amiss to have every Peterborough photograph have an inscription indicating the view and with the addition of something like this: "Peterborough, 1200 population, splendid railway and (canal) connections. Best water power in Canada," or something similar. We can not advertise the town too much nor begin too soon.

BATTALION NOTES.

The Lee Enfield Rifles Were Received at the Drill Shed Wednesday.

Two hundred and fifty Lee-Enfield Rifles arrived in town for the Battalion Tuesday, and were received at the armory Wednesday, replacing the Martini-Henry's and Sniders formerly in use. The new rifles will probably be issued to the members of the Battalion at the next regular drill.

It is stated on good authority that a number of changes will take place in the personnel of the staff of the Battalion officers. A number who retired some time ago intend re-entering active service again but the time is not yet quite ripe for an official announcement.

The proposition to send over a detachment of Canadian volunteers to England, on the occasion of the Queen's Jubilee, has not met with the approval of the local battalion, or, more correctly speaking, the method spoken of is not thought one which will induce the best men to go. The moneyed men of the volunteer force are not the ones who would most fittingly represent the colonial militia, and a communication is now being drafted by the officers of the 57th pointing out this fact and urging that some other method be devised, which will enable the pick of the different regiments to go. A consideration of four or five hundred dollars would prevent a large number of the most thoroughly drilled officers from joining the expedition, which they would be otherwise proud to do. The local force are of the opinion that if the men are asked to give their time free this should be enough, and a splendid body of volunteers could be raised by picking the best men from each battalion. The communication which is now being drafted will be laid before the public in the course of a few days, and the suggestions contained therein will be learned with interest.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes manager Thomas Dawson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

THE WHEEL.

Camp life for cyclists during the vacation period promises to become sooner or later the proper thing for the devotees of the pastime in this country. Several clubs in London have established permanent camps for their members and these have been exceedingly popular during the season. The idea of cyclists' camps in this country originated from the experience of the London clubs. It is very likely that the examples of the club camps will be followed in this country this season, some talk to that effect having been made by leading organizations.

Many cyclists, largely beginners in the popular pastime, scorn the use of toe-clips as being the fad of the scorcher. That is where they err. A sense of security is invaluable to the cyclist. If the rider is well seated and feels certain of a firm hold upon grips and pedals, steep hills lose their terrors and the difficulties and annoyances of rough road riding are greatly lessened. The toe-clip, as applied to the old-time wheel was a most dangerous thing for road use, and affected only by daring riders, who fancied imitation of the racing man to be the chief end of cycling existence. But the invention of the "safety" and consequent passing of the "header" advanced the clip to a leading place among useful accessories and clothed it with a new importance. The common assertion that the toe-clip is dangerous may be regarded as wholly due to lingering memories of bruised heads and bloodied noses, primarily caused by misplaced confidence in the appurtenance in the days of its use on high bicycles as before mentioned. The only fall that a sane rider can get with a safety is a side fall the bad results of which can by no possibility be increased through use of the toe-clip. With the modern wheel the toe-clip should be of as much value to pleasure riders as to those who live to scorch. A little experience will enable any rider, man or woman, to realize its merits as a labour-saving contrivance. It will be found distinctly advantageous and few riders once accustomed to its use would part with it for many times its cost if it were no longer to be sold.

A proof of how easily inventors may wander away from the straight path is seen in the evolution of the bicycle mud-guard. Manufacturers have for years been endeavouring to find a way of disposing of the mud after it was thrown from the wheel. The idea of taking the mud off the wheel seems never to have struck them. This is what an inventor has done, and the problem on which so much gray matter has been expended is solved, with a simplicity especially mortifying to those whom it has so long baffled. The new guard consists of a sheet metal plate, carrying a thin rubber strip, which brushes the mud off the tire, and prevents it from flying upon the clothing of the rider. The guard is held in position by V-shaped carriers of wire, which straddle the wheels, being secured to the forks of the bicycle. The guard plate has a spring tension fitted upon the carrier, and the brush can be thrown on or off the tire by touching the plate with the foot. The brush, which is renewable, is about one-sixteenth of an inch thick, and when in use it bears upon the tire so lightly that the friction is inappreciable. It keeps the mud from both the rider and the wheel.

Sandow, the strong man, and his bicycle tire valve were recently exploited in an English cycle trade paper. Of his invention the man of muscle is made to say:

"I claim for it that it is as perfect as a valve can be, and has the great advantages of being very simple, very cheap and composed only of rubber. It has not, I may tell you, been formally introduced to the trade; but these things get around, you know, and while one well-known firm is anxious for me to let them have it, another big concern is experimenting with a sample to try and discover if it really is all that I know it to be. On my own cycle and on those of one or two of my friends, I have had these valves in use for nearly a year, and there has not been one single instance of their going wrong.

"The contrivance is simplicity itself. A short piece of indiarubber tubing goes into the inner tube of the tire. This, instead of being straight, has been given a slight twist—one complete turn, in fact—and then vulcanized. This keeps the little tube in a twisted condition, and that twist closes the tube until air is forced through it by the pump. That, practically, is my valve. And the harder you pump the tire, the tighter the valve closes on account of the pressure of air upon it from inside directly the pump ceases to work.

"For extra safety, when the tire is complete, I insert a little plug down in the valve, reaching as far as the twist, and has its point there nipped by it. Grains of dust can be inserted into the valve and it yet remains air-tight, for the rubber closes on the particle of grit, and all around it, and the effect of his presence is nil.

"On top of the cap crowning the little plug I fix a short pin two or three inches long. When you wish to let the air out of your tire, you take out the plug, reverse it and push the pin down the valve. When the pin reaches the twist in the rubber, it straightens this out, the tube is opened and in a moment your tire is deflated.

"One of the highest authorities on tires and all things therewith connected, has told me personally that he can see nothing that can possibly detract from the value of my valve in any way, with the exception of the question as to how the rubber would stand in a very hot climate.

A HINT TO THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

An Important Help in Collecting Historical Data of the Early Days of the County.

In view of the work undertaken by the Town and County of Peterborough Historical Society, namely that of securing the viva voce statements of the recollections of the pioneer residents of the county, it is submitted that the collection of a list of old persons in the county who have reached the age of the limit of life fixed by the Psalmist, should be secured as an important preliminary step. A similar list recently appeared, in the Saturday Globe, of Toronto residents, and the Historical Society of Oxford have taken steps to compile a list of all the residents of Oxford county, who have arrived at the Scriptural span of life, three score and ten. Mr. R. W. Sawtell has taken charge of the list which, when completed, will be published in the local papers. "It is requested that the following particulars be sent in to this gentleman on postal card: Full name, place of present residence, place of birth, exact date of birth; wives and widows should also state the name of the husband.

An alphabetical list will be kept and the names entered with particulars as received, and the public are requested to send in a list of persons over seventy years of age, and the newspapers are requested to co-operate in the work."

Apart from the interest, such a list would be to the general public it would be of the greatest use to the committee of the Peterborough Historical Society by indicating what persons are to be called upon in the work of collecting a record of the early recollections of the oldest settlers.

The collection of such a list would be practically without expense; and only a little prompt action and exhibition of public spirit is required to do the work.

THE CHAMPLAIN ELECTION.

The Conservatives are naturally jubilant over the fact that at last they have been able to win a bye-election. Yesterday Dr. Marcotte, the Conservative candidate, was elected in Champlain by a majority of 160 as against 376, the majority in the June election. Champlain is a Conservative hive, no Liberal having been elected there since Confederation, and this is the third time a Liberal has had the audacity to contest the riding. In 1878 the Liberal candidate was defeated by a majority of 1,146 in a total vote of 2,220. In the course of time—in June, 1896—this great majority was cut down to 376, and yesterday it was further reduced to 160, an indication of how Conservative ascendancy is steadily, if slowly, losing ground. In the last contest the so-called Liberal candidate was not in accord with the Liberal policy on the school question. He refused to consider it settled, and as a result he has been himself settled. If he had adopted the Liberal platform, as Mr. Guite did in Wright County, he would doubtless have been elected. His course alienated many Liberal votes, and failed to gain him any strength from the Conservatives. Under the circumstances the triumph of Dr. Marcotte is an individual one. The contest was between two men agreeing in the main on their policy in regard to the school question. If Dr. Trudel had adopted the policy of the party to which he belonged, not only would his chances of winning have been improved to the point, perhaps, of winning, but he would have had the sympathy of the party in the reverse he has suffered. He chose to pose as an individual, and as an individual he fell.

THE BIG CHAMBERS BABY.

Her Physical Measurements Compared to Fitzsimmons'.

Many will remember the big baby girl of Benjamin H. Chambers, which was exhibited at numerous places in this county. Mr. Aaron Nicholls, of Bridgehorth, an old neighbour of the Chambers family, at present in Nebraska, sent a copy of the measurements of Fitzsimmons and Corbett to them, and in return received a letter containing a few measurements of the big baby, which compared thus with the measurements of the champion:

Baby.			Fitz.
15 inches	neck	15 inches
38 "	chest	41 "
40 "	waist	32 "
27 "	thigh	20 "
13 "	calf	13½ "
7½ "	wrist	6½ "
6 feet	height	5 ft 11½ in

"Mary," the monster baby, who is between two and three years of age, is reported to be "getting fatter all the time—she is an awful mischief."

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 40 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and contracted at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 85 or $20,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 35 cts for July. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.25; it will sell at $10 before it does at $9. Nature's Detectives.

When a crime is committed, no matter in what corner of the earth the criminal tries to hide, he knows that probably somewhere or other on the look-out is a detective waiting to lay his hand on him.

When any disease attacks mankind and hides itself in the human system, no matter how obscure or complicated the disease may be, Nature among her great force of detective remedies has one that will eventually hunt down and arrest that particular disease.

Lung and bronchial diseases are among the most baffling complaints which doctors have to deal with; because it isn't the lungs or bronchial tubes alone which are affected, but every corner of the system furnishes a lurking place for these elusive maladies.

They change and reappear and dodge about the system under numberless disguises. They are almost always complicated with liver or stomach troubles, nervousness, neuralgia, or "general debility."

The best detective remedy which Nature has provided to search out and arrest these perplexing ailments is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It lays an arresting hand directly upon the poisonous, paralyzing elements hiding in the liver and digestive organs.

It gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundant supply of pure, red, highly vitalized blood which reinforces the lungs with healthy tissue; feeds the nerve-centres with power, and builds up solid muscular flesh and active energy.

For weak lungs, spitting of blood, shortness of breath, nasal catarrh, bronchitis, severe coughs, asthma, and kindred affections, it is a sovereign remedy. While it promptly cures the severest cough it strengthens the system and purifies the blood.

BRITAIN'S FOOD SUPPLY.

Mr. Seton-Karr Wants State Granaries Built in Order to be Prepared for Contingencies.

London, April 6.—Attention was called in the House of Commons to-day by Mr. Henry Seton-Karr, Conservative member for St. Helens, to the wholly inadequate production of food supplies in the United Kingdom in relation to its large and increasing population. Mr. Seton-Karr then moved that the dependence of the United Kingdom upon foreign imports for the necessities of life, and the sequences which might rise therefrom in the event of war, demanded the serious attention of the Government. Continuing, Mr. Seton-Karr expressed the belief that the reserve of breadstuffs never exceeded three weeks' supply and frequently sunk below a week's supply. France, he pointed out, was self-supporting, and Russia and the United States were not only self-supporting, but were able to make large exports. The Dreibund, he continued, was practically self-supporting, and Great Britain alone lived from hand to mouth, and drew her principal supplies of wheat from Russia and the United States, which might possibly, at some time, be hostile to Great Britain. Mr. Seton-Karr further remarked that should the harvest in America fail and Russia refuse to supply Great Britain, the latter's position would be most serious. The speaker called attention to the damage done to the commerce of the United States by the Alabama, and remarked that many such vessels might be set to prey upon British commerce in time of war. He did not desire action which would raise the price to consumers, but he hoped the Government would consider the subject seriously and proposed that state granaries be erected for keeping supplies.

Sir Charles Dilke, Radical member for the Forest of Dean Division of Gloucestershire, contended that Russian exports of wheat to Great Britain were decreasing in average years, and he asserted that half of Great Britain's food came from the United States. Continuing, he said: "If the United States, Canada and Australia can feed us, we are independent of Russia, as the interests and advantages of those countries would be so strong that we could rely upon them to supply us."

Sir Charles Dilke, continuing, said he thought the other states were not likely to take any steps in regard to the contraband of war which would be likely to bring the United States down upon them.

After Mr. James Lowther, Conservative member for the Isle of Thanet Division of Kent, had advocated a duty on foreign grain, the Government leader, Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, said that the peculiarity of the motion was that it had given a suitable text both to protectionists and free traders. The adoption of the proposal to establish state granaries would mean turning the Chancellor of the Exchequer into a gigantic corn dealer.

As to the commercial zollverein, Mr. Balfour continued, he looked with considerable longing for a closer union with the British colonies, both in regard to commercial and military affairs. But he scarcely thought a zollverein was necessary, and he did not think there was danger of foreign countries refusing to supply Great Britain with food. The United States, he insisted, would not allow food to be declared contraband of war, as it would affect her interests, apart from her inherent sympathy for Great Britain, and, combined with the United States, Great Britain could stand against any conceivable combination of the powers. The real thing upon which Great Britain was dependent, Mr. Balfour asserted, was her navy, for which the Government accepted the responsibility.

The discussion was then dropped.

BRITAIN'S POLICY

Again Discussed in the House of Commons.

MR. BALFOUR MAKES A CHALLENGE

He Asks Sir William Harcourt to Come Out With a Motion Condemning the Government and Then the Matter Will be Set—Another Effort to Settle.

London, April 6.—In the House of Comons to-day the Government leader, Mr. A. J. Balfour, First Lord of the Treasury, replying to the question put yesterday by Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the Opposition leader, as to whether the Government would give a day to discuss his (Sir William's) motion for an address to Her Majesty praying that the forces of the Crown be not employed against Greece or the people of Crete, said that, as there was no word in the motion expressly condemning anything the Government had done or announced its intention of doing, he was forced to the conclusion that Sir William Harcourt's object was not to raise a direct issue, and that under the circumstances it would not be in the interest of public business to give the day suggested. [Loud cheers from the Conservatives.]

Sir William Harcourt then said that Mr. Balfour appeared to have entirely misconstrued the intention of the motion. While he, the speaker, could not describe the motion as a vote of censure, he explained that there has been such a thing as a vote of want of confidence in what the Government anticipated as likely to be what it would do. The motion, he continued, asked the Crown not to allow its forces to be employed against the Cretans, and, if carried, it would be a restraint upon the Government's action if it proposes to so employ the forces of the Crown. Further, it was the duty of the Opposition to record its view of the present situation, so far as the information given by the Government is concerned. He added: "We hold there is no justification for the employment of the Crown forces against Greece and the Cretans, and we challenge the Government's policy on that point." [Loud Opposition cheers.]

Continuing, the Liberal leader said: "It is necessary to do this immediately because after the Easter recess we may find the country embarked in war with Greece without any declaration having been given to Parliament of the objects of the hostility. From this point of view, this is a motion of want of confidence." [Loud cheers.]

Mr. Balfour pointed out that the terms of the motion were studiously ambiguous. Continuing, he said: "We have stated explicitly to the House and by our action have shown that we are prepared to use the forces of the Crown to resist certain actions of the insurgents of Crete, and we announced the objects for which we are prepared to blockade Greece, as the hon. member (Sir William Harcourt) did upon a previous occasion. [Cheers.] The hon. member needs only to modify his resolution so as to condemn one or the other of the acts, the first of which we are actually doing at the present moment, or the second, which we have announced our intention of doing in certain contingencies, and a direct issue will be raised by the parties in the House. Unless the hon. member is prepared to thus modify his motion, there is no other course open than the one I have adopted." [Cheers.]

THE STANDARD OF THE CROSS.

An Important Anniversary Celebrated at Athens—No Outbreaks.

Athens, April 6.—The 76th anniversary of the raising of the standard of the Cross against the Crescent on April 6, 1821, beginning the war against the Turks, which resulted in the independence of Greece, was celebrated throughout the kingdom to-day with great enthusiasm. All business was suspended, and popular participation in the national fete was general. In the forenoon the King and Queen, the Ministers and the foreign diplomats attended religious services in the cathedral, where a Te Deum was sung, and the remainder of the day was devoted to holiday-making of every description. As the King drove to and from the cathedral he was constantly cheered by the great crowds of people lining the streets, and showers of papers bearing the inscription, "Hurrah for War," were thrown into his carriage. Despite the warlike temper of the people, there were no disturbances.

The rapidity with which croup developes calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

THE HIGHWAY.

The highway lies, all bare and brown,
A naked line across the down,
Worn by a hundred hurrying feet.
The tide of life along it flows,
And busy commerce comes and goes.
Where once the grass grew green and sweet,
The world's fierce pulses beat.

Well for the highway that it lies
The passageway of great emprise!
Yet from its dust what voices cry—
Voices of soft green growing things
Trampled and torn from earth which clings
Too closely, unperceiving why
Its darling bairns must die!

My heart's a highway, trodden down
By many a traveler of renown—
Grave thought, and burden-bearing deeds.
And strong achievement's envoy fares,
With laughing joys and crowing cares,
Along the road that worldward leads—
Once rank with foolish weeds.

Glad is my heart to hear them pass:
Yet sometimes breathes a low alas!
The tender springing things that grew—
The nursing hopes their feet destroyed,
Sweet ignorant dreams that youth enjoyed—
And blossomed there the long year through—
Would I could have them too!

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. A SPECIFIC
—FOR—
La Grippe, for Colds, Coughs,
AND LUNG TROUBLES,
AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL

"Two years ago, I had the grippe, and it left me with a cough which gave me no rest night or day. My family physician prescribed for me, changing the medicine as often as he found the things I had taken were not helping me, but, in spite of his attendance, I got no better. Finally, my husband,—reading one day of a gentleman who had had the grippe and was cured by taking Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,—procured, for me, a bottle of this medicine, and before I had taken half of it, I was cured. I have used the Pectoral for my children and in my family, whenever we have needed it, and have found it a specific for colds, coughs, and lung troubles."—EMILY WOOD, North St., Elkton, Md.

FOR BOYS AND GIRLS.

AMUSING TOYS THAT ANY OF THEM COULD MANUFACTURE.

A Home-Made Kinetoscope and How It Is Made—The Materials Required and How They Are Put Together—The Effects Produced.

Although the kinetoscope as invented by Edison is a wonderful instrument, yet a fairly good imitation of it may be made by any boy possessing a little ingenuity. It is not to be supposed that the perfected machine can be constructed by an amateur. That would be impossible without special photographic apparatus, besides being an infringement on the kinetoscope patents. But as the commercial machine of today is nothing more than a development of some old-time optical toys, there is nothing to prevent any person constructing some very amusing instruments which will be like the kinetoscope in effect if not in name.

The simplest of all is the thaumatrope. It consists of a circle of cardboard, attached to which are two pieces of cord, and on each side of which is painted or drawn half a picture. The object is to twirl the cardboard by means of the strings and thus cause the two drawings to blend so as to form one picture. For instance, if a bird is drawn on one side of the card and a cage on the other, the bird will appear to be in the cage when the card is twirled. In order to have the bird appear upright in the cage the two pictures must be drawn upside down to each other as it were. That is, the top of the cage must point toward one edge of the card and the top of the bird toward the opposite edge. Any number of pictures may be drawn. A juggler may be drawn on one side and a number of balls on the other. He will appear to juggle the balls when the card is twirled. If an equilibrist is drawn on one side and a plate on the other he will appear to be balancing the plate if the latter is properly placed. A man and a horse may be used, or a cat and a dog having a fight, or a man and a woman dancing, and so on with infinite variety.

Kinetoscope cards are now being sold by fakirs on the streets of large cities. They may be home-made, however, with little trouble. Each card has a figure drawn upon it. Every card shows the same figure, but each in a different position. The various positions bear a definite relation to each other, so that when the cards are flipped rapidly past the eye the figures on them appear to be moving. The cards are held in one hand and bent double with the other; then one after another allowed to spring back to their original position. If, for instance, a dancer is shown, the arms and legs must have a progressive action. That is, if the arm is to be shown in the act of being raised, each successive picture must show it elevated a trifle higher than the last. So with every part of the body, each succeeding card showing the action a little more advanced.

A zoetrope can be made by combining the posthumous uses of a hatbox with a little artistic talent. An old hatbox is arranged on a pivot so that it will spin easily. A series of slips or openings one-quarter inch wide by three inches long and about two inches apart must be cut around the upper sides of the box. It is through these windows one must gaze to get a proper effect from what is going on within. The figures are drawn precisely as they were on the cards mentioned above, only they must be drawn side by side on a long strip of paper. This paper is placed around the lower inside wall of the hatbox. If properly drawn some very lifelike actions may be witnessed when the box is rapidly revolved on its pivot.

A modification of the zoetrope may be made by cutting out a circular piece of cardboard, fixing it on a pivot, and drawing the figures to be shown in a progressive ring around the edge of the circle. The pictures should be about an inch deep and occupy the outside quarter of the space between the centre and the edge of the disk. Slits like those in the hatbox should be cut from the base of each picture to within half an inch of the centre. The affair must be revolved on a pivot (a common pin stuck in a clothespin will do) in front of a mirror, and the spectator must look through the windows that have been cut in the disk. Horses may be made to run, trot or gallop, men made to walk, dogs made to chase cats, ladies to dance, and many other diversive sights be witnessed in a well-constructed instrument of this kind.

Renaud's zoetrope is a trifle more ambitious than any of the preceding. First obtain or make a pyramid of wood, the height of which is equal to one side of its base. Each side of this base must be covered with a mirror made to fit it. A handle should be fitted tightly into a hole in the bottom of the pyramid. A metal rod or spike must be driven into the apex or point of the pyramid. This completes the stationary part of the apparatus. Now, for the moving figures. They are to be four in number and are to be painted or drawn on a circular piece of cardboard or tin. This disk must have a hole cut in its centre, so that it may be spun on the rod with projects from the point of the pyramid. Let the disk be divided into four parts. This can be quickly done by drawing the diameters of the disk upon it. In each of the quarters so formed draw the picture to be shown. As there are only four versions of it, each one will have to be more radically different than where a number are used, as in the other zoetropes. The pictures must be progressive, but the whole action must be completed in the four drawings.

It is advisable, therefore, to choose some simple action, as, for instance, a juggler tossing balls. His body will in every case occupy the same position. Only his arms need be changed. The operation of one of them will suffice for a description as to how to proceed. The right arm in the first picture should be extended downward, that is, as low as he would naturally put it. The next picture should show it raised half way up in the air. Then next should show it raised all the way up. The fourth shows it half way down again. As the disk is turning we have now got back to the first, which shows it lowered all the way down again, and so on progressively as the disk goes around. This general principle should be adhered to throughout the series. The pictures should be drawn with the tops toward the centre of the pivot. When the latter is placed face downward in the pivot and revolved the moving picture will appear to stand upright in the glass on all sides of the pyramid.

A simple form of a mechanical thaumatrope can be made in the following manner: The edges of four wood boards or cardboards should be glued together so that when looked down upon from above their edges will form a cross. To be plainer, they should be arranged in the same manner as the diameter of a square. They should be pivoted so as to revolve easily. In the four right angles formed by the sides of the boards should be painted or drawn pictures of the same nature as those in the pyramid described above. As the number of pictures is the same the same general directions should be observed in drawing them. The effect is very lifelike when the affair is revolved, and much pleasure and an evening's entertainment may be derived from its construction and operation.

The reference to the Edison kinetoscope made above will be understood when it is pointed out that the wonderful machine is merely the combination of the principle involved in the above optical toys with photography. Mr. Edison constructed a machine which would take photographs of moving objects at the rate of forty a second. These photographs are attached in a long string to a tape. The string of photographs is placed on spindles or reels and made to run past the end of a tube at the rate of forty a second, or the rate at which they were "taken." The result, when a person gazes through the tube, is that the figures in the pictures perform the same actions they were going through when the pictures were taken.—Theodore Waters, in Chicago Inter Ocean.

There are thousands of sickly school-girls all over this broad land that are dragging their way through school-life who might enjoy that abundant life which belongs to youth by simple attention to hygienic laws and a proper course of treatment with Scott's Emulsion. This would make the blood rich, the heart-beat strong; check that tendency to exhaustion and quicken the appetite by strengthening the digestion. Our book tells more about it. Sent free.

NOT PEACE AT ANY PRICE.

Mr James Sivewright Told the Transvaal Parliament Britain Wanted Peace, But Right Must Prevail.

Cape Town, April 6.—At to-day's session of the Legislature the question of Great Britain's ultimatum to the Transvaal Government against the closing of the Drifts was raised. Sir J. Gordon Sprigg, Premier of Cape Colony, in replying, said: "The closing of the Drifts is a matter affecting the entire trade of the colony and is a breach of the London convention. The Government of the Colony felt compelled to appeal to the Imperial Government."

The Premier declined to comply with the request that all the papers bearing on the question should be laid before the Assembly. He said: "Some of them are secret in their subject matter, and the production of them might not be calculated to promote peace."

Mr. Sauer, the Afrikander, said he could scarcely conceive any circumstance that would justify Great Britain in using any force against any South African State.

Sir James Sivewright, replying, said the Government earnestly desired peace, but not peace at any price. "When the Transvaal is in the right," he said, "the Cape Colony Government will support the Transvaal, but not when it is in the wrong, and the Government of the Colony believes that the best way to maintain peace is to declare plainly and openly just what is wanted."

Norway's First Ironclad.

An ironclad for the Norwegian Government was launched lately from the shipbuilding yard of Sir William Armstrong & Co., England. This is the first seagoing ironclad owned by the Norsemen, who in the old days swept the seas with their Viking ships. This modern vessel was christened the "Harold Haarfager," after the first King of Norway, by Mme. Stang, who is herself a descendant in the 33rd generation from King Harold. The ironclad is heavily armored and has a conning tower and two torpedo tubes, and the armor belt is from four to seven inches thick. The builders have an order for a second ironclad for the Norwegians.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health,, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't no experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

Mother's Mistake

How carefully Mother guards the Secrets of her Boys and Girls. At night, as she carefully tucks the Bed Clothes round them, she chides and warns that Mother will be angry if they repeat last night's offence, softly saying to herself it's only a habit, but I must break them of it. This is Mother's mistake. The children cannot help it, and sweet, clean, dry beds can be the resting place of every child when it is understood that the cause is not a habit, but a weakness that can be cured. Active life of the little ones tends to weakening the Kidneys, and weak Kidneys means inability to retain the urine. This is a condition, not a habit, and should have the same prompt attention you would give to the marked symptoms of any disease. One Doan's Kidney Pill taken twice a day and at bedtime will strengthen the Kidneys of a child, and in a short time there will be no cause to scold, for the so-called habit will disappear promptly.

Here's a grateful mother that adds her indorsement to our words:

Canada Has Spoken, Now Comes the United States.

MRS. J. J. FRASER, of 9 Leonard Street, Amsterdam, N.Y.

"My children, a little boy of seven and a girl of five, have been a source of much anxiety and trouble from inability to retain urine. Often it would pass from the boy while playing, and they both regularly wet the bed. I scolded them, thinking it was merely a habit, and not realizing that it might be weak kidneys. I began to give them Doan's Kidney Pills, and they cured both children. There are no more wet clothes or beds. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other mothers for this so-called habit."

Doan's Kidney Pills are sold by all dealers. Price 50 cts. per Box.

IN MEMORIAM

Of Mrs. Hugh Cameron who died March 29th, 1897:

Dear patient one! her earthly work is ended,
From pain and weariness she now is free;
She now we trust, has gained the "Many Mansions,"
With Jesus there to dwell eternally.

Now o'er the land the sound of murmering waters,
Proclaims to all around that spring is here;
But in her home now desolation dwelleth,
For her bright presence is not there to cheer.

How fast the years have flown since they were wedded,
The husband mourns now for a loving wife;
Too soon alas! the silver cord was broken,
Too soon to yield to death her fair young life.

A precious little one has lost a mother,
Too young to know or mourn a mother's love;
But may he ever strive as year's o'er him
To meet her in her happy home above.

What peace was her's! when death's cold surging waters
Came rolling on, what glory met her view;
With joy she said "I see ma comes to take me,
And then in accents low—and Jesus too.

Her lustrous eyes now close in death's calm slumber,
Those weary hands are folded on her breast,
Her happy voice now swells the heavenly chorus,
No earthly trials shall e'er disturb her soul.

Then shall we say, Too soon her work is ended,
Too soon to lay life's weary burden down,
Too soon to leave earth's trials all behind her
To wear in Heaven a spotless robe and crown.

On yonder hill, where the white stones are gleaming
In memory of loved ones ever passed away,
There with the peaceful dead she now is resting
Till the last trump proclaims the final day.

Then may we all watch for the Master's coming,
At midnight, morning, or what time it may;
And may our lamps, like her's, be trimmed and burning,
To shine in death's dark vale with fadeless ray.

Mrs. R. B.

Woodlands, March 30th, 1897.

CATARRH CONQUERED.

IT IS A BLOOD DISEASE.

PROOF POSITIVE THAT RYCKMAN'S KOOTENAY CURE THOROUGHLY ERADICATES THIS WIDE-SPREAD DISEASE.

Of all the diseases that have been exploited by charlatans and quacks Catarrh is one that has received more than its share of attention.

Snuffs, sprays, douches, inhalations, etc., have all had their day, and after their use the Catarrh has remained as bad as before, so that now many sufferers have become convinced that they are possessed of an incurable affection that must remain with them to their dying day, sapping their strength and rendering them miserable and disgusting to their friends.

Let's tell you that Ryckman's Kootenay Cure gets at Catarrh through the blood. It destroys the germ that is the immediate cause of the trouble and sends rich pure blood to the part, so that all offensive discharges cease and a rapid cure is effected.

Here's a case in point, Mr. W. G. Cox, who conducts a flour and feed store at 374 King Street West, Hamilton, was troubled with Catarrh for ten years, tried nearly all the catarrh remedies advertised without success till he began taking Ryckman's Kootenay Cure. He says the results have exceeded his most sanguine expectations.

Mrs. Margaret Sovereign, living at 376 King Street, in the same city, under oath makes a declaration to the effect that her daughter Lulu, aged 14, was troubled with Catarrh for two years and had poor health. The doctor said she had inflammation of the lungs and Catarrh. She became so run down that until she commenced taking Kootenay her mother was alarmed about her. After she had taken a bottle and a half of this wonderful remedy and the "new ingredient" had a chance to get in its work, the Catarrh disappeared, her cheeks became rosy and she gained eleven pounds. These cases ought to be enough to convince the most sceptical, but if you are desirous of more proof, send to the Ryckman Medicine Co., Hamilton, Ont., and sworn statements of cures will be sent you free.

One bottle lasts over a month.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A Decrease Shown as Compared With Last Yeaf.

SOME PRETTY EXTENSIVE CUTS.

Senators and Members Will Have to Worry Along on Less Pay—Increased Appropriations for Agriculture and Immigration—Ontario Public Works Remembered.

Ottawa, April 7.—(Special.)—The estimates for the fiscal year commencing the 1st July next, presented to Parliament to-day, show that there is a nominal decrease in the total from this year of $223,783.

On consolidated revenue account there are decreases to the amount of $1,722,642, while the increases amount to $135,280. Decrease on consolidated fund is therefore nearly $1,600,000. On capital account, however, there is a substantial increase, due to the determination of Mr. Blair to push the St. Lawrence canals rapidly to completion. The estimate of expenditure on account of railways and canals chargeable to capital is $5,723,696, an increase of $2,378,472.

There are decreases on account of redemption of debt and militia expenditure chargeable to capital, amounting in round figures to $1,000,000. The net increase on capital account, therefore amounts to $1,363,473.

Under the head of Civil Government there is a noticeable decrease. In other words, the statutory increases are not there this year. The penitentiary vote is cut down by $67,000, $44,000 of this being struck off the vote for Kingston.

Senators and Commoners will have to worry along with $83,000 less than last year.

There is an increase of $64,000 in the agricultural vote, owing to the proposed advances for butter making and for cold storage.

The quarantine service escaped to the extent of $17,000, and the immigration appropriation is increased by $44,000. There is a substantial reduction of $330,000 on account of militia, $147,000 of this being on account of the annual drill and $142,207 on account of clothing and other stores.

It is to be hoped that the Government does not intend to pinch the force.

Regarding the canal votes the following are the principal items chargeable to capital:

Soulanges, construction, $1,250,000; Cornwall, enlargement, $185,000; Cornwall, converting basin into dry dock, $15,000; Farran's Point, enlargement, $375,000; Rapide Plat, enlargement, $115,000; Galops, enlargement, $1,685,000; North Channel, straightening and deepening, $375,000; Galops Channel, straightening and deepening, $50,000; River Reaches, $50,000; Lake St. Francis, removal of boulders, etc., $75,000; Trent, construction, $650,000; Sault Ste. Marie, construction and equipment, $75,000; Lachine, enlargement, $216,000; Lachine, deepening river at St. Pierre, $40,000; Lake St. Louis Channel, straightening and deepening, $86,000; Grenville, enlargement, $90,000; to pay George Godwin final estimate and award of Mr. Walter Shanley, $45,096.

The Department of Marine and Fisheries makes a cut of $171,000, applicable to ocean and river service, lighthouse and coast service and to fishery work.

As previously announced, the Mounted Police force is to be reduced, an annual saving of $145,000.

The Geological Survey Department is to get along with $10,000 less, while under the heading of miscellaneous there is a reduction of $125,000.

The amounts for public buildings and public works in Ontario are only small:

Collingwood Harbor, improvement, $80,000; Rainy River, improvement of navigable channel, $20,000; general repairs and improvements to harbor, river and bridge works, $10,000; Kingston Harbor, Lake Ontario, $6500; Owen Sound Harbor, dredging, etc., $35,000; Toronto Harbor, works at eastern entrance, etc., $20,000; Burlington Channel, repairs to piers, $8000; Cobourg, repairs to piers, $3000; Goderich, reconstruction of breakwater and repairs to piers, $53,000; Kincardine, repairs to piers, $12,000; L'Original, reconstruction of wharf, $16,500; Port Burwell, improvement of harbor, provided interested parties expend a sum of $50,000, $25,000; Thornbury, repairs to wharf, $10,000; Port Stanley, repairs to piers and dredging, $16,000.

Dominion Public Buildings, Ontario, renewals, improvements, repairs, etc., $10,000; Toronto, Dominion Public Buildings, improvements, renewals, repairs, etc., $5000; Arnprior Postoffice, Custom House, etc., under contract, $15,000.

Following are Ontario Canal appropriations:—To dredge channel at upper entrance of Bobcaygeon, $3500; to build guard pier, entrance at Bobcaygeon, $600; to remove rock in channel above Burleigh lock and Stoney Lake, $2000; to dredge in Katchamarine Lake, $2500; to complete dam at Chisholm's Rapids, $2000; to renew superstructure west of Port Dalhousie, $20,000 to renew fender works of bridges 1 new canal, $12,500.

Five thousand dollars is to be voted for a statue of Her Majesty, in commemoration of the Diamond Jubilee, and $5000 for a statue of Hon. Alexander Mackenzie.

Mail subsidies and steamship subventions are practically unchanged.

The vote for the Meteorological Observatory at Toronto is reduced by one-half, and $15,000 is lopped off the fishery protection service.

A steam launch, to cost $5000, is to be placed on the Upper Yukon River.

Toronto gets $5000 towards the meeting of the British Association.

Mr. Sifton procures for Winnipeg half the cost of suppressing the small-pox outbreak in 1893.

Ten thousand dollars additional is to be spent in maintaining cutters for protection of the customs revenue.

Toronto custom house appropriation is cut down by $2187 and postoffice expenses are cut down by $151,000.

The sum of $35,000 is to be voted for the purchase of a site for a rifle range at Ottawa.

Mr. Speaker stated that he had seen a report in newspapers that liquor was being sold within the precincts of the House of Commons. This was not the case. Every precaution in his power was taken to see that the rule laid down by the House last year was carried out. He had a report of the sergeant-at-arms stating that no beer, wine or spirits was kept within the precincts of the House by the caterer.

Mr. Gibson moved the second reading of his bill to render dues for materials, wages, etc., a first lien on the railway on which they were used, and explained that the Grand Trunk and C.P.R., as well as all other companies of standing in Canada, were not opposed to the measure. The bill was referred to the Railway Committee.

Mr. Charlton moved the second reading of his bill "To secure the better observance of the Lord's day, commonly called Sunday, as a day of rest." He contended that it was merely creating a civil right in Sunday rest to the laborer in Canada. Mr. Charlton observed that it could not be said the bill was promoted and sustained by the Christian sentiment of the country, so far as the laity is concerned. They seem, he said, to be quite indifferent whether or not a law is passed to secure to the laborer a day of rest. In fact there appeared to be no extent of popular feeling in the matter whatsoever. If it were a case of some interest endeavoring to bleed one section of the country at the expense of another, Mr. Charlton thought there would be deputations down to Ottawa to push it along. But so far as he was aware there had been no deputation of Christians to Ottawa to promote the passage of his Sunday bill. Mr. Charlton spoke at length upon the benefits that would accrue to the population from the operation of such a law. The managers of the C.P.R. and Grand Trunk were not opposed to the bill, as it did not interfere with through traffic, only Sir William Van Horne wanted the Soo Canal to be closed also if the railways were to be obliged to cease traffic on Sunday.

Mr. Craig accounted for the apathy of the House on the ground that most of the members thought the bill unnecessary. It was a strong argument in favor of the view that the Sabbath was better observed in Canada than in any other country on earth, Scotland not excepted. Again, it was urged that the bill is impracticable; and the experience of the House certainly was that no headway had ever been made in committee towards framing a workable measure. Moreover, high legal authority held that this was a matter for provincial legislation. Mr. Craig, while giving the mover all credit for his perseverance, desired to correct the impression in the country that Mr. Charlton was the only man in the House who favored Sunday observance. There was no need of a law against Sunday newspapers and the like, for the best safeguard was the high moral sense of the community.

Mr. Casey was inclined to doubt seriously whether this House would be within its rights in passing a bill of this character. The clause respecting the closing of the canals was the only exception.

Mr. Laurier referred to former opinions of Sir John Thompson, that the matter was beyond the jurisdiction of Parliament, and he paid deference to that opinion. Clause 1, relating to hours in newspaper offices, would certainly have to be reconsidered in committee. While he believed the sale of newspapers should be prohibited on Sunday, as other articles, preparations had to be made on Sunday for issuing a paper on Monday. The clause relating to railways would also have to be looked into, since the damage resulting from such restriction would be great. Neither could Mr. Laurier see how Sunday excursions could be prevented, any more than a cabman could be prevented from carrying passengers on Sunday. While Sunday was not as rigidly observed in Quebec as in the other provinces, he did not know that the people were less religious.

The motion carried, and the bill was then given its second reading.

Mr. McLennan moved the second reading of his bill to compel railways to give second-class return trip tickets at the same reduction as allowed on first-class return tickets. He pointed out that his bill was in the interests of the farmers and others who traveled second class.

Mr. Lister, in opposing the bill, hinted that the mover was simply hunting for popularity. At least he was proceeding without due consideration and information. Parliament, he contended, would be acting unjustly in interfering with the earning powers of railways in which large sums of foreign capital were invested.

Mr. Bennett pointed out that in a score of ways Parliament, by legislation, restricted, regulated or interfered with the rights and privileges of railway companies.

Mr. Campbell (Kent) thought it rather small for Parliament to be attempting to regulate rates on railways. As it was, second-class tickets were no would at a very low rate.

The Premier appreciated Col. McLennan's object, but the bill would scarcely commend itself to the House. There was no complaint, there was no law to compel railway companies to issue return tickets at all. They were only issued as regards first class, because it induced travel. Evidently the same business reason does not apply in the matter of second-class travel, else second-class return tickets would also be issued. He was opposed to the principle of dictating to railway companies as to the manner in which they should conduct their business. However, he would allow the bill to go to a second reading and be referred to the Railway Committee.

The bill was accordingly read and referred.

From July 1 next, interest on deposits in the Postoffice Savings and Government Banks is to be reduced from 3 1-3 to 3 per cent.

Capt. Whitely has arrived in Ottawa to confer with the Minister of Marine and Capt. Wakeham in regard to the exploration expedition to Hudson Bay. He has been engaged as ice captain of the Diana. Of late years he has been engaged in the Behring Sea fishery, but one of the most experienced ice navigators of the Newfoundland sealing fleet, Mr. Hugh Sutherland, President of the Hudson Bay Railway Company, is also in Ottawa in connection with the expedition.

After recess Mr. Wood (Hamilton) moved the second reading of his bill, which provides that stockholders in Ontario building and loan societies shall not obtain security to a greater extent than one-tenth of the paid-up capital of the company. The bill, which was read a second time, also provides that the person pledging the stock shall be responsible, and not the person lending money thereon. The bill goes to the Banking and Commerce Committee.

The House adjourned at 9 o'clock.

HON. DAVID MILLS' OPINION.

He Favored Separate Schools in Ontario but Not in Manitoba—Address Passed in the Senate.

Ottawa, April 8.—(Special.)—After ten days' talk the Senate disposed of the address to-day. The feature of the sitting was the speech of Hon. David Mills, whose erudition and long party experience command for him universal respect.

Senator Clemow made a vigorous address and then Mr. Mills rose to deliver his "maiden" speech. He said he had voted against the school clause being placed in the Manitoba Act because he believed that the few hundred people who then made up the population of the Province should not dictate the constitution which would apply to hundreds of thousands who would occupy the Province in the future. He was in favor of Separate schools in Ontario, because the population was mixed, and he thought the Roman Catholic children received in them a better education than those attending the parochial schools of the United States, where there was no system. He admitted that there was a parliamentary compact guaranteeing to the minority Separate schools in Manitoba; that the local acts of 1890 broke that compact, and that the minority had a grievance. The Conservative Government had failed to disallow the acts of 1890, not out of respect for Provincial rights, but because of the dissatisfaction they knew would result. The Government had then recognized that it was not always prudent to exercise a right which might interfere with its political existence. As he had stated before, he agreed with the sentiments expressed by Sir Oliver Mowat, speaking in the Legislature on the subject of Separate schools in Ontario, to the effect that the question of education should be dealt with exclusively by the Local Legislatures. He contended that the Bowell administration had acted too precipitately in passing the Remedial order. A diplomatic correspondence should have been entered into with the Local Government, instead of stirring up animosity by drastic measures. The present settlement, if generously carried out, and he believed it would be, would give the minority a fair measure of their rights, just as the minority in Ontario had, and when the present agitation had quieted down he had no doubt that if the Local Government found any defects in the working of the new law they would amend it in a generous manner.

Speaking of the Franchise Bill, he regarded the threats made by some Senators that it would never pass the Senate as not consistent with the dignity or consonant with the functions of the Upper Chamber. The repeal of the Franchise Act was a part of the Liberal platform at the last elections, and as such the country had pronounced in favor of it. The Senate, he thought, would be exceeding its functions in opposing a measure introduced into Parliament in response to the demands of public opinion.

Coming to the tariff, he said that it would be strange if the Government did not carefully considered the existing interests. In so doing, the Government was not departing from Liberal principles. In advocating free trade, the Government was not pledged to the removal of customs duties. The environments had to be considered. The Government could not overlook the manner in which other countries intended to deal with Canada. It might even be wise to adopt a policy resulting in a financial loss in order to change the policy of a neighboring country. The fact that the Government was alive to these considerations only showed its wisdom. It was possible, he said, to extend our trade with Great Britain in such a manner as to convince the Mother Country that we were not only a part but intended remaining a part, of the Empire. [Applause.]

In conclusion, he dwelt upon the advance of the British Empire under Queen Victoria, and declared it to be the duty of all Canadians to cement this country more securely to the great Empire of which she now formed so important a part.

The remarks of the Senator from Bothwell were received with considerable applause.

Senator Lougheed followed in a brief but valuable contribution. The address was then carried on a division and the Senate adjourned. To-morrow it will take recess until the 27th.

TORONTO NURSE MARRIED.

Miss Blanche Louise Sharp Secured a Husband in a Hospital.

New York, April 8.—Miss Blanche Louise Sharpe of Toronto, Ont., and Mr. Lawrus Edgar Sutton of Brooklyn, N.Y., were married in the Hanson-place Methodist Church, Brooklyn, yesterday. After the wedding tour, Mr. and Mrs. Sutton will take up residence in Brooklyn.

The marriage was the sequel to a romantic courtship, begun in the Long Island College Hospital, where Miss Sharpe, then a student in the Brooklyn Training School, attended her present husband during his treatment for hip disease. The couple became engaged shortly afterwards.

Glass Workers' Strike Off.

Marion, Ind., April 8.—The strike at the factory of the United States Glass Company at Gas City has been declared off after a struggle lasting over three years. This is a victory for the glass company. It is estimated that the maintenance of the idle workmen has cost the National Flint Glass Workers' Union not less than $80,000.

BIG FIRE IN CORNWALL.

The Globe Flour Mills Reduced to Ashes—Loss Nearly $30,000.

Cornwall, Ont., April 8.—(Special.)—About 9 o'clock to-night it was discovered that the Globe flour mills were on fire, and notwithstanding the best efforts of the local fire department the place was reduced to ashes. The loss is estimated at $20,000, with insurance of about $8000. The stock, valued at from $3000, was insured for $1000. It was with great difficulty that the adjoining property was saved.

Murderous Hungarian Wives.

Vienna, April 8.—A husband-poisoning mania, identical with that which was discovered at Hodmezoe, where almost all the women of the village are accused of making away with their husbands by the use of arsenic, has developed at Miskolcz, in Central Hungary. Twenty-three cases of poisoning have been traced, and seven women have been arrested on the charge of murder.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

In industrial circles the familiar tit for tat expression, "a Roland for an Oliver" is likely to be superseded by "a Cowan for a Corliss." The Montreal Star suggests that the Premier's endorsation of Mr. Cowan's alien labour bill indicates that we shall give the Americans a Cowan for their Corliss.

In Champlain on Wednesday the Conservative majority was reduced over one-third from that of last June; from 370 to 117 with further reduction possible when other districts are heard from. Very like a "moral victory" for the Conservatives; but the rejoicing is possibly premature for the reports state that as soon as the election returns are filed a protest is to be entered on the grounds of clerical intimidation and corruption.

The Mail and Empire, in commenting on what it calls the "mining deal," says that on the subject Mr. Hardy "could not drag" some of his supporters to his support. Considering that the proposal was carried by a majority of thirty, it would seem that very few of the Premier's supporters refused to be "dragged." If there were many he must have got a good many supporters on the motion from the ranks of the Opposition. The organ is so anxious to kick that it doesn't pause to see where its kicks will land.

The organization of the Nova Scotia Conservatives by Sir Charles Tupper under the leadership of Mr. Staire has not proved a great success so far. Two weeks from the date of the Provincial elections, the Montreal Herald points out, the party is without candidates in seven counties, representing fourteen seats in the Legislature. On the other hand, the Liberals have had full tickets out in all eighteen counties for some days. Nova Scotia will, on April 20, set a good example to Quebec.

We are glad to see by the Kingston Whig that Hon. William Harty's resignation is not decided upon. The Whig says: "On dit, that O. K. Fraser will take Hon. Mr. Harty's place in the Government. The rumour is premature. Mr. Harty's health has not been good, and from the duties of his office he cannot get enough leisure to recuperate, but his resignation has by no means been determined upon." If his resignation should unfortunately become necessary, there is no one who would more acceptably succeed him than the brother of the Hon. Christopher Fraser. If he is even approximately, as good an administrator, he will make a good official.

Poisonous Plasters.

Plasters that contain the powerful poisons Aconite or Belladonna should be used only when your physician permits, as your system might be poisoned by absorbtion of the drugs. Doctors, now use plasters made with 'Quickcure' spread on canton flannel, linen or cotton, which give more prompt relief from pain an any other means; the effect is almost beyond belief.

Greatest in the World.

SIXTY YEARS OF PROGRESS.

PROGRESS OF CANADA DURING THE VICTORIAN ERA.

From Approximate Political Chaos to Harmonious Confederation—Personal influence of the Queen.

No part of the British Empire can look back along the years of the Queen's reign with more justifiable pride than Canada. Continued development is marked on every page of the record. To use the terms of a distinguished author, the progression has been from "the heterogeneous to the homogeneous." A disconnected aggregation of organized Provinces and of unorganized districts, having no common bond except allegiance to the British Crown, have become a fully organized nation. The common bond, which in 1837 had kept the British Colonies to the north of the United States from falling under the Stars and Stripes, is still in 1897 the strongest bond which keeps the unity of the Dominion intact.

THE CROWN OF ENGLAND

acts like the hub of a wheel to form a centre in which all its parts converge, and by which they are firmly knit into one organism. The condition of Canada when Queen Victoria succeeded King William, and its present condition after her reign of sixty years, afford as striking a contrast as history presents. The insurrections of 1837 and 1838 had occasioned the temporary suspension of constitutional government in Upper and Lower Canada. Animosity and disaffection were too rife to allow of a constitutional system of government, the way towards which was prepared by the wisdom of Lord Sydenham, and the liberal and enlightened policy of Sir C. Bagot, which, after some friction between the people and the Governor, brought about the union in 1841 of the two provinces, now Quebec and Ontario under the name of the Province of Canada. The first four years them of the Victorian era were the years of severe crisis to Canada. Had the new Queen been obnoxious to Canadians; or had she been less personally in favour; or shown less wisdom in sustaining her Counsellors who were bent on developing the self-government of Canada on constitutional principles; there is little doubt that the fate of Canada would have been disastrous, and its absorption into the American Republic inevitable. So completely and rapidly had the disaffection resulting from misdirected and indifferent administration, then prevailing in Canada when the Queen ascended the throne given place to loyalty, that the French revolution which broke out on the 24th Feb., 1848, caused no excitement in Canada. In April, 1848, the Grand Jury of Montreal made a presentment in French, in which the peace enjoyed by Canada is contrasted with the troubles afflicting old Europe, the happier lot of this country being therein said to be due to the form of its government, and the wisdom of those sent out to represent the Queen. The early stages of

THE EXPANSION OF CANADA

under the benign influences of the Victorian regime are exhibited in the following rare table, showing the increases of most significance in the revenue of the Province of Canada, from 1846 to 1851:—

Year.	Customs Revenue.	Welland Canal Revenue.	St Lawrence Canal Re
1846	$2,111,075	$137,000	$44,470
1847	2,072,160	182,700	76,275
1848	1,628,500	145,300	72,700
1849	2,222,770	173,700	88,300
1850	3,075,300	189,038	101,380
1851	3,787,200	238,806	114,080

The above figures cover the revenues of what are known as the Province of Quebec and Province of Ontario, whose united customs revenue since 1846 has risen from $2,111,006 to $15,599,000, and the value of imported goods from $12,580,000 to $95,267,000. The recession after 1846 largely arose from a change in the fiscal policy of Great Britain by which certain privileges enjoyed by Canada since since 1843 for the admission of wheat and flour were cancelled, and a very disastrous blow was thus struck at the milling and grain trade of this country into which large capital had been drawn owing to the discrimination made in 1843 by England in favour of Canadian imports.

RAILWAYS AND CANALS.

In 1847 the Grand Trunk Railway was begun, in 1850 the Northern, in 1854 the Great Western was opened for traffic. The work of railway construction in Canada was just commencing when the present reign began, it was therefore peculiarly appropriate for the completion of the Grand Trunk line from Riviere du Loup to Sarnia, in 1860, to be signalized by the magnificent Victoria Bridge being opened by the Prince of Wales. In 1853 the first ocean steamer arrived at Quebec. During these years of extremely great activity the canal system was being also enlarged. From 1843 to 1849, the Beauharnois, Cornwall, Galops, Farran's Point, Rapide Plat and Chambly canals were opened, with subsidiary works such as St. Anne's and St. Ours locks, and enlargements of the Welland canal. During the first decade of the Queen's reign Canada was tranquillised after a very stormy and threatening period of insurrectionary movements. It was provided with a form of constitutional government out of which has been developed the freest system of government enjoyed by any nation; and in the same period it was provided with conveniences for internal transport by which the commerce and natural resources of the country were enormously developed. With the are associated the first great steps made by Canada towards the organization and equipment of a great nation. In connection with the agitation to impose discriminatory duties by our Tariff it is interesting to recall that in 1845, the late Lord Derby, Colonial Secretary, instructed all Colonial governors to refuse assent to Acts by which duties might be imposed on goods in reference to their place of production, or to the place from which they might be exported. In 1850 the New Brunswick Government pleaded for permission to impose retaliatory duties on American imports, which right being refused led to considerable friction between the Home Government and the New Brunswick Legislature. The constructions of railways and canals through the Province of Canada, now Quebec and Ontario, opened a new era.

EARLY YEARS OF THE QUEEN'S REIGN

FEDERAL UNION

was in the air, and the sentiment was materially strengthened by the universal and intense loyalty towards the Queen which has been deepened by her wisdom and virtues. In 1814 Chief Justice Sewell of Quebec, submitted a plan of Union to the Duke of Kent, the Queen's father, after whom the Prince Edward Island was named, both incidents pointing to his having shown special interest in Canadian affairs. There is, therefore, a strong presumption that the education of Princess Victoria in preparation for her splendid destiny, comprised a knowledge of the Colonies whose affairs were associated with the memory of her illustrious father, who doubtless in his quiet home discussed with the Queen's mother the condition and future of the Provinces of Canada. A disloyal people could not have been consolidated, but the task of bringing all Canadians into a political unity was facilitated by their being already united in loyalty to the British Crown. The Queen is the august mother of confederation. After prolonged discussions delegates from Canada, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Prince Edward Island, and Newfoundland met in London in 1866 to frame an Act for bringing those sections into unity. The late Sir John A. Macdonald was chairman. In March, 1867, the Act as framed by the delegates was passed by the Imperial Parliament, and received the Queen's assent and in July 1st, 1867, the Dominion was proclaimed. Since then and during the last half of Queen Victoria's longest reign, Canada has made remarkable advances, not only in material prosperity, but in the unification of the spirit of the people of the several provinces. The machinery of Confederation that at first ran with some little friction in some of the provinces now runs smoothly from sea to sea. We are one people, proud of the name of Canadians—one people striving with a common aim and friendly rivalry, in the work of building up a great nation and this year in which is celebrated the Diamond Jubilee of her Majesty's reign will see the finest colony of her Empire personally represented by the noblest Premier that has been entrusted with the task of guiding the work of Canadian unification of people and of national progress—God Save the Queen!

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 78 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. THE QUEEN'S JUBILEE

Congratulatory Resolution of the Legislature.

THE PREMIER'S BRILLIANT SPEECH.

A Review in Eloquent Language of Canada's Progress During Her Majesty's Reign—Mr. Whitney Voices the Sentiments of the Opposition—Patriotism All Round.

Toronto, April 8.

Yesterday's session of the Legislature will be one long to be remembered. It will be known in history as the day upon which the gentlemen representing the voice of the people of Ontario, took occasion to express their loyalty to their beloved sovereign in an appropriate address. It was indeed a happy hour in which the leaders of the two old parties in the House proposed the resolution to submit the address to Her Majesty and supplemented it by warm, patriotic speeches. This occurred directly after recess, the morning and afternoon and the latter part of the evening session being taken up in passing through different stages a goodly number of bills, and in throwing out a few others.

The leaders of both sides of the House performed the leading roles in, perhaps, the prettiest and most affecting scene which the chamber has witnessed in this or in any other session for many long years.

The Attorney-General arose and moved that an humble and loyal address be presented to Her Majesty Queen Victoria on the occasion of the sixtieth year of her reign. In speaking to his motion, Mr. Hardy paid an eloquent tribute, amid outbursts of applause, to our Gracious Sovereign, and also took occasion to remind the House of the tremendous national and intellectual progress the world in general and the British Empire in particular had experienced during her unprecedented reign. While it was the longest reign in the annals of British history, it was also the best, and the happiest. It seemed as if a beneficent Providence had especially spun out the length of her reign to bring out the nobility of the life she illustrated, as well as the reforms she had brought about.

Continuing, the Attorney-General commented on the virtues Her Majesty exhibited at different stages of her career, from a young woman to an aged Queen, who had added wisdom with her riper years. Her whole life had been one of simplicity, a simplicity which the ordinary citizen could not only admire but also could carry into his personal and private life. Her life had been the possession of the nation for upwards of 50 years, and her private and domestic life, as well as her life as a sovereign, had been crowned by actions more kingly than those of any monarch in the past. But it was as a constitutional ruler that Her Majesty deserved, above all other reasons, the tributes which Britons from all quarters of the globe would shortly pay her. [Applause.] There had been other constitutional sovereigns before her, and other nations had already begun to copy the constitution of Great Britain when she ascended the throne, but it had only been since she had ascended the throne that other nations had seen the beauty of a constitutional reign under a limited monarchy, as exemplified by Victoria.

Britons, he continued, loved self-government. They believed that the representatives of the whole nation were wiser than the wisest single man, and that an assembled Parliament could enact better laws than any one person who might be a ruler. There had been, during the last 60 years, reforms in every manner of institution and in the life of the people themselves, and the long life God had granted Her Majesty had been largely conducive to that end. Her reign had been productive of colonial freedom—[hear, hear]—and Christian civilization had followed the flag of England into every part of the world. [Applause.]

The speaker then read a computation by Sir Julius Bogel of the tremendous growth in population and wealth of Great Britain and the colonies between the years 1840 and 1895. Sixty years ago, said he, the Empire was composed of the British Isles and a few disconnected, disorganised colonies in different parts of the globe. To-day Great Britain's vast possessions were no longer scattered. They were connected by railway and telegraph.

According to the table of Sir Julius, the population of Canada and Newfoundland had increased in these years from 1,690,000 to 5,225,000; their commerce in the same years from $31,000,000 to $243,000,000; and their revenue from $2,500,000 to $36,326,000. Similar data as to all the colonies, inclusive of India, were as follows: Populations, 1840, 112,100,000, and in 1895, 305,312,000; commerce value in 1840, $285,250,000, and in 1895, $2,419,725,000; revenue in 1840, $128,800,000, and in 1895, over $767,765,000. The yearly contribution to the revenue, Sir Julius pointed out, had risen from 95c per head in 1840 to $2.32 in 1895.

Sixty years ago the Empire had an area of 4,050,000 square miles and a population of 54,000,000; to-day its area is 12,000,000 square miles and the population over 400,000,000, somewhere between one-quarter and one-third of the entire population of the globe.

As to the United Kingdom itself, the population had increased since 1837 from 27,000,000 to 40,000,000 in 1897. The imports in 1837 were $335,000,000 and in 1896 were $2,000,000,000; the exports in 1837 were $250,000,000, and $1,425,000,000 in 1896. British manufactures amounted, in 1837, to $750,000,000, and in 1896 to $4,750,000,000. The British shipping, in 1837, totalled a tonnage of 3,000,000, while in 1875 it was 15,000,000, or over half the total tonnage of the world. In 1895, Britain built a greater number of tons than her entire tonnage in 1837. In 1837 there were scarcely 50 miles of steam railway in the world; to-day in Great Britain and Ireland alone there were 20,000 miles, which carry 1000 million passengers per annum and are worth 5000 million dollars. The Premier then quoted, to show the advances made in various directions, and also referred to the phenomenal progress of the United States.

The Premier also enumerated many of the inventions and advantages now possessed by the people, but which were unknown at the opening of Her Majesty's reign. We were but one, he then resumed, with some fervor, of the many colonies which, within two months, would send addresses to the foot of the throne. In the mighty British Empire there were 50 Parliaments or Legislative bodies and of these 20 had responsible Government as a foundation principle. "We march in this vast procession," he said, amid applause, "and we march near the front." There was, outside of the Imperial Parliament, but one Parliament, and rival of the House he had the honor of addressing. To the Empire itself, so much territory had been added during the reign compare in magnitude with that of Great Britain, as it was to-day. He then made passing references to the responsible government bequeathed us as a legacy by the Old Land. But England, he went on, gave us, besides, her intrepid spirit and her invincible courage, and we shared with her the glory of her triumphs on land and sea. Hitherto the world over enjoyed every attribute of self-government.

"May she long reign over us, happy and glorious, God save the Queen," were the concluding words of a happy speech. He then read the following address, which he was proposing to submit to Her Majesty the Queen:

Resolved, that an humble address be presented to Her Most Gracious Majesty, expressing the heartfelt congratulations of this House on the occasion of Her Majesty's attainment and approaching completion of the sixtieth year of her reign.

To the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty:

Most Gracious Sovereign,—We Your Majesty's most loyal and dutiful subjects, the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario, in Parliament assembled, humbly beg leave to approach Your Majesty with congratulations upon the attainment and approaching completion of the sixtieth year of Your Majesty's reign as Queen of Great Britain and Ireland.

It is not alone that Your Majesty's reign has been the longest in the annals of the Empire; other considerations combine with that notable event to render your reign the most memorable recorded in history. The wide diffusion of education and intelligence, the enhanced comfort in the daily life of the people, the growth of commerce, the improvement in the methods of manufacture, the discoveries in science and progress in the arts, with a wider extension of Christianity and Christian civilization, are some of the prominent features which render Your Majesty's reign conspicuous and illustrious.

Since Your Majesty ascended the throne constitutional government within the Empire has been more firmly established, principles and precedents tending to solidify British institutions have been repeatedly affirmed, and the respect of your loyal subjects for the constitution and laws under which they live, stimulated by Your Majesty's personal example, has been constantly strengthened.

Most notable and far-reaching in its consequences among the events of Your Majesty's fruitful reign has been the unparalleled growth and development of the British colonial system. Confiding unreservedly in the loyalty of your colonial subjects, the Parliament of Great Britain and Ireland conferred upon them the right of self-government. They in return have shown their appreciation of that confidence by their devoted loyalty to the Crown and Your Majesty's person, and the happy result of such mutual confidence has been that British ideas and British institutions, based upon freedom, law and order, have been fostered and are flourishing in every quarter of the globe.

During your long and benefient reign, your subjects in the Province of Ontario on whose behalf we have the honor to present these our congratulations, have shared very liberally in the general prosperity of the Empire; and while we are deeply sensible that many occurrences in your Canadian Colonies have caused anxiety, we are happy to know that owing to the generous forbearance which Your Majesty has exercised, and the forethought with which all legislation affecting us has been devised, peace and concord now prevail in every Province of Your Majesty's possessions in Canada.

We rejoice to believe that since Your Majesty ascended the throne, the British Empire has greatly extended, not only its territorial, but its moral and political influence. The ascendency of the Empire in the councils of the great powers of the world attests the soundness of Your Majesty's judgment in the choice of your advisers, and the prudence and sagacity with which Your Majesty has directed their deliberations.

Not only has the social and material condition of Your Majesty's subjects in all parts of the Empire greatly advanced, but much of the civil and religious liberty now enjoyed by them is owing to the generous encouragement given by Your Majesty at all times to every movement tending to the advancement of their moral and physical well-being.

With sincerest gratitude, therefore, we desire to express the hope that Your Majesty may be spared for many years to adorn your exalted station, and to command as you do now the devotion of your subjects in all parts of your imperial dominions and the admiration and respect of the civilized world.

On rising to second the resolution, the leader of the Opposition was received with uproarious applause from both benches. He esteemed it a very high honor to have the privilege of seconding the motion.

Mr. Whitney regretted exceedingly the fact that his physical condition rendered it impossible for him to do anything like justice to the occasion. He had one thought, however, to offer for the consideration of the House. It was that the blessing of Divine Providence had rested upon the British Empire to an unparalleled degree during all the years of Her Majesty's reign. Its influences could be seen in every corner of this vast empire, and he had reason to believe that this beneficence of Providence was in no small degree the result of the virtuous influence of the Royal Lady whom they were discussing that night. He had reason to believe that if her people followed out the principles which had governed her career they would be blessed as she had been. The Opposition leader concluded with the earnest supplication, "God bless our noble Queen."

The members wildly applauded the sentiment which had concluded the brief but patriotic remarks of Mr. Whitney, and then all rose and sang warmly the National Anthem.

Treatment of Skin Diseases in Bellevue Hospital, New York.

Professor Joseph N. Henry, M. D., lecturer on Dermatology, Bellevue Hospital, New York, writes: "I have used 'Pheno-Banum' ('Quickcure') in chronic skin disease: namely Psoriasis, and obstinate ulceration of the leg, due to varicosities; and also in suppurative dermatitis. I have found it to be of marked service, and consider it a very good preparation."

DEAR SIRS,—I hope that this letter will be of some use to those who suffer from headache and have not yet heard of B.B.B. It is a splendid medicine and I recommend it to all sufferers from headache or pain in the back.

PORTO RICO IN ARMS.

Another Spanish Colony in a State of Rebellion—The Situation Becoming More Serious Daily.

New York, April 8.—Dr. J. Julio Henna, President of the Porto Rican Revolutionary Committee in this city, yesterday received private information from the committee in the Island of Porto Rico to the effect that the country had taken up arms against the Spanish Government, the uprising having taken place in Yaucayo and Adjuntas.

The news of the uprising, it was reported by a member at the meeting of the committee, had been also received in this city yesterday by a well-known banking firm in Wall-street, which has close business connection with one of the leading banking houses in Porto Rico.

When seen late last night, Dr. Henna said: "The news, though startling, did not surprise me, as the latest mail advices from Porto Rico brought us the information that the situation there was becoming every day more serious."

The Surgeon of "Queen's Own Canadian Hussars."

Dr. Chas. E. Elliott, M. D., Quebec, writes: "I have used 'Pheno-Banum' (or 'Quickcure') with much success in many cases of foul and suppurating wounds; especially in one case following vaccination, which resisted all treatment for three months, that was quickly cured by four dressings of the above. I am now using it in many forms of skin diseases, and ulcers with apparent benefit. For cuts and burns it makes a splendid dressing."

Football in Great Britain.

Football is immensely popular in Great Britain, and every half holiday the game attracts the attention of all classes of people. An international game in Glasgow, between teams representing Scotland and England, attracted a crowd of 57,000 people, the gate receipts amounting to upwards of $15,000. At another game near London there were 55,800 spectators. It is a weekly occurrence in the large Yorkshire and Lancashire towns for a crowd of 20,000 to 30,000 people to watch a game, the prices of admission ranging from five cents to 50 cents. In some towns the stores are closed during the progress of the game.

A Vegetable Meat.

In Japan they have what may be called vegetable meat. The substance is called in the vernacular "torfu." It consists mainly of protein matter of the soya bean, and is claimed to be easily digestible and as nutritious as meat. Torfu is as white as snow, and is sold in tablets; it tastes somewhat like fresh malt.—Good Housekeeping.

Granby Rubbers

It is no wonder that rubbers, which are not the same shape as the boot, should be uncomfortable. It costs money to employ skilled pattern makers but the result is a satisfactory fit. Each year new patterns are added, to fit all the latest shoe-shapes, and Granby Rubbers are always "up-to-date." They are honestly made of pure rubber, thin, light, elastic, durable, extra thick at ball and heel.

Mock Parliament Rehearsal.

There will not be a general rehearsal of the Mock Parliament to-morrow evening as announced, it having been postponed until Saturday evening, when a full attendance of the members is requested in the Charlotte street church school room.

He Had no License.

A. L. Maddox, of Toronto, was fined ten dollars in the police court this morning for peddling goods without a license. So many of these peddlers canvas the town to the detriment of the business of the local merchants, that the authorities are determined to deal summarily with any of the class whom they can convict.

Business Half Holidays.

The committee who arranged for the half-holiday system during July and August last should take the matter in hand again, and at once, so that it may be properly advertised. The arrangement of last year was loyally observed, and all concerned were apparently satisfied. There should be no trouble in making the half-holiday during July and August one of Peterborough's institutions.

City of Peterborough.

The steamer City of Peterborough is being over-hauled and put in first-class shape. She will be all ready for business after this month and will commence to ran her regular trips to Jubilee Point, Harwood, Gore's Landing and Hastings, which will be announced by advertisements in all the papers. Let Them out for a Spin.

Buy your boys and girls a bicycle and let them get out into the country and enjoy the exhilarating exercise and fresh air on a wheel. The cost may not be a serious consideration to many—seeing that Messrs. Fairweather & Co. are offering high grade wheels for juveniles at $30. Parents who would like to buy a $50 strong wheel for their boys or girls are invited to take a look at the "Defiance" and the "Duke"—two good safe wheels, with all the latest improvements up to date, now on exhibition at Fairweather's store.

Grand Master Concert.

The management in charge of the Watkin Mills recital again beg to call the attention of the public to the fact that the guarantee list for the grand recital which takes place in the Opera House Wednesday, April 21, is filling rapidly, and those desiring seats would do well to have their name put on at once, as only subscribers will have first choice of seats. This is one of the strongest concert attractions ever offered to the people of Peterborough, the artists being of the highest order. Don't miss hearing Mr. Mills, who is acknowledged to be England's greatest baritone. The list is at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Five Stubborn Facts.

1. That the Cleveland Bicycle is the wheel of society. It covers every improvement and is the king of the track.
2. That our Baby Carriages are the handsomest and strongest little cabs built for babies.
3. That our wheeled rigs for children, such as play waggons, velocipedes and tricycles, have the lowest priced labels on them ever shown.
4. That our Wall Papers and Window Blinds are the most fashionable, artistic and extensive ever shown at the Peterborough Bookstore.—A. H. STRATTON & Co.

HIT WITH AN IRON BAR.

A Peterborough Boy Badly Hurt in Toronto.

The following item appearing in the Toronto News, refers to an old Peterborough boy, who has relatives living in town:

George Baguley, who received such a vicious blow from a fellow-employee at Gurney's foundry on Wednesday afternoon is lying at the residence of Wm. D. Varey, 178 Spadina avenue, under the care of Dr. Riordan. The doctor is still unable to say what will be the result, though present indications are somewhat favourable. After receiving the blow Baguley became unconscious and remained so for some time, bleeding profusely from the mouth and nose. For some very obvious reasons the Gurney people pretended to know nothing of the affair, and George Baguley appears in the ambulance record as John Brown, the damage being assigned to an accidental tripping, instead of a blow from an iron bar wielded by another man.

Detective Porter is making enquiries about the matter, and it is more than probable that the case will be threshed out in the police court.

Baguley, who is a tinsmith, lives at 54 Wood street, but as his mother is an invalid it was considerd better to take him to Mr. Varey's, who is a foreman at the Gurney works.

The injured man's father kept a tinsmithing establishment about ten or twelve years ago in the store on Hunter street now occupied by Mr. Sam Ray.

Fred H. Wilson Returns.

On Monday night, April 12th, the ever popular comedian, Fred. H. Wilson, supported by a company of superior artists, will open a week's engagement at Bradburn's Opera House. When here last fall this company pleased immense audiences, the Opera House being packed nightly and everyone spoke of the attraction in the highest terms, placing it in the foremost ranks with the higher priced attractions. The opening piece will be "The Working Men Strike," a strong melo-drama which appeals to the hearts of everyone one. The specialties are all strong and sure to please. Prices 10, 15 and 25c. Reserved are now on sale at Ormond & Walsh's drug store.

Out on a "Time."

Joseph Doris, a ruddy-looking individual, who claims to come from the township of Otonabee, Peterborough County, got on a spree in Toronto yesterday, and hired Cabman Saunders' equipage so that he could with greater facility view the glories of Toronto and have a good time generally for an hour or two. When the hackman began to hint at pay, Doris was discovered to be financially embarrassed. He, moreover, charged the driver with having robbed him of his watch and chain and he insisted on his arrest. The two articles were, however, found in his own pockets, and he himself was arrested as a drunk. In court he was still penniless, but on saying that he could borrow from a friend enough to pay the cab bill, he was allowed to go out with a detective.—Toronto News.

Their Services Appreciated.

The following letter which speaks for itself has been received by the nurses at the Nicholls Hospital:

Toronto Junction, March 27th, 1897.

To the Nurses and Attendants of Nicholls Hospital, Peterborough:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—Through information received from Brother Geo. Harnes, and on behalf of Lake View Lodge, No. 272, I.O.F., of Toronto Junction, I desire to express the sincere thanks of Lake View Lodge to you for the great kindness and sympathy shown to our late deceased brother, Sidney Adams, during the period of his disability and confinement in the above hospital, and for the hospitality and courtesy extended to the widow and family of our departed brother. May God grant each of you long life and health to forward you in the great work which you have taken upon yourselves to perform, in ministering to the sick and relieving the sufferings of humanity. I do assure you ladies, we cannot insert sufficient words of commendation for the great kindness shown, and again we humbly thank you for the token of respect and sympathy you sent with the remains of the departed.

Signed on behalf of Lodge.

NEWS NUGGETS.

Paragraphs Picked Up and Pencilled for Public Perusal.

—The month of April is altogether too late for a snow storm.

—Port Hope is making its preparations for the usual big Dominion Day celebration.

—The steamer City of Peterborough made her first trip yesterday, taking a spin round Little Lake. The machinery has been thoroughly overhauled and parts renewed. The City gave good satisfaction on her trial trip. Captains Clare Calcutt and Lambert were at the wheel.

—Capt. Wm. Fee and ten or twelve men, says the Lindsay Post, arrived home Wednesday from the Sadler & O'Neill lumber camps at Biscotasing, after a busy season's operations in the woods. Two camps were at work, and some 50,000 extra choice logs were cut and drawn to water a short distance from the mill. Millwright Humber, of Peterborough, left for Biscotasing yesterday to fit up the mill, which is being enlarged to receive a second circular saw. The cut this season will be a large one.

—Notwithstanding the fact that Ceylon teas have grown enormously in public favour and demand, yet it is a well known fact in the trade, that perhaps not one tea out of every half dozen that is sold, is the pure product of Ceylon; China teas being in favour with many dealers, because of the very low price they are offered at. It is much safer for the consumer to demand some world celebrated brand, that is packed in registered lead packets, such as "Salada," "Gorthie" or "Kandapolla." In this way they are certain of getting the pure product of the finest tea producing country in the world.

A Double Ender.

In a litter of pigs which were ushered into the world a few days ago on the farm of Mr. Harry Elliott, 13th concession, Dummer, a peculiar freak of nature was observed in the shape of a perfectly formed head on two distinct bodies. Had the life of this unnatural production been spared it would have been quite a curiosity and would probably have brought its owner a good figure. Unfortunately it was bitten by a rat or other animal shortly after it was born, and died.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes manager Thomas Dawson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

"Business is business" has been quoted as a sneer in reference to the present Dominion Government, but the people of this district will be inclined to regard it as a very proper term to use in earnest, when they learn that in the estimates brought down in the House of Commons on Thursday the considerable sum of nearly $700,000 ($650,600) is appropriated to work on the Trent Valley Canal. Of this sum $650,000 is appropriated for construction and $9,600 for miscellaneous improvement on the existing canal. In the temporary absence of Mr. Rogers, superintending engineer, we are unable to determine on the moment how much (if any) of the $650,000 appropriated for construction will be required to complete construction work now under contract, or what amount (if any) will be available for new work.

In any case, the deputation that went to Ottawa and interviewed the Government on Tuesday last have reason to feel that their efforts have been well rewarded. Mr. Carnegie, the spokesman of the party, who has taken such an active interest in the canal, feels that way, and no doubt all the members of the deputation will rejoice in the practical outcome of their visit, apart from the perhaps more important advantage of having been assured of the Government's recognition of the importance of the Trent Valley route. In view of the appropriation made, it is not too much to claim that Premier Laurier has literally fulfilled his promise to the deputation—"that the work will go on as rapidly as the finances of the country will allow," and with a most gratifying promptitude, too. This promise was made on Tuesday and within three days the promise is implemented by placing, in the estimates, the considerable sum of nearly $700,000 to the credit of the canal. This is evidence of the bona fides of the Government towards the enterprise, which is in striking contrast to past experience. Though the sum appropriated is not as large as ardent promoters of the scheme might desire, yet in view of the numerous demands made upon the government, in view of the condition of the finances—with over thirteen millions required to meet charges upon the public debt—and in view of the government's pledge of retrenchment, which they are faithfully endeavouring to carry out, having due regard to the interests of the country, the appropriation is a most liberal one, and is received with genuine gratification by all who are interested in the canal and its completion. This is satisfactory, especially when we recollect the hostility that exists in influential quarters against the scheme, and that even, in this vicinity, there are still some who cannot be brought to regard the canal enterprise in any higher aspect than that of a work of local importance. The more the merits of the route as an indispensable complement to national transportation equipment and as an agency of national prosperity are canvassed, the more fully are they recognized; and the practical endorsation of the scheme by the present government, and its adoption as a part of a progressive public policy, is a source of the liveliest satisfaction to the people of this town and district, as well as those resident on the route of this great waterway.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

THE EXAMINER has received a letter from Mr. W. J. Stacey, Mount Pleasant, requesting the contradiction of "what appeared against him" last week in the Millbrook items. It is assumed that what is referred to is the report of the hearing of a charge before Magistrate Gillott. THE EXAMINER had no reason to think that what was published was not a fair report of the proceedings. If Mr. Stacey will kindly inform THE EXAMINER in what particular he has not received justice in the report any rectification of error possible will cheerfully be made. There was no animus on the part of THE EXAMINER towards Mr. Stacey, and if, unwittingly (so far as THE EXAMINER is concerned) any injustice has been done him he has every claim to being set right.

ENNISMORE.

On Monday, the 5th inst., Mr. John Hennessey passed away after a lingering illness. The funeral took place on Wednesday, and the large cortege that followed the remains to their last resting place showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

Apply a little 'Quickcure' to a pimple, or any blemish of the skin, and cover with thin paper, and it will disappear in twenty-four hours, leaving the skin natural and healthy, as it destroys the germs which enter the skin and cause pimples, boils, etc., especially if one is unwell, or even run down from overwork."

THE STONY LAKE COTTAGERS' ASSO'N.

Members Met in the Rink Parlours Last Evening.

SOME INTERESTING DISCUSSIONS.

A Pavilion will be Erected on Juniper Island for Entertainments and Shelter in the Case of Storms—A List of Regulations for the Cottagers—Too High Assessment in Burleigh.

A largely attended meeting of the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association was held last evening in the rink parlours to decide a number of questions pertaining to the interests of the summer residents of that most delightful resort in the northern part of the county.

The president of the Association, Mr. D. W. Dumble, occupied the chair, and Secretary Brownscombe looked after the minutes.

Amongst the cottagers present were Messrs. D. W. Dumble, A. L. Davis, J. J. McBain, A. C. McCallum, J. R. Donell, A. F. Hoover, D. Breese, W. G. Ferguson, J. D. Collins, — Best, Sheriff Hall, T. W. Robinson, T. Barrie, R. McWhinnie, G. M. Roger, E. B. Edwards, K. G. Loch.

The president had evidently given the meeting considerable thought before he arrived, as he had enough matter in hand to keep the cottagers in discussion until almost midnight. After calling the meeting to order, he presented the following bylaw which he had prepared with the object of having it passed by the various municipalities adjacent to the lake, if it was endorsed by the Association:

LESS NOISE.

A bylaw to prevent the ringing of bells, blowing of horns and other nuisances:—

The Corporation of the Township of——— by its municipal council, enacts as follows:—

It shall not be lawful at any time, by ringing of bells, blowing of horns, shouting and other unusual noises, to disturb the inhabitants.

It shall not be lawful to fire off any gun or pistol or other firearm, or to fire or set off fire balls, squibs, crackers or fireworks, or to conduct or take part in any charivaris or otherwise disturb the peace or endanger the lives of the inhabitants.

The firing of any gun, rifle, pistol or revolver loaded with shot, slugs or balls, otherwise than in the lawful season and in the pursuit of game, shall be deemed a violation of this by-law.

Any person violating any of the provisions of this bylaw shall be liable, on conviction before any Justice of the Peace, to a penalty not less than one dollar and not exceeding ten dollars, to be levied off his goods and chattels, and in default of payment to imprisonment in the county gaol for a term not exceeding twenty days.

After the Association had expressed its approval of the various clauses in the by-law, Mr. Dumble produced a list of "Regulations" of which he thought a copy should be hung in every cottage. The different clauses were considered by the members and passed as follows:

REGULATIONS.

1. The discharge of loaded guns, pistols, etc., is illegal and persons offending will be prosecuted.

2. Disorderly conduct by blowing horns and making unseemly noises at night, besides being dangerous is selfish and unkind to those who seek the lake for rest. Offenders will be prosecuted.

3. The loons are weird and interesting birds—an ornament to the lakes. Cottagers are requested to discourage all hunting and molesting of birds.

4. Fires—All persons are enjoined against leaving fires without thoroughly quenching them. No fire should be started where it may run or endanger the wood.

5. Timber—No one should take the liberty of cutting trees or shrubs on islands. Offenders will be prosecuted.

6. Sanitary Arrangements—All waste should should be consumed in the stove and all deleterious matter burned or effectively buried. Every precaution dictated by decency and regard for others should be observed. No closet should over-hang the water and every closet should be periodically cleaned. A box of dry earth should be constantly kept and used in closets.

Fish—Burn all waste from fish and kill no more than are required for use.

In accordance with the suggestion made by the President, the list of regulations will be supplied each cottager.

THE TIME LOST

between Peterborough and the lake whilst en route, formed a fruitful topic for discussion. A large number of the cottagers complained of the long wait at Lakefield, and the delay in getting baggage transferred from the train to the boats. The appended resolution was finally passed:

That a memorial be sent to the G.T.R. urging that the new bridge at Auburn be completed for this season's traffic, and that the cars be run down to the wharf to save time in transferring baggage; also that the commutation tickets be issued as usual to cottagers.

Messrs. A. L. Davis and D. Breese moved that the chairman and secretary be authorized to petition on behalf of the Association against the granting of a license to the hotel at McCracken's—Carried.

CANOE RACES.

The matter of the canoe racing then came up. It was thought advisable to advertise the sailing races for the first day and then if there was no wind they could be postponed until the second day. Last year there was a good wind the first day when the paddling races came off, but there was a dead calm for the sailing races the day after. The programme will now be arranged so that the sailing races can be held as soon as the wind springs up. The following resolution in respect to the matter was passed:

"That there be two days amateur racing at Juniper Island, and that the following be the committee to arrange and conduct the same: Clarence Bell, E. B. Edwards, T. Barry, Mr. Buck, Geo. Cochrane, Perry Strickland, H. LeBrun and T. E. Bradburn. That the scheme of races be published a month before the race day."

It was also resolved, "That Messrs. Edwards, Dumble and Rogers be the Legal Committe to watch the interests of the cottagers in matters of taxation and other matters calling for legal services."

In respect to this latter motion the cottagers residing in Burleigh township, complained of their assessment, which actually compelled some of them to pay taxes to the amount of $30 on islands which had only cost $30 in the first place. The rate of taxation is almost 5 cents on the dollar, being 47 3-10 mills in reality. The appended motion was accordingly passed, and the Legal Committee has been given charge of the matter.

Resolved, that the custom of the assessors of the Township of Burleigh in assessing the Stony Lake cottagers at excessively high rates is unsatisfactory and unfair, and this association approves of steps being taken to investigate the matter, and by appeal to procure a fairer assessment and a better equalization of the assessment of the entire township.

FISH HATCHERY.

Mr. Dumble was anxious for the matter of a fish hatchery to be pressed to an issue. He stated that he had interviewed Col. Prince at Ottawa, in respect to it but had obtained no satisfaction. It was undecided at present which Government had control of the waters. He had also tried to have something done concerning the salmon and tried to persuade Col. Prince to recommend that they be caught by nets, but to to this the official would not listen, claiming that a salmon could be caught easily with hook and line. Mr. Dumble represented to him that fishermen with 20 years experience could not take them, but his statements apparently carried no weight. He had also tried to have fish slides placed in the different locks and dams, but had been told that the bass and lunge were not migratory fish and would not use the slides. The speaker advocated that if neither Government would erect a hatchery, the cottagers arrange to build one themselves, as the fish were decreasing in the lakes to an alarming degree.

The following resolution was then passed: "That the Ontario and Dominion Governments shall be petitioned to establish a fish hatchery at Buckhorn with a view to keeping up the supply of bass and maskinonge."

Mr. D. Breese represented that the cause of the decrease of the fish was largely due to the shipments which were made from town of bass and lunge in the month of March. The lakes were being depleted through this means. Last year over 600,000 pounds of fish were sent to the United States in this manner.

In order to meet this levy on the lakes the appended resolution was passed:

"That inasmuch as bass and lunge are a peculiarly sport fish, and the supply in the lake is fast decreasing, that the Government shall be petitioned to prevent the shipment for sale of bass and maskinonge, and that no one shall be permitted to ship out of the country any fish other than his own catch."

As the fish in the back lakes spawn early and those caught in March are full of eggs, another resolution, as follows, was passed respecting the matter:

"That in the opinion of the association the close season for bass and maskinonge should begin on the first of March, and that this resolution be sent to the Minister of Fisheries and Marine at Ottawa."

THE NEW COMPANY.

Mr. Bell, of Toronto, formerly of Lakefield, the secretary of a company which proposes developing the lakes and on having a hotel there, then addressed the meeting. He stated that the company proposed to control the boats in order that there might be more satisfactory service, through each boat being allotted a certain portion of the lake to cover. The cottagers would be asked to take stock in the company and could thus have the matter under their full control and the remedy of any grievances would be in their own hands. Some objection was raised to the erection of a hotel, but if the company did not build one some one else would, and it would be found better to have such a place entirely in their own control. The speaker stated that he had prepared a map of the lakes, which had been carefully checked over. It would be issued next week for advertising purposes. Arrangements were being made with the Grand Trunk whereby passengers from Toronto would not need a day to get to the Lakes, but could make better connections in Peterborough. It would enable Torontonians to get to the lakes in a shorter time than to Muskoka. Mr. Bell wanted to know what the cottagers would subscribe towards getting out an advertising folder?

Mr. E. B. Edwards thought the last speaker did not quite understand how the cottagers viewed the matter. They had no wish to boom the back Lakes as none of them wished to sell off any islands, preferring to hold them for personal use. If the Grand Trunk saw anything in advertising the Lakes, it was welcome to do so, but the cottagers were quite satisfied with the present state of affairs.

Mr. J. D. Collins endorsed these remarks, thinking that there were quite enough people at the Lakes already.

STEAMBOAT ACCOMMODATION.

Mr. Bell having introduced the matter of the steamboat accommodation, a lively discussion took place and considerable fault was found with the long delay in Lakefield before the boats left after the arrival of the train. It was also thought that there could be some improvement in the landing of passengers at their islands at an earlier hour by the boats dividing the territory to be covered. It was resolved:

"That better steamboat accommodation is called for, and that this Association appoint Messrs E. B. Edwards, A. L. Davis, Sheriff Hall and J. J. McBain to secure some more satisfactory arrangements."

The fact that a new boat is to be placed on the lakes was thought to be a factor that could be utilized in arranging a general re-organization of the service.

THE PAVILION.

The President introduced the question of the erection of a pavilion. He thought it was time there was something done in this connection. It could be erected for general puposes and used on Sunday as a place of worship. The growth of the community demanded something of the sort. It could be built on Juniper Island near the store and used as a shelter in which to wait for the boats and for purposes of entertainment during the week. If at the close of any of these entertainments the young people wished to hold an impromptu hop, he saw no harm in it.

Mr. E. B. Edwards, one of the owners of Juniper Island, thought that the canoe landing at the store should be improved as doubtless a very large number of canoes would be attracted to the spot on Sundays. If the pavilion was erected near the store, it could be used as a place of shelter in case it rained, but he was in favour of holding the services in the open air. He was not in favour of cottagers erecting the pavilion as a place of worship and then dancing in it and refused to either give or sell the land for such a purpose. He thought if the storekeeper would erect the pavilion it would be a better way of arranging matters, if such a place was required.

Mr. Dumble stated that Mr. Edwards did not place the matter in the right light. The pavilion had grown to be a necessity. It was needed for general purposes. It was not to be erected exclusively as a place of worship, but could be used as such on Sundays.

Mr. A. L. Davis, in speaking on the question, stated that the cottagers felt that it was not fair to trespass on every Sunday. Whilst he had been very kind, still all felt that it would be better to be in a more independent position.

Mr. G. M. Roger mentioned an island in the Muskoka lakes where open air services were still held and always greatly enjoyed. He thought half the charm of the service would be lost if the pavilion was to be used. It would be all right to have it in case a storm suddenly came up, but he would prefer having the sermon held in the open air, as a general thing. He, also, would prefer having matters arranged so that Mr. T. W. Robinson could own the building and the cottagers pay him an annual rental.

Mr. T. W. Robinson stated that he needed an additional building for the serving of ice cream, etc., and to accommodate picnic parties. He thought of having it erected at the west end of the store. If the cottagers would guarantee to assist him it could be made large enough to meet their requirements. If it was decided to only use it in times of rough weather, a central place to hold service was to be found on the shore of the little bay to the south, where there were some fine trees.

A lively discussion then ensued as to whether the regular services would be held in the open air or the pavilion. Those having a leaning towards the open air services described its charms with great eloquence, whilst others again were equally fluent in urging the need of comfortable seats and the shade of a roof.

The matter was left undecided as the pavilion is to be built anyway and the cottagers can decide the question for themselves when on the ground.

It was decided to pay Mr. Robinson $25 a year for the use of his building for services.

On motion of Mr. A. L. Davis and Sheriff Hall, the following committee was given the management of the services: A. L. Davis, Sheriff Hall, Percy Strickland, Geo. Cochrane, J. D. Collins, T. S. Cole and Benj. Shortly.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was elected president and Mr. Felix Brownscombe, secretary-treasurer. A collection was taken up to defray expenses and the meeting adjourned.

Improvements at Bobcaygeon.

Last summer when Hon. A. G. Blair, Minister of Railways and Canals, made a hurried trip over the Trent Valley waters from Lakefield to Rosedale, the necessity of repairs to the dam at Bobcaygeon was one of the matters brought to his attention when he reached that romantic little village. He was informed that the new dam had never been gravelled, the result being that it leaked badly, causing serious inconvenience during the low water season. A few days ago Supt. Rogers was instructed to make the necessary repairs, and Mr. Peter Grant was placed in charge—a guarantee that the work will be well done. As the Messrs. Boyd last fall built a coffer dam and repaired the Little Bob dam at their own expense, boatmen may confidently expect higher water during the coming summer, especially as the Fenelon dam will be closely looked after to prevent waste.—Lindsay Post.

Dr. Andres, Beaver Hall, Montreal, writes: "For burns and sores it is really far better than any remedy I know of; it is mild and safe to use, and it makes a splendid plaster. Where an Anodyne is required, and when Aconite or Belladonna might be dangerous, a 'Quickcure' plaster gives relief in fifteen minutes."

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 33 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before the advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at $1 or $2.00 on 10,000 bushels. Now I advise the purchase of Corn around 35 cts. for July. Young Lochinvar who, according to the story, ran away with his bride, did not love her one particle more devotedly than a thousand honest husbands of the present day love their wives.

No novelist could invent a story of truer manly devotion than the "humble romance" revealed by the following letter from Mr. Harry Chant, of 211 Haskell Avenue, Dallas, Texas.

"About fourteen or fifteen months ago I was working with a gang of men and happened to say to one of them, 'I hope it will not rain as I have a big washing to do for the children.' The man said, 'What is the matter with your wife?'"

"For years my wife had been suffering from what the doctors called prolapsus of uterus. She was nervous, had cold hands and feet, palpitation, headache, backache, constipation, a disagreeable drain, with bearing down pains; no appetite. She got so weak she could not get around. I am only a laborer so was always in debt with the doctors, and all for no good, as none did her any good. We began to think that she was never going to get well."

"I told this man what the doctors said was the matter with her," and he said "'did you ever hear of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription?'" "I told him no, but I had tried so many patent medicines that I was tired of them all, and besides I did not have enough money to pay the doctor and the drug store. He said if I would get two or three bottles and try them, and if it did not do my wife any good that he would pay for the medicine. I went to the drug store (Mr. Clawber's on Elm Street), and bought a bottle. The first and second did not seem to have much effect but the third seemed to work like a charm. She has taken in all about thirteen bottles and she is today as stout and healthy as any woman in the United States. This is not the only case. Whenever I hear tell of any woman who is sick in the neighborhood I just send the book and paper that is wrapped around every bottle and that does the business. I am no longer bothered about doing my own washing and cooking, for my wife can do it all in one day and never seems tired or out of spirits now."

LUMBERMEN'S WANTS.

A Most Influential Deputation at the Capital to Fight for a Duty on Logs and Pulp Wood.

Ottawa, April 7.—(Special.)—Late this afternoon the Minister of Finance received a most important deputation representing the lumber industries of Georgian Bay: H. L. Lovering, Coldwater; J. B. Horrell, N. McCorvie, R. Murphy, P. Potvin, Midland; George Thomson, R. H. Jupp, R. J. Sanderson (Mayor), H. H. Wilson, J. Venner, D. Harvie, B. R. Kean, A. L. Vick, Orillia; C. E. Hewson, John Ross, W. A. Sneath, Barrie; C. E. Wright, George Copeland, P. H. Spohn, A. Tessier, C. G. Gendron, T. Payette, Z. A. Hall (Mayor), G. H. Wright, Penetang; C. E. Newton, Victoria Harbor.

The deputation was introduced by W. H. Bennett, M.P., and accompanied by George McCormick, M.P., and W. F. Maclean, M.P.

Mr. H. L. Lovering was the chief speaker. He presented the following resolution, which was passed at a meeting of all the interested parties before coming to Ottawa:

"That in the event of any foreign country imposing a duty of more than $1 per thousand on white pine lumber imported from Canada and entering such country, then the export of white pine saw logs or pulpwood timber of any kind be absolutely prohibited from Canada, and that duties be imposed upon lumber entering Canada from any country which imposes duties against Canadian lumber, at the same rates charged by such foreign country."

The question was very fully discussed.

Mr. Fielding in his reply said no doubt there was some feeling in Canada in this matter. It appeared as if the United States tariff dealt unfairly with Canada, and it was only natural that it should be resented in this country. He still hoped that what the deputation feared would not take place. Though the Dingley bill had passed the House of Representatives, it had still to run the gauntlet of the Senate, and possibly changes would there take place which would modify the bill in the direction desired by the deputation. The Government would give the request every consideration.

The Surgeon of 5th Royal Rifles, Quebec writes: "I have used, with much success, 'Pheno-Banum' (or 'Quickcure') in dressing wounds, which suppurated even under the dressing of Iodoform; the effect was remarkable, all discharge ceasing, and healing granulation setting up at once, after first application of 'Quickcure.' I consider its antiseptic action as valuable as its marvelous pain relieving properties."

Deformed Fingers in Criminals.

According to La Medicine Modern Dr. P. Penta has studied the fingers and toes of 4500 criminals, and finds a deficiency in the size or number of toes very frequent among them, although very rare among ordinary men. He also observed that prehensile toes, marked by a wide space betwen the great toe and the second toe is a condition quite common among criminals, also a webbed condition of the toes, an approximation to the toeless feet of some savages. The little toes are also rudimentary in many cases, showing a tendency toward the four-toed animal foot; but the most common of all the abnormalities was the webbed condition of the toes.

SOME SENATORS ARE KICKING

And Fear That the Dignity of the Red Chamber Will Suffer From the Incursions — Movements of the Papal Abbegate — Other Ottawa News Notes.

Ottawa, April 7.—(Special.)—The refreshment question got an airing in the Senate this afternoon. Mr. Ferley called attention to the fact that last session the House of Commons had passed an order prohibiting the sale of liquor within the precincts of the Lower House. He understood that a door of communication between the basement of the Commons and the Senate, which had in previous sessions been closed, was now open, and members of the Lower House could come into the Senate restaurant. He thought that it was scarcely fair to the House of Commons that its desire to prohibit the use of liquors should be frustrated by allowing the members to have access to the Senate refreshment rooms. It was derogatory to the dignity of the Senate and in contravention of orders passed by the Upper House last session.

Senator Ogilvie said he had been informed and believed that the order passed by the House of Commons was not enforced, and that the members of the House could obtain what they wanted on their own side without coming near the Senate.

Senator McDonald, British Columbia, said that the reason why the door of communication between the basements of the Senate and the House of Commons was open was because the same caterer served both dining rooms. He presumed that as soon as the Restaurant Committee was appointed the whole matter would be enquired into. The matter then dropped.

Mr. McInnes, M. P., on being asked to-day what he intended to do about The Toronto Globe's attack upon him, says the matter will be dealt with when it comes up in the Commons again in a few days, according to the promise of Mr. Davies. Mr. McInnes says he fully understands the motive which prompted the personal attack on himself. It was the same object that The Globe had in view when it made its former break. "There will be a good many other things of interest come out," concluded Mr. McInnes, "when the proper time comes."

Mgr. Mery Del Val left for Montreal this afternoon. This morning he celebrated mass in the Water-street Hospital, and before leaving the city visited the patients in that institution in company with the chaplain, Rev. Canon Deguire. Yesterday His Excellency Lord Aberdeen called on the Ablegate and took him for a drive about the city in the vice-regal carriage. Mgr. Mery Del Val expressed himself delighted with the Capital, and in parting warmly thanked Lord Aberdeen for his kindness and hospitality.

Mgr. Mery Del Val will go from Montreal to Quebec, where he will spend Easter week. After Easter he will leave for Manitoba, where he will remain for an indefinite length of time before returning to Ottawa.

Mr. Lister, M. P., is to be chairman of a Parliamentary committee to enquire into the best methods of developing the Yukon country. The idea is to establish some system of territorial government for the country and to make it more readily accessible, so as to promote development. Mr. William Ogilvie, the Dominion Land Surveyor, who has been there for the past year or so, and who has been sending reports to Ottawa of extraordinary discoveries of gold, will be home next month (May) and will be examined by the committee. The testimony of other parties will also be taken. In a day or two the British Yukon Chartered Company, the syndicate which proposes seeking the administration of the Yukon country, will lay its scheme fully before the Government. The promoter, C. H. Wilkinson of London, has just returned from Washington, after securing the charter there, necessitated by the fact that a part of the district to be operated in lies in United States territory.

A return brought down to-day shows that the bounties for iron and steel manufactured from Canadian ore since February of last year are as follows: On pig iron, 42,404 tons, bounty $84,809; on iron, puddled bars, 4353 tons, bounty $8707; on steel billets, 35,757 tons, bounty $71,514. The Hamilton Iron and Steel Company produced 3545 tons of pig, bounty $7090; Hamilton Blast Furnace Company, 1497 tons, bounty $2995; Hamilton Rolling Mills Company, 91 tons of puddled bars, $183.

Brother Andrew Broder, M. P. for Dundas, has, with the assistance of The Montreal Star, unconsciously got Deputy Speaker Brodeur, M. P. for Rouville, into trouble with his constituents. Deputy Speaker Brodeur has received numerous letters from constituents asking him why he denounced the school settlement and opposed the visit of Mr. Fitzpatrick to Rome, as reported by The Montreal Star. Mr. Brodeur did not make any speech this session, but the remarks of Mr. Broder were attributed to him. Mr. Broder's name being mis-spelled Brodeur in the report The incident, after all, shows there's something in a name.

The Canada Atlantic Railway are sending from three to five special lumber trains a day with lumber for the American market. Last Sunday five special trains were sent out. The officials of the road state that never before in the history of the line have so many trains of lumber passed over their road. During the past week 1162 cars of lumber have been shipped from Ottawa and points east on the line of the C. A. R. The explanation of this great rush is undoubtedly the proposed new tariff on lumber.

Yesterday the roadmasters of the different divisions of the C. P. R. system notified trackmen that their wages in future would be $1.10 a day, and those of section foremen $1.70 a day, an advance of 10 cents all round. The trackmen asked for a raise of 25 cents a day, but have decided to accept the offer of the company. The advance in wages will date from April 1. It affects more than 2000 men.

London, April 7.—Despatches from Pretoria and Delagoa Bay say that the whole of Gazaland is in open revolt. Twenty-five thousand natives have rebelled against the Portuguese Government. The principal rising is only about 40 miles from the Transvaal border. The Portuguese troops are mobilizing rapidly and the situation is regarded as most serious.

Letter From the Rector of the High School.

"Dear Doctor Ivers.—I should like to add another testimonial to the numbers you have already received in favor of 'Quickcure.' I have been troubled a good deal lately with Boils, and tried 'Quickcure.' I can only describe its effect as magical; in about half a minute after application, I felt as though I had never been troubled at all, and was completely well in two days. Wishing you every success with your valuable discovery, I remain, yours very truly,

Signed, T. AINSLIE YOUNG,
Rector, High School, Quebec.

Money For the Siberian Railroad.

In regard to the appropriations made for carrying on the great Siberian Railway, the report of the Russian Minister of Finance says: The budget for 1897 assigns 65,000,000 rubles for the continuation of this work. Thus, since the commencement of the railway one-half of the sum requisite for this stupendous undertaking has already been assigned. From the state of progress one may expect that in 1903, or at any rate in 1899, the Siberian Railway will reach the Amoor from both ends, and, united by a service of fast steamers along this river, will form a direct line of steam communication across the whole of Siberia to the Pacific Coast.

Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hutson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

"DOC'S" STORY.

The "lush" was in the best humor when he joined the evening group at the Alfalfa European hotel. He had enough morning penitence left in him to make him grave and even dignified. At the same time he had started in upon an evening accumulation, and had already become warmed into that friendly mood which helps one to realise that all men are brothers.

"Good evening, gentlemen," said the "lush," and he said it as if it were the preliminary to an oration.

"Good evening, sir; good evening," responded "Doc" Horne, with a slight inclination of the head.

"Sit down and make yourself miserable," said the lightning dentist, who could be entertaining at times

"Come join the feast of reason and the flow of soul," added the book agent, who could be original, if not entertaining.

"Sure, that's right," added the bicycle salesman.

The "lush" seated himself, and asked: "Well, gentlemen, what is the subject under discussion?"

"We were just thinking about the cold weather, and saying that it must be pretty tough on some people," said the lightning dentist.

"There's nothing personal in this, is there?" asked the "lush."

"Certainly not," said the lightning dentist, laughing. "Doc" Horne chuckled, and the large book agent smiled in a conservative manner, as if he feared to compromise his professional dignity.

The bicycle young man was puzzled. He did not see why the laugh came in, so he settled back in his chair and tried to think it out. The task was long and difficult, for he said but a few words during the remainder of the evening.

"I don't think there is much suffering, now that the weather has moderated," said the "lush."

"I hope not," said "Doc" Horne. "It's a terrible thing to be cold and hungry for days at a time. I can tell you that. If any of you gentlemen ever go through what I did you'll appreciate that, too."

"How's that, 'Doc?'" asked the "lush."

"I thought I had told you of my experience in the winters of '67 and '68, when I was moose hunting with Gen. Foster up in Canada. No? Well, we had a party of gentlemen from New York and Philadelphia with us. The weather was bitterly cold, but we were living in the General's hunting lodge and we managed to keep comfortable. One day I was out with a party, and we were up on the Sesskoochee River—"

"W'at's the name, 'Doc?'" asked the lightning dentist.

"The Sesskoochee—Indian name, you know. It means 'lofty pines.' I had two New York gentlemen with me, and we were tracking a moose—had been on the trail for several hours. I crossed the river on the ice to take up what seemed to be a new trail, and I got separated from my two friends. I suppose I was intent on following this trail, and that's why I paid so little attention to the weather. The first thing I knew the snow began to fall, and I discovered that the sky was overcast, with every indication of a blizzard. I started back along the trail, but in ten minutes the air was filled with blinding snow and the wind was blowing a perfect hurricane among the trees. Of course it was impossible to see far in any direction, but I kept on, and thought I was going toward the river. I knew if I struck the river I could find the house all right. Darkness came on—I had no idea it was so late—and the wind came from the northwest and cut me to the very bone. I walked and walked and walked, but I didn't come to the river, and then I realized that probably I had been walking away from it all the time. Of course my inclination was to sit down and rest, but I knew I didn't dare to do that or I'd freeze to death."

"It must have been awful," said the bicycle young man.

"Well, it wasn't any pleasure excursion. Fortunately I found a hollow tree where I could coil myself. I got in there and wrapped my fur coat around me, and managed to keep fairly warm until morning. By that time the wind had gone down and the cold was something intense. If I hadn't been so hardy and athletic I suppose I never would have lived through it. I got out, took my bearings from the sun, and started on a run to find the river. I had to run to keep from freezing. Of course I still carried my rifle, and I also had a hunting knife, but I didn't have any matches to start a fire with. About 10 o'clock that morning I shot a rabbit, but of course I couldn't cook it, so I had to content myself with drinking a little of the blood."

The bicycle young man gasped and shivered, which led "Doc" to say: "You would have been glad to get it."

"I should think it would be hard work to run in the snow," said the lightning dentist.

"Not if you had snowshoes," said "Doc," with an amused smile.

"Oh, I didn't know you had snowshoes."

"I didn't have any when I started, but I made a rough pair out of some long twigs knotted together with a kind of wiry grass that grows up there. With this pair of shoes I could make four miles an hour across the snow. I kept at it nearly all day, only stopped to rest twice, if I remember correctly, but I was off in my calculations, for I didn't find the river. It might have been a mile or it might have been fifteen miles away—I didn't know. When it began to get dark again, I'll admit that I was a little frightened. The only thing that kept me warm all day was my running, and, of course, by this time, I was more or less tired. Well, sir, it was a funny thing. I had cut through a little ravine and was starting up the other side, when I saw an Indian trapper, in a fur suit, jump behind a tree about 100 feet ahead of me. I stopped short, and yelled to him: 'Kerly mahoo!' That means in the Indian language, 'Come out.'"

"Can you talk Indian, too, 'Doc?'" asked the "lush."

"I knew a few words belonging to this Canadian tribe of Maxeboshas, but I never gave a thorough study to any Indian language except that of the Sioux."

"Lo, the poor Indian," observed the book agent. "What did this man behind the tree say to you?"

"Well, he waited a few minutes and then he came out," said "Doc." "I saw that he had a fresh haunch of venison strung over his shoulder, and I decided to have some of it. I went up to him, and asked him the way to the river and the camp. He pretended not to understand, but I knew better. He shook his head and started to go away and I dropped my rifle and grabbed him, but I didn't want to have any shooting. I didn't want a dead Indian. I wanted a live one, who could show me the way back to Gen. Foster's hunting lodge. First, I wrenched the gun out of his hands, and then we went at it. He was a giant in stature and very strong, and I was weak from lack of food and all that hard travel, but I got a hold on him that I had learned in wrestling, and I landed him in the snow. I got on top of him, and, drawing my knife, I pointed at his throat and said: 'Now, will you obey me?' He nodded that he would, and so I let him up. I knew that these Indians always carried matches or flints, because they were in the habit of cooking food out in the forest. I kept this fellow covered with my knife and made him build a fire and cook me some venison, which I ate with some enjoyment, you may be sure. By this time the moon was up. I emptied his gun, and gave it back to him, and then I told him to lead me to the camp. He struck off through the forest, and I followed him. Well, sir, we traveled all night and about 9 o'clock next morning reached the lodge. They had given me up for lost. Yes, sir, all the eastern papers had me dead, but that was one time I fooled 'em. I learned after I got back that the thermometer had registered 40 below."

"What became of the two men who started out with you?" asked the lightning dentist.

"Oh, they got back all right by following the river. A funny thing about that experience. The Indian remained at our lodge a couple of days and became very much attached to me. Afterward, when I went up there, he acted as guide for our party."

"Doc" ceased talking, and the "lush" gave one look at the lightning dentist, as if to indicate that he was helpless with admiration.

"The doctor appears to be a man who has had remarkable experiences," said the book agent, later in the evening when "Doc" had gone to his room.

"You don't half know him yet," said the "lush." "He's been a capitalist, a Government scout, a circus tumbler and a steamboat pilot."

"And an actor," added the lightning dentist.

"And an opera singer."

"And a stage driver."

"And an author."

"Why he's been everything. If you don't believe it, ask him about it. He'll tell you."—Chicago News.

That Hood's Sarsaparilla purifies the blood and relieves a vast amount of suffering is not a theory but a well known fact.

Try, Try Again.

For hiccoughs, a small piece of ice.

Or, a lump of sugar wet with vinegar.

For the beginning of a felon, wrapping cotton around the finger, wet in camphor gum dissolved in alcohol.

For a burn, wetting cloths in one small teaspoonful of soda in one pint of equal parts hot water and milk.

For lime in eye, a weak solution of vinegar, followed by olive oil dropped in.

For choking, raising the right arm high.

For a abscess, a linseed poultice.

For torpid liver, eating a lemon, before breakfast, for a week.

Or dripking the juice of half a lemon in a cup of hot water before breakfast.

For insomnia, rubbing the flesh, at night, briskly with a flesh brush.

For scalds or burns, baking soda.

Every druggist in the city of Quebec, without exception, testifies to the universal satisfaction expressed by their customers, as to the merits of "Quickcure" for all kinds of pain.

Mrs. T S. Hawkins, Chattanooga, Tenn says: "Shiloh's Vitalizer 'Saved my Life. I consider it the best remedy for a debilitated system I ever used." For dyspepsia, liver or kidney trouble it excels Price 75c. Sold by John Nugent 280 George Street.

THE BEST SPRING MEDICINE.

It Roots Out Blood Diseases--This Is the Proof:

"In 1884 I was attacked by a strange skin disease, which first manifested itself by a small scale on the cheek. This kept growing larger and larger; and apparently nothing could be done to cure it.

"In eight years I tried four different doctors. On two occasions they succeeded in healing up the sore for a short time, but it quickly broke out again in both instances. I may say that it had all the appearance of a cancer.

"Finally, after suffering almost everything possible for human endurance to bear, I began using B.B.B. in the spring of 1892. I followed the directions strictly, using the medicine both externally and internally. In all I used nine bottles, with the result that my face was completely healed and my general health restored.

"The doctors told me that it would break out again when I stopped using B.B.B., but their words did not come true, as it is now four years since I stopped using B.B.B., and I have had no symptom of a return of the disease.

"Burdock Blood Bitters positively cured me, and I have stayed cured. I pin my faith to this wondertul medicine, and I have good reason to do so, because it did what no other medicine or doctor could do. (Signed), MRS. JOS. WOOD, Cole's Island, N.B.

"MESSRS. T. MILBURN & Co., Toronto, Ontario:

"Gentlemen,—I am personally acquainted with Mrs. Joseph Wood, and know of the severe illness of which she was cured by B.B.B. This has not been a faith cure, but is a cure in fact, and I can vouch for the correctness of Mrs. Wood's statements.

"Yours truly, A. WEST."

Handling Barrels.

The usual storage place for apples is in the cellar. The barrels then have to be carried up the roll-way by two men—a matter of no little difficulty when the roll-away is narrow as is usually the case. A plan is shown in the cut by which the barrels of apples are carried to the surface with but little lifting, and without jarring the fruit. The diagram tells its own story, except that the triangular truck that is mounted on two rollers is represented larger than need be, thus making it higher than is actually necessary. The rollers run on a wide plank that rests on the edge of the stair treads. The same arrangement will be found equally serviceable in putting apples into the cellar in the fall, and for use with vegetables, etc.

A Good Word for the Mole.

The mole is not such a great enemy of the gardener as many suppose. It lives largely upon worms and grubs.

This Seems to be Justified.

We have a poor opinion of the man who will market all his best fruit, and leave only the worst for his family.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health,, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't no experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

A BUTTER-MAKING DEVICE.

Invention Which it is Claimed Will Revolutionize Dairying—No Churning Required—The Process of Manufacture Explained — Constituent Elements of the Cream Acted on by Air and the Butter Fat Released by Fermentation.

A number of the members of the Local Legislature, who are interested more or less in the dairy industry, assembled Monday morning at the office of the National Creamery Company, in Toronto, for the purpose of examining into a new process of making butter, which, it is claimed, will revolutionize the whole industry and bring incalculable benefits in its train.

The new process was explained by Mr. Walter Cole, its inventor, who is arranging to place his patent in the hands of a company, which will operate it in Canada. The three primary essentials in the manufacture of butter according to this method are a suitable temperature, a supply of air and a supply of pure cream. There is no churning to be done, the butter fat in the cream being extracted by the action of the air on the constituent elements of the cream. The cream is brought to the factory and put in cans holding probably five or six gallons, and these cans are then placed in a vat of water, which is kept at a fixed temperature. A state of fermentation is induced, and when this reaches a certain stage the cream is poured into a large glass jar, into which air is forced through a tube attachment. This air, which is created by means of a motor, is forced through a certain amount of tubing into the receiver, acts on the constituents of the cream and frees the globules of butter, which rise to the top, while the other elements—the casein, the albumen, the sugar and the phosphates and chlorides, the specific gravity of which is thus increased—sink to the bottom. When all the globules of butter fat have been released by the dissolving of the albumen sack which surrounds each, the butter is removed and thoroughly washed. This can readily be done, because the globules of butter are still in their atomic form, and the water percolates through the butter when taken out of the jar in which it has been made, just as it would filter through a similar quantity of sand. When the process of cleaning has been thoroughly completed the butter is rolled and pressed into commercial form. In the whole process of manufacture no chemicals whatever are employed. The action of the air introduced upon the constituent elements of the cream in such a manner as to free the molecules of butter fat by means of fermentation is the whole operation.

ADVANTAGES OF THE PROCESS.

There are great and crowning merits claimed for the process, which it is contended will place the whole dairy industry on a new and improved footing. One of the primary advantages is that the extraction of the butter from the cream in a given length of time is an absolute certainty, and is placed beyond question of chance, unless of course there should be a breakage in the machinery. Then those factors which count for so much in the ordinary process of manufacture, namely, climate, the food for the cow, skill of the butter-maker, attention and subsequently the keeping of the butter are influences which do not affect this method at all. The molecule of butter fat is a fixed element in all milk, and when extracted absolutely free from all the other elements in the cream, as it is claimed is done in this process, it is untinctured by the flavouring of the food eaten by the cow. Therefore a dairyman can feed his cattle on any food without danger of tainting the butter when manufactured in this way. This butter being absolutely pure and free from all albumen, will keep for a great length of time, months in fact beyond any necessary period, and will be as good as when first made. No skill is required in the manufacture, everything being done automatically, and one lesson will teach any reasonably intelligent person the whole process.

WHAT THE INVENTOR SAYS.

Mr. Cole, the inventor, went very fully into the details of the process and the art of butter-making generally. He stated that since the time of Pharoah there had been no real improvement in the method of manufacturing butter, and that such a process as he had to place before them would probably at first offend the prejudices of the public. He entered on the merits of his patent and pointed out that the great drawback to the ordinary production of butter was that by feeding the cattle on roots more albumen was created in the milk, and this not being properly and thoroughly extracted from the butter fat an inferior article was produced not only in taste but in preservative qualities. In the new process invented by him this did not affect the quality of the butter at all, and farmers might without fear feed cows on whatever food they would eat. Climate accordingly did not count, and the same quality of butter can be manufactured in winter as in summer, giving an enormous impetus to the industry. As his process was entirely automatic no skill was needed and no hazard was run in the manufacture. The same quantity and the same quality of butter can be produced, he said, from equal quantities of the same milk.

During the time Mr. Cole was explaining his process, butter was being manufactured, and exactly half an hour after the air had been turned into the receiver the butter had gathered at the top of the jar and was taken out to pressed for delivery. The members of the Legislature present were much impressed with what they saw, and without doubt the near future will see this useful and novel invention in general use. Practical experience justifies what is claimed for it.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Finney, of Peterborough, who has been visiting Miss Ray during the past week, returned to her home on Monday.

Mr. Harry Frise, of Brighton, is spending a few days in the village.

Mr. W. Badcock goes to Whitby to take charge of a mill there.

Miss Ray has a well-grown young orange tree bearing nineteen oranges. It is indeed quite a curiosity.

There was a large number left here on the morning train on Monday to swell the number of those going on the Trent Valley Canal deputation to Ottawa. Among those who went were Mr. J. F. Lillicrap, reeve, and Councillors Braden, Fraser, Burgis and Moore, County Councillors W. H. Casement, T. G. Eastland and Robert Shaw, and Messrs. J. H. McWilliams, J. Hull, S. Nelson, Levi Payne and R. J. Munro.

Mrs. Dunn has gone on a visit to Toronto.

Mrs. Capt. Reynolds, who has been visiting friends in Toronto, Hamilton, etc., returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. Wm. Crowe, who has been suffering from consumption for some time back, passed away on Wednesday morning, aged 38 years. He was a member of Court Selwyn No. 427, C.O F., and it is expected that the Foresters will turn out in a body to his funeral. The funeral will take place on Thursday, April 8th, at 2 o'clock, and proceed to the Lakefield cemetery.

Mr. Robert Jory and Miss Dench were united in marriage in the Methodist church on Tuesday, April 6th, by Rev. T. J. Edmison. They took the afternoon train from Peterborough to Brighton, where they will visit Mr. and Mrs. James Smith.

The school board met last Friday evening, all present excepting Dr. J. R. Fraser, at which the minutes were read and confirmed. Accounts of Mr. C. J. Burgis and J. H. McWilliams were ordered paid, and the meeting adjourned.

Any one desirous of having the water in their wells tested may have it done free of charge by taking a sample in a bottle to Dr. Bell, Medical Health Officer.

The regular meeting of the council is next Monday evening.

The death of Mr. James Preston took place very suddenly on Wednesday evening of last week from heart failure at the age of 47 years. He was about and down street on Tuesday and took ill on Wednesday morning. The doctor was again sent for in the evening, but before he arrived he was dead. He leaves a wife and three children, two boys and a girl. The Sons of Scotland, of which deceased was a member in Munro Camp, No. 180, attended in a body, and paid the last respects to their dead brother at the grave.

Munro Camp, No. 150, Sons of Scotland, will hold its regular meeting in the Sons of England Hall, on Thursday evening of this week, the 8th inst., at 8 o'clock.

A boy's Brigade has been formed here by Mr. Tate. They meet every Saturday forenoon in the town hall at 10 o'clock. They receive drill instruction from Lieut. Cockburn.

The kinecptescope and graphophone were exhibited in the town hall on Monday evening to a full house. The living lectures were very good.

On Thursday evening next week, Court Lakefield, No. 43, C.O.F., holds its regular meeting. A full attendance is requested as important amendments to the bylaws will be brought forward which should be thoroughly discussed.

The Lakefield News says regarding R. Graham & Son's millinery opening: The above firm having advertised that they were serving a delicious cup of tea to all who called during their opening on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of this week I made up my mind there and then to go and see for myself whether the millinery reception was as they had advertised. I must acknowledge that the advertiser in question had not need the least exaggeration in his description of the millinery show that was being held there, in fact, to speak the truth I found the place a perfect bower of beauty, and more like a scene in Arcadia, than one in this every-day, work-away world.

On entering the store I found it very tastily decorated, showing all the handsome goods they have for sale with their novelties. Their dress goods, blouse silks, prints, crepons, blouses and the many other novelties attracted the ladies to this display. On going down to the rear of the store, what attracted my attention was a very prettily decorated booth which was tastefully dressed in red, white and blue bunting and bore in a variety of styles "Drink Appleton's Tea," well, thought I, this firm spares no expense to make their patrons comfortable. This was presided over by two young ladies, who asked me if I would partake of a cup of tea, which I found very delicious.

On passing upstairs to view the decorations, which, from my standpoint, showed good taste, and a possession of artistic ability on the part of the lady who has charge of the millinery department. The hats were prettily trimmed and elicited very pleasing comments from the ladies who called during the day.

Apart from the hats and bonnets, which probably are the most discussed objects of admirement amongst the ladies, one admires the wonderful similitude the artificial flowers bear to nature's own handiwork; in fact one might almost be pardoned for mistaking the artificial for the genuine, so faithfully has mother nature been copied.

They also show a large variety of blouses and print wrappers from $1.25 to $2 each, capes from 75c to $5, also children's headwear in great variety. The little muslin bonnets, tams, etc., show very pretty.

The reception is to continue for balance of week, and a visit to the well-known establishment of R. Graham & Sons will well repay the time expended. Miss Gordon, who is at the head of the millinery department, and whom I have to thank for her very courteous attention, will be very pleased to show any lady or ladies around.

The Greatest Bargains of the day still continue at McComb's Sale of Smoke-tainted Gloves, Hosiery, Underwear, Prints, Dress Goods, and Ladies' and Gentlemen's Furnishings.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

The members of the Brotherhood of Railway Trackmen on the C.P.R. system are jubilant to-day.

After negotiations with the officials of of the company extending over a period of three years, they have at last succeeded in obtaining an advance in wages.

Yesterday the roadmasters of the different divisions over the whole system notified the men that their wages in future would be $1.10 a day and those of section foremen $1.70 a day, an advance of ten cents all round.

The trackmen asked for a raise of 25 cents a day, but have decided to accept the offer of the company.

The advance in wages will date from April 1st. It effects more than two thousand men.

The C.P.R. Co. scatters some very unique advertising matter. The other day the local agent received a package of lithographed cards, announcing Easter fares, that for harmonious effectiveness excel anything we have yet seen.

NEARING THE CLOSE.

Ontario Legislature Rushing the Business Through:

THREE SITTINGS HELD YESTERDAY

Many Measures Reached the Final Stage—Opposition Kicking in Concurrence—Supplementary Estimates—Government House and the License Bill Debated.

Toronto, April 9.—The wind-up of the session is always characterised by the hasty disposal of a large number of measures, many of the bills introduced by private members being dropped, and the more important rapidly put through the concluding stages. To-day has been a day of hard, steady work, much of it of a purely formal nature, while such debates as took place were short, the House being in no mood to tolerate lengthy speeches.

THIRD READINGS.

The following bills were read a third time and passed:

Respecting the Township of York—Mr. Burt.

Respecting a short form of certain municipal bylaws—The Attorney-General.

To encourage the manufacture of railway steel and iron in the Province—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

Respecting roads laid out alongside lines in certain townships—Mr. Smith.

Respecting cemetery companies—Mr. German.

Respecting the Court of Appeal of Ontario—The Attorney-General.

To make better provision for the keeping and auditing of municipal and school accounts—The Attorney-General.

To amend the Mechanics' and Wage-Earners' Lien Act, 1896—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

To amend the act respecting joint stock companies for the construction of piers, wharves, dry docks and harbors—The Attorney-General.

To amend the act respecting cemetery companies—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the Metropolitan Street Railway Company—Mr. Richardson.

To regulate maternity boarding houses, and for the protection of infant children—Mr. Davis.

HAYCOCK STICKS TO IT.

The House went into concurrence, Mr. Harcourt in the chair.

The item for salaries and contingencies in connection with Government House—$1500—was opposed by Mr. Haycock, who moved that it be not concurred in.

The amendment was lost.

The second item—$3000 for Lieutenant-Governor's office—was also opposed by Mr. Haycock, who moved the striking out of appropriations of $800 to the Lieutenant-Governor's private secretary, and $1300 contingencies.

Mr. Stratton characterized Mr. Haycock's course as unfair and unjust, in view of the fact that a compromise had been arrived at on the matter. The arrangement, when carried out, would mean the saving of $15,000 or $20,000.

Hon. G. W. Ross said the motion was a breach of faith, after the unanimous adoption of the report.

Mr. Whitney said he had some years ago voted for doing away with Government House, considering it unnecessarily expensive, but he did not think it well to make a pretence at being niggardly.

After some further discussion, the question was lost on division.

The next objection taken was to the salary of $1200 received by the architect in his moved to strike out the item, and the motion was lost on division.

AFTER NOXON'S SCALP.

Inspector Noxon was the next mark for the Opposition. Hon. Mr. Davis testified to his usefulness, saying he had saved the Province five or six times his salary.

Col. Matheson said he was utterly incompetent, and delievered a strongly-worded campaign speech enlarging on Mr. Noxon's unfitness for his position.

Hon. J. M. Gibson replied that the accusations brought against him were unfounded and unworthy.

Dr. McKay, Mr. Whitney, Mr. Pattullo also took part in the debate. The yeas and nays on Mr. Brower's motion to strike out the item of $2400 for Mr. Noxon's salary were called for, and the motion was lost. Yeas, 35; nays, 54.

AFTERNOON SITTING.

The report of the Public Accounts Committee was presented by Mr. Charlton. Mr. Matheson complained of the expense of printing the statutes, stating that the contractor had charged unduly for extras. Mr. Auld, as a practical printer, denied the statement.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt said the contracts had gone to the lowest tenderer, and that he had lost money on many of the items. Nobody could say that the price charged per volume was excessive.

GOVERNMENT HOUSE AGAIN.

The House went into committee to consider the resolutions relating to the sale of Government House land and the purchase of other land and buildings, in accordance with the terms of the report of the special committee on the subject. The resolutions were adopted without discussion.

RAILWAY AID.

The House, in committee, approved of resolutions granting the following subsidies in aid of railway construction:

1. To the Ontario and Rainy River Railway, not exceeding 70 miles, a cash subsidy of $3000 a mile, $210,000.

2. To the Montreal and Ottawa Railway to aid in the construction of 50 miles of the said railway, in the County of Prescott, $34,000, and that portion of the unearned subsidy of $100,000 which was granted to the Vaudreuil and Ottawa Railway Company in 1882, and which unearned portion amounts to $80,000, be transferred to the Montreal and Ottawa Company.

3. To the Manitoulin and North Shore Railway, a distance not exceeding thirteen miles additional, owing to change of route occasioned by insurmountable engineering difficulties, a cash subsidy of $3000 a mile, $39,000.

4. To the Tilsonburg, Lake Erie and Pacific Railway from a point at the southerly terminus of that road to Tilsonburg, a cash subsidy of $3000 a mile, $6324.

5. To the Ottawa and Parry Sound Railway form Eganville, south-westerly towards Renfrew, 10 miles, a cash subsidy of $2000 a mile, $20,000.

ESTIMATES CONCURRED IN.

The House resumed its sittings in concurrence. The Opposition took exception to several educational items, including the $20,000 to examiners for departmental examinations, and the salary of the Director of Teachers' Institutes. A motion to strike $5000 from the amount paid examiners and cut off the directors' salary, was lost on division.

The House divided on a motion by Mr. St. John to strike out the salaries of the principal and vice-principal of the Ontario College. Yeas 53, nays 54.

The immigration agents in Europe were the next point of attack. Mr. Reid of Addington moved to strike out the item $4725. "Lost on same division," suggested Premier Hardy, but the Opposition wouldn't have it that way, and the process of counting noses was duly gone through with again. Yeas 56, nays 51.

Mr. Carnegie took a whack at the agricultural estimates. He moved to strike out $2000 for the Model Farm proper and $1400 for Poultry Associations. He strongly objected to Government chicanery. Hon. Mr. Dryden defended the appropriations. A division was taken and the motion lost. Yeas 27, nays 59.

Mr. Haycock moved to strike out the item of $9500 maintenance and repairs of Government House. Lost on Division.

The remaining items of the estimate were concurred in.

EVENING SITTING.

The House went into Committee on amendments to the law in connection with the revision of the statutes, many minor changes being made. A noteworthy amendment to the municipal law was one enabling Jews, when an election is held on Saturday to vote orally in place of by ballot, as their religion prevents them marking a paper on that day.

SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES.

The supplementary estimates were brought down as follows: Civil Government $3110, Administration of Justice $3500, Hospitals and Charities $4361, Public Buildings $27,850, Public Works $9028, Colonization Roads $11,000, Mining Development $8300, Miscellaneous $42,950, and some smaller items, making a total of $114,708. Under the miscellaneous head are included appropriations of $10,000 for fisheries, $7000 towards the expenses of the British Association meeting in Toronto, $3800 to purchase Sir Oliver Mowat's law library, and $2000 towards celebrating Her Majesty's birthday.

THIRD READINGS.

Respecting the sale under execution of interests in church pews.—Mr. Howland.

Respecting the Village of Preston.—Mr. Moore.

Respecting the Town of Perth Arthur.—Mr. Conmee.

Respecting evidence.—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the incorporation and regulation of joint stock companies by letters patent.—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton.)

The Municipal Amendment Bill was taken up in committee. A provision introduced by Mr. Gibson of Huron providing for the taking of farm lands out of towns and annexing them to the adjacent townships was voted down. The bill was reported with amendments.

Mr. Gibson (Huron) moved that the bill be referred back to reinsert the clause. He urged that many farmers in towns were having their property virtually confiscated by high taxation.

Mr. Stratton opposed the motion, and Mr. Haycock supported it. Several others spoke for and against, and the Attorney-General suggested that the questions should be left over until next session, and he would endeavor to find some satisfactory remedy for the grievance complained of. Mr. Gibson withdrew the motion.

The Assessment Amendment Bill, Railway Aid Bill, Incorporation of Mining companies, to amend various statutes in view of the Statute Revision passed in committee.

Mr. Harcourt moved that the House to into Committee of Supply.

Mr. Whitney said he would take the opportunity of testing the opinion of the House as to the management of the University. He contended that McGill College and other institutions free from Government control presented an example of what could be done if Toronto University were cut loose from the rule of the Educational Department. Toronto University was not prospering as it might. He was certain that the majority of those interested in the management of the University desired that it should no longer be hampered by Government control. This feeling had existed for a long time. He quoted Prof. Goldwin Smith's opinion to this effect. He moved in amendment "that the House is of opinion that the interests of Toronto University and its availability for educational purposes would be best served by its separation from and independence of the Provincial Government and by vesting the property and the entire control and management of the institution in a properly representative and independent body."

Hon. G. W. Ross said Mr. Whitney had not made out a case. Mr. Goldwin Smith did not favor complete independence, but had advocated that the regulations should be submitted to the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council. The English and Scotch universities were not independent, but governed by Royal Commission. He briefly recapitulated statistics showing the growth and popularity of the University. No other instance could be shown of any other other university which had had such a phenomenal growth. This was the surest proof that there had been no mismanagement. He recalled the choice of young Canadians to fellowships in the Chicago Universities. Some of them had taken the first place there in the honor roll. In Cornell, Johns Hopkins and other great universities were to be found graduates of Toronto. The faculty did not complain that their course was in any way hampered by Government control. He personally never attended meetings of the University Senate lest it should appear that he in any way influenced their course. This independence did not always prevail in the endowed universities of the United States.

Mr. Mathieson repeated the now familiar argument that freedom from the control of the Educational Department would result in increasing the University's endowment.

The amendment was lost: Yeas 48, nays 56.

The House went into Committee of Supply on the supplementary estimates.

The Attorney-General moved that the House concur in a supplementary appropriation of $1500 for nine months' salary and $60, books and traveling expenses, for the new municipal auditor.

A division was taken at 12.15 o'clock and the appropriation passed, the vote standing: yeas 57, nays 35.

At 12.30 this morning the House took up the License Bill and discussed section 3, which placed upon the municipalities the power of controlling the opening and closing of bars. These members opposed the section: Messrs. German, Willoughby, Richardson, Platt, Mutrie, Magwood, Conmee, St. John, Garrow, Meacham, Hiscott, Chapple and Kerns, while those who spoke in support of it were Messrs. Davis, Marter, Crawford, Gamey and the Attorney-General. A division was taken at 2 p.m., and the clause was thrown out on a vote of 58 to 29, which means a defeat for the Hardy Government.

The House adjourned at 2.15 o'clock this morning and will resume business at 11 o'clock to-day and clear off the Legislative slate.

Contract Signed With Peterson, Tait & Co.

GOVERNMENT SANCTION NEEDED

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, the Colonial Secretary, Gave the Information in the British House of Commons—Greek Brigands Enter Turkish Territory and a Fight Ensued.

London, April 9.—In the House of Commons to-day the Secretary of State for the Colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, answering a question on the subject, announced that a contract had been signed between Canada and the Petersons of Newcastle for a fast steamship service between Canada and Great Britain. But, Mr. Chamberlain added, the contract still requires the sanction of the Imperial Government, which is considering the matter. In conclusion, Mr. Chamberlain said it would be premature to make any further statement on the subject.

The Attorney-General, Sir Richard Webster, replying for the Government to-day relative to the blockade of Greece, said the intentions of the powers could not be announced until a definite decision had been taken. He could not say whether the blockade would be pacific or belligerent.

THIS MAY MEAN WAR.

Bands of Greek Brigands Have Entered Turkish Territory and an All-Day Fight Ensued.

Elassona, Macedonia, April 9.—Noon—Bands of Greek brigands have entered Turkey at Krania, in the vicinity of Grebena. The Turkish troops have been engaged with them and the fight has been proceeding since 5 o'clock this morning.

At the Turkish headquarters this news is looked upon as being of the gravest description, in view of the excitement here. Edhem Pasha has sent orders to have everything in readiness for an advance of the Turkish army in force. It is not known yet whether Greek troops were among the brigands who have entered Turkish territory.

THE TRANSVAAL RAID.

Dr. Jameson Again on the Stand—He Describes the Communications Between Himself and Sir John Willoughby.

London, April 9.—The Parliamentary Committee, which is investigating the Transvaal raid, held its sixteenth sitting to-day in the committee room of Westminster Hall. There was a large attendance of peers and members of Parliament. Dr. Jameson was again placed in the witness box.

The chairman, Mr. William L. Jackson, member for North Leeds, Conservative, explained to Dr. Jameson the circumstances of Sir John Willoughby's refusal to divulge the subjects of the conversations regarding the raid, which had taken place between them.

In reply, Dr. Jameson said that if the committee had asked Sir John Willoughby to explain the circumstances under which a certain letter to the War Office was written, he would probably have given the whole story.

Dr. Jameson added: "Since Tuesday last Sir John Willoughby and myself have reviewed our whole conversation of that six months and the evidence I have already given represents the true conclusions. Sir John Willoughby learned that under certain circumstances his officers would be deprived of their commissions and he consulted me in regard to that fact. He afterwards guaranteed them, rightly or wrongly, their commissions before they crossed the Transvaal border, and, by my advice, he sent a letter to the War Office with the view of saving his officers' careers from ruin. He wrote the letter in the strongest and shortest terms possible, not in self justification, but feeling it incumbent upon him to do something. I did not see the letter before it was sent, but when I ascertained its terms in the prison grounds of Holloway I objected to its wording."

BRITAIN'S LATEST ACQUISITION.

Inyack Island, at the Entrance to Delagoa Bay, Said to Have Been Proclaimed British Territory

Cape Town, April 9.—The Argus of this city announced to-day that it had received trustworthy information from the capital of the Transvaal that the British have secured Inyack Island, at the entrance of Delagoa Bay, and that a squadron of warships from this port will proceed there to take possession of the island and proclaim it British territory.

MAYOR OF PICTON DEAD.

A Much Respected and Trained Business Man of Prince Edward County Has Passed Away.

Picton, April 9.—(Special.)—James North Carter, Mayor of Picton, died suddenly this morning. The deceased had been in his usual health and his sudden demise is a great shock to the community. Mr. Carter was one of the most respected and prominent residents of Prince Edward County, and has filled nearly every office in the gift of the people in this section, and his loss will be deeply felt. Mr. Carter for many years carried on a large and successful hardware business in Picton, from which he retired several years ago. From time to time he has been threatened with heart disease and a wear or two ago consulted a Montreal physician, who then warned him that any severe shock would be certain to cause death.

He leaves a widow, three daughters and two sons. They are Mrs. H. S. Wilcox, Mrs. Etta Evans, Mrs. W. N. Irwin (Toronto), Mr. H. B. Carter, Lindsay, and Mr. James N. Carter, jr., Picton. Mrs. W. H. Orchard, Willcock-street, Toronto, is a sister of deceased. Mr. Carter belonged to the A.F. & A.M.

Superintendent Ellis Retired.

St. Catharines, April 9.—Mr. William Ellis, superintendent of the Welland Canal, has received notice from the department at Ottawa that he has been placed on the retired list.

Fisheries Inspector Kerr and Guardian Beattie drove out to the "Twenty" last night, and caught five young farmers illegally using gill and seine nets for fishing. They confiscated two boats, 100 yards of seine and 100 yards of gill nets, and brought Robert Tinkler, John Culp, Clayton Culp, Jacob Rittenhouse and Frank Gayner to the magistrate this morning. Each was fined $5 and costs, $6.50.

I did not receive any lasting benefit from physicians, but found such happy effects from a trial of Hood's Sarsaparilla, that I took several bottles and mean to always keep it in the house. I am now able to do all my own work, which for six years I have been unable to do. My husband and son have also been greatly benefited by Hood's Sarsaparilla—for pains in the back, and after the grip. I gladly recommend this grand blood medicine." "THE PARLIAMENTARY COMPANION."

This "blue book," which is, however, red, is generally regarded as a dry compilation of statistics relating to the biography of the members of Dominion and Provincial Parliaments. But the edition for 1897—one being issued after every general election—is of special interest for several reasons. Since the last edition, that of '91, Sir John Macdonald was in power, and four Conservative premiers have been in office. This is the first edition published since the Liberals came into power, and important changes have taken place in the several Provincial cabinets. The biographical sketches published are characteristic of the parties described, for the parties themselves furnish the materials, and it is interesting to note how of many comparatively insignificant representatives, some are content with a modest few lines, while others require a page to tell of the virtues that commended them to the choice of electors. The information respecting the nationalities of our representatives is also interesting. Of the eighty-two members of the Senate, whose names are one the list, twenty are of Scotch descent, eighteen English, seventeen are French and sixteen Irish, two are German and two Swiss, while six are of doubtful origin, it being impossible to ascertain whether they are English, Irish or Scotch. In the House of Commons, out of two hundred and thirteen members whose names are given, fifty-seven are Scotch, fifty-one are French, forty-two Irish, thirty-four English, seven German and twenty-two persons whose origin is doubtful. These figures show that the French form less than one-fourth of the members of the Senate and House of Commons; they show also that the Scotch are the most numerous element of both Senate and House of Commons; number-one-fourth of the former and more than one-fourth of the latter. The Irish come next in number, taking both Senate and House of Commons together, with a total of fifty-eight while the English follow close behind with fifty-two. The English element, however, is probably stronger than these figures would indicate for most of the doubtful names appear to be English. The showing of the Scotch is remarkable and would seem to indicate that the talent for getting into public life is one of their national characteristics. Nor is there an absence of distinguished ancestry in our representatives. Though we have no House of Lords, yet our own Senate makes a good attempt. One senator claims direct descent from Somerled, King of the Isles; another is descended from a younger brother of the Earl of Angus; a third senator, who hails from New Brunswick, it is well known, can trace his descent from some of the ancient kings of Ireland, although that interesting fact has been omitted from recent editions of the Parliamentary Companion. Nor is our House of Commons at all behind the Senate in distinguished lineage, and it is pleasant to note that some of our legislators, such as Sir Richard Cartwright, are descended from men who took a leading part in the public affairs of Canada a century ago. The French-Canadians of Quebec and the Acadians can, of course, claim a more

HON. MR. HARCOURT ON THE LICENSES BILL.

The Canada Presbyterian has the following to say:—"The Hon. Mr. Harcourt closed his splendid speech on the second reading of the Licenses Bill in the language of a statesman. Referring to the great progress made by the temperance cause during the last few years, he added:

"He attributed this in his own mind partly, at any rate, to the wise legislation the province enacted on twelve occasions. He did not say that legislation alone had done this. Every pulpit in the land had assisted in bringing about this great change. (Applause.) Every school house in this land, some 5,000 or 7,000 of them, day by day and week by week had assisted in educating our people up to a greater advance on temperance lines. The press of this country, and no tongue could tell how much the people of any country owed to the press in its advocacy of reform, had contributed to this result. Every well-regulated home in this land, every happy fireside in this land, had contributed to this result, and he could not say just how far the work of legislation assisted in this work. It had done much, but only when the educational process had made the people ripe for the legislation which had been from time enacted."

The Presbyterian added:—"Some small-souled men would say that the particular society to which they belong had made the change. It is not very long since a certain kind of temperance lecturer used to say that the church—pulpit included—was responsible for all the intemperance in the country. Better days and better men have come."

THE VOTE TEST.

The Ontario Opposition declare their intention of testing the strength of the Government on every possible opportunity during the remainder of the session with the result of obstructing business and adding to the length of the session, and thereby the expense. And for what? To test the self evident fact that the Opposition is in a minority. They tested their strength in the House on the "mining deal" which they and their organs declared was the most iniquitous compact ever made. Yet the result was a majority of 20 for the government. Yesterday they brought on a vote on a party question, an attack on Inspector Noxon, of the Central Prison, with the result of demonstrating that the majority of the government under the largest possible vote was 19 clear. The vote on the "mining deal" is important as showing that not only the straight supporters of the government, classified according to their own admissions furnished to the Parliamentary Companion were in favour of the bargain, but that nearly a dozen of the Opposition endorsed it. So that, on that vote, in addition to dividing the House, the Opposition divided themselves.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Persons without employment in older Ontario had better hasten gently in their rush to the gold fields region. The present is the worst season of the year to invade the Rainy River District in search of work. The uncertain period between winter and warm weather is a bad time for the new-comer, who, if he wishes to avoid high rents and boarding house extortion, had better wait till the weather makes living under tents practicable.

The Conservative organs have been lavish in their condemnation of Hon. Mr. Tarte's schemes for relieving faithful Conservative office holders from the labour of drawing unearned salaries to find "places his own favourites." Facts are the best answer to such baseless charges. In his department, since he took office, the total expenses of his department has been reduced in the salary bill by $20,000, not counting $3,600 additional saved in the yearly salaries of those employed around the public buildings.

We Canadians may run the party engine at high pressure, but we can heartily drop party differences and unite as brothers on the question of devotion to the great sovereign who this year enters the sixtieth year of her beneficient reign. In the Ontario Legislature an address of congratulation was passed to Her Majesty with extraordinary enthusiasm, Hon. Mr. Harty, Commissioner of Public Works, leading the members in most heartily singing "God Save the Queen." The Queen unites us all, not only as subjects of the Empire but as Canadians. When, a quarter of a century ago, in a Maritime province, secession from the Confederation was openly clamoured for, a new Canadian patriotic song was received with spontaneous enthusiasm, showing that during Her Majesty's reign the Canadian national spirit has been developed and unified till now, from sea to sea, the prayer for her safety swells as a grand and unbroken psalm.

BRAIN FOOD FOR LENT

No danger of the citizens of Peterborough starving for brain foods during the Lenten season, as long as we can keep up our present supply of Fish.

While the albuminoid matter in White Fish, Cod, Haddock and Halibut is in about the same proportion as in beef and mutton, the quantity of phosphorus is greater.

The active fish, such as Trout, Pickerel, Salmon, etc., contain a still greater amount of phosphorus, due no doubt to their quick movements.

Select Fish with firm flesh, clear eyes, red gills, scales bright and free from any unpleasant odor.

The public have a guarantee that our storage and icing facilities preserve our stock of fish perfectly sound and reliable, and the prices quoted will always be the lowest in town.

HORRORS OF THE ORIENT.

Spain and the Philippines—An Aspiring Girl Had Every Bone in Her Body Broken.

Vancouver, B.C., April 9.—The steamer Empress of Japan arrived yesterday from the Orient, after an uneventful trip. She had an unusually large number of Chinese, 790, aboard, and was consequently detained some time at quarantine.

Among the Chinese is a theatrical company, which will play at Nashville, Tenn., during the exposition there.

The Empress brings the following advices:

Reliable information in regard to the operations of the Spanish troops in the Philippines is still difficult to obtain. There is a superabundance of highly-colored reports appearing in the censorised Spanish press, but information furnished by correspondents of Hong Kong is of an entirely different character. Spanish forces are meeting with stubborn resistance in Cavite, and it will be yet many months before this province is cleared of rebels. The rebels continue to attack all convoys with ammunition and stores for the front, and the movements of Royalist troops are in consequence greatly hampered.

The Captain-General has applied to the Spanish Government for 8000 additional troops. Troops operating in the Province of Cavite are suffering severely from disease. Executions are of frequent occurrence in Manila, and there are still 30 untried prisoners in jail awaiting punishment. Large numbers of native troops are still going over to the rebels and it is evident that rebels have received large supplies of fire arms.

At the Battle of Salitran, fought on March 3, the Spanish General Zabola was killed.

The steamer Glamorganshire, which was wrecked on Rosslyn Reef, about 30 miles from Cape St. James, while on a voyage from Hong Kong to Saigon, will prove a total loss.

The Chinese Government has appointed H. E. Chang Yin Huan, vice-president to England, as special ambassador to represent the Emperor of China at Queen Victoria's Diamond Jubilee.

The Chinese Government has decided to order four more armored cruisers, two fast cruisers and several torpedo destroyers, English type.

There are indications of Li Hung Chang coming into fuller power soon, but there are still a great many attempts made to undermine his newly-acquired influence over the Emperor. The Empress Dowager and Prince Kung are still his companions.

The Emperor has sanctioned the institution of an Imperial Bank of China, with a capital of 500,000 taels.

A story of a horrible murder comes from Bangkok. A young girl was caught in the act of eloping with her lover, and was confined in a house by her relatives, who broke every bone in her body as punishment. The woman lingered in fearful agony for 14 days.

Two men and a woman were sentenced to death for murder, and beheaded. The execution was a most barbarous affair, the headsman being drunk, and the convicted wretches were slashed in the most fearful manner before death relieved their sufferings.

It may save you time and money to be informed that, when you need a blood-purifier, Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the kind most in favor with the medical profession. It is the standard, as such, the only blood-purifier admitted at the Chicago World's Fair.

ROSSLAND'S FIRST FIRE.

The Lancaster Hotel and Other Buildings in the Heart of the Town Burned Down.

Rossland, B.C., April 9.—(Special to The World, via Spokane, Wash.)—The first fire of importance in the camp occurred to-night, when the Lancaster Hotel and several other buildings were burned to the ground. The section was not closely built or the result might have been serious.

Fire Started by Tramps.

Kingston, April 9.—Joseph Wilder, York road, suffered great loss by fire last night. All his barns and outbuildings, with the exception of the granary, were completely destroyed. The flames were discovered in the hay mow about 11 o'clock. Mr. Wilder was fortunate enough to get his live stock out in time, but all his farm implements were destroyed, together with a quantity of hay and straw. The fire was undoubtedly the work of tramps, as they left traces of their visit. An insurance of $5000 was carried on house, buildings and contents stock, etc.

Dr. CHASE CURES FATHER AND CHILD

Both afflicted with Eczema of a very troublesome type and cured in a remarkably short while by Dr. Chase's Ointment.

"I was troubled for ten years with eczema on one leg; the itching was something terrible; would scratch until the blood came. How I came to know the value of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, I have a little girl two years; when she was one year old the same disease began to show upon her face. It wasn't long before her face became literally covered with it. In order to keep her from scratching it we had to bandage her hands up. I tried several doctors, but got no relief. Seeing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT so highly advertised I made up my mind to purchase a box, which I did from one of our leading druggists. The first application I noticed a change. It was then I began to think about myself. With four or five applications, to my surprise, I am completely cured, no sign of the disease, and my little girl's face to-day is clear of all the scabs. I am only too glad to inform any person what a blessing DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT has proved itself.

GUILTY OF COUNTERFEITING.

John Sears in Serious Trouble at Brantford—Sentence Will be Early Next Week.

Brantford, April 9.—The counterfeiter's case was continued at the Police Court this morning. Edith Sears, daughter of Prisoner John Sears, was in the court. She testified that Sickles visited their house frequently and was there last Tuesday. Identified the cap with plaster paris and other articles.

James Burns, grocer, gave evidence that Sickles tried to pass bad money at his store.

H. Davidson, drug clerk, gave evidence that Sickles bought plaster of paris from them.

Mike Judge gave evidence that he was at Sickles' residence last Saturday and saw a mould for 10 cents and pieces of cruet. At this point Sickles' lawyer asked for an adjournment of this case till Monday.

Sears' case was then taken up. Policemen Donnelly and Chapman gave evidence of search of prisoner's house and his arrest. Chief Vaughan gave Sears' confession, in which Sears states that he and Sickles were at the Harley shanty Sunday and remained there over night, that they brought in the outfit that John Brown (colored) had used last winter; that he and Sickles had made the mould at his house, and that the mould for 10 cents was broken.

At this point Lawyer Hartley, acting for Sears, pleaded guilty, and asked for leniency for the prisoner. Sentence will be given the beginning of the week. John Brown (colored) was released on his recognizance to appear when required. Government Detective O'Leary was in court.

The Kind That Cures.

The Great Spring Health Renewer.

Paine's Celery Compound for Men Women and Children.

Read the following testimony that comes from Miss Blake, of 208 Hughson street, Hamilton:

"For years I suffered greatly, and was under the care of doctors who finally told me I was going into consumption. I was becoming worse through the use of medicines, and I gave up my doctors. While in a very critical condition, not able to sleep or rest, always faint and weak, appetite and digestion bad, and my system run down and little life left in me, I commenced to use Paine's Celery Compound. After taking one bottle I felt much relieved. I have used in all seven or eight bottles, and am now a new woman, can enjoy life, and am as well as I wish to be. Many thanks for your great medicine."

BITTEN BY BEARS.

Montreal Grain Speculators Lost Three-Quarters of a Million in the Wheat Pit at Chicago.

Montreal, April 9.—(Special.)—It was roughly figured in a broker's office this morning that Montreal operators only very recently have dropped about $750,000 in Chicago speculations. The main cause of this enormous loss is the big decline in wheat. On Wednesday the Chicago wheat market was waterlogged and it dropped very nearly 4c a bushel. This had the effect of shaking out a great many holders who were tired of putting up margins. One speculator admitted that he lost as much as 15c a bushel on the wheat he was carrying, and it is safe to say that there have been a number of other losses quite as large. These purchases were made some time ago and the wheat has been carried all through the decline. There has been a good deal of talk recently about an effort among Montreal speculators to work a corner in Chicago, and they were credited with holding as much as 5,000,000 bushels. The decline, however, has pretty effectively knocked this scheme on the head, as the amount of wheat held here now is said to be comparatively small. It is believed, also, that quite a lot of money has been lost in provisions.

At a meeting of the Chamber of Commerce to-day a resolution was passed calling upon the Government, in view of the fact that public money is being voted to rebuild the Victoria bridge, to force the Grand Trunk to grant privileges to telephone, telegraph and tramway companies desiring to cross the bridge in question.

CRUEL SCIATICA.

Incessant pain—Prostrated—Racked—Life Despaired of.

John Marshall, Varney, P.O., Co. of Grey, writes these strong words: "For two years I was completely laid up with sciatica. I doctored without any permanent relief. I had given up hope. A friend saw the notice of a cure of what seemed a parallel case to mine, by South American Cure, and knowing my little faith in the efficacy of any remedy, he procured a bottle himself and brought it to me. I took it, and to make a long story short, it saved my life. In a day or so I was out of bed, and in three days I was able to walk to Durham, a distance of four miles, to purchase another bottle. I am now entirely cured." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

The Finest Yet.

Mr. Market Clerk Green this morning weighed a splendid lot of cattle purchased for the English market by Mr. H. P. Kennedy, of Kennedy & Nelson. Some of the fat steers weighed as high as 1,700 lbs., and one great ox weighed over a ton—2,020 lbs. This lot was partially fed by Mr. Kennedy, and the others were purchased in the vicinity. The stock was shipped to-day by G.T.R. for Montreal en route to England. Mr. Kennedy intends making similar shipments monthly during the season.

Mr. Watkin Mills.

Mr. Watkin Mills, whose magnificent voice has won for him so much favour on both sides of the Atlantic, will have a very busy time of it the coming season, after he returns to England. He will sing at the Albert hall, Queen's hall, Richter concert, Crystal palace, Highbury Philharmonic, and Finsbury choral concerts in the metropolis. He will also appear at the Norwich festival, and in the concerts at Leeds, Huddersfield, Bradford, Glasgow, Birmingham, Belfast, Manchester, Sheffield, Nottingham, Halifax, Liverpool, Newcastle-on-Tyne, Edinburgh, Aberdeen, Dundee, and other towns. The people of Peterborough are fortunate in being able to secure this great artist for an evening, 21st April next. 1d

ANOTHER DRIVE AT GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

An Amendment Directed against it Defeated—Mr. Stratton Opposes it.

In Committee of concurrence in the House on Friday, Mr. Haycock, leader of the Patrons, brought in an amendment to cut down the salary of of the private secretary of Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick by $800.

Mr. Hardy said the item represented the salary of the Lieutenant-Governor's son. The Lieutenant-Governor was at present very ill, and when he returned home from England he would require more than ever the aid of his son. He was surprised that the hon. gentlemen should take advantage of the present condition of the Lieutenant-Governor to move such a resolution.

In speaking to the subject, Mr. Stratton declared that Mr. Haycock was taking an unreasonable position. The Patrons had gone to the country on this question because they thought it was popular, but only after it had been brought up by Mr. Mr. Marter. The question had been referred to a special committee. The committee met a few days ago at 8.30 o'clock in the morning although the House had not adjourned until 3 o'clock. All of the members were there except Mr. Haycock, and if the Patron leader was as anxious for the abolition as he desired to appear before the country, he should have been present at that meeting. After the committee had threshed out the question they arrived at a compromise, and the House approved of it unanimously; and now when the motion came up in the House Mr. Haycock came forward in this way only so put himself on record as being the leader to the only party in favour of the abolition of Government House. It was unfair and unjust. The principle which the committee had adopted would effect a saving of from $15,000 to $20,000, not one of $1,500 or $2,000.

The amendment was defeated on division.

REV. A. H. RANTON ON "LIES AND LIARS."

THE EXCUSES WHICH HE HEARS EVERY EVENING.

"Waiting For More Feeling"—"Too Many Hypocrites in the Church"—"Plenty of Time"—The Sunday Afternoon Addresses on "The Modern Dance."

The George street Methodist church was again crowded to the doors last night by a congregation anxious to hear what Evangelist Ranton had to say on the subject of liars.

He took his text from Isaiah, xxviii chap., 17th verse:

And the hail shall sweep away the refuge of lies.

He devoted the evening to speaking on the excuses offered by those who did not wish to become Christians. In this connection he read the parable from St. Luke xiv, in which the guests which were bidden to the rich man's feast began to make excuses. Each excuse was analyzed and pronounced by the speaker to be a lie—just each a lie as was being told in the present day by those who offered excuses for not coming to Christ. He as a lie. The faculty of making excuses, he thought, was born in man ever since Adam excused himself for eating the fruit and blamed Eve, who, in turn, excused herself to blame the devil.

A number of the different excuses offered by those not wishing to join the church were then mentioned by Mr. Ranton.

The first excuse taken up was "Waiting for more feeling" and the speaker asked if a debt was owed and the money in hand to pay it, if a creditor would take as an excuse for non-payment, the statement that a man didn't feel like doing it. The sinner, he stated, was head over heels in debt to God, and if He foreclosed, it meant bankruptcy in eternity. The excuse reminded him of the man who was hired to chop down a tree, and who was found sitting beside the tree by his employer, waiting to sweat, as he always chopped better when he sweated. Spiritual feeling was the result of physical exertion. If a man began to pray he would get warmth. Enthusiasm, etc., was what he liked to see, but all natures did not receive the Spirit in the same way, and because this great enthusiasm was not expressed, it was no reason why a sinner should not be saved.

EXCUSE NUMBER TWO

came from the man who "would like to be a Christian only there were so many hypocrites in the church." Mr. Ranton stated he had been thirteen years in the church, and had never run across one of these hypocrites yet. Some people were so colour blind that if they saw a dog flying through the air, they would shoot it for a crow. This judgment was perverted that they couldn't tell a Christian when they saw him. There might be hypocrites in the church, but from this it could not be argued that all were hypocrites. The fact that there were imitations was clear proof that genuine Christian must exist. He urged all to rise above making an excuse of such a nature. Because a man secured a counterfeit coin was no reason why he should throw away all his money as being no good. A whole institution should not be condemned because of the hypocrisy of a few. This excuse, in the words of the text, was simply "a refuge of lies" that the devil had prepared for men.

THE THIRD EXCUSE

was that "there's plenty of time." A creditor would not take this for an answer in settling up an account. God wanted to straighten up with the sinner now and every moment it was put off was a moment's longer dishonest dealings with the Almighty.

"Plenty of time," continued the young evangelist, "and the coffin in which you will be laid may already be made and waiting for you in the undertaker's establishment even now."

"Plenty of time, when the linen of which you shroud will be made is now on the shelves of one of our stores."

"Plenty of time, and already the decree may have gone forth that this year is your last."

"Plenty of time, when by Sunday morning you may be cold in your grave."

Plenty of time—why you haven't a second—not a moment. It is simply a refuge of lies which the hail shall sweep away."

The address closed with an earnest appeal to postpone the moment no longer, after which the first portion of the service was brought to a close and the after meeting begun.

During the evening Mr. Ranton announced that on Sunday afternoon in the George street church, he would speak at four o'clock on "The Modern Dance." He warned those whose feelings were likely to be hurt by his remarks to remain away, although [illegible] that for what he could [illegible]. He intended to hit straight from the shoulder.

"FELL DEAD."

What More Every-day Reading do you Read in this Paper Than That?—They are Legion.

Don't dally with heart disorders. There is but one cure. "I had been for a number of years sorely afflicted with heart disease. At times my life was despaired of. Doctors had prescribed and I had taken every known heart remedy made, I had supposed, and did not get any benefit. I read of the wonderful cures wrought by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I procured a bottle, and in less time than it takes to tell it, the distress was relieved. I followed the directions closely and to-day I am a well woman again, and I shall do all in my power to make known to every one suffering as I did the wonderful cure it worked for me."—Mrs. Wm. Burton, Dartmow, Ont. Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

SPORTING PASTIMES.

Wheeling and Other Items of Local and General Interest.

LACROSSE.

The members of the local club are much pleased in learning that the Tecumsehs, of Toronto, intend entering the big league, as it will be easy to obtain a match with them on the local grounds, when they are passing through on their way to or from Montreal or Ottawa. Although the Peterboroughs were successful in winning from the Tecumsehs year before last, the latter team has developed wonderfully since that time and now consider itself heavy enough to battle with the contestants in the big league.

The Lacrosse Club has made arrangements with the Burnham Estate to take the P.A.A.A. grounds this year and a gang of men will at once go to work on the fences and grounds and put them in a thorough state of repair.

The Lacrosse club will hold a meeting at the Oriental Hotel Monday evening to consider a proposition for a game on the 24th of May and other matters.

CRICKET.

It is about time that the cricketers were called together for the season, if the club intends to reorganize this season. It is understood that a good deal of new blood will be infused if reorganization is effected, and that the club can be strengthened in its weak point by a new resident in Peterborough who has occupied a prominent place in cricketing circles in both Canada and England. All the other athletic clubs have fallen into line, and it is hoped that the town cricketers will not be backward in bringing their enthusiasm up to the organization point within the next week or so.

THE WHEEL.

The Toronto World in a wheeling item recently stated that no rider could fall off a safety otherwise than sideways. If the writer of the article ever comes to Peterborough Mr. Ernie Wasson will be pleased to illustrate to him the thousand and one different kind of falls that a rider can take.

A number of the local scorchers will ride for century bars on Good Friday, if the weather and the roads are all right. It is proposed to start from Lakefield and ride to the Don river, Toronto. As it is only 91 miles to this point from Peterborough, the boys will make up the other 9 by starting from Lakefield. Amongst those going will be Messrs. W. J. Thompson, Fred Dixon, Gus Hay, Sam Adams and E. Wasson. Notice is being sent to the Century Club, and the boys will without doubt cover the distance inside of the prescribed ten hours.

"Long distance riding at a moderate or even comparatively slow pace forms one of the very finest cures for shortness of breath," says a physician who wheels. "This malady is usually caused by some congestion w[illegible] prevents the lungs being exercised to their full capacity. Constant, steady and easy exercise strengthens and tones up the air cells, so that the number of these available becomes gradually increased and thus little by little the inconvenience disappears. Care must be taken that the exercise is not of a violent nature or it is quite possible more harm than good may be done."

FOOTBALL.

The Lakefield football club has organized for the season with the following officers:

Patron and Patroness—Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Tate.
President—Mr. Lemprierre.
Vice-President—Mr. S. Ridpath.
Sec.-Treas—Mr. J. McDonald.
Captain—Mr. T. Ridpath.

The club anticipates a good season's sport with outside teams, there being splendid material in the village for a good team.

A Banker's Experience.

"I tried a bottle of Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine for a troublesome affection of the throat," writes manager Thomas Dowson of the Standard Bank, now of 14 Melbourne Avenue, Toronto. "It proved effective. I regard the remedy as simple, cheap and exceedingly good. It has hitherto been my habit to consult a physician in troubles of this nature. Hereafter, however, I intend to be my own family doctor."

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 20 years accumulated $40,000,000. He succeeded and in 30 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 80 or $2,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now advises the purchase of Corn around 35 cts. for July. It will show as Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.25; it will sell at $10 before it does at $9. Railroad stocks and bonds bought on the New York Stock Exchange for investment or on liberal margins. Call me up on long distance 'phone and I can execute your order while you wait in New York, Boston or Chicago.

Sometimes a burglar only succeeds in damaging the lock of a safe so that the combination won't work.

Next morning the bank officers can't get at their own money. There may be millions in the safe, but if their credit depended on getting at it in a hurry they would be bankrupt, simply because the combination won't work.

A sick man is in very much the same fix about getting at the nourishment he needs to keep him alive. There is plenty of good food at hand, but his digestive organism is out of order; the nutritive "combination" of his system won't work. He can't possibly get at the nourishment contained in the food. He takes it into his stomach, but it does him no good. It isn't made into good blood. He is just as badly off as if the food was locked up where he couldn't touch it. He gets no strength or health out of it.

All these mal-nutritive conditions have a perfect and scientific remedy in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It puts the nutritive "combination" of the system into perfect working order. It gives the digestive and blood-making organs power to make pure, red, healthy blood, and pour it into the circulation abundantly and rapidly.

It drives out all bilious poisons and scrofulous germs, cures indigestion, liver complaint, nervousness and neuralgia, and builds up solid flesh, active power and nerve force.

Mrs. Rebecca F. Gardner, of Grafton, York Co., Va., writes: "I was so sick with dyspepsia that I could not eat anything for over four months. I had to starve myself, as nothing would stay on my stomach. I was so badly off I could not eat even a cracker. I thought I was going to die. I weighed only 85 pounds. I tried almost everything, and nothing did me any good, until I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I am now as well as I ever was, and weigh 125 pounds."

Bright's Disease of the Kidneys Baffled the World's Most Eminent Medical Authorities Until

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Came to the Rescue and Delivery of Mankind, Stopping Forever the Deadly Assaults of Life's Most Insidious Foes.

Men are dropping from the ranks everywhere. Cut down in the flower of youth or the fruitage of manhood by that ruthless destroyer—Bright's Disease of the Kidneys.

Only a few days ago Sir Hercules Robinson, the doughty Governor of Cape Colony, was forced to resign that post because of encroaching Bright's Disease.

Hardly had his successor been appointed when the wires brought tidings of the death of William P. St. John, a New York banker, and remembered by everyone as the treasurer of the National Democratic party during the last national campaign. Bright's Disease carried him off:

It has killed many better men than most of us. So has Diabetes, its twin curse. Yet there is one cure (and only one), that never fails in cases of Diabetes and Bright's Disease. Let these testimonials bear witness:—

Mr. Fred. Carstens, Palmerston, Ont., says:—"After many years suffering with Bright's Disease, I am a new man, cured by using three boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. F. X. Groulx, Ottawa, Ont. says: "Dodd's Kidney Pills have been a godsend to me as they have cured me of Bright's Disease of the Kidneys."

S. G. Moore, King St., London, Ont., says: "After taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I am as well as ever in my life, after despairing of recovery from Bright's Disease."

Mr. Chas. T. Byr, Garryowen P. O., Ont., says: "For the past three years have suffered of Diabetes, but noticing cures published I have used Dodd's Kidney Pills, which have perfectly cured me."

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS are for sale by druggists everywhere, and by the Dodd's Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. Price 50 cents a box.

EATEN BY CANNIBALS.

Mr. Duncan, a Trader, Captured by Natives of New Hebrides, Fed Up, Killed and Eaten.

Victoria, B.C., April 8.—Australian advices state that Mr. Duncan, a white trader who reached Sydney from South Africa, met his death in a very painful way while trading with natives of New Hebrides. He was tied up to a tree for three days, being kept alive and forcibly stuffed with food. He was then cut down, killed and eaten, women, even, joining joyfully in the cannibalistic feast. There was a great scramble from the various groups of islands. Duncan, it appears, was a single man, about 38 years old.

The Wearing of Veils.

It is a wise precaution for the woman who values a good complexion to protect it from the fresh spring winds, which not only chap the skin, but tan it as well.

A chiffon veil is the best for wear when one will be exposed to the winds for any length of time. The lace veils are prettier, but not nearly so satisfactory a protection as the chiffon. Constant wear of veils is not to be recommended, but the occasional wear of them is, for reasons above stated.

On Her Toilet Table.

BRITISH PARLIAMENT

Discussed the Evacuation of the Island of Crete.

GREEK TROOPS MUST GO FIRST

According to the Opinion of Most of the Powers—The Coming Postal Congress at Washington—Law of Evidence Bill Passes Second Reading—Other News by Cable.

London, April 8.—Replying in the House of Commons to-day to a question relative to the arrest and deportation from Honolulu, Hawaii, of a man named W. J. Cranstoun, the Parliamentary Secretary of the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, said the Government proposed to address the Hawaiian Government on the subject so soon as it is definitely ascertained that Cranstoun is a British subject.

Answering a question relative to the date of the evacuation of the Island of Crete by the Turkish troops, the Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office said France had asked the powers for their views on the early evacuation of the island by the Turks, but, he added, it was impossible to announce the exact date of the withdrawal of the Turkish forces. Several of the powers, he continued, were of the opinion that the Greek troops must first be withdrawn.

The Financial Secretary to the Treasury, Mr. R. W. Hanbury, replying to a question as to whether care would be taken, at the Washington Postal Congress, to reserve for the Imperial and Colonial Governments complete freedom of action with respect to postal arrangements, including charges within the limits of the British Empire, said that in 1890 the Postoffice Department was advised that it did not have the power to establish rates differing from those prescribed by the postal union between Great Britain and her colonies. Continuing, Mr. Hanbury explained that the Congress of Vienna held that Great Britain might establish with her colonies rates below the union rates, but above her inland rates. Mr. Hanbury further said he did not know whether this would be confirmed by the Washington Congress. As a matter of fact, the secretary said, in conclusion, the United States and Canada had already established rates below the union rates, as have Austria and Germany, and the union has not interfered.

In the House of Commons to-day Sir Richard Webster, the Attorney-General, moved the second reading of the Law of Evidence Bill, enabling prisoners in criminal cases to testify in their own behalf. He said that the United States, Canada and Australia had laws similar to the bill in operation, and that it had been found to work well in all these countries. He regretted that for the present the Government was obliged to exclude Ireland from the benefits of the Act, owing to the desire that the measure should be as little contentious as possible. But he hoped, and the Government hoped, that the law would be eventually extended to Ireland.

The bill then passed its second reading by a vote of 210 to 41.

Earl Kimberley on Crete.

London, April 8.—The Earl of Kimberley, leader of the Liberal party in the House of Lords, speaking at a Liberal banquet this evening in London, urged the withdrawal of the Turkish troops as the first step in the pacification of Crete. He said that the only true and sound policy was to come to a prompt understanding as to the form of government for the island. Personally, he would like to see Crete under the Government of Greece, and he believed, if the powers concluded to adopt that course, they would not meet with any serious objection from Turkey. The Opposition, he said, had done its best to ascertain the policy of the Government, but had been invariably disappointed and now felt relieved of all further responsibility.

An Extraordinary Council.

Constantinople, April 8.—An extraordinary council of Ministers of the Empire was held at the Palace to-day. It is understood that as a result of it the Turkish Government will reinforce the troops at Salonika with 32 battalions of Redifs from Anatolia, making a total of 33,000.

France Strengthening Her Navy.

Paris, April 8.—M. Lockroy, the former Minister of Marine, notified the Naval Committee of the Chamber of Deputies yesterday of his intention to transform into a subsidiary bill his amendment asking for a naval grant of 200,000,000 francs. He said the Chamber ought to vote the whole sum, although the expenditure might be spread over a period of four years. The bill proposes to establish naval docks at Saigon, capital of French Cochin China; Diego Suarles, near the northern extremity of the Island of Madgascar; Ajaccio, the capital of Corsica; Porto Vecchio, Corsica, and at the French Pacific ports.

Bank of England Statement.

London, April 8.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England, issued to-day, shows the following changes as compared with the previous account:

Total reserve, decreased £1,305,000; circulation, increased 733,000; Bullion, decreased £943,923; other securities, decreased £604,000; other deposits, increased £2,815,000; public deposits, decreased £5,020,000; notes reserved, decreased £1,433,000; Government securities, increased £530,000. The proportion of the Bank of England's reserve to liability which last week was 52.65 per cent., is now 58.31 per cent.

War in Bechuanaland.

Cape Town, April 8.—A despatch from Vryburg says that in an encounter with the Bechuanaland insurgents on Tuesday, near Kuruman, the Cape volunteers lost five men killed and had six men wounded.

Further advices regarding the encounter with the Bechuanaland insurgents on Tuesday state that the British troops captured and burned the native town of Camaseg, at the foot of the Langeberg range of hills. The rebel leader, Galliskwe, who was in command of the natives, made a desperate resistance. The losses of the natives were heavy. One British lieutenant was killed.

Radicals are Aggressive.

London, April 8.—The Radicals in the House of Commons have decided to bring about a debate before the Easter recess upon the question of the policy of the Government in the East.

The rapidity with which croup develops calls for instant treatment; and yet few households are prepared for its visits. An admirable remedy for this disease is Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has saved hundreds of lives and should be in every home where there are young children.

OUR BUSY LEGISLATORS.

Large Amount of Business Transacted at the Sessions of the Provincial Legislature Yesterday.

Toronto, April 9.

In moving yesterday morning the second reading of his bill to encourage the manufacture of railway steel and iron in the province, Hon. J. M. Gibson expressed the hope that steel manufactures would reach the proportions already attained by the iron industry in Ontario. He deplored the fact that ores had to be imported to this province. He was certain that, with proper railway facilities, the ore could be obtained in Northern Ontario. He expected that the Dominion Government would take a leaf from his book in the matter and also give the industry some encouragement.

Mr. Whitney was glad to hear the warm protection speech of Hon. Mr. Gibson. It was a sign that his party was swinging into line.

Mr. Stratton asked if the Government intended to allow the Osgoode Athletic Association the western part of the old Parliament grounds during the season to play lacrosse and football. He understood the Government was considering the matter, and he hoped they would see their way clear to grant the request.

Mr. Whitney could see no objection to granting the application.

The Attorney-General replied that the Government had had a number of applications and they did not know that they would be able to give the preference to any of them.

The afternoon was taken up with the consideration in committee of the Attorney-General's bill to make certain amendments to the Statute Law.

Among the clauses which called for special protest from the Opposition was that referring to the appointment of junior County Court judges, a power vested in the Dominion Government. When the County Courts Act was passed a Conservative Government was dispensing the judicial patronage at Ottawa. The appointment of junior County Court judges is under Federal jurisdiction, and the Ontario Government enacted, accordingly, that there should be no appointments of junior judges in counties or in unions of counties where the population did not exceed 50,000. Now, however, Sir Oliver Mowat, in office himself at Ottawa, is suffering from the law he himself enacted, and his successor in the Local House is helping him out by adding an amending section to provide that the original law should not apply to any county in which is situate a city, and for which county a junior judge has been heretofore appointed, nor to the Counties of Grey, Renfrew, Stormont, Dundas and Glengarry, Ontario, Bruce Simcoe, Huron, and Victoria and Haliburton.

The other sections of the bill were not finished with until 6 o'clock and the Speaker left the chair.

The bill passed and also a very large number of public and private bills.

Happy Man!—Nothing Experimental About Using the Great South American Nervine—What it has done for Thousands it can do for you.

Here are Strong Words from a Reliable Business Man—Read Them.

I have been a great sufferer from indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried many remedies, but obtained very little relief. I saw South American Nervine advertised, and concluded to give it a trial, and I must say that I consider it the very best remedy I have ever used. I obtained great relief from the first few doses. I have only used two bottles, and am happy to say that it has made a new man of me. I strongly recommend it to my fellow sufferers." C. PEARSE, Dry Goods Merchant, Forest, Ont. Sold by H. S. FIREBUGS AT STOUFFVILLE.

Disastrous Loss to Mr. Abraham Stouffer Due to Rascally Incendiaries.

Stouffville, April 8.—(Special.)—This morning about 2 o'clock fire was discovered bursting through the roof of the large dairy buildings of the well-known dairyman, Abraham Stouffer, on lot 2, concession 10, Township of Whitchurch, on the north border of this town. A large number of dairy cows, horses, sheep and other cattle, together with an extensive stock of farming implements and over 1000 bushels of grain, were, with the buildings, totally destroyed. Loss $3000; insurance $600, in Waterloo Mutual. The fire was clearly the work of an incendiary.

Keep up hope. There are thousands of cases where recovery from Consumption has been complete. Plenty of fresh air and a well-nourished body will check the progress of the disease. Nervous Prostration
Complete Recovery by the Use of
Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hixson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

A BARE HALL CORNER

TRANSFORMED INTO A VERY PRETTY JAPANESE TEA ROOM.

Clever Ways of Turning Hall Rooms Into "Dens"—How Bare Walls May Be Rejuvenated With Oriental Draperies.

If the bed, stool and candlestick of the prophet's chamber were up to modern requirements, the hall room would still be available as a bedchamber, but with the increase of our possessions it has ceased to be useful for that purpose, and finds its most frequent function as a masculine or feminine den.

Here is the place to try daring color schemes, to experiment in brilliant crimson or orange, to hang up the Oriental drapery, and try by combinations only possible in a small room to "key up" to its overpowering brilliancy.

A deep frieze is required in a room so high and narrow, bringing its lines into better proportion, so here we may lay that fascinating remnant of tapertry paper, which we picked up for a song. It is in faded tints of pink and blue and sage, and we cover the wall with it from the ceiling to within five feet of the surbase.

Below this we lay an ingrain paper in faded pink, just the shade of the pink in the other, and at the point of junction we put up a narrow shelf four inches wide, running all round the room, and stained to match the dark woodwork of the room. The floor, too, is dark, stained or painted and polished, and partly covered by a long strip of velvet or Axminster filling in old pink, finished at either end with a fringe. At the one window and at the door are straight curtains of old pink denim. The material is cheap, but the curtains are lined with pink sateen and edged with a tasseled gimp of good quality. A stained and polished board some nine inches in width is fitted to the window sill, and on it stands a dark green jardiniere containing a growing narcissus or a white cyclamen. There is a long willow bench painted to match the woodwork, and piled with cushions covered with the pink denim. A square wicker armchair, also painted, has a cushion of old pink and sage green figured silk.

Across one corner by the window stands a desk with book shelves above it and a small chair to match it, both of dark wood, while on the same side, opposite the couch, is a tea table holding a service of green and white sprigged china. On the ledge surrounding the room are a few bits of bric-a-brac, all in dark tones, one or two photographs in dark frames and a bas relief in ivory-tinted plaster. It is all very simple, but the colors are restful, and it is an ideal place to lounge and dream in.

The person who is something of a mechanic may make the hall room into a Japanese tea room, covering the walls with tea-chest matting, using a strip of heavier bamboo by way of chair railing.

A panel of fretwork may fill the window, and a tall screen with at least one scarlet panel disguise the door.

On the matted floor is laid a brilliant jute rug, and the brightest and hugest of Japanese umbrellas is hung from a corner of the ceiling, its handle shortened and itself inclined to the interior is quite hidden. The tea table is a bamboo affair with a matting top, and the seats are bamboo stools.

TRANSFORMED WITH ORIENTAL DRAPERIES

The Japanese, as is well known, have no backs, Occidentals may rest theirs against the wall. Scarlet satin cushions adorn some of the stools. The tea service of red and gold kaga is set out on a big tray of scarlet lacquer.

In one corner should stand a tall jar holding sprays of the Japanese quince. They are quite expensive in the shops, but anyone who can make paper flowers can imitate them very well. Somewhere on the wall should hang a bamboo cabinet holding extra teacups, etc., and on other parts of the wall can be hung Imari plates in red and blue, or scarlet lacquer trays. A huge red Japanese lantern hanging from the ceiling will light the room sufficiently at night.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health,, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't no experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

ADVENTURE OF A $500 ROLL.

Up Against a Half Dollar For a Whole Evening Without Knowing It.

The sporting man stood at the bar toying idly with the dice box.

"Funny thing, Joe," he remarked to the bartender, "how little saloon gambling there is nowadays. Now, there was a time, only a few years ago, when you couldn't go into a saloon up this way without hearing the rattle of the dice box."

A plainly dressed young man came in and ordered a drink of whisky. He gave it a dash of absinthe, tossed it off at one gulp, threw fifteen cents on the bar, and glanced over at the sporting man.

"Shake?" said the latter.

"One or two to kill time," said the stranger.

The sporting man tossed a half dollar on the bar. The stranger did likewise, the dice rolled out and the stranger won. He won the second and the third time, then lost twice and won once more.

"Lucky start," remarked the sporting man. "Have something?"

"Nothing for me, thanks."

The sporting man drank a hot Scotch and the game went on. Half an hour passed away and the sport was $10 behind the game.

"Make it a dollar and one shake," he suggested.

"I never change my game," said the stranger.

"Very well," said the sporting man, good naturedly. "It's a little faster, that's all."

"This is fast enough for me."

"Have a drink?"

"No thanks."

The sporting man drank another hot Scotch, and the game went on. The luck was against him, and his losses grew with every shake. Once in a while he'd make a spurt and win three or four straight pots. Then the stranger would win half a dozen to make up for it. Two hours had passed and the sporting man was $40 in the hole. He grew excited.

"I'll shake you for $80 or quits," he said, hauling out a roll as big around as his leg.

"I never change my game," said the other quietly.

In another half hour the stranger was $50 ahead, and the sporting man was very nervous.

"Friend, will you oblige me by having a drink?" he said.

"I really don't care to drink," said the stranger, and the sport drank his Scotch alone once more.

Then there was a turn in the luck. Ten dollars went back to the sporting man in less than fifteen minutes. Then more followed it, and the sport's brow cleared. The stranger never turned a hair. Gradually the half dollars went back to their original owner, and finally after three hours of play the man were just where they started.

"Now, have a drink," said the sporting man, with a sigh of relief.

"No, thanks," said the stranger, tossing a half dollar on the bar and picking up the box. "Let's shake."

In three throws he rolled out four duces. The sporting man threw four trays and hauled in the money.

"Thank you," remarked the stranger, "for a pleasant evening."

"You're not going to quit?" said the sporting man in amazement.

"Can't do anything else. Only started with a half dollar. I couldn't drink with you without asking you to drink, and I couldn't do that without using money which I meant to give you a chance to win back. Good day," and he walked out of the saloon.

"Well, I'm blanked," said the sport to the bartender. "To think I had a roll of $500 up against his fifty cents. Great Scott! If the luck hadn't changed he might have had the whole roll, and I never had a chance to get more than half a dollar. Give me another Scotch," and, looking very pale, the sport drank up his liquor, buttoned his coat and went out.—New York Sun.

A COMPOSITE BEAUTY.

An Architectural Oddity Representative of All Women.

What is probably the most original plan for an exposition building has just been submitted to the Commission of the Expositione Universalle of 1900 at Paris. The architect proposes that the Woman's building of the great Fair shall be constructed in the form of a woman's head and neck, the model being a photograph taken from a composite made up from photographs of the most beautiful types of modern women.

Every effort will be made to produce an architectural novelty. The aim will be to produce the effect of a living head, as lifelike as possible. Beneath the layer of thin wood, upon which the paint covering the face will be placed, it is the intention to arrange a number of powerful electric lights. The wood will be of some variety which is not opaque, and the electric lights of sufficient force to penetrate the wood and paint a soft glow. Thus the face will shine at night, making a spectacle both beautiful and picturesque. The eyes will be particularly striking at night, as the pupils are to consist of powerful electric arc lights. The hair of the statue will be made as lifelike as possible. In color it will be of a dark brown shade and will consist of fine strands of rope. Crowning the hair will be a wreath to be constructed in the form of that very familiar adornment of the Goddess of Liberty.

The entrance to the statue will be at the base of the neck, and its height sufficient to warrant the arrangement in the order of a four-storey building. On the first floor will be the reception rooms. These are to be elaborately decorated with designs in which women are the central figures. They will be selected from the works submitted by the best artists.

The second story will be mostly taken up by a large hall, in which lectures will be delivered by various feminine celebrities, and where meetings of the different societies of women that may gather in Paris shall take place. On this floor also will be the officers of the Woman's Commission that is in charge of the building. The third story will consist of retiring rooms for women visitors to the Exposition who wish to rest from journeying about. There will be two large rooms filled with couches and easy chairs. In addition to this it is intended that there shall be a number of bedrooms, plainly but very comfortably furnished, each with a bath attached, supplied with hot and cold water. These rooms will be for the use of those who pay therefor for a nominal fee. On the fourth floor will be situated the restaurant and kitchen, which it is proposed shall be models. The kitchen will be open to the inspection of visitors, and it is the intention to have in use the most modern appliances for cooking and chefs to whom the A. B. C's and the higher classes of the culinary art shall be as familiar as the outer atmosphere. It is intended that the prices of this restaurant shall be very modern indeed. And the very non-European custom will prevail of forbidding tips to the waitresses, for, of course, no one will be employed about the building who belongs to the sterner sex, if it is possible to avoid it. All these are rather unusual things for an architect to consider, but not only has Mr. Joseph Germaine planned the structure, but he has included in his documents submitted to the French Commission all the details quoted here. The promenade is perhaps the most unique feature of this remarkable building. The wreath that rests with seeming lightness upon the crown of the statue's head, is divided into two sections. These sections are about thirty or thirty-five feet apart, and the intervening space constitutes the promenade. The entrance to this is from the restaurant, and openings will be made through the material which composes the wreath on each side. The chief difficulty in carrying out the ideas suggested by the artist is in obtaining photographs of the beauties of all nations. From the best of these he would have taken a composite photograph. He will request the authorities in the larger cities to co-operate with him.

This is what James Sullivan, of Chatham, Ont., writes: "For years I was a great sufferer from Kidney trouble. The disease became so acute that I was confined to the house, and was greatly inflicted with insomnia. I was persuaded after using many other remedies without relief to procure a bottle of South American Kidney Cure. I had relief almost from the first dose. I have persisted in its use, and after using six bottles I am well and strong again. I can work fourteen hours out of twenty-four and feel very little, if any, fatigue. It is the best medicine I have ever used." Sold by H. S. Macdonald.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 78 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. St. Francis Xavier.

Continued.

When returning to Goa, Francis met a Japanese nobleman, who had fled his country and taken up his residence at Moluco. He had heard of the wonderful work of the holy missionary among the people of the Island, and was desirous of seeing him. He eagerly sought Francis, who soon convinced him that the religion of Christ alone was divine, and induced him to accompany him to Goa for further instruction. Soon after his arrival Francis solemnly baptised him giving him the name of Paul of the Holy Faith. In the meantime Xavier was acquiring knowledge of the customs, religion and language of the Japanese. It was then he formed the project of evangelizing that people. He lost no time in preparing for the mission, and obtaining co-labourers to assist him in his arduous undertaking. He set sail during the month of April, 1549, for Moluco, and without unnecessary delay proceeded thence to Japan, where he arrived 15th August, the feast of the Assumption. The Christian Japanese, Paul, on his return to his native land, found favour with his sovereign, the King of Saxuma, who was anxious to learn what he could about the Portuguese, whose ships were found on every sea. Paul answered his inquiries and described their customs, commercial enterprise and religion. The king listened with great attention to an explanation of the principal Christian doctrines and was thus prepared to welcome the arrival of a missionary. On the 29th September, Francis Xavier was received by the king, who was full of admiration for the man who had come from the other side of the world and braved to bring to a strange people a religion of charity and good will, promising everlasting happiness to its followers. The king authorized him to preach and permitted the people to embrace the new faith. Nevertheless the apostle met with many difficulties here and elsewhere from the Bonzes or priests of the country. His mission began peacefully. Paul had instructed his family and friends in the doctrines of the Church and brought them to be baptized. These were the first fruits of a glorious harvest in Japan. Xavier found the people of that part of the empire industrious, respectful to authority, and practising many natural virtues. Polygamy had no existence among them and theft was unknown. Many of them could read. They were well disposed and desirous of learning. They listened to Francis with avidity, and many were converted to the true faith. He had soon mastered the language sufficiently to publish the principal prayers and a short explanation of the Creed in Japanese, which was of great assistance to him in teaching the neophytes their prayers and the chief Christian doctrines. After evangelizing the kingdom of Saxuma, and leaving others to continue the work, Xavier visited other portions of the empire, and even sought an audience with the Emperor, but without success. However, he preached in the public places of the Capital. The inhabitants were at that time preoccupied with war, and apparently paid but little attention to his words. Nevertheless he had planted seed, which was afterwards to germinate. The few neophytes he baptized there, became in time the nucleus of a numerous and prosperous church. It is not necessary to in all his journeys. Suffice it to say the princes and most of the people of three kingdoms became Christians within a few years. In the labours of his apostleship St. Francis Xavier had much to endure and oftentimes the new converts had to suffer even persecution. In the midst of his for the conversion of the Japanese, he received news of his appointment as Provincal of the Jesuits of the Indies, and was thus obliged to return to Goa. On September 8th, 1551, he started on his return voyage, taking with him two Japanese Christians, who had sacrificed their fortunes to preserve their faith. On his way he again visited the missions he had previously established, preaching to the people and encouraging the priests in their good work. While at Cochin he undertook and effected the conversion of the King of the Maldive Islands and opened another mission there. It was also at Cochin that he met the merchant Pereyea and entered into negotiations with him for a voyage to China, the conversion of which nation he had long at heart.

THE DANGERS OF THE SEAS

As soon as possible after his arrival at Goa, Xavier selected the several superiors for the various missions, and completed all necessary arrangements for the good order of the society during his absence. He sailed from Goa on April 14th, 1552, taking with him three Jesuits for the mission to China. At Malacca he met with great opposition. The Governor Alvarez refused to allow any ship to carry him to China. After wearisome waiting, seeing no probability of gaining the assistance of the Governor, who had ordered all the ships from the harbour, Francis took passage on the only ship which remained, and was carried to the island of San Chan, a short distance from the Chinese shore. The Portugese there sought by every means to dissuade him from entering China. The represented to him the vigilance of the offices who guarded the coast, the mercantile interest of the Portuguese were all opposed to his mission. Nothing, however, could shake his resolution of going to China to preach the faith of Jesus Christ. At last he gained over the master of a vessel, who promised to land him on the Chinese shore, and an interpreter to go with him. Xavier at this juncture fell sick of a fever. When he recovered sufficiently to undertake the journey, both the master of the vessel and the interpreter refused to fulfil their promises. As a last resort he sought to obtain a place in the suite of an ambassador from the King of Siam to the Emperor of China, but sickness again overtook him and he felt that his death was near. The fever had returned. He was taken to the hospital ship, but the rolling of the sea so disturbed him that he asked to be put ashore. This was done, and there he was left in bleak December to the pitiless mercy of the north wind. A poor man moved by compassion, gave him the shelter of his hut, which was open to every breeze and little better than the barren shore. On Friday, December 2, 1552, St. Francis Xavier, with his crucifix clasped to his heart, and his eyes bathed in tears, died with the words of the Psalmist on his lips—"In thee, O Lord, have I hope; let me not be confounded forever."

THE VIGOUR OF THE LAWS,

Thus did the great apostle of the Indies die,—almost alone and in sight of the land he had hoped to gain for Christ. His ten years of labour for the conversion of the infidel were ended; the faithful servant had done his work well and was called to receive the crown of justice from the hands of his Master. All the dreariness, difficulties and dangers that his imagination had pictured to him as he started out on his mission, where his in reality. Well might he have said with St. Paul that he had been "In journeyings often, in perils of water, in perils of robbers, in perils from my own nation, in perils from the Gentiles, in perils in the city, in perils in the wilderness, in perils in the sea, in perils from false brethren, in labour and painfulness, in much watchings, in hunger and thirst, in cold and nakedness." The missionary labours of St. Francis Xavier are acknowledged to have been the most arduous and the most fruitful of modern times. It has been computed, that he travelled in his works of conversion a distance of nearly three times around the globe, that he preached the Gospel through a territory over 9,000 miles long, that he planted the faith of Jesus Christ in thirty-two different kingdoms and that he baptised more than one million persons. It is not wonderful, therefore, that his praise is in the mouths of all. His zeal, charity, humility and patience have been the admiration of all who have followed the story of his life or interested themselves in the study of missionary labours. This admiration is not confined to those of his own country or creed. Speaking of his work a Protestant historian says, "If the religion of Xavier accorded with ours, we would esteem and honour him as another St. Paul. Notwithstanding this difference of religion, his zeal, his vigilance and the holiness of his life must ever encourage good men in labouring for the Lord not to do His work negligently; for the gifts which Xavier received for the discharge of his office of minister and ambassador of Jesus Christ were so eminent that my mind is incapable of fully appreciating or expressing them. If I consider the patience and the meekness with which he presented to the little and the great the life-giving waters of the Gospel, if I regard the courage with which he bore injuries and affronts, I am constrained to cry out with the Apostle "No man can do the wonders thou has done, unless God be with him."

IN FASTINGS OFTEN,

Baby Mass of Sores

Face Like a Slice of Raw Beef. Cried Night and Day. Would Rub Scratch and Scream.

Moisture from Sores so Great Changed Clothe 12 Times a Day. Hands Tied for Five Months.

After One Application of CUTICURA Child Slept. Cured Without a Scar.

My baby, when one year old (photograph herewith), broke out all over with a rash. He was a mass of sores. You could not put your finger on him anywhere there was not a sore. His face looked like a slice of fresh beef, and he cried night and day. He would rub, scratch, and scream. The doctor called and left some powder to put on him, but it did no good. It would take two to hold him, and one to put medicine on him. We had to hold him sometimes an hour or two before we could get him quieted down. All said that they never saw such a face or body on any baby as on him. I had to cut the sleeves out of his clothes, and put gauze undervear on him to keep him cool. I had to keep pieces of soft cloth around his neck; it was so wet with moisture from the sores, and had to change the cloths sometimes ten or twelve times a day. I had to tie his hands tight in a cloth, night and day, for five months. My sister had used CUTICURA, and I began to use it and was surprised at the result. After only one application, he lay down and slept as he had not for a month, poor little fellow. After I had used CUTICURA REMEDIES a day he was glad to have me wash and dress him. He has not a scar on him now, and is as fair and his flesh is as soft as any baby just born. He was absolutely cured in three months by one cake CUTICURA SOAP, two boxes CUTICURA (ointment), and one-half bottle CUTICURA RESOLVENT.

WAR ON CHEAP FARES.

Central Trust Company of New York Trying to Knock Out Legislation Passed in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., April 9.—A suit to knock out 2-cent railroad fares in Indianapolis was filed in the United States Court yesterday. The 2-cent fare agitation has been at fever heat in this city for several months past and resulted in a law being passed by the last Legislature, providing for 2-cent fares. The suit is brought by the Central Trust Company of New York, trustee for the bonds. It asks an injunction against the Street Railroad Company to prevent it in any way observing the law, against the city for attempting to enforce it, and against the prosecuting attorney for prosecuting violators of it. The bill, in the regular course, would go into effect in a few days.

CITY CLOTHING STORE.

From the Beaver, Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Stone have been residents of the township of Ernestown, about ten miles east of Napanee, for a period of about three years, and in that time have gained the esteem of all their neighbours. For six years previous to this time they had lived in Glenwood Springs, Colorado, and it was during their residence there that Mrs. Stone was attacked with an illness that made her life miserable for years. To a reporter who recently interviewed her she told the following story: "During the early part of our residence in Colorado, my illness first came on. At the outset every two or three weeks I would be attacked with a pain in my stomach. Later on it greatly increased in severity, and at times was so bad that I would scream aloud with the pain. A doctor was called in, but the only benefit I ever received from his treatment was through the injection of morphine into my arm, as a result of which the pain would gradually pass away. The medicine which was given me, however, had not the slightest effect, and the doctor appeared to be greatly perplexed, and thereafter continually resorted to injections of morphine whenever the attacks came on. These attacks continued at intervals until our return to Canada, when they increased in frequency and intenseness. The result was that I grew very weak, and my whole system appeared to be giving out. My complexion turned a yellowish hue, and I had little or no appetite. Latterly I would be attacked with fainting spells, preceded by attacks of dizziness. I became utterly unable to stand fatigue, and could with the greatest difficulty perform my household duties. A doctor was called in who treated me for some time without benefitting me any. Then he gave me what I now know to be Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after I had used two boxes I felt somewhat better. I then purchased the pills myself and continued the treatment. I found that the pain was gradually decreasing. I could get rest and sleep at night, which had hitherto been almost impossible. I continued using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for several months, and the result is that they have effected a complete cure, and I am now enjoying the best of health. I can assure you it is a great relief to be free from the trouble that made my life miserable for so many years and I have to thank Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for succeeding when doctors had failed.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly upon the blood and nerves, building them anew and thus driving disease from the system. There is no trouble due to either of these causes which Pink Pills will not cure, and in hundreds of cases they have restored patients to health after all other remedies had failed. Ask for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and take nothing else. The genuine are always enclosed in boxes, the wrapper around which bears the full trade mark, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People." May be had from all dealers or sent post paid on receipt of 50 cents a box or 6 boxes for $2.50, by addressing the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PROROGATION SET FOR TO-MORROW

Mr. Whitney Kicked Up a Little Stir Over the Adverse Vote on One of the Clauses of the License Bill —Mr. Conmee Called to Time.

Toronto, April 12.

The business of the Legislature was finished on Saturday, and the formal prorogation will take place on Tuesday at 2 p.m. The all-important business of the final day was the discussion of the mining bill. The most significant feature of this discussion was the determined opposition of the two Government members who represent the mining districts, Messrs. Conmee and Farwell, both of whom went so far as to twice record their votes against their leaders.

Mr. Whitney took advantage of the opportunity before the orders of the day were called to remind the Attorney-General of his defeat on the license clause in the early hours of the morning. He thought Mr. Hardy should take some action because of his defeat. It was due to the people of the province that something should be done.

The Attorney-General could, he said, cite fifty cases where a Government did not resign to one similar case which could be given in which they had resigned. He then accused the Conservative members who had supported the Government on the clause with being stool-pigeons and with being used in a "draw the badger game."

Mr. Marter warmly resented the Premier's insinuations. He was so far from being actuated by political motives that he could point out twenty members of the House whom he had personally canvassed to support the Government.

Mr. Crawford was another of the unfortunate Conservatives who came under the category of those accused by the leader of the Government of being "used." He was not used, but had taken the course he did because he was pledged to support anything he believed to be in the interest of temperance.

The matter then dropped.

The Attorney-General moved the statute amendments bill back into committee to have the House add a section in reference to the Sunday observance of street railways. He told how the Lord's Day deputation had asked that the Lord's Day Act be made to apply to corporations as well as to persons, and had also wanted a fixed definition of the word "traveler." Under the present Act street railway companies might institute a system of Sunday street cars which, said he, was not desired by our people. It was not proposed to interfere with the charter of the Toronto Street Railway, nor was it intended to hinder the Sunday service of Hamilton and Windsor. The bill proposed, however, to prevent the running of Sunday cars in any other cities excepting Toronto, where cars were not now running on Sunday.

A standing vote was taken and the clause carried, the leaders of both parties supporting it.

Then the House grew generous to itself. The Attorney-General proposed the addition of another section to the statutes to permit members to absent themselves six days during the session without forfeiting any part of their indemnity.

When the bill involving the resolutions regarding Government House had passed the committee and come up for a third reading, Mr. Haycock moved that all words after "that" in the bill be struck out and replaced by words to the effect that the maintenance of Government House was detrimental to the interests of the province.

Frontenac's astute member was a little dismayed when the Speaker pointed out that the word "that" did not appear in the bill, and, therefore, ruled his amendment out of order.

The junior Opposition leader then wished to add the amending words after the preamble, but the Speaker ruled this motion out of order because the seconder was not present in the House when it was moved.

The bill passed.

In the afternoon the principal and all-important business was the discussion of the mining amendments bill.

The measure was first taken up in committee of the House and no objections were made until section 3 was reached. This section allowed prospectors to take up any claim which was not less than 15 miles from the nearest known mine, lode, vein or mineral deposit.

Mr. Conmee considered that 15 miles was too great a margin, and suggested that five miles be the limit. The Commissioner of Crown Lands compromised on 10 miles and the clause passed in that shape.

Section 5, which empowered the Commissioner of Crown Lands to withhold timber lands from exploration, also met with Mr. Cosmee's opposition. He wanted all unclaimed property to be open for exploration.

Col. Gibson was inexorable and the clause passed.

Section 7 was the next one which met with an objection from the member for West Algoma. Sub-section 3 limited the size of a claim for which application could be made by one person to 320 acres, and by a corporation to 640 acres, within a radius of 25 miles. Here Mr. Conmee protested against the size of the radius. He held that five miles was again a large enough margin. He moved to make it read five miles, but it finally read 15 miles.

Hon. Mr. GIBSON then moved the third reading of the bill.

Mr. Whitney, who had up till now been silent, arose and moved in amendment that the House go back into committee, with instructions to amend sub-section 2, section 7, to allow applicants for locations 60 days to pay one quarter of the purchase price instead of 30 days to pay one-half the price, and also to allow him three months to pay the remaining three-quarters of the price instead of 60 days to pay the remaining half; also to make the time 30 days instead of 20 for completing all requirements in the purchase of locations in surveyed townships.

Hon. Mr. Gibson promised to consider the matter in committee if Mr. Whitney would withdraw his amendment. The latter complied, the matter was taken up in committee and the proposed amendments adopted.

Before the bill was read a third time, however, Mr. Whitney again moved an amendment to go back into committee, with instructions to strike out section 8. This section provided for the withdrawal from sale of such parts or sections as were shown or reported to be rich in ores or minerals, and for the setting apart of such lands in order that a higher price might be asked for them by the department.

This motion gave Mr. Conmee the opportunity to say a few words, which he said he should perhaps in justice to himself have given utterance to earlier in the session. It was this: It had been insinuated in certain newspapers that he was connected with the Col. Engledue syndicate. He desired to say in his place in the House that he was not connected directly or indirectly in any way with the Engledue syndicate, and that he knew nothing at all about the syndicate or its dealings with the Government until the matter had appeared in the newspapers. Then he made an effort to square himself with the Government by referring in flattering terms to the manner in which they had contributed to mining development. He commended the idea of the mining school and also of helping the prospectors by means of the diamond drill. He desired the Government to purchase another drill and put it into operation.

His chief objection to the Government bill was that it withdrew so much land from exploration and left it in the control of the department.

Mr. Whitney's amendment was put, after a proposed amendment to the amendment by Mr. Conmee had been ruled out of order, and was lost on a vote of 40 to 15. Messrs. Conmee, Farwell and Loughrin opposed the Government, and a voice from the Opposition was heard to exclaim, "That settles three of them."

Mr. Conmee, twice squelched, was up again. He also moved in amendment to the motion for a third reading that section 3 be struck out, as well as the part of sub-section 3, section 7, which left it in the discretion of the Commissioner of Crown Lands to further limit the amount of such territory as was known to be rich in minerals and for which application could be made to 40 acres.

This amendment was lost on the same division as the last.

The bill got its third reading.

A long and heated debate followed on the bill to enable Edward Spencer Jenison to develop and improve a water privilege on the Kaministiquia River. Mr. Farwell of East Algoma opposed the bill and Mr. Conmee, in an equally spirited address, supported it. Mr. Whitney backed Mr. Conmee and the Attorney-General supported Mr. Farwell's view. The bill was finally compromised by amendments and carried

The City of Toronto bill was then passed with an amendment empowering the city to extend the street railway tracks to the water's edge.

A very pretty scene, which finally bordered on the ridiculous, preceded the closing of the House. Mr. Whitney arose, and in an exceedingly graceful little speech, moved a vote of commendation to the Speaker for the dignity and impartiality which had characterised his first session's rule in the throne. The motion was seconded and endorsed in neat little addresses by the Attorney-General and Mr. Haycock respectively.

In reply, Mr. Speaker thanked the House for overlooking in such a generous manner the little deficiencies in his English accent, and in conclusion he made a statement which brought forth applause. He said that judging by the congratulatory letters he had received from his friends, he believed his election as Speaker would do more to harmonize the two races in Canada than anything which Parliaments yet had done.

Somebody started up "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and when the members had lustily sung the old familiar air, Mr. St. John, in his usual stentorian tones, proposed "three cheers for the Speaker"

The National Anthem was sung and the members departed at 7.15 p.m.

The following bills passed the finishing stages and are now law

To incorporate the Ingersoll Radial Electric Railway Company—Mr. McKay (Oxford).

To make certain amendments to the statute law—The Attorney-General

To make further provision respecting certain matters of municipal law—The Attorney-General.

The Municipal Amendment Act, 1897—The Attorney-General.

The Assessment Amendment Act, 1897—The Attorney-General.

Respecting the incorporation of Mining Companies—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

Respectin gaid to certain railways—Mr. Harcourt.

Respecting trust companies—Mr. Gibson (Hamilton).

To incorporate the Lanark County Electric Railway Company—Mr. Preston.

To confirm and legalize a bylaw of the corporation of the town of Collingwood—Mr. Paton.

To amend the Act to regulate traveling on public highways and bridges—Mr. Stratton.

To amend the General Road Companies' Act—Mr. Haycock.

Relating to the election of members of the Legislative Assembly.

NEWS FROM GREECE.

Reports are Conflicting, But War Seems Inevitable.

GREAT EXCITEMENT AT ATHENS.

The Roar of Artillery Heard on Sunday in the Direction of Larissa—Greeks Claim That the Turks Were the Aggressors—The Very Latest News.

New York, April 11.—Mr. Ford wires The Tribune from London:

The news from Greece at midnight is more serious than appeared this morning. The force of irregulars engaged in the frontier raid was much larger than was at first represented, and its advance has lighted up the war excitement in Athens, and it may be most difficult to prevent an outbreak of hostilities. It is not unlikely that the raid has been connived at or secretly encouraged by the regular troops, and that a military campaign may be fought after all the diplomacy and vacillation. Mr. Balfour has succeeded in placing Sir William Harcourt on the defensive and in forcing him to decline to raise a debate on the motion of censure. The Liberals were not united, and Sir William Harcourt was too wary to risk a division on any question of foreign policy. A motion may be made on Monday to adjourn the House in order to force a discussion of the Greek question prematurely, but probably the members will leave London for the Easter holidays without any final struggle in the party welfare. Mr. Balfour's prestige has been increased by the shrewdness and ability with which he kept the House in hand during the session. As a tactician he has shown himself Sir William Harcourt's equal; as a disciplinarian for an unmanageable majority, he has been alike firm and flexible.

HAS WAR BROKEN OUT?

The Decisions and Indecisions of the Powers in Regard to Greece.

New York, April 11.—Harold Frederic in his weekly cable letter to The Times comments as follows:

During the week much has been written and telegraphed to the newspapers about the decisions and indecisions of the powers as regards that famous blockade of the Gulf of Athens, but really the subject was hardly worth talking about. Even the admirals of the fleet in Cretan waters no longer preserve the pretence of acting in concert, but the vessels of the various nations shell the insurgents or send their officers ashore to lunch with them as the whim of the hour dictates.

As for the larger concert of the powers, that ceased to exist for any but stage purposes some weeks ago, as explained in these despatches at the time, and it now possesses not even a histrionic value. It would serve no useful purpose to try to summarize the gossip as to the responsibility for this deadlock, if only because at best it is nothing better than gossip. It certainly seems for the moment as if the Russo-German connection had been broken off, or at least was no longer effective, and that Europe was reverting again to its earlier and normal division of forces, with the triple alliance on one side and the dual compact on the other, and England sailing about on the outside in that position of splendid isolation which was the pride of Mr. Goschen's heart a year ago.

Fighting All Day.

Retimo, April 10, 6 p.m.—Desultory fighting occurred all day to-day in the environs of Candia.

Turks Were the Aggressors.

Athens, April 10, 8 p.m.—Anent the firing going on between the Greeks and Turkish on the frontier posts, it is explained here that the Greek posts were obliged to reply to the fire of the Turks, who, when the insurgents crossed the frontier, attacked both the insurgents and the posts.

The Greek Government is still preparing its reply to the note of the powers delivered April 4, announcing that in case of an armed conflict on the Greco-Turkish frontier all responsibility will rest with the aggressors, and adding that the latter will not be allowed to reap the slightest benefit from their action.

Insurgents Captured Baltino.

Athens, April 10, midnight.—A report has been received from Larissa to the effect that the insurgents have occupied Baltino, besieging 500 Turks in the barracks. They have already sent nine Turkish prisoners to Kalambaka. The Government has despatched stringent orders to the frontier with a view to preventing further conflict between the regular troops. It is said that the Grecian Government had no knowledge of the projected invasion, the responsibility for the firing resting with the Turks. The situation is extremely critical. Fighting between the insurgents and the Turks continues. The Minister of War is constantly exchanging communications with the Crown Prince.

2000 Troops on the Way.

London, April 11.—A despatch to The Observer from Athens says that eight thousand troops have just started for the frontier. Official news has been received of outrages committed on the Greeks of Smyrna by sailors connected with the French warships. No blockade has been declared as yet, according to the latest advices received by The Observer.

The Commencement of War.

Constantinople, April 11.—In a communication to the Ambassadors, dated April 10, the Porte speaks of the invaders of the previous day as "regular" troops, and the incursion is regarded here as the commencement of war.

A panic occurred at Valona yesterday on a rumor that the Greek warships were about to attack the town. Two thousand Bashi-Bazouks assembled in an adjoining valley and placed themselves in readiness to advance in case of an attack by marines on land.

ACCOUNTS ARE CONFLICTING.

Most Athenians Accept the Invasion as Inaugurating War.

THE ESTIMATES.

The estimates of the Dominion Government for the fiscal year 1897-98, which were presented to the House Thursday by Mr. Fielding, indicate, says the Montreal Herald, that in two important directions the pledges of the Ministry are being carried out. In fulfilment of its promises of economy, the Government have succeeded in reducing the proposed expenditure on consolidated revenue by $1,881,202, as compared with the estimates of the current year. This has not been accomplished by any system of slashing, but by a general reduction in the expenses of the various departments, in some cases small and yet totalling a large sum of money. In every branch of the public service there are evidences of a desire on the part of the Ministers to cut down expenses in every direction consistent with the maintenance of efficiency. On the other hand, there has been no hesitation on the part of the Government to increase expenditures in two important departments, those of Agriculture and Immigration. In the former, the grant for the purpose of making advances on dairy products in order to promote the interests of the industry, has been increased from $60,000 to $100,000. The grant to assist transportation in cold storage to the markets of Great Britain is increased from $40,000 to $80,000, while by the practice of economy in other directions the net increase in the entire department is held down to $64,354. The grants for immigration are increased by $44,500, almost all of which is to be devoted to pushing forward the work in Great Britain and foreign countries. With the exception of an incidental increase of $20,294 on public debt, these are the only increases of any kind on Consolidated Revenue account.

In expenditure, chargeable to capital, there is an increase of $967,474. It will, however, be noticed that the vote on this account for construction and enlargement of canals alone shows an increase of $1,982,472, while that for public works is increased by $84,899, chiefly for the St. Lawrence river channel. Both the expenditures will have the hearty endorsement of the people irrespective of political sympathy, and are in accord with the policy of rapid canal and navigation improvements, to which the Government has pledged itself. The reductions on capital account are found in the debt redemption and militia estimates, which are considerably lower than last year.

We may, of course, except that Mr. Fielding's figures will meet with Mr. Foster's censure. It will be pointed out that the supplementary estimates will in all probability more than wipe out the difference of $1,881,202 above stated. The argument would be useful if it were not for the fact that the figures for 1895-96, which are of Mr. Foster's own compiling, do not include any of the supplementaries which he himself had intended to submit. As far as can be judged by the estimates submitted Thursday, Mr. Laurier had succeeded, in the face of many difficulties, in effecting a considerable reduction in the expenditure, and for what he has done and for what we know of his interest in the advancement of the welfare of the country, we can trust him to continue the good work gradually as circumstances require should it be done. The expensive habits, too, which the late government ed public expenditure cannot be overcome in a day.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD used to say, speaking, of course, in a political sense, "After me the deluge." If he meant this as applying to his own party, the joke of the late Chieftain was a prophesy now in course of faithful fulfilment.

THE increase in the estimates in the item of immigration indicates, says the Ottawa Free Press, that the Government means to inaugurate a really "active immigration policy" and depart from the plan witness for so long. The effect will soon be seen. With the land for the settler and not the speculator and a scientific system, Mr. Sifton will be able to point to great results in a few years.

CANADA AND THE DIAMOND JUBILEE.

The proposal to send a Canadian regiment to take part in the Queen's Diamond Jubilee meets with general approval. There will be no difficulty in securing sufficient volunteers from the various corps to make up a fully equipped battalion. The procession that is to take place in London on June 22nd next will probably be the most notable procession that has ever taken place in English or perhaps in the world's history. London has witnessed many big and gorgeous events, but this procession of the aged Queen to St. Paul's Cathedral to render thanks to Almighty God promises to eclipse them all. The 22nd of June will be London's greatest day. It will be the historical landmark of the 19th century. Canada should not fail to be adequately represented at this Imperial ceremony. In addition to the cost of transportation and the keep of the men, several other items of expense will be incurred in connection with the event. To enable the Canadian battalion to do justice to themselves and credit to the Dominion, the Government ought to subscribe liberally to the project. Private subscriptions might also be devoted to a much less worthy enterprise than that of sending a body of representative Canadians to take part in her Majesty's Diamond Jubilee.—World.

NORTH MONAGHAN.

Council Meeting.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The council of the above township met in the town hall at 2 o'clock on Friday, the 9th. All the members were present, the reeve Mr. McIntosh, presiding.

The minutes of the meeting of March 16th and April 3rd were read and confirmed.

An account was received from Geo. Raper for $2.00, for plough broken while performing statute labour on boundary between Monaghan and Cavan, with certificate of the clerk of Cavan that that township has paid half the amount.

Moved by Messrs. Yelland and Hunter that the account of Geo. Raper be paid when certified to by the pathmaster on the road division upon which the plough was broken.—Carried.

The committee appointed at the last meeting to investigate the correctness of the location of the road allowance between park lots 5 and 6, lot 12, con. 11, reported as follows:—

To the Reeve and Council:

We, your committee, re road allowance between park lots 5 and 6, have interviewed Mr. Hatten and Mr. Cameron; also examined a copy of the original field notes of Birdsall's survey of these park lots and seen registered plans and obtained other documentary evidence appertaining thereto, and now beg to report that your committee after their investigation are of the opinion that the fence along the southern side of the said road allowance is established and correct, and that the township therefore is entitled to a road allowance of 66 feet northerly therefrom, and therefore recommend that this council endorse the action of the council of 1896 in removing the fence thereon and obstructing the public highway.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Signed, J. McINTOSH, Chairman.

Moved by Messrs. Madill and Hunter, that the report of the committee of investigation into location of road allowance be received and adopted.—Carried.

The committee appointed re road construction and repairing made a verbal report, suggesting ways and means of repairing the roads of the township and also producing correspondence with suggestions from Mr. A. M. Campbell, Provincial Road Commissioner, regarding the same. After all the members had expressed a decided interest in the work of improving the roads and with a view to permanency, it was moved by Messrs. Yelland and Hunter, that the municipality with the view of efficiency and economy, hereby call for tenders for one man as a competent operator and also two heavy teams with drivers to work on the "grader" at a rate per day. The said tenders to be sealed and addressed to the clerk up to noon of the 24th day of April, 1897. And the clerk is hereby instructed to publish a notice of the same in the Peterborough papers.—Carried.

On motion of Messrs. Yelland and Hunter, by-law No. 430, granting the franchise to the Peterborough and Ashburnham Street Railway Company to construct and operate their street railway from its present terminus to the Otonabee river on Lock street, was introduced, given the necessary readings and passed.

Council then adjourned to be called by the reeve to open and consider tenders that may be received re working of road grader.

LIVE LONGER!

Why Die a Lingering Death of Direful Diabetes?

DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURE IT

Other Medicines Never Touch It—But Dodd's Pills Infallibly Cure—Expelling Poison and Pain—Preserving Sugar and Strength—Don't Die; Get Well.

Who would not live longer if he could! More men shorten their lives by over-indulgence in food and drink than ever die from starvation. Health can be maintained by eating and drinking just what is good for us—no more or less.

But most of us don't do that.

In health the body expels what it doesn't require, and retains what it needs. In disease either the body doesn't expel the poison or it does not retain what is needed to nourish it. In the disease called Diabetes the kidneys expel sugar. Its presence can be detected in the urine. The body needs sugar. In DIABETES the sufferer dies a lingering death.

Until recently DIABETES was supposed to be incurable. The science of to-day says that DIABETES may be cured. The kidneys may be restored to healthy action. Sugar may be retained in the system. Instead of filtering out the good that is in the food the kidneys may be made to filter out the poison.

With Poison goes Pain. With Sugar stays Strength.

DIABETES disappears like magic before DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS. Other medicines never touch it. That's the difference. If you have DIABETES get cured quickly. Don't bother with medicines that do not cure. Many will stand up to be counted among those who have been cured of DIABETES by taking DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mr. Fred Stokes, Barrie, Ont., says:—"I have been promptly restored to health by a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Diabetes had reduced my weight forty-five pounds, which I have regained."

Mr. D. Roblin, Bandmaster, Allandale, Ont., says:—"Could for years get no relief for Diabetes, which it seemed would end my days. Six boxes of Dodd's Kidney have cured me."

Mr. Chas. Gilchrist, Port Hope, Ont., says:—For ten years a victim of Diabetes. Suffered fearfully, especially in passing water. My cure has resulted from taking a few boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Mr. James K. Nesbitt, county constable, Stayner, Ont., says:—Becoming aware of the fact that I was a victim of Diabetes, I resorted to Dodd's Kidney Pills. I commenced to get well with the first box and am perfectly cured."

MR. LEGATE, Traveller for McCormack & Co., London, says; "Miller's Compound Iron Pills restored me to health after a month of prostration from nervous shock and loss of blood." He says: "Their effect on me was simply marvellous; people say they never saw me looking so well." Sold in Peterborough by Wm. Madill, druggist.

NEWS FROM GREECE.

happened last Friday, when the frontier was crossed by the insurgents, whose carefully planned invasion is accepted by the Athenians as inaugurating war. The Turks evidently share the view entertained at Athens that the movement was one of great importance. Advices from Elassona indicate a universal belief there that the invasion was simply a precursor to action by the Greek army.

A special correspondent of the Associated Presses went to Larissa last evening (Saturday) and ascertains that the invaders numbered upward of 3000. Among them were Signor Cipriani and his Italian volunteers. The entire force was under the command of three ex-officers of the Greek army and four Macedonian chiefs. The rendezvous was at Koniskos, a village near Kalabaka. The men were all fully armed and wore the national costume, their black fur caps bearing the badge and initials of Ethnike Hetairia embroidered in blue and white, with the words "En toute nika" crossing the initials in black.

On Friday a monk from Mount Athos assisted his abbot and two deacons at a religious service at Koniskos, at which all members of the invading body partook of the sacrament and registered the oath of the order, "Liberty or death." In addition to large quantities of ammunition, and provisions, the force had 3000 pounds of gold.

During Friday night following the service the frontier was crossed, the force moving in the direction of Sohutk.

While the movement was in progress a second band, the number of whom is as yet unknown, had a rendezvous at Neseros, on the frontier, about 35 kilometers north of Larissa, and near the coast. This band was similarly equipped, had a similar mission and took the same oath. It was commanded by the Macedonian chief Sinsinikos. It crossed the frontier on Thursday night, marching on Karya. As everywhere in the Vale of Temp, this portion of the frontier, the roads and bridges are in a condition of thorough repair.

This (Sunday) morning the roar of artillery can be plainly heard at Larissa from the direction of Karya, where Sinsinikos is evidently forcing matters.

Gen. Makris and his staff, with some knowledge of the movement afoot which they were unwilling to impart, left yesterday for Tyrnavos, the most important Greek position, near Elassona. Four batteries of reinforcements followed to-day for the same point. At headquarters they declare that nothing is known as to the raid, and will say nothing as to the probabe character of the raiders. However, some additional light has been thrown on the subject to-day by an interview between the representative of the Associated Presses and a prominent Greek, who is evidently in close touch with the league and its plans. The Greek said:

"The movement of these bands is all in accordance with a very clearly defined program. For years thousands of Greeks, even little children, on receiving a shilling, have been in the habit of putting half of it into a national box in the cause of pan-Hellenism. For many months it has been the plan of the league to stir up all the pan-Hellenic peoples by means of armed bands. Now that a great moment has come in Greek history we have seized upon it. Our aim at present is to get behind the Turkish lines and to stir up all our brethren.

"Whether or not Europe insists on the integrity of Turkey, Greece is not animated by selfish views or with any desire for annexing territory to the kingdom. She demands not only a true and complete independence for heroic Crete, but the same independence for Epirus, Macedonia and Thrace, and she demands this also for all the subjugated population of Asia Minor.

"Therefore Greece will face any danger in order to reach that end. Years of frightful suffering and unnumbered crimes and tyrannies have been forced upon those who are our kinsmen by faith and blood in those countries; and we are pledged in the most solemn way and inspired by the most sacred and ennobling principles of liberty to do all in our power to lift from them the curse which burdens them."

When the attack began strict orders were sent to all the Greek outposts on the frontier to preserve neutrality, and not to open fire until actually attacked by the Turks. The only casualties reported here are the deaths of two leaders and of three Italians.

The Die is Cast.

London, April 11.—The Times' correspondent at Athens says: "The news of the incursion into Turkish territory has been received here with great jubilation. The general belief is that nothing can now restrain the army, which is bound to follow across the frontier in a few days.

"The Athens newspapers reflect the popular enthusiasm, and contain highly optimistic forecasts of the progress of the band in Macedonia, where its presence is expected to exert a magical influence on the Christian population and to be a signal for a general uprising.

"One newspaper says that the die is now cast; that a successful beginning has been made; that it is all over with diplomacy, negotiations and identical notes or blockade, and that the eloquent voice of the rifle has spoken at last. A telegram from Arta to-night (Sunday) says that Greek bands are crossing the frontier at various points, and that war seems inevitable."

LOOKING FOR IMPORTANT NEWS.

Greek Outposts Being Greatly Strengthened —Troops Going Forward.

London, April 11.—The Times will print to-morrow the following despatch from its correspondent at Larissa: "Goulamis, the accredited representative of The Ethnike Hetairia, tells me that he looks for important news to-day (Sunday). He has been in conference with Greek Deputies and with leading supporters of the patriotic movement who have recently arrived here, and there seems to have been a concerted plan to leave the initiative in the hands of the Ethnike Hetairia.

"The Greek outposts are being quietly strengthened, and small detachments are proceeding to their positions under cover of the darkness. The latest information received here on the subject of the raid shows that the invading insurgents first advanced toward Phassanga. It is reported that Turks opposed the attack with artillery. The Greek losses were 28 wounded. The Turkish losses are said to have been much greater. It is rumored that yet another attack was made on the Turks at the rear of Mt. Olympus, where the Greeks succeeded in planting a flag.

"Stringent orders have been issued against irregular fighting, and the penalty of death will be imposed for any infraction. The general impression here is that war will be proclaimed to-morrow (Monday) or Tuesday. The position of affairs is now extremely critical. Although the Turkish army has not yet assumed the offensive, orders to that effect from the Sultan are expected at any moment. All classes of troops are full of war enthusiasm.

Some Important Details.

"Some details are at hand at last as to the skirmish near Gravena. On Thursday morning 1500 Iusonoi, uniformed and commanded by Greek officers, crossed the frontier near Beltimon, and advanced to a point near Gravena. Here they met a detachment of the 15th Chasseurs on picket duty in the woods and hemmed them in. After two hours of sharp fighting, the 6th Battalion of Chasseurs came to the rescue, under the command of Islam Pasha, and drove the Iusonoi back to the frontier. The insurgents lost 150 killed.

"At the same time the Greek artillery was firing upon a Turkish block house, and the firing continued until midnight yesterday, the combatants retaining their respective positions. It is not known how many Turks were killed, but it is said the number was small."

MR. GOSCHEN'S HOT WORDS.

Great Britain Proposes to Maintain Her Supremacy in South Africa— Boers Getting Ready.

London, April 11.—At a farewell banquet on Saturday tendered Sir Alfred Milner by the members of the Board of Inland Revenue, George J. Goschen, first Lord of the Admiralty, referring to the presence of the British marines and blue jackets now in South Africa, said: "They are there to represent to Sir Alfred Milner the British power in South Africa. They are the guarantees to him and our colonists—the loyal men who support British rule in that country—that this country is determined to maintain its supremacy in those quarters and back its high commission with the power of the Empre.

Sir Evelyn Wood expressed his satisfaction with the statements which he had heard, and declared that "England means to be firm in the suppression of troubles in South Africa."

Cheap Poultry Houses.

The best and most successful plan of management to make fowls pay is to scatter them over a large range in field and orchards. For this purpose cheap, convenient and comfortable houses are best. Build fowl houses 16 feet long, 8 feet wide, 7 1-2 front, facing south, and 4 1-2 back, boarded upright and battened, with a shed roof and shingled. Sills are 3 by 4 in plank, halved together at corners. Plates are of same size, rafters 2 by 3. Lay the sills on sleepers, on these lay a tight floor, which cover with dry earth 4 to 10 inches deep, removing and renewing twice a year. This keeps fowls warm, dry and healthy. Place an entrance door near one end on the front, and at least two windows. Divide in two compartments with partition doors across the middle. Fix ventilators at the highest point in each end, sheeted to exclude storm and wind. Erect roosts 20 inches high, for 20 fowls, with a movable nest or two, and boxes partly filled with dust and ashes and you are ready for business. Forty large fowls can be thus accommodated. Since the house is double, you are in shape to run two breeding houses.—C. W. McQueen, in Farm and Home.

MR. G. WRIGHT'S CHICKENS.

Three of Them Disappeared but Were Found Cooking in a Pot.

Alexander Ross was this morning found guilty of stealing three hens from Mr. Gordon Wright, of Bonaccord street and was remanded until to-morrow for sentence.

The evidence as adduced was most interesting, and if the proprietor had started out on the search for his property a few minutes earlier or later it is hardly probable that the facts of the case would have ever come to light.

Mr. Wright missed three of his six hens on Tuesday morning, and noticing muddy tracks on the sidewalk leading in the direction of the railroad, accompanied by his son, he walked in that direction. On the way down the street he met Mr. Robson who told him that he had seen a couple of men sitting by a fire on the Bertram property on the other side of the Jackson Park. Proceeding along in this direction Mr. Wright noticed little bunches of feathers here and there which led him to suspect that his chickens might be connected with the fire spoken of. Shortly afterwards he met Ross and a friend coming along, and after passing the time of day with them, it suddenly occurred to him that Ross lived just across the street, and might be another link in the mystery which he was seeking to solve. Hunting up the fire spoken of by Mr. Robson, a pot containing the parts of three chickens was found hanging on the limb of a cedar tree, thus confirming all his suspicions.

During the trial this morning the young man who was with Ross when the pair were met on the track by Mr. Wright and his son, stated that he and the prisoner had spent the night along the track, and in the morning Ross had gone off and brought back the three chickens.

The magistrate considered that this evidence was sufficient for a conviction, and the prisoner will accordingly be sentenced to-morrow.

A Horse Thieving Case.

On Saturday evening Mr. H. P. Kennedy left his horse and buggy on the market square in the rear of his store for a few minutes, but on his return it had disappeared. Word was received from Port Hope to-day that it had been found tied to a fence about three miles out of that town. The police are hot on the trail of the thief.

R. Watkin-Mills.

Mr. Mills, who is to appear in Peterborough on the 21st inst., is so favourably known throughout Canada and the United States to music lovers, that he needs no introduction at this time. He comes for a brief spring tour, after a most successful European season, and that he will be a welcome visitor in the realm of song recital is already attested by the splendid reception accorded him wherever he has appeared.

It has Arrived. See Them!

And selling for less than $50.00. That high grade, low-priced bicycle that we have been looking for has arrived at O. B. Shortly's, George street. It is standard build, perfectly fitted, beautifully enamelled in black, maroon and bottle green. It has large hubs, ball retainers in all bearings, absolutely dust proof and guaranteed for 12 solid months. You have the usual options as to saddles, pedals, handle bars, etc., and gear, same as on the $100 wheel, and it has the hardened block, Indianapolis chain.—O. B. SHORTLY, 428 George street.

Live Stock Notes.

On Saturday Mr. H. P. Kennedy loaded two cars of export stock, one per C. P. R. to St. John's and one G. T. R. One load of these cattle was fed on Mr. Kennedy's farm and were a very choice lot, among them one pair of steers weighing over 3,300 lbs., the heaviest pair of steers weighed on our town scales this season. The other load was bought from some of our best feeders in this vicinity, among them being one from Mr. George McKee, Smith, which tipped the scales at a little over 2,000; also a choice lot from Mr. John Shaughnessy. The prices paid range about 4c per lb. live weight, and Mr. Kennedy states that he is prepared to pay these prices or a shade better for prime cattle for next month's shipments.

At 7 o'clock Stations of the Cross and a sermon on the Passion. After this sermon the portion of the true cross brought from Rome will be exposed for the veneration of the faithful.

Saturday, services begin at 7 o'clock and will include the blessing of the Paschal Candle and Baptismal water, followed by mass at 8.30 o'clock.

REV. WILBUR F. CRAFTS, D.D.

Rev. W. F. Crafts, whose picture is appended, will lecture in St. Anerew's church this evening on "The march of Christ down the Centuries."

Dr. Crafts in 1884 published "The Sabbath for Man," which the press of Canada, Great Britain and the United States have recognised as the standard on this subject. In later years he published a number of other works in the defense of the Sabbath, to which movement he has since devoted his whole attention, speaking in the leading churches, colleges, conferences and conventions of the continent.

The following were some of the announcements in St. Luke's church yesterday:

There will be a short service in the church every morning at 9.30 a.m., and on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday the regular 5 p.m. service will be held.

On Good Friday Morning Prayer with Sermon will be at 10.30, and in the evening the usual service preparatory to the Easter communion will be held at 8 p.m.

Confirmation classes are being held on Monday and Thursday evenings of each week, in preparation for the service on May 11th.

The Decoration Chapter of the Guild are preparing for the Easter decorations, and will be glad to receive contributions of pot or cut flowers next Saturday.

Bright and hearty services are looked for on Easter Sunday, when there will be two celebrations of Holy Communion, the first at 8 a.m., and the second at the 11 o'clock service. The special Easter sermon will be given at the evening service on "The Gospel of the Resurrection."

The Easter vestry meeting will be held on Monday, April 19th, and on Tuesday, the 20th, the second annual congregational re-union will be held in the school house, to which all members and attendants at the church are cordially invited. The Women's Auxiliary and the Young Women's Chapter of the Guild will provide refreshments, and a very pleasant evening is anticipated.

INVESTIGATION SUGGESTED.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

I beg leave to enquire through the columns of your paper into a matter which I believe requires investigation and justly so.

The circumstances are these: We are called to note the death of a child of one of our religious teachers in the town, which child, according to the best judgment of our leading physicians, has been suffering for the past four years from Bright's disease or inflammation of the kidneys. This examination, I understand, was made after the time of the child's death, as no medical assistance was called in previous to this time. As a citizen and one interested in the cause of humanity, I simply voice the sentiments of many in believing that this case requires investigation. Thanking you for space given in your valuable paper,

I remain,
AN HONEST INQUIRER.

MONDAY, APRIL 12, 1897.

OTONABEE.

Address and Presentation to Mr. and Mrs. James Ruth.

Mr. James Ruth, who has been for nearly twenty years a resident of Otonabee—on the River Road,—on Monday removed to North Monaghan, occupying the Windmill property, on the Heights immediately west of the Edison Works, where he will hereafter reside, carrying on the business of a cattle dealer.

He was very popular and highly respected in the vicinity where he resided so long, and on Thursday night about sixty or seventy of his old friends and neighbours made a friendly raid upon Mr. Ruth's domestic camp—happily selecting the nineteenth anniversary of his arrival in Otonabee. After Mr. Ruth and family had surrendered unconditionally to the friendly invaders who took entire possession of the premises, under the command of Messrs. Alex. Stewart and W. B. Stewart, Mr. Geo. Stewart read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. James Ruth and Family:

DEAR FRIENDS—Having learned that you have decided to remove to another part of the county, we, a portion of the large circle of friends and well-wishers in the neighbourhood, have taken the present opportunity of meeting you to say good-bye, and manifest, in some degree, the high esteem in which you are held by us. While we regret that you could not see your way clear to remain here, we can assure you that you have our best wishes for your future happiness and prosperity in your new home. While, by your removal from our midst, we lose most estimable neighbours and members of society, we hope that our loss may be your gain. In this world of changes and pardings, how comforting it is to believe that there is a "happy land" not "far away" where the inhabitants never say good-bye. May we all meet there.

Please accept these presents, not for any value they may have in themselves, but as mementoes of the many years you have spent amongst us and of the happy relations that have existed amongst us.

Signed on behalf of your many friends in Otonabee.

GEO. STEWART,
A. A. STEWART,
W. B. STEWART,
W. J. HANBIDGE,
R. A. DENELL.

The articles referred to in the address were presented by Messrs. Alex. and W. B. Stewart, and consisted of a beautiful extension dining table, sideboard and two easy chairs.

Mr. Ruth responded briefly but suitably and feelingly on behalf of himself and Mrs. Ruth. He extended his most cordial thanks, not only for the kindly sentiments of the address, but also for the accompanying handsome presents. The kindness he and his family had experienced would never be forgotten.

After this excellent refreshments were served, and the company enjoyed themselves with music and other enjoyments till 12 o'clock, when they took their departure.

Mr. Ruth was an active worker in the Sunday school in connection with Bethel Methodist church, and also in church work generally, and both he and his estimable family will be sorely missed in the neighbourhood. They are warmly welcomed to Peterborough.

How many people are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused from catarrh or cold in the head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighors. There is one sure cure for catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 25 cents.

Have You Ordered Your Awnings for Spring?

If not, I will be pleased to take your order now and have it ready to place in position as soon as you want it. I am also ready to start making tents, sails and all such work. For wet weather I can supply the best waterproof horse covers, lap rugs and oiled goods at lowest prices. ALF. KINGSCOTE, Water street, opposite the market. dw

THE MODERN DANCE DISCUSSED YESTERDAY BY EVANGELIST RANTON.

He Thinks that it is Inspired by the Devil, and is the Kindergarten of Hell.

A COMPLETE REPORT OF HIS REMARKS ON THE SUBJECT.

The Views of the Different Denominations on Dancing—It is Condemned by all, without Reserve—The Scriptures do not Sanction it in a Single Instance—Passages Quoted Against Indulgence.

"With the help of God, my theme for this afternoon is 'The Modern Dance,' and it is well for us at the beginning to understand the precise question for discussion."

With these words Rev. A. H. Ranton began his sermon yesterday afternoon to the largest congregation which ever assembled in the George street Methodist church.

He took as his text St. Matthew xvi, 24th, 25th and 26th verses, as follows:

Then said Jesus unto his disciples, if any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross and follow me.

For whosoever will save his life shall lose it; and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it.

For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world and lose his own soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?

I wish to disabuse your mind, said he, of any any thought of their being any narrowness or bigotry on my part. You will perhaps wonder if I know what I am talking about, or whether it is just for sensation I am speaking; also, if I

REV. A. H. RANTON.

PRACTICE WHAT I PREACH.

Well, before I am through you will think that I thoroughly understand of what I speak, and to the second question I may answer that I never condemn another fellow for what I do myself.

Being naturally fond of pleasure, and believing that there is a time to laugh as well as a time to weep, I am in thorough sympathy with any recreation that can make the home lighter and hopes brighter, and add to the sum total of our enjoyment in the world.

It is freely conceded, then, that there is a sphere and place for amusements in the life of old as well as young. The demand for it is simply natural. There is an appetite of eye, of ear and of every sense, for the gratification of which—within—bounds—God has abundantly provided the material, and made it accessible to us. Amusement in some form is essential to the harmless development of life's scenes, and the right performance of life's duties. "There is a time to play, and there is a playside to our nature which fits into it. The instincts of the race are not all wrong at this point: and it does not help to a solution of the questions here involved for those who can get on without play to insist that everybody else shall do the same." More than this, the demand for amusement is reinforced by the character of the age. The age is one of strain and tension, to an extent never before known; all human activities are set to a high pressure scale; this makes relaxation and diversion both fitting and necessary.

Again, it is foreign to the subject to discuss either the antiquity or the mode of dancing. Nor is the question one of what the dance has been in the past, and under certain limiting, medifying, or restraining conditions; nor is it what the dance might be, under some limiting or modifying circumstances now.

The question we propose to discuss concerns a social institution, with its approaches and belongings, and as it exists to-day. That institution is the modern dance. Against this institution, as it has been developed in society, and as it now holds away in the social world.

THE GENERAL QUESTION.

It is an institution in the social life of the people and cannot be judged by the parlour, or the "charity ball," or the assembly, but must be judged by its effects on the individual, the home and the spiritual life of those who participate in it.

Let me speak of some of the excuses assigned by dancers:

First excuse. People must have amusement and recreation. Certainly, but look at the dancers next morning, and you will conclude dancing is no recreation, but dissipation. Dancing is a physical, mental, moral and spiritual dissipation. There are many unobjectionable amusements that give true recreation.

Second excuse. People might better dance than do worse. They might better dance than slander others, or have "kissing plays." Yes, but if you stop dancing you do not have to do worse. Can you not keep from slandering your neighbour in some other way? Kissing plays among adults are things of the past, and are only found among the most illiterate and uncultured. Let us also taboo the dance.

Third excuse. Dancing is an accomplishment. Indeed! Webster says, "An accomplishment is an elegance of mind or manners." Take a girl fresh from the hands of her dancing master and I will show you the greatest fop of a dudess. The walk of a simple, pure-minded girl though has always something refined in it. Does dancing develop mind? Nay, it prevents many from seeing how little mind they have, and the necessity of acquiring true accomplishments. Stop your ears so that you cannot hear the music, and people dancing look like lunatics. By the way, lunatics in asylums and out of them, too, are especially fond of dancing. Cicero declared—"No man in his senses will dance." Dancing is a sort of subterfuge for those who lack mind.

Fourth excuse. If I don't dance. I cannot pass in society. What society? There is society and there is SOCIETY. The best society does not dance. Instead of demeaning yourself by running after a certain worldly "upper ten" society that is at the top for a similar reason that scum is, show yourself to be of such intellectual, social and moral worth, that even the so-called upper ten will rise in their ideal of life and aspire to pass into your society.

"The best society consists of the earnest, active Christian men and women in our churches"—From "The Parlour Dance," by H. T. Crossley.

Your society in Peterborough is, I find, superior to that in many other places. The young fellows appear to be but the representatives of Society in Port Hope are to be found amongst those who board with their mothers or sisters. They buy one box of cigarettes to last them a week and to pretend that they are smoking a great deal, light a match every time they meet a friend. Two cigarettes a day is their limit—all they can afford. This is the representative young society man of Port Hope. The people there gave a benefit concert the other day to send one of these young men to the gold cure, but he put the proceeds in his pocket and has been living on them ever since. If I understand society aright it is composed of those who think they are the cream of the town because they rise to the top. Let me remind them that the scum rises to the top too. Dancing would never take me into society. If I could not go in head first I would not go in at all.

MANLY AND STRAIGHT-FORWARD,

THE OTHER SIDE.

Over against these excuses I desire to place a few propositions:—(a) No amusement is innocent if not productive of good fruit. (b) No amusement is innocent if its tendency is evil. (c) No amusement is innocent if it is not compatible with a Christian profession. The fact that you would condemn me patronizing the modern dance simply condemns yourself, because there are not two standards, one for the pew and another for the pulpit. Of course, we judge this from our standpoint as a Christian, and in so doing, we say that—

An active Christian will not have time to dance.

A sensible Christian will find something better to do than to dance.

A loving Christian will feel that he cannot (a moral cannot) dance.

A spiritually minded Christian will not have any desire to dance.

The question is often asked, Do you include the square dances when you speak of the dance of modern society? I find it is but a short distance from the square to the round; sow the square, reap the round. There was a day when the stately cotillion satisfied and the plain country dances were all-sufficient. But that day has passed and gone. The blood of young America is too hot for the square dance. It does not satisfy; it simply opens the way and leads out to the fancy dances of the present time. To one who learns to waltz, the square dance is coarse and insipid. The devotee of the waltz finds no other joy quite so great, no other amusement quite so fascinating, and though the young lady may sometimes scarcely understand what it is that causes her pulse to beat so quickly and the blood to flow with such exhilaration, the young man does know, her partner understands it and she will know some day; while in the more common walks of life, which some of you call vulgar, the square dance is almost as pernicious as the round.

II. THE MODERN DANCE FROM A BIBLICAL AND ECCLESIASTICAL STANDPOINT.

Take first the religious dances of the Bible:

1. Exodus xv, 20-21—"And Miriam the prophetess, and all the women went out with the timbrels and dances."

2. Judges xi, 34—"And Jephthah came to Mizpah, and his daughter came out to meet him with timbrels and dances."

3. I Samuel xviii, 6—"The women came out singing and dancing to meet King Saul."

4. II Samuel vi, 14—"And David danced before the Lord."

Who do modern dancers dance before?

5. Psalm cxlv, 3—"Praise his name in the dance."

Let us now refer to the Bible accounts of dancing by the irreligious:

1. Idolatrous Israel—Exodus xxxii, 17—"And it came to pass as soon as he came nigh unto the camp, that he saw the calf and the dancing."

These were church members that either never been godly or had backslidden.

2. Degenerate Amalekites—I Samuel xxx, 16—"Behold, they were spread abroad upon all the earth, eating and drinking and dancing."

These were adults that were wicked and reprobate, and who were opposed to the church and enemies of God.

3. Sort-lived Worldings—Job xxi, 11-14—"They send forth their little ones like a flock, and their children dance. . . They spend their days in wealth. Therefore they say unto God, Depart from us, for we desire not the knowledge of thy ways."

These were careless young people of worldly parents, who turned away from God, desiring neither to know Him nor His ways.

4. Herodias, the lewd daughter of an adulterous mother—Matthew xiv, 6-11—"The daughter of Herodias danced before them and pleased Herod, etc."

This is a sample of the ballet dance by low girls to please base and depraved men.

It is evident that the characters referred to in these four passages the several classes of persons who dance in our day. This consideration should certainly turn every Christian moralist and respectable person from even the thought of dancing.

STRIKINGLY REPRESENT

But I think I hear one ask, "Does not the Bible speak about 'a time to dance?'" This phrase simply means a time when people dance; but gives no sanction to dancing any more than to hate or to kill, for Solomon adds, "a time to kill, a time to hate."—Eccl. iii, 3-8.

From the preceeding quotations it will sufficiently appear, 1. That dancing was a religious act, both of the true and also of idol worship. 2. That it was practised exclusively on joyful occasions, such as national festivals or great victories. 3. That it was performed by maidens only. 4. That it was performed usually in the daytime, in the open fair, in highways, fields, groves. 5. The men who perverted dancing from a sacred use to purposes of amusement were deemed infamous. 6. That no instances of dancing are found upon record in the Bible in which the two sexes united in the exercise, either as an act of worship or amusement. 7. That there is no instance upon record of social dancing for amusement, except that of the 'vain fellows,' devoid of shame; of the irregligious families described by Job, which produced increased impiety and ended in destruction; and of Herodias, which terminated in the rash vow of Herod and the murder of John the Baptist.

Again, the great churches of Christendom have taken a very decided stand upon the modern dance. There are people who say, "Our church allows its members to dance." Then such people try to influence others to become members of their church, which, in many instances, is nothing more than a social club.

Every evangelical church has pronounced against the dance again and again, and from her pulpits sermons, both argumentative and denunciatory, have been listened to by large and interested congregations, until it is a generally accepted truism among all Christ-loving, God-fearing, soul-winning Christians, that the pastor who will not preach against it, or sees no harm in it, must be either too ignorant for a spiritual leader, or too cowardly to pose as a soldier of God; and while it is true that many churches do tolerate it and tolerate members in their communion who indulge in it, the fact still remains that if it is a spiritual church or one that tries to be such, it tolerates it for the sake of the poor weak members who persist in indulging in it, hoping that as they grow in years they may grow in sense, if not in grace, until they shall see both the sin and the folly of the indulgence, and even yet be saved for Christ. But the church that encourages it and patronizes it is simply too unspiritual to do any and like a saucepan, is only waiting to catch the unspiritual drippings from revival churches who will not receive dancing members.

Every revival brings out some half-converted members who, restless in the world, and fearing the wrath to come, seek asylum in some friendly church; but unwilling to cast their lot with spiritual people, hoping still to serve God and mammon—a sort of a good Lord, good devil, crowd—hunt up some worldly, flattering church, where they will receive a hearty welcome, dance, devil and all.

For fear you have not investigated—may doubt the position claimed for these churches, I will cite some utterances. Many of these are already familiar by constant repetition to the student of such matters. I begin with the oldest of all the churches, the Roman Catholic, and read from the pastoral letter of the Archbishop and Bishops when assembled in Plenary Council in Baltimore:

'In this connection we consider it to be our duty to warn our people against those amusements which may easily become to them an occasion of sin, and especially against the fashionable dances, which as at present carried on are revolting to every feeling of delicacy and propriety, and are fraught with the greatest danger to morals."

Now let me cite the Presbyterian:

"That whilst the pleasures of the ball-room and the theatre are primarily intended by the 'dancing and stage plays' forbidden in the answer to 139th Question in the Larger Catechism, the spirit of the prohibition extends to all kindred amusements which are calculated to awaken thoughts and feelings inconsistent with the Seventh Commandment, as explained by the Saviour in Matthew v. 27-32.

"That whilst we regard the practice of promiscuous social dancing by members of the church as a mournful inconsistency, and giving of parties for such dancing on the part of the heads of families as tending to compromise their religious profession, and the sending of children by Christian parents to the dancing school as a sad error in family discipline, yet we think that the session of each church is fully competent to decide when discipline is necessary, and the extent to which it should be administered."

WOULD TO GOD

this last thought was as true as those that precede it! But when we sometimes find even members of sessions, ruling elders in these churches, who, in spite of all these solemn utterances by the General Assembly, persist in disgracing the church of God by not only tolerating, but encouraging these very things—to the disruption of spiritual unity, to the propagation of the worldly spirit here so mourned—how can such session deal with a recreant member? "Let him that is without sin among you first cast the stone." And many a session, incompetent by the failures, laxities and sins of its own members, upon whose heads holy hands have been supposedly laid, finds itself helpless and supine in the midst of a growing tendency to worldiness; which, of course, unfits the church for spiritual work.

Then, if our sessions, boards of deacons, and official boards generally, are guilty of these things, how can they cope with the evil and administer discipline, as the General Assembly seemed so fondly to imagine.

Now for the Episcopalian church:

Bishop Cox, of Western New York, says:

'The enormities of theatrical exhibitions and the lasciviousness of dances, too commonly tolerated in our times, are so disgraceful to the age and so irreconcilable with the gospel of Christ, that I feel it my duty to the souls of my flock to warn those who run with the world to 'the same excess of riot' in these things, that they presume not to come to the holy table. Classes preparing for confirmation are informed that I will not lay hands, knowingly, on any one who is not prepared to renounce such things, with other abominations of 'the world, the flesh and the devil.' Let all such choose deliberately whom they will serve; and if salvation be worth striving for, let them be persuaded to a sober life, to self-denial, and to the pure and innocent enjoyments, which the Gospel not only permits, but which it only can create. It is high time that the lines should be drawn between worldly and godly living; and I see no use in a Lent that is not sanctified to to such ends."

Bishop Baldwin, of London, in a letter to Rev. W. H. Cooper, says:

"The nearer we live to Christ, the more we will resemble Christ, the branch will always be like the vine. In such a view of life as this, namely, taking Christ as our example and being led of the Holy Ghost in all things, cards and dancing have no place."

The views of the Baptist, Methodist and other Christian churches are well known, and I will only state that they are very strongly opposed to dancing, as it is commonly observed.

It will be a fitting close to this part of my address to borrow from the views of eminent clergymen and evangelists that he has carefully selected and printed in his sermon—"The Parlour Dance."

Rev. Dr. A. T. Pierson affirms: "The modern round dance is to me specially abherrent. It is an iniquity and a snare."

Rev. Dr. Talmage says: "The round dance is administrative of evil, and ought to be driven out of all respectable circles."

Rev. Dr. Howard Crosby declared: "Three-

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 40 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 20 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advantage, as other times before one and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 95 or $35,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 25 cts. for June. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $6.25; it will sell at $10 before it does at $7. Railroad stocks and bonds bought on the New York Stock Exchange for investment or on liberal margins. Call me up on long distance 'phone and I can execute your order while you wait in New York, Boston or Chicago.

"Sweet Bells Jangled Out of Tune."

How much of woman's life happiness is lost for lack of harmony. A hundred sweet melodious tones ruined by one little note of discord. Women who ought to enjoy the perfect happiness of love and wifehood and motherhood are miserable from one year's end to the other, because of some weakness or disease of the delicate organism of their sex.

These delicate complaints, which make a jangling dissonance of so many lives, are not by any means a necessity of womanhood. They may be overcome and completely eradicated under judicious treatment.

There is no need of repugnant examinations. There is no need of resorting to any unauthorised medicament compounded by an unskilled, uneducated person. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription cures the troubles of the feminine organism positively, completely and safely.

For nearly 30 years Dr. R. V. Pierce has been chief consulting physician of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, of Buffalo, N.Y. He is an eminent and expert specialist in this particular field of practice. Any woman may write to him with perfect confidence, and will receive, free of charge, sound, professional advice and suggestion for self-treatment by which 99 out of 100 cases of female complaint, even of the most obstinate kind, may be completely and permanently cured. Address him as above.

"While I was living at Eagle Rock, Botetourt Co., Va.," writes Mrs. O. A. Connor, of Alleghany Spring, Montgomery Co., Va., "a lady friend came to me and said: 'My daughter, aged 25 years, has repeated hemorrhages at the nose, and she has never had the necessary indispositions of womanhood.' I advised her to get Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The lady purchased one bottle and it cured her daughter. She was well and happy when I left there."

Constipation is the all-embracing cause of ill-health. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure it. They never gripe.

NEWS FROM OTTAWA

Revenue for Nine Months Shows an Increase.

THE PUBLIC DEBT DECREASED.

Mr. McMullen Proposes a Measure to Make the Civil Service Free From Government Control—The Provisional Regiment for England—Capital Gossip.

Ottawa, April 9.—(Special.)—The statement of The Official Gazette will show to-morrow an increase of $674,000 in the customs for the month of March and of $808,000 in the excise, or a total of $1,842,000 for the nine months of the fiscal year. The total revenue was $27,451,000, compared with $26,843,000 in 1896, an increase of over $600,000. The consolidated expenditure was $23,552,000, against $22,719,000 in 1895, and the capital expenditure about the same. The net debt decreased during the month of March by $2,309,000.

Mr. McMullen gives notice of a bill further to amend the Civil Service Act by which he hopes to remove the service from political control. He will try to attain this object by the appointment of a Board of Inspection, to which he would give full powers to manage the service independent entirely of the Government of the day. This board would have the right to investigate the workings of the whole service, both inside and out, to regulate and equalize the salaries paid, to dismiss, reduce or promote any man, in a word, to have complete control of the service, with the one exception of the power of appointment, which will remain with the Government. In this way Mr. McMullen seeks to put the management of the country's business upon the same footing as that of a business corporation, and at the same time relieve the Government of the day from any suspicion of being influenced by party bias in the dismissal of any civil servants.

Col. Burland and Major McLean of Montreal; Col. Mason and Major Pellatt of Toronto, were here to-day and saw Sir Richard Cartwright, Acting Minister of Militia, regarding the sending of a provisional jubilee regiment to England in June. They assured the Minister that 600 men would be forthcoming and asked that he cable the Home Government to secure consent for the regiment to take part in the jubilee ceremonies. This he promised to do.

Representatives of the forwarding interests interviewed Messrs. Blair and Tarte to-day to protest against reduction of the staffs on the St. Lawrence and Ottawa Canals as likely to seriously handicap the forwarding trade, and give unfair advantage to Americans. D. G. Thomson of Montreal incidentally brought up the question of Sunday closing of the canals, and asked Mr. Blair seriously to consider whether the canals should be open on Sundays. If they were absolutely closed it would give American forwarders 30 days more navigation than was possible by the St. Lawrence route.

Mr. Blair has about made up his mind as to the policy of the Government in regard to building the Crow's Nest Pass Railway. The report is current among parliamentarians that an arrangement will be closed with the C.P.R. for building the road. It is said that the Government subsidy will be $6400 per mile. For this, however, the company will have to make concessions in the way of freight and passenger rates.

Labor representatives saw Mr. Davies to-day and urged more stringent enforcement of the law regarding the inspection of gear and tackle on vessels. The Minister promised to have the inspectors communicated with in order to meet the views of the deputation.

The Minister of Militia is expected back in the Capital this week, but the shock to his nervous system in the recent railway accident will cause his absence to be continued for a short time, as his medical attendants counsel further rest.

Hon. Mr. Tarte telegraphed his paper, La Patrie, that the Liberals lost the bye-election in Champlain because of the vacillation of their candidate on the school question.

It is reported to-night that the Premier and Mme. Laurier will leave for England on June 10.

Mr. Dupont will raise the school question in the House on motion to go into supply.

The report of the Public Works Department was presented to The House to-night.

Representatives of the Ontario and Pacific Railway, which is to run from Ottawa to Cornwall, and thence to New York, are here working the city for a bonus of $150,000.

Mr. Choquette was to-day elected chairman of the Debates Committee.

After Mr. McInnes sat down this afternoon, Mr. Laurier went up to him and gave him an approving pat on the back. Mr. McInnes senior sat in the Senator's gallery and heard his youngster's clever speech.

In society circles it is said Miss Bate, daughter of Mr. H. N. Bate of Ottawa, will accompany Mme. Laurier on her coming visit to England.

HOUSE OF COMMONS.

Ottawa, April 9.—(Special.)—In the House this afternoon Mr. McInnes of Vancouver, replied in a lengthy speech to the editorial comments of The Globe. young member announced himself as prepared to stand by the position he had taken in his former speech. He said he had nothing to retract, and would oppose all efforts to give the C.P.R. a monopoly of the railway lines in British Columbia.

Previous to the McInnes incident several private bills were introduced, among them the following:

Presbyterian Temporalities — Mr. Charlton.

To incorporate the Methodist Trust Fire Insurance Company—Mr. Britton.

Respecting the Grand Trunk Railway—Mr. Gibson.

Respecting the Ontario Pacific Railway Company—Mr. Snetsinger.

A question by Mr. Ellis regarding Easter holidays led to a determination to adjourn on Wednesday night next until the Tuesday following.

Mr. Laurier informed Mr. Foster that an announcement would be made on Monday as to when the tariff might be expected.

Mr. Fitzpatrick moved the second reading of his bill to repeal the Electoral Franchise Act, and supported the motion in a short speech.

Mr. Foster, who was loudly cheered, rose to protest against the introduction of the least important part of the Government program, while the one measure for which the country was waiting is postponed. Mr. Fitzpatrick had declared that the franchise bill would do no service for three years, while the Ministers themselves conceded that the whole country was anxiously waiting for the tariff. Three months ago their organ, The Toronto Globe, thinking that Parliament would then be called, pointed out the grave urgency of immediately taking up this measure, and only last week The Globe's financial editor stated that the wholesale trade was stagnant and would be till the tariff was known.

Mr. Foster, continuing his speech after recess, strongly condemned the Government for announcing proposed tariff changes while delaying the introduction of measures.

Mr. Cameron made a violent attack on the present law and on the officers appointed to administer it. He hoped the Government would adopt the "one-man-one-vote" principle, and that they would re-adjust the boundaries of constituencies.

Mr. McMullen moved the adjournment of the debate, and the House adjourned at 10.10.

BURGLARS AT PORT ROWAN.

They Blew Open Mr. C. Biddle's Safe But Got Very Little Swag.

Port Rowan, Ont., April 9.—About 1.30 this morning burglars blew open the safe of Mr. C. Biddle's store and robbed it, but got only $5 or $6, as Mr. Biddle does not leave large amounts in the safe. There were three distinct explosions, which aroused the neighbors, and Mr. Nixon jumped from his bed and hastily ran and notified Mr. Biddle. The burglars are thought to be novices. They secured tools from neighboring blacksmith shops, and left them beside the safe. There is no clue as yet.

Sensational Case at Buffalo.

Buffalo, April 9.—A somewhat extraordinary case cropped up in the special term of the Supreme Court to-day before Judge Lambert. Nathan Botsford, formerly sheriff of Niagara County, sues Thomas T. Flagler for $31,000 on three counts, as follows: Alienating his wife's affections, $20,000; defacing a monument belonging to Botsford and removing the same, $1000; removing the body of Botsford's child from family burial plot without due authority, $10,000. Attorneys for Mr. Flagler moved for the separation and numbering of the causes of complaint. Justice Lambert listened to the arguments in the case, and granted the motion of the defendant. Both parties to the suit are residents of Lockport, and are well-known and influential citizens. The suit has caused a great sensation.

Trade is Improving.

New York, April 9.—Bank clearings at 87 cities for the week ending April 8, with comparisons as telegraphed to Bradstreet's, show total clearances $1,016,093,321, an increase of 9.3 per cent., as compared with the corresponding week of last year. Outside of New York City the clearances were $454,604,206, an increase of 11.5 per cent.

The clearances for the Dominion of Canada were: Montreal, $11,918,724, increase 60.7 per cent.; Toronto, $7,310,074, increase 37.1 per cent.; Halifax, $1,310,481, increase 37.7 per cent.; Winnipeg, $890,240, increase 1 per cent.; Hamilton, $813,274, increase 22.4 per cent.; St. John, N.B., $563,311.

The latest results of pharmaceutical science and the best modern appliances are availed of in compounding Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Hence, though half-a-century in existence as a medicine, it is fully abreast of the age in that goes to make it the standard blood-purifier.

Greatest in the World.

Loran E. Adams, Deep Brook, N. S., says, "I have taken Norway Pine Syrup with grand results. I had a very bad cough for five weeks and could get no relief, but after taking one box of Norway Pine Syrup I was entirely cured. It is the greatest cough medicine in the world."

Captain Sweeney, U. S. A., San Diego Cal. says: "Shiloh's Catarrh Remedy is the first medicine I have ever found that would do me any good." Price 50c. Sold by John Nugent, 359 George Street.

WHAT THE SENATORS DID.

Extended the Time for Private Bills—The Lawry Divorce Application Reported—Regarding Offensive Partisans.

Ottawa, April 9.—(Special.)—The Senate to-day extended, on motion of Hon. R. W. Scott, the time for receiving petitions for private bills from the 15th inst. until the 6th of May, and the time for introducing private bills from the 22nd inst. until May 15.

The Committee on Divorce is the same as last session, except that Senator Mills replaces Sir Oliver Mowat, and Senator Cowan succeeds Sir Oliver as chairman. By special leave of the House, the Divorce Committee held a special session, and reported that the application of Adeline Myrtle Tuckett Lawry of Hamilton, from her husband, Thomas Henry Lawry, of the same place, had been made in the prescribed form. Senator Clemow presented the bill for divorce in the Lawry case, which was read a first time.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell moved for a return showing the number of commissions issued and commissioners appointed by order in Council or otherwise since July last to enquire into charges of offensive partisanship made against any employe of the Government. Sir Mackenzie said that his reason for moving for this return was because of the unprecedented number of commissions issued and commissioners appointed to investigate in many cases the most trivial charges against public servants. The result was that accused officers were in many cases put to great expense in employing counsel and summoning witnesses to refute the charges made against them, and in some cases he understood the reports made bore out the facts as stated. He trusted, in cases where an investigation had been ordered into charges that had not been proved, that the accused officers would be indemnified for the costs they had been put to in proving their innocence.

Sir Oliver Mowat had no objection to bringing down the return. He thought that the suggestion that in all cases of unproven charges officers so charged should be indemnified by the Government, was a fair one, and he saw no reason why it should not be acted upon.

The Senate then adjourned until Tuesday, the 27th inst.

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. MIDWINTER BRIDES.

Decline of Orange Blossoms—The Present Use of Jewels.

1897 January brides valiantly cling this season to higher collars and longer sleeves than ever before. This is quite as it should be, though there is no explaining that the time-honored emblem of Hymen's rites, the orange blossom, is being pushed out of sight and memory. Of the many dozens of charmingly costumed girls who have gone to the altar since last autumn, not more than three or four have worn any of these flowers, though there is revealed by a dressmaker the fact that on every white satin she sends out for a bride a sprig of the orange bloom is sewed somewhere amid the flutes and laces. She is ordered to do this, not that the flowers may ornament, or even make any show at all, but simply to satisfy a feminine superstition that to go to the altar without any of these mystic blossoms would be to court the worst kind of luck.

To replace the long-respected wreaths and crowns of orange bloom, a half-dozen rather good substitutes have been brought forward. Costly white polar fox fur, or beautiful, inexpensive white hare, is one of them. Ermine has too decidedly a yellow tinge in it to be quite appropriate, though it is sometimes used, or all these furs are ignored for snowy bands of arctic ducks' breast, and when any one of these three materials serve as trimming no flowers of any kind deck the bridal toilet.

Now and again one sees a very delightful effect brought out in white silk bride roses, but no ostrich feathers are adopted and on the whole a rule of splendid simplicity, relieved by passementeries, governs the designing of these all-important toilets.

A Princess Gown.

An exemplification of this is the white satin princess suit made for a January bride. This garment hooks together down the back, and its only relief is in the two bands of seed pearl passementeries that extend from shoulders to foot. Here and there among the pearls small rhinestones are disposed, and the design of the beading is orange blossoms amid ivy leaves.

At the wrists of the close satin sleeves, at the elbows and around the collar such beading is used again, while the veil drapes from a jeweled ornament and tuft of white aigrette tips. This veil, by the way, is of a new silk tulle that comes woven in a very large mesh and with the narrowest white satin selvage. This is not thought so great a novelty as the veil of embroidered tulle that has appeared recently in several church aisles. This is small, worn off the face, and either dotted over with little five-petaled blossoms, or has an elaborate orchid border, in which silver threads are much woven with the white silk needle work.

These little novelties are especially prepared for the use of brides who have not inherited or cannot afford white lace veils, though, considering their size, there seems no reason why every girl should not, at her wedding, now crown herself with lace. So much can be asserted, in view of the lately popularized lace hood veil shown on one of the models given this week. The entire garment, or garnishment, as one may think it deserves designation, is scarcely larger than an apron with a bib, and the fact that a hood is carried up from the shoulders and arranged over the hair is only done in concession to the long-established tradition that a bride must not go to the altar with her head uncovered.

A bride is always expected to show her taste and individuality in the scheme of color, mode of hat and pattern of frock she selects for her attending maids, so that there are few hard and fast rules to be set on this score. For instance, at one important New York wedding last month the six maids appeared in scarlet tulle, black satin sashes and wide black velvet hats loaded with jacqueminot roses. Another debutante who took matrimonial vows was followed by four fair girls with crystal beaded lace, that one might easily have mistaken them for a twinkling constellation.

The Value of Variety.

The farmer who grows a variety of crops can, if he chooses, select such kinds as will furnish him always something to sell at any time of the year. All the family expenses go on without ceasing, and unless income does also the debts accumulated when there is nothing that can be sold make a heavy load when the few main crops are marketed. The necessity for peddling his products in small driblets may seem a hardship, but it teaches how little sums of money accumulate if they are saved, which is a much better lesson than that of learning how fast they add up when they are carelessly spent.

A Black Dye for Wood.

First sponge the wood with a solution of chlorhydrate of aniline in water, to which a small quantity of copper chloride is added. Allow it to dry, and go over it with a solution of potassium bichromate. Repeat the process twice or thrice, and the wood will take a fine black color, unaffected by light or chemicals.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't no experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

WITHOUT MONEY.

What One Determined Dairy Man Succeeded in Doing.

It came under the notice lately of The Practical Farmer, says John Gould in that paper, and was thought worthy or repetition, how a farmer in two years, without any outlay of money beyond a possible ten dollars, made a most substantial gain in his dairy methods. First he, with the use of scales and a simple test, found out which were his best cows, and which were paying for their food and which were not, and the poor cows went accordingly. Then he made a study of foods and found the kinds he could raise upon his farm which would come nearest to producing a balanced ration—corn and fodder, millet, clover, oats and peas and the like, and was sure to have enough surplus in the late summer and fall to afford the cows full rations. A little bran was bought and fed even in the summer to give strength and stimulate milk production, and some oats and corn was traded advantageously for bran and oil meal for the winter to go with the hay and corn meal. The stable was fixed up warm, some old windows were obtained and reputtied, and more light admitted to the stables, and with some old lumber and a couple of rolls of building paper the stables were made so comfortable that the wind could not blow in nor frost come in sufficient to have the manure freeze. A few lengths of second-hand gas pipe were procured and laid from the well to the stables, and with a large barrel on wheels in the barn it was possible for him to water the cows in their stalls by use of pails until such time as he could procure buckets and fixtures. A few deep pails were purchased and a box tank made, and a satisfactory creamery was made at small expense, and a barn churn completed the outfit, and this man, while not having what might be called a "gilt and rosewood finish" to his barn and appointments, was doing so well that he would be entitled to sit on the front seat at any dairy meeting. It was a lesson that anyone could take pattern after and in its exhibition of economy and how much a man can do without money if he wills, that we here record it as worthy of all acceptance by those who are forever saying that success in dairying can only come of those already rich, or those who have an income outside of the farm. Where there is a will there is a way is as clearly outlined in the dairy as in any other line of work or profession.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. THE MODERN DANCE DISCUSSED YESTERDAY BY EVANGELIST RANTON fourths of the abandoned girls of New York were ruined by dancing.

The most noted evangelists in the churches speak out against the social dance.

Rev. D. L. Moody, in the city of London, declared in my hearing: "I would as leave go out into the street and eat mud as to dance."

Rev. E. P. Hammond said, in St. Catharines: "As Christians we must draw the line somewhere; we should certainly draw it so as to exclude dancing."

Rev. S. P. Jones, with more truth than poetry, says: "Dancing is hugging set to music."

Rev. J. E. Hunter says: "God have mercy on the mother who has no more sense than to send her pure daughter to a dancing school."

Rev. Dr. Geo. F. Pentecost affirms: "I do not hesitate to say that the modern society dance is essentially immodest. No woman, married or single, can participate in the dance and retain the firm, keen, clear, pure edge of her modesty—I do not say chastity but modesty. That you dance, shows the keen, sensitive edge of maidenly modesty and womanly delicacy has already gone. That you blush when I speak of it, only shows that there is a resurrection of the blushes that the modern dance has killed, and sent long ago to their graves."

Rev. B. Fay Mills, the noted Presbyterian evangelist, thus clearly puts it. "You would not allow any minister to sit by the side of your wife or daughter in the attitude men assume in the round dance. If a minister would do such a thing you would stop him in a rage."

III. THE MODERN DANCE FROM AN ETHICAL STANDPOINT.

As I said in the beginning of this address we are not discussing an ideal dance, but the dance as we find it to-day. A very good way to test any institution, that makes claims upon time, health and money is to observe the character of those who are the strongest advocates. Look at them carefully, for they are a motely crew. They come from the clubs of infidels, they come from the circles of the spiritualists and free-lovers; they come from the "dance-houses" of our cities; they come from the chambers of the "strange woman" whose "feet go down to death;" they come from midnight revelries in dens of infamy; they come from the darkness of heathenism. These all agree in defending the dance as proper and essential to their enjoyment of life, while they almost universally unite in condemning it if practised by a Christian. Do not suppose for one moment that I design to degrade all who uphold dancing to a common level; for I could not be so unkind and ungenerous to thousands of respectable people who dance but who also shrink with horror from any association with vice. My design is to show you, that those in the church who stand up as witnesses for the innocency of dancing, must have their testimony corroborated, not by the earnest disciples of Jesus, but by a crowd with whom they would not be willing to appear in the advocacy of any other cause.

But I fancy I hear some one say, "Many Christians support the modern dance except a few weeks in Lent when they deny themselves that pleasure." This, instead of being an argument in favour of the dance, is against it. Let a prominent pastor of a fashionable church reply:

"The restrictions imposed upon the social life during the Lenten season by some branches of the church proclaims the intrinsic antagonism of the dance and other social festivities to special religious devotion and to the highest spiritual concerns. Will you give any Biblical or rational grounds for believing that, what is held to be incongruous to devout piety at any and all other times of the year? Is righteousness, purity of heart, love of God, fidelity to truth, and regard for conduct a matter of special times and seasons? In other words, do not the admissions and concessions proclaimed by the Lenten restrictions carry this indictment against the modern dance, that it assails the Christian character and hinders the greatest efficiency of Christian effort?"

Now, let us be more practical and look at this institution a little more closely.

After five years' experience as a dancer, from the country husking bee dance to the fancy "full-dress ball," and after 12 years' observation and study of the question I unhesitatingly affirm that the modern dance stands guilty of the following indictments:—

(1) It licenses modesty. The dresses worn at a ball are rather short of material and we cannot but agree with an American humourist, who, on being asked "what kind of dresses did the women wear at the fancy balls in London," replied, ironically, "I did not see any."

In the so-called full dress ball of the city (which should be more properly named an undress ball) you find the harvest of the town and country dances. Like the parlour dance, which never satisfies, but only opens the way to the 'swagger' party; so the country dance only makes the girls hungry for a stylish ball dress and a chance to show it in some city swell affair. But the dress that you wear at the country dance would be laughed at in the fashionable society of the city; there they must be short-waisted at the top, while sleeves are a superfluity. If you have been carefully brought up, the first sight of a fashionable city ball room would undoubtedly shock you. No woman going in full dress can retain of her modesty and appear in it a second time.

The fact that ladies attend the theatre and high-class concerts in some cities in like costumes do not argue anything in its favour. The positions, the circumstances, the music, all are different.

(2) It licenses liberties with womankind. Do you tritely say, "To the pure all things are pure." Let me say, this passage is often quoted by Satan, and also by the impure and ignorant to seek to defend sinful practices; but, I assure you, it is not applicable to the question of dancing. Moreover, I shall not speak or even think of purity or impurity, but only of propriety and impropriety.

Suppose a young man calls upon the daughter of the house, and with only an introduction, places his arm about her waist. Would she not instantly scream for her father, and would he not feel warm a minute later where his coat tail breaks off?

How is this? If it is in accordance with propriety to take such a liberty in the dance, it is equally so in a promenade, or standing at a window, under the same gaslight, and before the same company; but if it is an impropriety in a promenade or standing at the window, it is much more so in the dance, when you consider the fascination of the music, the motion of the body, the clasp of hands, and the more intimate and prolonged embrace. Is not that putting the matter fairly?

In the very nature of the dance, as it is now conducted, it permits and provides for and could not exist without permitting and providing for liberties, liberties and familiarities which nowhere else would be tolerated by respectable society.

UNDER A FALSE LAW of "liberty" the poor wife or mother or daughter receives touches and contact with persons which, under any other condition, would be regarded as pollution.

Is it a married couple dancing? and can that man look on and see another's arm around her waist, enfolding her in that long, voluptuous, sensual embrace, then say, "It is all right; there is no harm in it?" Can a father or brother see one after another put his arms about that daughter or sister as the hours of the night pass, press her form against his own,—perhaps against the form of a rose or seducer of virtue, a young man rotten in character and rotten to the core—and say, "It is all right?" If so, I could hardly expect to appeal to him by anything that I may say or write. Can that pure girl feel the arms of those men, one after another, about her waist, feel herself pressed against his form, and still say, "I see no harm in it?" Can that fond doting mamma, who has no better business than chaperoning her daughter to such a place, look calmly on and see it all and still say, "It is all all right; I see no harm in it?" My only other question is, if so, what kind of stuff can you be made of? The devil is in it, I say, and the dance is the kindergarten of hell.

And then scores of young women find themselves at the dance in the embrace of men with whom they would not be seen walking the streets or driving for any consideration whatever.

And that institution is born of hell that will make justifiable under certain conditions, that which would be positively insulting at other times.

3. It is a feeder to the brothel. Allow me to state a few more authenticated facts.

The Chief of Police of New York states that "three-fourths of the abandoned girls in that city say they were led to ruin by dancing."

Prof. Faulkner, a converted dancing master, in writing on this phase of the subject, raises the question:

"Where did the majority of drunkards take their first drink? Let me answer: the first drink of the drunkard was a social glass; the first game of the gambler was just a social game; and three-fourths of the outcasts had a man's arm about them for the first time when they were young girls at a social dance. There are in San Francisco 1,500 abandoned women." Prof. LaFloris says: "I can safely say that three-fourths of these women were led to their downfall through the influence of dancing."

Think of it young lady, or young man, you who love and respect womankind, you who, perhaps have sisters of your own, three-fourths of all these poor abandoned creatures started on their downward course by dancing! Yet these are no new facts, nor are they fresh statistics; similar ones have been in use—changed only by fresh adjustments, verified again and again—for many years. The latest figures as to the number of fallen women in America were gleaned last year by the Women's Christian Temperance Union. They say about 500,000 of these poor creatures in America merchandise their bodies and thrive on the sins of lust. Did you know that these unfortunates, whose average life in America is said to be from three to seven years; this land where none of the restrictions and safeguards that surround prostitution in the Old Country are provided; go from one stage to another, ever sinking downwards, victims of their dissipation and disease.

LIKE MOTHS OVER THE CANDLE,

fluttering for a few brief years only to fall at last in the eternal burnings; did you know, I say, that the figures given by Prof. Faulkner and Prof. LaFloris have been given again and again by Salvation Army workers, police captains and lieutenants, superintendents of metropolitan police forces, and all others who have carefully investigated the matter? Ponder now carefully what that means; 375,000 out of the half million have been led to their evil courses through the dance. Is there any one so degraded that they can see no harm in that?

(4) Consciousness of the sexes is at the foundation of the modern dance.

The old fashioned square dances are gone. New waltzes, (the Dream Waltz, for instance) are constantly appearing and the "positions" too are constantly changing until a recent writer in a New York society journal describes the above waltz as follows: "The fondest devotees of the dance ought to find satisfaction in this latest phase; the position brings the partners so close together that a case knife could not pass between."

Let me say in support of this proposition that any other social game as play may be engaged in and perpetuated without the opposite sex, but the modern dance never.

No young men care for "stag dances." Young ladies do not dress in "full dress" to swing in the embrace of other girls. The waltz furnishes opportunities for "gazing," "positions" and for the awakening of such passions as are necessary to make the dance inviting.

Oh, young ladies and women, if you could hear the remarks made about your person by those with whom you have danced, I can assure you, you would say, "I've danced my last dance."

"Our accusation is that the dance, instead of affording an opportunity for mutually ennobling companionship between men and women, inspired with a chaste and sweet interfused remembrance of their contrasted relationship to each other—that the dance, instead of this, consists substantially of a system of means contrived with more than human ingenuity to

of sex to action, however subtle and disguised at the moment, in its sequel the most bestial and degrading. We charge that here and not elsewhere, in the anatomy of that elusive fascination which belongs peculiarly to the dance, we lay our scapel upon the quivering secret of life. Passion—passion transformed, if you please, never so much, subsisting in no matter how many finely contrasted degrees of sensuality—passion, and nothing else, is the true basis of the popularity of the dance.

If a young girl says to me that she never felt in this manner when dancing, I say thank God, but if a young man so expresses himself, I say he is a consummate liar or else he is no man, but is made of paste and putty.

There are honourable exceptions to this rule, but I tell you they are mighty few.

"The waltz was born December 20th, 1787—first seen in a Vienna theatre, the progeny of a licentious stage and its consort, the ballet. This amourous, gyratory hugging was, for a time, thought to be too shockingly indecent to be tolerated anywhere else. It found its way into houses of doubtful repute, and more slowly into German society. Even Paris, for a time, resisted its licentious libertinism, and not till the present century did it get sanction in Paris; then, of course, it became the fashion every where, for Paris sets fashion's clock in all lands."

Will you be a blind slave to such a gross fashion or custom?

In the "upper ten" they have the money to cover up the crime, but in the middle classes it is generally discovered.

Let me close this address by urging:

(a) All Christians to take a decided stand against this pernicious institution.

Your presence gives it respectability, otherwise it would find its place in the place of the unborn.

You lose your influence with the unconverted when they know you engage in this evil pastime.

A young lady, in refusing to attend a fancy ball because of her religious convictions, met with this reply, "Miss B——, if there were more Christian young women like you, more young men like myself would become Christians."

(b) To the unconverted, I would say, think not of dancing on your way to hell, but come to Christ and let Him save you, for through dancing many have lost time, health and heaven.

A young lady held up her beautiful ball dress and said to her mother, "That dress was the price of my soul."

"What shall it profit a man if he gain the world (of pleasure) and lose his own soul."

MONUMENT TO ALEX. MACKENZIE.

Mr. Laurier Has Promised to Put a Sum in the Estimates for That Object.

Montreal, April 11.—(Special.)—A monument to perpetuate the memory of Hon. Alex Mackenzie will soon be erected on Parliament Hill in the capital city of the Dominion, and to Mr. Robert Bickerdike is due the credit of securing the present Prime Minister's assurance that a sum will be placed in the estimates during the present session to enable Parliament to do honor to Canada's second Premier.

A monument to Alex Mackenzie similar to those already erected to Cartier and Macdonald has been for a number of years Mr. Bickerdike's fondest dream, and the present Government had scarcely taken the oath of office when the matter was brought seriously to their attention.

As usual delays occurred, but Mr. Bickerdike did not allow the patriotic scheme to rest, and day before yesterday Premier Laurier informed Alexander Mackenzie's Montreal admirer that all the difficulties had been overcome and that a sufficient sum of money would be voted before the end of the present session to provide for the cost of the memorial pile in question. It is also understood that leading members of the Opposition have assured Mr. Bickerdike that a vote for a monument to Mackenzie would receive the Conservative party's hearty support.

BRITAIN'S POSITION

In Regard to the Troubles in the East.

THE IMBECILITY OF THE POWERS

According to the Ideas of Sir Charles Dilke and Other Liberals—Mr. Curzon, the Foreign Secretary, Defends the Government in a Very Spirited Speech.

London, April 12.—Mr. Patrick O'Brien, Parnellite, member for the city of Kilkenny, asked the Government for information in the House of Commons to-day as to whether it had received any claim for compensation in behalf of Edward J. Ivory, the saloon keeper of New York, who was arrested in Glasgow on Sept. 12 last and who was discharged from custody on Jan. 29. The First Lord of the Treasury, Mr. A. J. Balfour, in reply, said the Government had not received notice of any such claim as the one referred to by the honorable member for Kilkenny city.

Discussing the Cretan question, Sir Charles Dilke said he believed the majority of the nation supported the Liberals in the eastern question. A blockade of the Piraeus, he contended, though it might upset the King and the Kingdom of Greece, could not restore order in Crete. While the Government's policy of granting autonomy to Crete was honest, it was not clear whether the other powers were equally honest in this matter. Both the Sultan of Turkey and the King of Greece had stated they were negotiating in regard to the future of Crete, when they were brought to the verge of war by the action of the powers.

The speaker pointed out that the concert of the powers did not come in to existence for the purpose of dealing with Crete, but to deal with the Armenian question, with which the powers had been fruitlessly struggling for two years past, when they were stirred out of sluggish action by the despatch of Prince George of Greece with the Greek torpedo flotilla to the Island of Crete, and by the landing of Greek troops there. He concluded with commenting upon the imbecility and helplessness of the concert until the King of Greece forced their hand.

The Parliamentary Secretary for the Foreign Office, Mr. George N. Curzon, replied for the Government. He said no one could rightly complain at lack of opportunity to discuss the conduct of the Government. There had been many discussions on the subject and on the speeches of the Marquis of Salisbury, although it was true there had not been a vote of censure, the Government having failed to persuade the Liberal leader, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, to repeat in the House the martial oration so much admired at Norwich, while in the six debates on Crete in the House of Commons the matter had only been raised twice and in the French Chamber of Deputies only once. Continuing, Mr. Curzon said that in Austria, Italy and Germany the statement of their Government's policy had been reiterated so frequently as to become tedious.

Sir Charles Dilke complained that autonomy, as proposed for Crete, was not clearly defined, but Mr. Curzon pointed out the proclamation stated it implied freedom from all control of the Turkish Government in the internal affairs of the island. He therefore could truthfully say there was no ground whatever for the suspicion of Sir Charles Dilke that this autonomy, which the Government desired to make ample and clear, was regarded from any other point of view by the other powers.

Referring to the negotiations which are said to have taken place between Greece and Turkey direct for the settlement of the Cretan question, Mr. Curzon remarked that negotiations might have occurred on the subject between the Sultan and Greece, but Her Majesty's Government knew nothing about them.

Touching upon the question of the withdrawal of the Greek troops from the Island of Crete, Mr. Curzon asserted this would open the door leading to an almost immediate and pacific settlement of the question. Since the blockade, Mr. Curzon pointed out, many thousands of helpless and defenceless people have been protected by the forces of the powers and their admirals have done inestimable work in the relief of the beleaguered and the saving of life. But, in the face of explicit warnings, the insurgents had persisted in their endeavors to starve out the Turkish garrisons at outlying points and obtained command of the outposts commanding the towns occupied by the forces of the powers. They had also tried to cut off the water supply and had even engaged in fighting with the European troops. But, Mr. Curzon was glad to say, during the last few days the situation had become calmer. In the meanwhile active discussions were proceeding among the powers relative to the question of appointing a Government for the Island of Crete and instituting a militia on the basis of the autonomist constitution promised.

Mr. Curzon then turned to the question of the possibility of war between Greece and Turkey. He insisted the Government had strained every nerve to prevent an outbreak of hostilities, which, he claimed, the Government could only regard as calamitous to Greece and as constituting a grave menace to the peace of Europe. The Government of Her Majesty, he continued, had shown the utmost forbearance and regard for the susceptibilities of all concerned and had taken part in the joint declaration at Constantinople and at Athens to the effect that the aggressor would not be allowed to profit by such action.

As to the Greek raids into Macedonia, Mr. Curzon assured the House that, from information which the Government had received, the raid was entirely unauthorized by the Greek Government and was not participated in by the Greek regular troops. Further, it had been disavowed by the Greek Government, and the Government of Turkey had announced that if the raid was not repeated Turkey would not treat it as casus belli, as she might have done.

After making these statements, Mr. Curzon again paid attention to the Liberal leader. He said that in his speech at Monmouth, in October last, Sir William Harcourt advocated friendship with the other powers, but now he attacked the Government for adopting his suggestion. Mr. Curzon denied the concert of the powers had been helpless. During the past few months, he insisted, the concert had saved Europe from a general war, had prevented greater bloodshed in Crete and had localized the disturbance on the Greco-Turkish frontier. He thought no one would deny that the policy of the Government, peace in Europe and the liberation of Crete, was a good one, but, if the Opposition had an alternative, let the House hear it.

Mr. Curzon was frequently cheered during the course of his speech.

In reply, Sir William Harcourt said that, although the Government declined his challenge, he would not decline its challenge, now made, although he was of the opinion the matter was of so great importance that it ought to have been discussed on a definite issue.

Mr. Balfour, the Liberal leader continued, complained that his motion was not sufficiently censorious, but, if the motion had been carried, it would have turned out the Government. What more did Her Majesty's Government want? Why did not the Government substitute for it a vote of confidence? The reason was, Sir William Harcourt said, that the Government would not face the question of the forces of the Crown being employed against Greece. Never before, he asserted, had a Government declined to meet such a motion or shrunk from such an issue, and it was now the duty of the Opposition to record the views of the united Liberals.

The Government, continued Sir William, said its principles were liberty for Crete and peace for Europe. But, he asked, what sort of liberty for Crete? Was it the kind the Cretans desired? The explanations given, the speaker insisted, were not given in the House of Commons, but at smoking concerts, and it seemed to him this showed a desire to disparage the House of Commons. Therefore, he regretted the Government had undertaken to stifle discussion in the House as no Government had ever done before.

Transvaal Officials Talk of Nothing But War, Which They Say is Inevitable.

London, April 12.—A despatch to The Daily Mail from Cape Town says the Het Dagblad, the Dutch newspaper, declares that leading officials of the Transvaal speak openly of war with England as inevitable, and aver that it will be carried right up to Table Bay.

The Fight at Brazzeville.

New York, April 12.—The Associated Press has received the following special correspondence, dated Brazzeville, Africa, Jan. 31: "Upon arriving at Brazzeville we found Merchand making preparations to go to the relief of the men at the Quello River crossing. The details of the battles were received from one of his soldiers who returned here. The first real skirmishing was with a chief named Mobyalla, who, or some of his tribe, killed a French soldier about a year ago. Merchand's men marched on the village. Mobyalla showed resistance, but his flint-locks were not equal to modern rifles. Mobyalla was wounded and his head cut off and brought to Brazzeville. The natives say over 100 were killed in this village, but Merchand's soldiers assert that the number was not more than 25 or 50. After the battle the village was burned. Continuing their march the villages along the Manyanga road were surrounded at night. As daylight approached the natives were awakened by the blast of a trumpet, and as they came out of their huts were shot down on all sides. Village after village was destroyed in this manner, no quarter being given.

"The natives used clay balls in their old muskets, having burned them dry to about the consistency of brick. In shooting they do not pull the gun to the shoulder or look at the sight, but point at the object as one would with a stick and then fire. Several of Merchand's men were struck by these clay balls, but were not wounded seriously.

"The expedition consists of 145 white officers and 162 black soldiers from Western Soudan, called Senegalese, but they are by rights Soudanese.

"On arrival at Loango, on the coast, July 24, Merchand and some of the white officers came direct to Brazzeville, but the main body did not reach here until Jan. 12."

Basket Making

Baskets are made both by hand and by machine. Very fine qualities of baskets come from China, Japan and India, being made of peculiar varieties of grasses which grow in those parts of the world. Willow baskets are still being made by hand, although machinery has been extensively introduced in their manufacture. Wire baskets are machine-made.

A PROTEST FROM RIFLE CORPS

Because of the Proposal to Send an Infantry Regiment to England The Bisley Team Complete—Smallpox on a Ship Arriving at Victoria, B. C.

Ottawa, April 12.—(Special.)—A rumor has been current in military circles here that it is the intention to send to the Old Country a regiment of infantry at the expense of the Government. This report has stirred up a rather bitter feeling among the rifles. They assert that there is not an infantry regiment in Canada that can possibly approach the standard of efficiency gained by the rifle corps, and they claim that the men who have labored hard and won distinction should have the preference. The element of truth, however, as far as can be learned, is lacking in this rumor. Some discussion had arisen over the question of uniform to be worn by the contingent of Canadians which is to go to England. The original intention was to take over three companies of redcoats, two rifles and one of garrison artillery from Ontario. The suggestion has been made that as by far the large majority of the Canadian militia are redcoats, the whole regiment should be supplied with the regulation infantry uniform with white helmets, before embarking. From this suggestion probably arose the report of an intention to send over an infantry regiment. Uniformity in the dress of the men would certainly make a much smarter looking battalion than a patchwork one, such as that originally suggested.

Dr. Saunders, director of Experimental Farms, is at present being visited by his nephew, Mr. Albert E. Reed, a large paper manufacturer of Maidstone, Kent, Eng. Mr. Reed is interested in the paper pulp mill of Canada, and since his arrival in this country has visited the pulp manufactories at Chatham, N.B., and purchased the Masterman sulphite pulp mill, located on the Miramichi River. He proposes to enlarge the capacity of this mill, so as to bring its product up to 30 tons per day. The greater part of the pulp will be required in England to supply the needs of the paper mills operated by Mr. Reed. The pulp required for these mills has hitherto been obtained mainly from Norway and Sweden.

Rumors of coming superannuations of Deputy Ministers were rife to-day. Indeed it was stated positively this afternoon that orders-in-Council superannuating J. J. McGee, clerk of the Privy Council, and Col. White, Deputy Postmaster-General, had been passed, but your correspondent had it from the Premier himself that there was not a shadow of foundation for these reports.

The Bisley team for this year is complete, the first twenty having accepted with the exception of Surgeon-Major Ross of the 77th Battalion, Dundas, who finds it impossible to get away. His place is therefore taken by Lieut. Carter of the 93rd "Cumberland" Battalion. Private J. H. Simpson of the Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, is waiting man, and is prepared to go to England if an opportunity is offered.

While it is true that the Government has received a second offer for a fast Atlantic service, backed up by an intimation that $200,000 will be deposited as an evidence of bona fides, it appears that the Petersons hold the winning hand. The latest proposal is for a 20-knot service from Milford Haven in Wales, to Middle Milford, in the Straits of Canso, N.S. The ocean trip, it is said, will be made in four days, and the subsidy asked for is said to be $350,000.

A somewhat unusual application is now before Parliament. The Mycenian Marble Company of Canada, of which John I. Davidson is president, and Fred F. Manley of Toronto is secretary, finds that, through inadvertence on the part of one of its officers, the patent of the process under which the company makes artificial marble has been allowed to lapse. The patent was originally issued in January, 1891, but the fee paid only covered a period of five years, and to keep the patent alive the remainder of the fee should have been forwarded to the Department of Agriculture before Jan. 3, 1896. Some time after this date it was discovered that the renewal fee had not been forwarded to Ottawa in proper time, and when the money was sent the Commissioner of Patents, under the law, could not receive it. Hence it is necessary to come to Parliament to secure permission to authorize the Commissioner of Patents to accept the fee in order that the patent may be renewed. Only twice within the past 10 years has an application of this kind been made to Parliament, the last one being with regard to the Auer light.

Mr. Earle, M. P., received the following telegram to-night from Mr. Ellsworthy, secretary of the Victoria Board of Trade: "Sailing ship Alice A. Leigh arrived in the Royal Road from Yokohama in tow of the American tug Tacoma on Saturday, with smallpox on board. The quarantine officer insists upon her being towed to the quarantine station. The American sailed without going through quarantine, consequently a local tug must be engaged to tow the ship. The quarantine officer demands that the tug shall stay at quarantine for 14 days. This is considered unnecessary. Please have the quarantine officer instructed to discharge the tug after proper fumigation."

The Minister of Agriculture was out of the city, but Mr. Earle saw Mr. Mulock, who said he would look into the matter and if necessary permission can be given without endangering the lives of the community it will be done.

Senator George A. Cox and Messrs. F. Nicholls and William McKenzie signed the petition of the James' Bay Railway Company, which last year secured authority to build a railway from Parry Sound to James' Bay. They now ask for an extension of powers to enable the company to build an independent line from Toronto to Parry Sound.

Mr. Belcourt proposes to urge the Government to do something in the way of establishing a national museum here.

PULP WOOD POLITICS.

It is all very nice to talk of retaliation in jingo tones in connection with the effects of the barbarous Dingley tariff on Canadian products and industries, and in this connection there is distinct clamour for an export duty on pulp wood sent to the United States, which, it is asserted, has to depend on Canada for a supply of this raw material. It is very natural—very human to feel resentment and resort to retaliatory measures. But before resorting to such extreme measures, it is well to hear both sides of the question, and to make sure that in hitting back at the Americans we we are not actually injuring our own interests. There are are two sides to this pulp wood export duty question, and so far it appears that only one side has been afforded prominence. The other day a public meeting was held in Thessalon, Algoma District, "to discuss the subject of export duty on pulpwood," and that representative meeting was opposed unanimously to such a duty being imposed,

It appears by this letter that a Mr. Clergy of the "Soo" has shut down his pulp mill on the plea of tariff oppression. Let us quote from a letter that appeared in a recent issue of the Globe, giving the other side of the question as brought out at the meeting referred to :

> A great many speakers were present at the meeting and they claimed in their addresses that an export duty of $3 on our pulpwood would simply prevent any further sale of wood in Canada except to Canadian mills; that the Americans have enough wood in the States of Virginia and Georgia to keep all the pulp mills on the continent running for 25 years, and consequently do not require our wood; that the reason the Americans are coming into our markets and pay such high prices for wood is that vessel property being so very cheap and competition so keen the wood can be shipped from Ontario to the pulp mills in the United States much cheaper by water than it can be from their own pulp limits in the States by land. They claim that the exclusion of American buyers from our markets would result in the loss of our pulpwood, as this country is rapidly settling and lumbering of all kinds has been carried on extensively, and the time has come when the prevention of bush fires is an impossibility and that in a few years our pulpwood will be destroyed by fire and neither the settler nor the Government would ever receive any benefit from it. It is claimed that Mr. Clergy is offering the settlers here $1.75 per cord for pulpwood delivered on the cars, while American buyers are paying $2.75 for the same quality of wood delivered on the river banks.
> As most of the settlers are too far inland to reach the railway, it is impossible to deliver wood to Canadian mills for the price offered. The closing of the "Soo" pulp mill has affected perhaps 200 labourers to the town of Sault Ste Marie, but the prevention of American buyers from entering our market and buying our pulp would affect thousands and tens of thousands throughout the whole district of Algoma and other parts of Ontario.
> The information that the people of this country wants is as follows: Have the Americans sufficient pulp wood of their own to run their mills for ten or fifteen years? If they have, then the export duty on pulp wood would simply be retaliation, which would protect two or three concerns in the Dominion at the expense of hundreds of thousands and the loss by fire and otherwise of probably millions of dollars of pulpwood.

Before we attempt to dogmatize on political or budgetary questions, it is advisable to be in possession of full facts.

MUST FIGHT AT ONCE IF AT ALL.

Greece is Not in a Position to Wait and Will Have to Take Decisive Steps Very Shortly.

LONDON, April 12.—The Times will print to-morrow the following despatch from its Athens correspondent:

"Cyber persons here doubt whether the raiders have done the cause of Hellenism any real service. It is inexplicable how the Ethnike Hetairia's forces continue their operations without any base. Their numbers alone require that they receive constant supplies of provisions and munitions of war. Should they succeed in the advance into Macedonia, the army will insist upon following. Should they fail, then their defeat must be avenged.

"M. Delyannis, however, clearly explained to me to-day that if the Hetairia had not undertaken to cut the Gordian knot, the Government would have been obliged to take decisive steps within a few days. Greece, he added, in the present state of her finances, could not maintain an army of 80,000 men under arms any length of time without enormous sacrifices; so that if there is to be any fighting, it must come immediately."

Arta Full of Soldiers.

London, April 12.—The Times correspondent at Arta says: The town is full of soldiers. Many of the residents have left their houses and gone to safer places. Three lines of defence are now ready with elaborate trenches and plenty of engineers and artillery. Col. Manos, father of Constantine Manos, leader of the Cretan sacred band, is in command.

The Siege Continues.

Athens, April 12.—The latest advices here report that a portion of the invading force continues to besiege the barracks at Baltino. The remainder has continued the advance, but to a destination as yet unknown in Athens. It is reported that communications between Metsovo and Grevona are cut off.

The Cretan refugees here have addressed a petition to the embassies, in which, after reciting the whole history of the Cretan question, they declare that the only solution is annexation, and continue: "We hope that the Christian is moved by our sufferings, martyrdom and struggles for centuries to support our claims for union with Greece."

The petition is signed by several thousand.

Could Not be Worse

London, April 12.—The Daily Chronicle's special correspondent at Athens, Mr. Henry Norman, says: "As the result of interviews which I have had to-day with King George, M. Delyannis and M. Skouses, it seems to me that the situation could not be much worse short of actual war. The last words of the Premier to me last night were: 'I have but little hope.'

"The Servian Government has summoned all the officers of the reserve, militia and national guards. The Servian insurgents are now on the Macedonian frontier and the Servian Government is sending ammunition there constantly."

Another Fire at Canea.

London, April 12.—A despatch to The Times from Canea says that another fire broke out in the vicinity of the Italian barracks, but was extinguished before it had made much progress. A quantity of dynamite bombs was found in a house adjoining the barracks and promptly seized. Since the arrival of the foreign troops the town has been somewhat more orderly and the Mohammedans have ceased to carry arms openly.

The British Vice-Consul met a number of insurgent leaders near the town yesterday, who informed him that communications to them must hereafter be forwarded through Col. Vassos. Last evening (Saturday) the insurgents approached the source of the water supply, upon which the European troops depend, but retreated after five shots from the field guns. The Greek troops were observed yesterday through field glasses placing their tents about two miles away from the town in the direction of the Ayah plain. Two shots were fired at them.

Circulars to Make Strife.

London, April 12.—The correspondent of The Times at Constantinople says that the foreign ambassadors there consider three circulars addressed in the early part of last week by the Porte to its representatives abroad, protesting against the suggestions made by some or all of the powers for the solution of the Cretan difficulty, as meddlesome, offensive, and intended as a tu quoque argument in reply to the recent remonstrance against the Tokat massacres. The Porte has issued two additional circulars to its representatives. The first, which went on Friday last, declares that the Greek regulars and the Greek artillery, commanded by bugle call, have invaded Turkey, and asserts the right of Turkey to repel. The second circular, which was despatched yesterday, announced the retreat of the aggressors over the frontier and the restoration of the status quo. The ambassadors consider the Turkish procedure in this respect correct.

A Difficult Problem Satisfactorily Solved.

In the past the ladies have had thousands of dollars worth of valuable goods ruined through the use of inferior and adulterated dyes prepared for home dyeing. The greatest loss that we can point to is in the colouring of mixed goods—fabrics composed of cotton and wool, cotton and silk, and silk and wool.

The manufacturers of Diamond Dyes put up special dyes for the colouring of all mixed goods, giving colours that are fast to soap and sunlight. Diamond Dyes for mixed goods are the only reliable dyes in the world, and are all guaranteed to do perfect work.

Every druggist and dealer of any standing in Canada can supply you with Diamond Dyes for mixed goods. Do not accept imitations or substitutes; compel your dealer to give you the "Diamond."

CIVIL SERVICE BILL

Mr. McMullen Introduces His Promised Measure.

OVER ONE THOUSAND OFFICIALS

Getting Pay From the Government Whose Services are Not Necessary—Mr. Laurier Points Out That it is Not a Government Measure—Other Proceedings.

Ottawa, April 12.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. McMullen introduced his bill to amend the Civil Service Act. He explained that his object was to create a supervisory board to manage the civil service. There was no possibility of the present Government being able to economise, as every attempt at dismissal from the civil service in cases where officers civil service in cases where officers were unnecessary or inefficient, and how little they had to do, pressure would be brought to bear in order to retain them in office, and the cry would be raised that dismissals were taking place for political partisanship. He believed that the Government of to-day was paying salaries for 1000 more civil servants than were necessary. The board which he proposed to create should be placed in the same position as the Auditor-General, and removable only on the vote of both Houses for cause.

Mr. Wood (Hamilton) said he would be glad if the hon. member would go further with this bill, and take all responsibility for appointments in the service off the shoulders of the members of Parliament.

Sir Charles Tupper said that he was glad to know that Mr. McMullen had come to the concusion that it was unsafe to leave the civil service in the hands of the present Government.

Mr. Laurier said that Mr. McMullen had acted entirely on his own responsibility. Any measure that would remove the temptations that beset public men would have his support. Sir Charles had referred to Mr. Mackenzie's standing guard over the treasury. It was a pity for Canada that there were not more men of that kind. [Cheers.] Who stood guard for Canada when the section B contract was under construction? Who stood guard when the Quebec graving dock was being constructed? With regard to the civil service, he desired to say that it must be non-partisan. No more should they be henchmen of the men in power. They did not trust the civil servants to do their bidding, as some of them did the bidding of the hon. gentlemen opposite when they calculated that the Government would receive $50,000,000 from the sale of public lands alone. The moment a man became a political partisan he had no favor to expect or to receive at the hands of the Government.

After some observations from Mr. Casey, Mr. McMullen said he did not propose to go as far as Mr. Wood, as he thought members should be entitled to a little patronage.

The bill was read a first time.

Mr. Fielding informed Sir Charles that his expectation was to bring down the budget and tariff Tuesday, the 22nd.

Sir Charles Tupper: I suppose there is no hope of expecting it before the 20th? [Laughter.]

Mr. Fielding said that even if it did come down before the 20th the tariff proposals would be such as to assist the Liberal party, wherever they might be, in Canada.

Mr. Foster asked what Government business they would take up in the meantime.

Mr. Laurier: The franchise bill.

Sir Charles Tupper said that Mr. Foster would withdraw his amendment with a view of expediting the bringing down of the budget.

Mr. Foster added that he would withdraw his amendment if the Government would not proceed with the bill.

Mr. Laurier: That is a subject for conference between Sir Charles Tupper and myself.

Eleven private bills were read the second time and sent to their several committees.

Mr. Blair informed Mr. Gillies that Mr. MaDonald, station master at Point Tupper, had been dismissed from his position because he could not attend to the duties of his office and study law at Halifax at the same time. [Laughter.]

Mr. Tarte told Mr. Lemieux that Mr. Charlevois' outstanding claims on account of the Langevin block contract amounted to $296,228.

Sir Richard Cartwright told Major Hughes that no changes had been made in the general administration of the Royal Military College except the retirement of the late commandant.

Mr. Davies informed Mr. Davin that a representative of Manitoba and the Territories would be invited to accompany the Hudson Bay expedition.

Mr. Haggart asked if the Government intended to rescind the remedial order of March 21, 1895.

Mr. Laurier replied: "The policy of the Government upon this subject has already been announced. They do not think it advisable to take any further action in this matter."

Mr. Fielding informed Mr. Monk that it was not proposed to print evidence taken before the Tariff Enquiry Commission, as the newspapers had given pretty full reports of the proceedings.

Mr. Paterson told Mr. Davies that his department had been informed that smuggling was carried on by crews of American whalers from Herschel Island into the Mackenzie River basin.

Mr. Bennett was informed by Mr. Tarte that the aggregate amount expended by the Public Works Department in Collingwood harbor was $227,286, and in Owen Sound $236,755.

Mr. Davin then took up the question of the removal of cattle quarantine at the international boundary, and pointed out how grievously it would affect the stock raisers of Alberta. Canadian ranchmen, he said, were apprehensive of serious loss by the movement of cattle northwards from the Idaho-Montana regions for the purpose of being fattened on the Canadian side, thus destroying the ranges adjacent to the border, and giving ranchmen of our own country no advantage whatever in return. He concluded by moving for an order of the House for all documents bearing on the changes in the quarantine regulations between the United States and the western country; also for particulars of changes made in the personnel of officials in charge of quarantine.

Mr. Lister replied that the apprehension was not well founded, as the duty would afford ample protection. Moreover, the new regulation admitting healthy American or Canadian cattle from one country to the other without quarantine, had wrought a revival in our cattle exports to the States. In non. gentlemen, he said, would take up The London Free Press, The Brockville and the Buffalo papers, they would find that the promulgation of the new regulations was immediately followed by considerable export. He charged that the late Government had administered the quarantine with notable laxity.

Dr. Montague assumed from the abolition of quarantine against the United States that the Government gave up all hope of securing the removal of the British embargo on the Canadian live stock. For himself he did not think they were giving up much, because after his personal communication with the British Board of Agriculture, he was convinced that there was no hope of our getting it removed, the embargo being simply a measure of protection to the British agriculturist.

Messrs. McMillan and McMullen argued that the embargo was the result of the lax administration of quarantine regulations by the late Government.

Dr. Sproule, after recess, spoke for some time in contravention of the Liberal position that there was no necessity for rigid quarantine upon the border.

Mr. Oliver supported Mr. Davies' contention, showing that some restriction was necessary to prevent the introduction of sheep scab and glanders. The risk was not, he thought, so great in the case of cattle.

After Mr. Davies had spoken Mr. Laurier remarked upon the interesting character of the discussion, and in the absence of Mr. Fisher, moved the adjournment of the debate.

The motion carried.

Mr. LaRiviere moved for copies of all orders-in-Council, reports to Council, petitions, memorials or other documents relating to the Manitoba school question, not already submitted to this House. He expressed astonishment at the Premier's announcement recently that no documents existed in connection with the question, the settlement negotiations having been oral.

Mr. Laurier said he had no objection whatever to the return being brought down. The Government were just as anxious as the Opposition to have the full light of day upon the negotiations. Indeed, the papers were now in course of preparation and would be produced shortly.

Mr. Moore moved "That in the opinion of this House it is in the best interests of the farming and laboring classes and the country generally that the duty on imported refined petroleum for illuminating purposes be reduced to 3 cents per imperial gallon." He said the question should be considered from three different standpoints, that is, from the point of enabling the poorer classes to get cheap and good coal oil, while the Canadian producer enjoyed a fair amount of protection and the Government got a reasonable revenue. There was no question but that the tillers of the soil should be thoroughly considered, and this was an opportunity for the Government to adopt a measure for their benefit. He asserted that the quality of the Canadian oil was rather inferior to that of the American, which he held to be one reason why the duty should be lowered, and in this connection compared the prices in Canada and the United States, contending that no satisfactory reason had been advanced for the discrepancy. The consumption of coal oil from 1887 to 1896, he said, amounted to over $13,000,000 more than it would have cost but for the duty. The excessive duty he held to be responsible for extensive smuggling.

Mr. Lister, after briefly setting forth the inadvisability of discussing a matter of this kind in advance of the early production of the tariff, and questioning the accuracy of the hon. member's figures, moved the adjournment of the debate.

When Pigs Pay Best.

When a pig reaches 150 pounds it is worth fully as much as one weighing 200 pounds, as it will bring a higher price per pound than the larger one. When the farmer keeps a pig until it reaches 200 pounds he sacrifices 50 pounds, which may have cost not only the additional feed, but extra labor. There is a period in the life of an animal when it can be sold to the best advantage, and that is where the farmer's business ability can be applied, for the farmer must be a business man and be informed regarding the markets if he desires success.

LADY PROFESSOR OF COOKERY.

Mrs. Rorer Says Some Strange Things About Canadian Housewives and Gives Some Admirable Recipes.

Toronto, April 13.

Assembly Hall, in the Confederation Life Building, was filled yesterday afternoon with ladies, fashionable and otherwise, to hear what Mrs. Rorer of the Philadelphia Cooking School had to say about the preparation of plain food.

Mrs. Rorer is a buxom matron, with pale-blue eyes, light brown hair and a very emphatic way of saying things. She wore a gown of black satin brocade, dainty lace cap, with a bit of mauve ribbon to set it off, white muslin apron and dressy lace-trimmed fichu, crossed over a slightly decollete corsage, which costume would certainly be very comfortable in the warm kitchen, but might be the means of attracting the eye too much of butcher, baker and grocer towards the cook, to the detriment of the ordinary dish-washer.

In the absence of Hon. G. W. Ross, who was busy with legislative duties, Principal Kirkland showed that the countenance of the Education Department beamed favorably upon the cooking scheme for schools by himself attending and introducing the speaker.

A complete gas cooking stove adorned the platform, as did also a kitchen table, and with the assistance of a colored attendant, also in an apron of spotless white, Mrs. Rorer demonstrated bread making, as she thought it should be executed.

She began her address by condemning fancy cooking, and said that the people in the States were far less given to the sin than Canada.

"To begin with, we haven't the money you Canadians have to spend on ruffles."

This brought forth cries of "Oh!" from the ladies, which savored of indignation, but, undaunted, she continued: "Yes, you say 'Oh!' but I have seen more extravagance here in one week than in the States in years," which smacked certainly of monumental exaggeration.

After this small outburst, for fear of losing the entire sympathy of her audience, the speaker decided to content herself with being merely humorous.

She took for her text: "Who ever saw a man who had indigestion and was a Christian?" followed by experimental bread-making and other well-known simple preparations.

The recipe given by Mrs. Rorer for beef tea is worth quoting, good beef tea being invaluable in convalescence of patients, and so few people know how to make it well.

"Take one pound of finely chopped beef, removing all visible fat; add one pint of cold water—always cold water for soups. For seasoning add one bay leaf, or a single clove, a blade of mace, or a quarter-teaspoon of celery seed." The last Mrs. Rorer considers best, as it is beneficial for the nerves. "Then let stand for two hours, if possible, after which put over fire and stir carefully, until 165 degrees be reached, or the microbe-killing point."

Herbert Temple Shot Himself.

Halifax, April 12.—Herbert Temple, general agent of the British Empire Mutual Life, shot himself in his room at the Grosvenor Hotel this morning. He was about 40 years old, and only a fortnight ago married an Ontario lady for his second wife.

Jubilee Demonstration.

There was not a quorum present at the meeting of the Jubilee Celebration Committee, last evening, and consequently no business was transacted. Wilson Comedy Company.

Fred H. Wilson, who can justly claim to be Peterborough's favourite, and his company of comedians, opened a week's engagement at the opera house last night to a well filled house. The play presented was a pretty story of love and labour with a pleasant sprinkling of fun, and made a most favourable impression. Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Durkin, Dolly Armour, and in fact the entire cast gave excellent interpretations of their various roles and were greeted with hearty rounds of applause. The specialties were more numerous and of a better quality than Wilson had on his former visits, and no better have been seen in Peterborough for many seasons, even at high prices. Baby Florida was a great favourite and her song and dance with Mr. Furners was unanimously declared the "cutest" thing of the season. Mr. Wilson's songs and witticisms are like wine, inasmuch as they gather additional flavour with time and are as sparkling as champagne. Dolly Armour and Chas. Mark contributed some catchy songs and dances and Alex. Furners was quite amusing. Altogether the entertainment was first class, well worthy of much higher prices, and deserving of the fine reputation it has won throughout the Dominion. Tonight the beautiful comedy "Twixt Love and Duty," with new specialties. Special matinee Friday afternoon.

PETERBOROUGH'S RACE MEET.

It Will be Held on June 22nd and 23rd —$1,000 in Prizes.

Arrangements have been completed for the holding of horse races on a big scale in Peterborough on Jubilee Day and the day following.

The affair has been taken up by some of the representative men of the town, and the large purses which will be hung up should draw some of the best horses in Canada to the local track. It is intended to run off five races—three for trotters and two for the bangtails. The purses for each event will amount to $200, making $1,000 in all.

Peterborough has not had a first class race meet in years, and is somewhat late in the season arranging the dates, but nevertheless it is thought that a big crowd will be attracted to town on that day, as the horses which will compete in Port Hope on July 1st, will come to Peterborough first, and having the two meets in close proximity will naturaly tend to draw some of the "good ones" to this section of the province.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Details of the Manner in which it will be Celebrated in Town.

A meeting was held in the drill shed last evening of representatives from the 57th Battalion, the artillery, cavalry and veterans for the purpose of further completing the arrangements for a joint celebration of the Queen's Birthday, on May 24th.

The following general committee was appointed: Major Edwards, chairman, Lt.-Col. Ball, Capt. Miller, Capt. Lech, Capt. Mason, Lieut. Mills.

Veterans—Messrs. A. P. Poussette, T. A. S. Hay, Wm. Irwin, R. M. Roy and J. D. Collins, secretary.

It was decided to hold a programme of sports in the afternoon, and any surplus derived through the same will be donated to the funds of the 57th Battalion.

The committee appointed to arrange the programme of sports is composed of Captains Dennistoun, Lech, Mason, Snyder, Lieut. Cockburn, R. M. Roy, Sergt. Sharpe.

Events will be provided in the programme for the officers and men of the 57th Batt., the Artillery, Cavalry, Veterans and Boys' Brigade.

The meeting adjourned to meet again on April 22nd.

THE VETERANS OF 1866

Meet and Adopt a Constitution—A Large Attendance—A Memorial to the Queen and Minister of Militia Adopted and Signed, asking Recognition of Services, by way of Medal or Otherwise—Committee of Veterans to Co-operate With the 57th for Queen's Birthday Celebration.

A largely attended meeting of the Veterans of 1866 and '70, as well as those who saw active service in '64-5, assembled in the officers' quarters last night. Col. H. C. Rogers occupied the chair and Mr. J. D. Collins was secretary.

The names of those present with the names of the corps to which they were attached are as follows, as copied from the signatures to the petitions:

Thos. Armstrong, 57th Battalion.
John Braddeld, 57th Battalion.

Peter Thompson, Queen's Own Rifles.
A. P. Poussette, Queen's Own Rifles.
R. W. Bell, 41st Battalion, Carleton Place.

After routine Mr. A. P. Poussette read the report of the committee appointed at the last meeting to draft a constitution. The draft constitution was adopted, "incorporating" the veterans of '66 and other years as the Veterans of 1866 Association, with the object of perpetuating the memory and reviving the associations of those who fell or served in 1866 or at other times.

The constitution provides that the association shall muster in a corporative capacity on all national holidays and on the occasion of the funeral of a deceased member. Veterans of the Imperial service—army or navy—are, ipso facto, honourary members of the association.

The constitution was unanimously adopted, and the selection of a distinctive badge and the election of officers was deferred till the annual meeting, which is to be held on Monday, May 3rd.

CO-OPERATION WITH "THE REGULARS."

Lieut.-Col. Ball of the 57th, who is also a member of the veterans, gave a brief address in reference to the proposed military demonstration of the 57th on the Queen's Birthday, which the 57th as a local corps, thought should be regarded as their day. This year he had been unable to secure the attendandance of a visiting corps as usual owing to the elaborate preparations being made in celebration of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee. On the 24th there would be a parade of the Battalion in the morning, and a programme of military sports in the afternoon. He, as well as his brother officers, and the members of the Battalion, would be glad to have the co-operation of the Veterans' Association.

In accordance with Lt.-Col. Ball's suggestion, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to act with the committee of the Rangers in pushing forward the celebration of the 24th—Messrs. A. P. Poussette, T. A. Hay, J. D. Collins, John Irwin and R. M. Roy.

A petition was adopted and signed by those present to Her Majesty the Queen and the Minister of Militia, praying that a suitable recognition of the services of those engaged in the defence of the Crown and country during the past, in the form of a medal or other suitable recognition be provided.

The meeting closed, according to the constitution, by the enthusiastic singing of God Save the Queen, and the Veterans' Association was fairly launched upon a voyage of prosperous existence, judging by the spirit and enthusiasm exhibited at the inauguration meeting.

RAILWAY NOTES.

Sparks From the Wheels—Cinders for the Eye.

Navigation is now open. Grand Trunk workmen put the swing at the locks in shape yesterday to be opened. Such an accident as happened a year or two ago at the locks bridge cannot happen again, as the block system of signalling has been adopted at this bridge as well as at all other swings on the line. Under this system it is impossible to open the bridge until the semaphores are set against a train and it is also impossible to drop the semaphores while the bridge is open. Therefore it is impossible for an accident to happen unless the driver of an engine wantonly "runs under" a semaphore set against his train.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

Those Who Have Been Converted Will Join the Church.

The George street church was filled again last night to hear Rev. Ranton deliver his last sermon in that church. The first part of the service was of a receptional character, in order to ascertain the names of the persons wishing to join some particular church. Mr. Ranton advised all to join a church.

"Find a spiritual home somewhere," said Mr. Ranton. "There is such a thing as a spiritual tramp—a person who does not belong to any church and who wanders around anywhere and everywhere. Select a church where you can feel at home in the fullest sense of the word. There are plenty of such churches in town and none will turn the cold shoulder to you. Do not put yourself in such a position in the church that it will have to carry you. Come into the church to work, walk and help somebody else. This is the ideal church spirit.

Rev. Mr. Young then made a few remarks pointing out the duty of a church member.

Mr. Ranton spoke from the text "A Hive of Bees." "In the first place," said Mr. Ranton, "Be sure and know that you are converted. Then be a Bible student. Procure a Bible for yourself and study it carefully. It will help you. Be careful to commence and close the day's work with prayer. Be a church member. In this respect be a thorough one. Join all belonging to the church—prayer meeting, etc.

The church needs you and you will need the church. Be a benevolent Christian. Give one tenth in a dollar, if possible. Be sure and ask yourself the following questions whenever you feel inclined to criticise a person harshly:—Is it right? Is it true? Is it kind? Is it Christ-like? Be charitable in your criticism of others. Be appreciative. Speaks only of the good qualities of people. Be steadfast in your religion. Be faithful to it and it will be faithful to you.

Miss C. Bellegham, during the evening, sang "Jesus of Nazareth Passeth By."

There were about 300 persons who signified their intention of joining some church.

How many people are ashamed to go into company on account of their foul-smelling breath, caused from catarrh or cold in the head? If they would study their own interests they would soon have sweet breath like their neighors. There is one sure cure for catarrh and that is Dr. Chase's Catarrh Cure. Give one blow through the blower and you get relief immediately. Price, including blower, 25 cents.

REV. DR. CRAFTS AT ST. ANDREW'S LAST NIGHT.

"THE MARCH DOWN THE CENTURIES."

Eloquent Lecture by Rev. Dr. Crafts—The Progress of Religion and Civil Reform—The Sabbath Observance Question Dealt With—A Tribute to Her Majesty.

Last night, at St. Andrew's, a large congregation assembled out to listen to the eloquent lecture of Rev. Dr. Crafts, who may be ranked as a specialist on Sabbath reform, as both his pen and his eloquence have since 1889 been devoted almost exclusively to it. His book, "The Sabbath for Man," is recognized by the press of Canada, Great Britain and the United States as the standard on the subject. Rev. Mr. Potter, the pastor, occupied the chair, and after the reading of the fifth chapter of Revelation introduced the speaker of the evening.

After a few preliminary remarks the speaker said:—The eighteenth and nineteent centuries have brought in a new social era which really does not begin until the middle of the eighteenth century and but feebly even then. The first words of the new time were Methodism and machinery, not a mere alliteration, for spiritual and industrial quickening have often been the cause and effect. In 1776 there appeared three distinct streaks of dawn, one of them not unmixed with shadows: (1) The completion of James Watts' invention of the steam engine, which was to revolutionize production; (2) Adam Smith's declaration of industry's independence, which was to revolutionize distribution, and (3) America's declaration of political independence, which was to

of the people to law, and so at last their relation to both production and distribution. About these were other streaks of dawn. In 1773 John Howard began his prison reform movement. In 1774 Benjamin Franklin founded the first American anti-slavery society. In 1780 Robert Raikes inaugurated the Sabbath school movement. In 1785 Dr. Benjamin Rush began the modern temperance movement. In 1793 Carey sailed for Indian in the first modern missionary ship. But when the eighteenth century closed these movements were all faint and feeble. The twilight continued for one-third of the nineteenth century, including 1831. That first third of a century was a time of awakening. But there was as yet no permanent, popular government in Europe.

Mr. Crafts here cited the crushing of the few republics of the old world by Napoleon, the political helplessness of the people of Great Britain, the "pocket borough" appointments to the so-called House of Commons and other popular grievances of the era. He spoke of legislation by capitalists for capitalists, who put prices up and wages down; the resistance of employers to all efforts to compel sanitation and the use of safety appliances, in mills and shorter hours for women and children. Then the preacher spoke of the dawning of the new era in 1832. Christ came to the world, he said, for 34 years of greater words and works than man could "bear" when he was upon earth. That was the year of the reform bill in Great Britain, by which the House of Commons first became in reality what it was in name.

But the goal is not yet reached. The watchword is "On and ever on!"

Turning to the question of

SABBATH OBSERVANCE

the speaker said: "We are told that "the complicated civilisation of the nineteenth century" requires that Sabbath observance and Sabbath laws should be relaxed. Nay, this is a new reason why they should be maintained and strengthened. Did Adam to whom the Sabbath law of work and rest was given before the fall—did he, who knew nothing of "cut throat competition," and "soulless corporations," and "hard masters," and wearying "tricks of trade," need a Sabbath law more than we do to-day, when sin has put its curse into the Edenic blessing of labor? At Sinai, where the Sabbath law was reproclaimed, did those Hebrew herders, moving on at three miles an hour, need a law to protect them against the overstrain more than the engineers of to-day, who drive their iron dragons a mile a minute with hand on the throttle, eye on the track, every power alert? Did those dozen farmers from whose plowing-bee Elisha was called to be a prophet—I have seen in that region a modern plowing-bee of 18—did those farmers, gossipping together as they kept step with their slow oxen, need a Sabbath law more than the motor man who harnesses the lightning to his electric car, and drives through crowded city streets, where a moment's inattention may cause the loss of a pedestrian's life and his own position? Did the farmer of Boaz, where of capital and labour left nothing to be desired—did that and other such places of that age require a Sabbath law for protection of servants more than it is required by the millions of employees to-day, whose master is "neither man nor woman, neither brute nor human," but a ghoul with a soul we call corporation? Did Dorcas, sitting out in the sunlight beside her cottage, distaff in hand, leisurely spinning and weaving the coats and garments for the little orphans that played at her feet—did she require the protection of a Sabbath law more than the young girl of 14 in a modern mill, working a dozen hours per day in the close air and clanging noise, under a hard master?

Turning to the more recent time when the foundations of this republic were laid on the Bible, the Sabbath being assigned a prominent place among American institutions, did our fathers, when they lived half a mile apart, curtained at night with the the soft velvet of silence, need a day of protected quiet more than their sons in the tenements of to-day, where going to bed at night is often like the "charge of the light brigade"—noises in the flat above, noises in the flat at the right, noises in the flat at the left, noises in the flat below; the high fiddle-diddle of a midnight dance on the floor overhead; the just beyond the wall on the right; a piano through the wall on the left making love on that side and hate on this side at midnight; while the flat below does its share in the torture by an early morning start on a fishing excursion to murder sleep in, in the morning?

When nearly all the work was in the open air, in forest and field, was there no need to protect the toilers' right to one day's release from labour, than now when many thousands work at night and in the mine, and thousands more in stifling shops? Is there more excuse for keeping thousands toiling on the Sunday mail now, when a letter is carried from New York to San Francisco in five days, than in our fathers' days when such a journey took five months? Was there less excuse for our fathers to issue Sunday papers when news crossed the Atlantic in two months, than there is for us when the news of Europe reaches us by telegraph the day before it happens?

Every change in the world since the Sabbath was instituted has been a new reason why God's Sabbath laws and ears should not be changed. They came to the kingdom for such a time as this. More than ever before, we should see to it that neither ourselves nor others cause any Sunday work except of necessity or mercy.

During his address Rev. Mr. Craft presented an eloquent tribute to the public and private virtues and high Christian character of Queen Victoria—when she ascended the throne at the same time ascended purity of character and lofty christian womanhood.

Reference was made also to the recent bill passed by Congress enacting radical changes in the divorce law of the United States, and he exhibited as a trophy the pen with which ex-President Cleveland had signed the law in question, and which pen had been presented to the lecturer by the ex-President.

Miss Vida Gladman deserves credit not only for her obligingly presiding at the organ, but also for her excellent preformance of the offertory selection, "La Serenata."

LACROSSE.

By the large attendance at a meeting of the Peterborough last night, it is evident that lacrosse will again boom in Peterborough this season. It was decided that the invitation of Campbellford to play them on the 24th of May for a $100 trophy should be accepted.

Messrs. Terrill, Glover and Lipsett were appointed to act as a ground committee. One of their first duties will be to let the contract for repairing the P.A.A.A. fences and grand stand, from which boards have been torn away and carried off by the wholesale.

The Crescent lacrosse team of Brooklyn, N.Y., now touring in the old country, has had a fair share of success, through meeting defeat when playing the strongest of the Irish and English terms. Hugh McConaghy, last year's Secretary of the Canadian Lacrosse Association, has made a record over there, though. Hugh is with the Crescent team, and the day after they landed he threw a ball 145 yards, "without reckoning the roll," as an English paper puts it. The English record was 124 yards, by H. Booth, of Leys School, and it is said that Mr. McConaghy's figures will stand. I have my doubts, though, of the accuracy of the London Sportsman's declaration that "the Toronto player can throw 145 yards regularly." This is a strong order when we remember that Barney Quinn's record, the best in the world, is a little over 165 yards, while Ross Mackenzie's 140 yards stood unchallenged for ten years.

Evidently old country lacrosse players are not accustomed to see field captains in matches. In a report of the first match the Crescent played there a London paper says:—"The visitors played with a field captain. It is questionable whether such a practice is of real utility, whilst a non-player dodging about in the centre of the ground and shouting directions is certainly qualified to obstruct the rival side. If it is deemed preferable to have a sort of 'director' it certainly appears preferable that he should only be allowed to run down the field at the sides—after the style of the football lineman."

THE WHEEL.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Bicycle club last night, the following members were elected delegates to the annual meeting of the C.W.A. which is to be held in Toronto on Good Friday:—Messrs. P. Campbell, R. Fair, A. H. Stratton, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., W. K. Hall and A. L. Davis. They were instructed to vote for Brantford for the meet and will settle amongst themselves regarding which official will be supported. A number of tickets will be printed, diamond shaped, with the Peterborough colours barred across the corners and the legend "Peterborough for 1898" in the centre. These will be given to the delegates to distribute wholesale amongst the visiting wheelmen in Toronto on Good Friday.

Anyone wanting a bargain in a second-hand '96 bicycle will get a snap at Adam Hall's stove and tinware store. d

WARSAW'S FOOTBALL CLUB.

From Our Own Correspondent.

WARSAW, Monday, April 12th.—A meeting of the football club was held in the Morgan House on Saturday evening, April 10th, for the purpose of re-organizing for the season of 1897. The following officers were elected:

Hon.-Pres.—A. F. Choate.
Pres.—Thos. Wilson.
Vice-Pres.—C. P. Conway.
Sec.-Treas.—F. Morgan.
Capt.—Herb Kidd.
Executive Committee—Officers of club.
Ground Committee—Thos. Wilson, R. F. Choate, C. P. Conway, F. J. Morgan.

The secretary-treasurer read the report of last year's business, which was very satisfactory to the club, as a substantial balance is on hand to commence the year with. The team is open for challenges as soon as the season opens up. The backers of the team have not yet been appointed. It is understood that those of last year have refused to act, as the long grass is very scarce in this section.

IT IS A DEFICIT.

That Confronts the Members of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board.

On Tuesday a meeting of the general mission board of the Baptist church will be held when reports will be presented for the past year. Some strange facts have been gathered in the compilation of the reports. Rev. A. P. McDiarmid, the secretary-treasurer of the foreign mission board, will, it is understood, report that out of 450 Baptist churches in Ontario and Quebec only 200 have made contributions to the fund. The following contributions have already been received: Churches, $78,420; Sunday schools, $1,237.27; individual contributions, $3,892.08 young people, $373.70; women's societies, $8,176.64; sundries, $677.46; legacies, $244.59; total receipts, $22,464.07, leaving a deficit of $7,338.81.

As yet the home mission board see no way of meeting the $8,000 deficit, and just what can be done is puzzling them a great deal. The members of the committee hope to be able to adopt some scheme by which the finances may be balanced.

FORTUNE IN FUTURES.....

Alexander T. Stewart began his business career without capital and in 25 years accumulated $40,000,000. His successors began with his $40,000,000 and in 10 years failed. Stewart dealt in futures; he filled his stores and contracted ahead for manufactures before big advances and he emptied his stores and sold for future account at other times before big declines. He discounted the future. His successors rested on a BIG NAME and never dealt in future prospects.

A year ago I advertised to buy cotton below seven cents, it afterwards advanced two cents or $1,000 on 100 bales. Last summer I advertised to buy wheat around 60 cts., it has since sold at 86 or $2,000 on 10,000 bushels. Now advise the purchase of Corn around 25 cts. for July. It will show a Big Profit by the middle of June. Buy Mess Pork around $8.25; it will sell at $10 before it does at $9. A sick man is like a man who goes up in a balloon. He is blown hither and thither by the winds of disease.

A traveler by rail or steamer has a regular track. He is reasonably certain of reaching a given destination; but the balloonist is at the mercy of totally uncertain elements. No track, no course, no rudder, no certainty that any breeze may not bring destruction.

So with the sick man. His disordered constitution renders every natural operation uncertain. No organ can be depended on to do its normal work. The stomach will not digest food; the liver will not filter bilious poisons from the blood; the kidneys and skin will not excrete the waste. No regular nourishing or purifying process is going on. There is no certainty except the certainty of suffering.

In all dyspeptic, bilious, debilitated conditions, what is needed is to change the abnormal, erratic operations of the system into a natural, regular, straightforward progress in the right direction. Nothing in the world will do this so rapidly and certainly as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery.

It directly regulates the vitalizing functions. It sets the stomach and liver into natural, healthy operation and gives the blood-making glands power to manufacture an abundance of pure, rich blood.

It creates appetite; builds up muscular strength, and banishes nervousness and neuralgia. As it can be assimilated by the weakest stomach, its nourishing properties are far superior to nauseating cod liver oil in severe coughs and all wasting diseases.

The druggist who recommends something else as "just as good" is thinking more of his extra profit on the "just as good" kind than of your welfare.

FOR JUBILEE HONORS

A Lengthy List of Names Being Talked Of.

CANADA WILL HAVE ARISTOCRACY

The Premier Said to Have Declined a Knighthood -- Provincial Premiers and Several City Mayors Also in the List -- Money Spent in Public Works--Ottawa News

Ottawa, April 11.—(Special.)—The minds of men are just now reverting to the coming distribution of honors in connection with Her Majesty's jubilee. A gentleman who is well qualified to know says that Canadian recipients will be found included in the following list: Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Donald Smith, Hon. R. W. Scott, William Mulock, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. A. G. Blair, Hon. C. A. Pelletier, Hon. J. D. Edgar, Hon. A. S. Hardy, Hon. J. M. Gibson, Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick, Hon. William Macdougall, Major-General Gascoigne, Hon. Mr. Flynn, Lieut.-Gen. Montgomery Moore, Premier Turner of British Columbia, Senator Miller, Hon. Mr. Murray, Hon. F. Peters, Senator Masson, Chancellor Boyd, Hon. A. R. Angers, Hon. Thomas Greenway, Sandford Fleming, Dr. Bourinot, Principal Grant, Col. Smythe (late 100th Regiment), Lieut.-Col. Denison, Toronto; Dr. Craik, Montreal; Lieut. Marchand, St. Johns, Que.; Hon. James Mitchell, John S. Willison, Toronto Globe; Hugh Graham, Montreal Star; W. C. McDonald, Montreal; J. Lorne McDougall, Auditor-General; Mr. Justice Routhier, Quebec; Chief Justice Taylor, Winnipeg; Dr. William Kingsford, the distinguished historian; Mayor Samuel Bingham, Ottawa; Mayor Wilson-Smith, Montreal; Mayor R. J. Fleming, Toronto.

It is stated that the Premier has already had the offer of a knighthood, but has so far declined to accept it. A direct command from Her Majesty, however, next June, to kneel, and the simple tap on the shoulder with the magic words, "Rise, Sir Wilfrid," will be an effective way of overcoming any scruples he may have.

The general impression here is that Mr. Laurier, with other distinguished colonial statesmen, will be sworn of Her Majesty's Privy Council. Sir Charles Tupper and Sir Donald Smith will, in all probability, be elevated to the peerage. In such an event Sir Charles would necessarily retire from public life in Canada and the Opposition would have to select a new leader.

Only one Toronto corps is affected by this week's militia general orders. Second Lieutenant H. C. Bickford, having been appointed to Her Majesty's Imperial service, is stricken off the strength of the Governor-General's Bodyguard, Second Lieutenants D'Alton Lally McCarthy and Frederick Cunningham Denison are promoted to be lieutenants; to be second lieutenants, provisionally: Herbert Hale Williams, James Harold Ekmsley, Matthew Crooks Cameron and Ernest Alanson Button.

Hon. Mr. Davies received a telegram yesterday, stating that the 1000-ton English steamship Assaye, which was wrecked on Blonde Rock, near the entrance to the Bay of Fundy, last Monday, was being robbed and dismantled by pirates. The Minister has ordered the Government cutter Kingfisher to proceed to the scene at once and render whatever assistance is necessary.

The total amounts expended in public works last year, covered by the report, have been as follows: Harbors, rivers, bridges, etc., $656,000; public buildings, $735,757; telegraphs, $66,437; miscellaneous, including salaries, etc., $135,204; total $1,583,400. A falling-off in revenue has been noticeable, especially in two branches, viz., the graving docks and the telegraphs, the docks in 1892 93 having given the high income of $43,007, while from the same source the department only received in 1896-96 the sum of $23,011. The income from the telegraphs has gradually decreased from $10,229 in 1892 to $7420 in 1896.

The works of construction and repairs under the heading of harbors and rivers have extended over one hundred points in the Dominion, operations having been carried on at 34 places in Nova Scotia, 7 in New Brunswick, 16 in Prince Edward Island, 21 in Quebec, 15 in Ontario, 1 in Manitoba and 6 in British Columbia. One hundred and twenty surveys were made throughout the year.

In Ontario dredging was performed at 19 points by five departmental dredges and two hired dredges. The five vessels owned by the department were the Challenge, Ontario, Nipissing, Queen and No. 9. The latter, working on the Kaministiquia River, at Fort William, performed its work at the cheapest rate known for some years in the department, the average cost per cubic yard having only amounted to 3 1-3 cents. The averages of the others are: Challenge, 14 1-3 cents; Ontario, 38 1-3 cents; Nipissing, 17 cents, and Queen, 14 cents. The total number of yards removed by the whole fleet during the year was 1,079,754 cubic yards.

Additions to the National Art Gallery during the last fiscal year consisted of two oil paintings, viz., Death of Nelson, by George Philip Reinagle, R. A., and The Photographer, by F. Brownell, R. C. A. The former was purchased by the Government. The latter was a diploma picture, the gift of the Royal Canadian Academy.

After a long discussion on Friday a representative meeting of Ottawa lumbermen adopted the following resolutions, on motion of Mr. J. R. Booth, and seconded by Mr. L. Crannell: "At a meeting of the lumber and timber trade of the Ottawa Valley it was unanimously agreed that the Government should take power from the House to protect the sawn lumber and pulp interests of Canada against the serious discrimination threatening it, as contemplated under the Dingley bill."

An informal meeting of the Executive Committees of the two local Conservative Associations has been held, and satisfactory progress made towards healing the differences that have existed in the past. Another meeting is to take place at an early day, when the probabilities are all in favor of only one annual meeting for the election of officers being held. David McLaren, the well-known lumberman, is spoken of for the presidency.

A dull week in Parliamentary circles is in prospect. To-morrow is private members' day; on Tuesday the discussion on the franchise bill will be continued; on Wednesday private members will have another fling, and then comes the Easter adjournment. Nearly every Nova Scotia member on both sides has gone home to take a hand in the local fight. Polling takes place on the 20th, the day the Commons resumes work.

The Government's call for tenders for dredging Stewart River, a tributary of the Yukon, for gold, is the outcome of an application just made to the Interior Department for a lease for a term of years of 100 continuous miles of that waterway. The applicant has a patent dredge, which it is said does wonderful work in lifting gold, and he proposes, if he secures a lease, to place one on this stream for placer mining purposes.

Mayor Bentley of Lethbridge is here to seek the co-operation of the Government to compel the Canadian Pacific to build their Crow's Nest line through Lethbridge. It appears the company, to avoid construction of certain expensive bridges over rivers, propose to strike west from a point on the Dunmore branch, thirty miles from Lethbridge. Mr. Bentley says that rather than that the town should be thrown down the municipal council would be willing to make a liberal contribution. The Mayor is also protesting to the Government against a decrease in the Mounted Police force.

Hugh Sutherland, President of the Winnipeg Great Northern Railway, is greatly disappointed that only a 90-ton vessel has been chosen for the Hudson Bay expedition. He would like to see a test made of ice navigation in the Straits with a steel vessel of about 2000 tons, which would likely be put on the route. The Diana, the vessel chosen by Mr. Davies, was spoken last week off the coast of Newfoundland homeward bound with 2000 seals on board.

Sir Richard Cartwright was asked yesterday if any definite announcement could be made regarding the fast Atlantic service, but gave a negative reply.

A number of Ottawa capitalists are seeking incorporation as the Canadian Yukon Prospecting and Mining Company, with a capital of $20,000.

The Indian famine fund contributions are still coming in to the Department of Finance and now total $152,000. The fund is to be closed next Thursday, and Treasurer Courtney is anxious for prompt remittances.

The French Committee of the Separate School Board have received a letter from the superior of the Christian Brothers' community stating that it would be impossible to send a staff of Christian Brothers to Ottawa, as requested by the board.

Archbishop Duhamel has returned from Montreal, where he attended the meeting of the archbishops with regard to the settlement of the Manitoba schools question. His Grace states that the meeting was a strictly private one, and the business will not be made known to the clergy, much less to the public.

Intelligence in Hens.

It may not seem to be of much importance that hens should be intelligent; but it is. I find the best layers are, as a rule, the most teachable and every way wisest. I have a little busybody which outlays all the rest of the flock; and she is nearly as intelligent as my Scotch collie. She speaks to a human friend in tones unlike those used to the flock. Another, in a flock of Plymouth Rocks crossed with Light Brahamas, proved to be a specially wise creature, and as companionable and affectionate as a cat. By some accident her leg was broken. We splinted it; put the legs through slits cut in a sack and stretched over the top of a barrel. There she laid for three weeks, talking to us, and apparently fully comprehending the situation. She, too, is an excellent hen for eggs. I believe that intelligence is of special importance with cows; and I will not buy one that is not first of all satisfactory in the face and head. It will pay us, apart from milk and eggs, to have all our domestic creatures companionable and kind in disposition.—E. P. Powell, in American Agriculturist.

Scott's Emulsion is Cod-liver Oil prepared as a food. At the same time, it is a blood maker, a nerve tonic and an up-builder. But principally it is a food for tired and weak digestions; for those who are not getting the fat they should from their ordinary food; for children whom nothing seems to nourish; for all who are fat-starved and thin.

It is pleasant to take; at least, it is not unpleasant. Children like it and ask for more.

Some druggists have a "just as good" kind. Isn't this kind all others try to equal, good enough for you to buy?

WAITING.

Far away, by the jasper sea,
Three forms are walking, side by side,
And now and then they bend to gaze
Over the ocean wide.

And three of us but walk and pray
Beside a dark and boundless sea;
We cannot pierce the radiant glow
That folds the other three.

They watch above the rolling world,
Waiting till one, at God's command,
Shall cross the space that lies between
This and the further land.

And, Oh; I long for the years to pass;
And, Oh! I cry for the time to be
When they who are watching with eager eyes
Shall bend and beckon me.

So sang I but few weeks ago,
When, through the silence, a message came,
And one of us passed to the distant three,
Hearing with joy His name.

Four walk now by the jasper sea,
Turning earthward their radiant eyes,
Where two of us now, with yearning hearts,
Look ever to Paradise
—ANNA B. BENSEL.

TEN YEARS TROUBLED

With Liver Complaint and Dyspepsia---Suffered Greatly and Found No Relief in the Scores of Medicines Prescribed.

South American Nervine Was Recommended, and Before Half a Bottle Was Taken Relief Came.

Have Since Improved Rapidly, and Am Now Completely Cured—So says Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont.

What ills come to humanity from a disordered liver! Henry Ward Beecher has said that it was impossible for a man to hold correct spiritual views if his liver was out of order. The liver is so important a part of the mechanism of man that when it ceases to work with ease the whole man is unable to do his work aright. Can we not appeal to thousands, nay, tens of thousands, for a verification of this fact? Certainly it is, that Mr. David Reid, of Chesley, Ont., felt that the enjoyment of life had been taken from him, through the unhealthy condition of his liver. For ten years he says he was troubled with liver complaint and dyspepsia. Employing his own language: "At times my liver was so tender I could not bear it pressed or touched from the outside. Had tried a great many remedies without any benefit. Was compelled to drop my work, and being worse than usual, I decided as a final resort to try South American Nervine, which had been recommended to me by friends who had been cured by it. I got a bottle from A. S. Goodeve, local druggist, and commenced taking according to directions. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to go to work again, and I have improved steadily since. I can conscientiously recommend South American Nervine to any suffering from dyspepsia or liver complaint." This is Mr. Reid's story as he tells it in his own words. Were it thought necessary it could be corroborated by a host of witnesses. Mr. Reid has lived a long time in Chesley, and his case was known to be a very bad one. But that makes no difference to Nervine. This great discovery rises equal to the most trying occasions. Let it be indigestion, the most chronic liver trouble, as with Mr. Reid, nervous prostration, that makes life miserable with so many, sick headaches, that sap all the effort out of man or woman, Nervine measures to the necessities of the case. It is a great medicine and thousands to-day in Canada are happier and healthier men and women, because of its discovery. There is no great secret about it, and yet there is an important secret. It operates on the nerve centers of the system from which emanate all life and healthfulness, or if disordered, sickness, even death. Nervine strikes promptly at the nerve centers, hence, as with Mr. Reid, where ten years' use of other medicines had done no good, less than a bottle of Nervine brought about encouraging results, and a few bottles cured.

Nervous Prostration

Complete Recovery by the Use of

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

"Some years ago, as a result of too close attention to business, my health failed. I became weak, nervous, was unable to look after my interests, and manifested all the symptoms of a decline. I took three bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, began to improve at once, and gradually increased my weight from one hundred and twenty-five to two hundred pounds. Since then, I and my family have used this medicine when needed, and we are all in the best of health, a fact which we attribute to Ayer's Sarsaparilla. I believe my children would have been fatherless to-day had it not been for Ayer's Sarsaparilla, of which preparation I cannot say too much."—H. O. Hinson, Postmaster and Planter, Kinard's, S. C.

THE NASTURTIUM JOINS THE VEGETABLE AND FLOWER GARDENS.

A Showy Garden Flower That Is Likewise of Great Usefulness—Something of Its Habits—The Soil It Prefers—Method of Culture

Nasturtium is the popular name of the genus Tropaeolum, and is one of the many exceedingly useful yet sadly neglected old garden favorites, says The Orange Judd Farmer. We cannot see why it should not be more generally cultivated, unless it is that so much real beauty can be obtained at so little cost, the general impression being that anything to be valuable must be expensive. Within a few years a new impulse has been given to the cultivation of this flower by the production of new varieties, the result of cross fertilization, and by making it fashionable. There are two distinct classes admirably adapted to garden cultivation, viz., the tall or climbing, and the dwarf. The tall growing sort, or T. majus, is among our most useful garden plants, forming a connecting link between the vegetable and the flower garden, making the former beautiful and the latter useful. We scarcely know whether to value them more highly for their young fruits, so valuable for picking, or for their flowers, which give to the garden a wealth of bloom, with the most gorgeous colors and spicy perfume.

While they are among the most showy of garden flowers, they are not fastidious in their habits, succeeding well everywhere almost, and under all circumstances; besides, there is no place where they do not appear well, and in which they will not thrive. As a rule, they do best in a poor soil, at least they are credited with that peculiarity, but from our observation of their habits we are inclined to think they enjoy good treatment quite as much as any other flower, and will as amply repay all the attention given them. We have noticed nasturtiums trained on a arbor more than six feet high, with wire netting for support. The plants completely covered the surface and would, seemingly, grow much higher if a suitable support had been afforded. A more gorgeous mass of flowers we have never seen; the trellis was a mass of bloom from top to bottom, and had been from the first of July until killed by frost. These plants were in a very rich and moist soil.

But the usefulness of this plant does not end here; cuttings or branches in full flower placed in a vase of water will take root freely, after which they can be potted in five-inch pots, or in fruit cans filled with rich soil, and if given plenty of sunlight, will flower all winter. For all purposes we prefer the tall rather than the dwarf sorts; they flower more freely, are richer in foliage and produce more fruit or seeds. These can be trained anywhere, and kept in place as border plants by pinning the branches down.

"Not Exactly Right."

Thousands of people are in this condition. They are not sick and yet they are by no means well. A single bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla would do them a world of good. It would tone the stomach, create an appetite, purify and enrich the blood and give wonderful vigor and vitality. Now is the time to take it.

BORDEAUX MIXTURE.

Spraying Fruit Trees—The Stock Mixture and How to Make It.

The importance of spraying for the prevention of fungous diseases of plants cannot be too frequently reversed to since an infallible remedy has been discovered in the use of sulphate of copper and lime, properly prepared and applied.

After several years' experience it has been proved to be quite effective, cheap, harmless either to the health of the person applying it or to the crop sprayed, and has other marked favorable results beside the mere prevention of disease. Some have failed to make it so beneficial as it might be through carelessness in its preparation. The stations of the United States have recently issued a most important bulletin on this subject, the salient points of which are as follows: The 50 gallons formula is the best. Water 50 gallons, copper sulphate 6 pounds, unslaked lime 4 pounds. This method of combining these ingredients has a most important bearing upon the chemical composition of the mixture. If the copper solution and lime, only partially diluted, are put together a thick mixture will result with chemical characteristics quite different to that which would be obtained by pouring together two weak solutions of lime and copper sulphate. Again, different results if the two are warm when mixed together are obtained than would be if allowed to cool before mixing.

Where the mixture is improperly made there is always sediment, but where properly done it is quite clear.

The difficulty experienced with many farmers is to persuade themselves to take trouble to make the Bordeaux mixture. Now, to obviate this I will copy the method of making a stock solution and I believe it would be not only a great boon to our farmers, but a profitable investment, if some enterprising firm would manufacture a quantity of this for sale at a reasonable price.

The following recipe for stock Bordeaux mixture is quoted from the bulletin alluded to. Procure a barrel holding 50 gallons, weigh out 100 pounds of copper sulphate, put it into a sack and suspend it in the barrel near the top. Fill the barrel with water and the copper will be disolved in two or three days. Now, remove the sack and fill the barrel up to the 50 gallon mark. Each gallon thus made will contain two pounds of copper sulphate, and under ordinary conditions of tmeperature will keep any length of time if tightly covered. "Stock lime." Take a barrel holding 50 gallons or more, making a mark at the 50 gallon point. Weigh out 100 pounds unslaked lime and slake it; when slaked add enough water to make the whole 50 gallons, (when setled strain through a coarse cloth G. M.) each gallon of this will also contain 2 pounds of lime.

Provided with this stock mixture, all that will be required to make the 50 gallons formula will be to add 3 gallons of the copper solution to 22 gallons of water, and 2 gallons slack lime to 23 gallons of water; then mix the two together and thoroughly stir them for a few minutes.

A simple means of testing whether the mixture is safe to apply to the most tender foliage is given. Insert the blade of a small penknife in the mixture, letting it remain for one minute; if the blade comes out copper colored the mixture is unsafe, and more lime must be added; but if the blade remains uncolored the mixture is perfect. I quote these instructions in view of the vast importance of spraying, and to encourage our farmers to adopt it by simplifying the process. In the event of no one undertaking the manufacture of a stock mixture, would it not be well for the Farmer's Clubs to extend their usefulness by having a certain quantity prepared for the use of their members? or where no club exists some one in the locality could prepare it and supply it to his neighbors, himself sharing the advantage and being remunerated for his work and time. The proof is conclusive now that spraying will pay, and, to insure a crop, is absolutely necessary in cases where fungi produce destructive diseases. Be it remembered that now Providence has given us by the means of scientific researc and experiment the power to remedy the evil, it is unpardonable to neglect it, because we are wasting our opportunities to overcome difficulties and inflicting injury upon our neighbors by allowing spores of the fungi to spread to their crops as well as over our own.—Geo. Moore, in Journal of Agriculture.

The man who stands idly by and sees the life fading out of his wife's face, sees her health going, sees her becoming old and faded and wrinkled when she should still be in the perfect enjoyment of vigorous, useful health, is either less than a man or else does not know of the one remedy which will bring her back to health and strength. Perhaps her husband cannot persuade her to go to her doctor, because she naturally dreads the inevitable "examinations" and "local treatments." He can persuade her, if she needs persuasion, to take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This truly wonderful medicine has cured hundreds of women after the best physicians have failed. It has been in constant use and tested every day for thirty years. It isn't no experiment, there are no chances about it. It is a certain cure for all derangements, weaknesses, irregularities and displacements of internal organs peculiar to women.

A REMARKABLE SHEEP PASTURE.

A Startling and Picturesque Arrangement in the Shetlands.

The Shetland Islands exhibit some startling and picturesque arrangements in rocks, one of the most remarkable examples of which lies off the southwest coast of Bressay, and is known as the Noss. It is famous not only for the popularity of the formation, but also for a strange and dangerous custom which prevails there. The Noss is called an island, and it answers to the definition, since it is certainly an extremely solid "body of land," and the bleak northern sea foams completely around it. But it looks more like a large black "standpipe," for it is a cylindrical column 160 feet high, its flat top having an area not much larger than an ordinary village dooryard. A child could almost throw a stone across it. It is said that more than 200 years ago a reckless bird hunter, tempted by the eggs of the numberless seagulls which whitened the top of this giant column, and further influenced by the promise of a cow, actually succeeded in scaling the almost perpendicular wall of rock and establishing a sort of rope bridge between the island and the mainland.

SHEEP PASTURE IN THE SHETLANDS.

When he had driven his stakes and secured the ropes, his friends entreated him to be the first to try the new device. But whether he had shrewd suspicions as to its safety, or whether he was prompted by mere bravado, certain it is that he refused, and chose rather to return by the same perilous track by which he had come. But as he was slowly and painfully toiling down from the dizzy height his foot slipped, he lost his hold, and then—there was no one to claim the promised cow, but the sea claimed one more victim. Nevertheless, the fruit of his bold endeavor remained, and it is still there to substantiate the story, for the bridge of rope between Bressay and the Noss is still maintained. The thrifty northern farmer, whose means of existence in these bleak isles are not calculated to excite envy, saw that there was a bit of good pasture on this summit, so he made a kind of wooden chair or cradle just large enough to hold a man and a sheep; and in this primitive way he still transports his flock, one at a time, over to this little browsing place.

The Children's Enemy.

Scrofula often shows itself in early life and is characterized by swellings, abscesses, hip diseases, etc. Consumption is scrofula of the lungs. In this class of diseases Scott's Emulsion is unquestionably the most reliable medicine.

Work and Worry.

Over work, worry and mental strain last spring caused heart trouble, nervousness, sleeplessness, etc. Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills helped me at once and finally cured me. I feel like a new man now.

CURED BY . . . . BBB

Home Proof from St. Mary's, Ontario.

That Burdock Blood Bitters is the best Blood Purifier for use in spring is a fact which everyone knows. However, there is

- - ANOTHER POINT - -

BBB Is an All-the-Year-Round Medicine.

It cures bad blood, regulates the stomach, liver and bowels at any and all seasons of the year. In fact B.B.B. does the work every time—and all the time. Read this grateful letter:

MESSRS. T. MILBURN & CO., TORONTO, ONT.:

GENTLEMEN,—I have used your Burdock Blood Bitters for my little boy, aged 10 years. He was a complete mass of sores and pimples. The doctors said it arose from bad blood. His head and face were one mass of sores as well as his body.

I got a bottle of B.B.B. and before half the bottle was used he began to improve. The improvement was rapid and continuous. At the end of the first bottle he had not a sore or pimple left on him. I used the medicine internally and externally, according to the directions.

Washing his face and body with the B.B.B. diluted with water gave him great relief. He was not able to be dressed for weeks, but is now perfectly restored to health through the use of this remarkable blood purifying medicine. Burdock Blood Bitters did my little boy so much good that I shall always recommend it.

The cure has been permanent up to the present date, and I believe no other medicine could have performed such a miraculous cure in so short a time. It shows me plainly that B.B.B. acts on the blood directly, and through it regulates, purifies and restores the entire system. (Signed),

MRS. PHILIP MITCHELL, St. Mary's, Ont.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

The Mason & Risch Piano Co. L'td.

Beg to announce that they have assumed the Agency for Central and Western Ontario of the Pianos manufactured by

Chickering & Sons, Boston.

It would be superfluous to make extended reference to the reputation of this famous house, or to the pianofortes manufactured by them. It is sufficient to say that for three quarters of a century they have occupied the position of absolute leaders in Musical Art manufacture, and their reputation was at no time greater than it is at present.

INTENDING PURCHASERS OF PIANOS

Now have the choice in our warerooms of goods manufactured by the acknowledged leaders of the American and Canadian trade. The association of such Instruments as Chickering & Sons and Mason & Risch Pianos beneath one roof forms a unique combination.

AS TO PRICES!

Pianos of high artistic merit must of necessity cost more than poorer instruments, but there is no question of the direction in which true economy lies. As an evidence of this it may be mentioned that the first Piano manufactured by Chickering & Sons 73 ago is still in an excellent state of preservation, and Pianos made by Mason & Risch over 20 years ago scarcely show any sign of wear. A CLOSE CORPORATION.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Who or what is this Stony Lake Cottagers' Association any way? Is it a close corporation, aiming to extend exclusive measures to our northern lakes? Were the members brought up under the tyrannical influences that prevail in Russia or Turkey? They seem to wish to go back a century or two and revive the Blue Laws of Connecticut. We, who frequent the islands for a holiday must walk by rule to please their mightinesses, the cottagers. I, for my part, after working all the hot months in a close shop in town, get a chance for a holiday of eight or ten days up the lakes. Do I go for a change or do I go to repeat the same dull routine that has worn me to a shadow in town. I am young and I naturally want fun, but the Association says I must not have it. I must do just what they approve of or I must go to jail for twenty days. I am a musician and fond of musical enjoyment, and everybody knows how delightful music is on the water at night. If a little coterie wishes to serenade a cottager who is not a crank, and there are a good many "whits" ones, they render themselves criminals and liable to spend an additional holiday in the castle on the hill. Some of the regulations proposed are all right but they are not necessary. People who go on the lakes for pleasure are, as a rule, of a class that will not misbehave themselves, nor seriously interfere with the comfort of their neighbours; and the rules proposed are as much of an impertinence as for a host to inform a guest on entering his house that he must not expectorate tobacco on the drawing room carpet. As far as I am concerned, and I know that many are like me, it would be a good thing if the Association would mind its own business. The lakes were made for the people and not for a close corporation of selfish individuals who wish to make everybody else square his actions by their own narrow measure. They don't want any people to come to the lakes but themselves. They practically wish to fence in Stony Lake and make it a paradise for crusty cottagers, who wish to go to bed at 9 o'clock, and sleep like dogs in the manger, with one eye open, to keep out intruders. The steamers must run for their benefit, and if the traffic doesn't pay, so much the worse for the steamers. The railways must give "cottagers" commutation tickets and carry baggage to the wharf for "cottagers," but the railways must not carry any outsiders—"there are enough people at the lakes already." Town merchants must not furnish supplies to outsiders, nor hotels entertain them en route, because there are to be no outsiders except such of the elect as the Cottagers' Association may approve. Associated impertinence—for utter selfishness I dont know of anything to match the Stony Lake Cottagers' Association.

Stony Lake is too nice a place to be converted into a cemetery for dead-alive property owners who resent the least exhibition of life and spirits on the part of others.

Yours, etc.,
JUVENIS.

PETERBOROUGH PRESBYTERIAN PASTORS.

A Contribution to the Canada Presbyterian—References to Town Ministers.

The following interesting article appears in the last number of the Canada Presbyterian under the heading of "Fragmentary Notes by K.":

Peterborough, Ontario, is one of the best towns in the province, and by a trifling effort on the part of its busy citizens could easily be made a city. But their ambition would seem to be more to make money for themselves than to be called a city, although the population at present would justify this.

The town covers a wide area of territory; and the large stores on the business streets, and the palatial homes in the residential portions, would give one more the impression of a city than even of a first-class Provincial town.

The streets are well laid out; and a good street car service brings the residents at a rapid and cheap rate through the leading thoroughfares. The present generation could hardly believe that this fine town thirty-five years ago was a backwoods place, where Presbyterianism found a footing through the energy of the late lamented Rev. Mr. Roger, the former pastor of St. Paul's church. I may say that the present pastor is only the second which this large congregation has had, which speaks volumes for both pastors and people, especially in these days of short pastorates, owing to the great desire both on the part of ministers and people for change. This desire is difficult to understand on the part of both, but though this is the case there is, no doubt, cause for it. The people may be, and no doubt are, sometimes disappointed, and the pastor also is very often as disappointed as a number of those who signed his call and made eloquent speeches at his reception, who then turn aside and walk no more with him.

Peterborough is a notable exception. The first pastor, after long and faithful service, passed away, amid the regrets of an attached flock. The present one, his immediate successor, still lives in the affections of his people, and displays all the freshness and vigour which he did over a score of years ago.

As will be seen from these notes St. Paul's congregation is one of the largest in the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and was never in a more flourishing condition than it is now under its present pastor.

The Rev. Edward Fraser Torrance was born in Montreal in 1832, and is a son of the late David Torrance, one of the merchant princes of that city. Mr. Torrance was one of the direct importers of tea from China, and at his death was president of the Bank of Montreal, a position coveted by many but only attained by few. The pastor of St. Paul's studied at the high school Montreal and graduated at about eighteen years of age. He took his theological course in the Presbyterian College, Montreal, and Free Church College, Edinburgh. During his course in Montreal he conducted services in the Nazareth St. Mission which were very successful.

When his theological education was finished he spent two months in evangelistic work in Scotland with the late Professor Drummond and Mr. D. L. Moody, which was good training for future practical work for which there were many favourable openings about this time.

In 1870 the late lamented Rev. Dr. Burns resigned the charge of Cote street church, Montreal, and at that time one of the strongest churches in Montreal, and Mr. Torrance was invited to supply the pulpit, which he did with much success and satisfaction to the congregation. About this time St. Paul's congregation in Peterborough was vacant, and Mr. Torrance was called and inducted in June, 1870. Since that time the congregation has continued to prosper. In 1895 the church was enlarged, and a new organ put in, at a cost of $33,000. At the close of the past year the number of families was 305, with a membership of 758. The amount raised for the Schemes of the Church last year was $3 300.

At the semi-centennial of Knox College two years ago the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred by that venerable institution on Rev. Mr. Torrance, and probably no more worthy divine has had this honor conferred upon him, and in bestowing it Knox College has honored itself. It is to be hoped that Dr. Torrance will be long spared to minister to such an appreciative and worthy people.

On a former occasion I had an opportunity of referring to St. Andrew's Church in the same town, which is a handsome building, and which has had over it such men as the late pastors Revs. D.J. Macdonnell, Kenneth, McLennan, Alex. Bell and A. MacWilliams.

The present pastor is the Rev. Mr. Potter, who has lately been called from South Side Church, Toronto; and who, I understand, is already making his influence felt in his new sphere of labor. Here it was my pleasure to renew my acquaintance with a valued friend Rev. William Bennett, who is still hale and hearty; and who continues to do good work for the Church of his fathers. Mr. Bennett was formerly a minister of the Irish Presbyterian Church, is a brother of the Rev. Dr. Bennett, of St. John, N.B., and has given a son to the ministry of the Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Orr Bennett, who has a charge in the Presbytery of Ottawa.—Canada Presbyterian, April 7th.

From our own Correspondent.

The first thunder of the season was heard on Monday, the 5th instant. There was considerable thunder, and quite sharp lightning.

Taffy pulls are all the rage just now. The young folks and old ones have had a good time this year in the sugar bush; plenty of sap and little snow.

We are glad to hear that Mr. James Miles, who has been laid up for some time with a sore hand, is getting better.

Our worthy stage driver, Chris Crowe, has it pretty hard just now plodding through the mud. Still he makes very good time and is just as jolly as ever.
